

ASCS Prohibits Substituting

Olin S. Davis Jr., chairperson, Maryland State ASCS Committee, said producers may continue to substitute eligible production to obtain price support loans, but they can no longer use commodity certificates to redeem substituted loans.

He said farmers may also continue to use commodity certificates to redeem loans that have not been substituted.

Under the ASCS substitution provisions, farmers are allowed to substitute their loan collateral to other areas. Earlier this year, producers who obtained price support loans could substitute their loan collateral and at the same time use commodity certificates to redeem the loans.

Commodity certificates are designed to give producers maximum flexibility in marketing their commodities, while at the same time permitting them to enjoy all the benefits of the price support program.

"The combination of the loan collateral substitution provision and the utilization of commodity certificates to redeem the loans has served producers well this year, in making space available for price support loan purposes when storage space was limited," said Davis. "However, expanded use of the provisions is no longer necessary since storage conditions have improved."

Annual Report Shows Outlook Of Maryland's Agriculture

The Maryland Area Agricultural Outlook Report is published annually by specialists at the University of Maryland and the Cooperative Extension Service. This article features one of the subjects covered in that report.

Maryland Agricultural Situation and Outlook
by R.J. Belter
Principal Specialist

A number of factors have come into play this year to help reduce Maryland cash receipts from marketing in 1986 and probably into 1987. Factors that should be carefully analyzed are: 1) a national surplus of major crops and an accompanying decrease in farm prices; 2) the national dairy program with adjustments in the supports, producer assessments and the dairy herd buy-out program; and 3) a drought which has caused severe crop losses in Maryland and the southeastern states during late spring and summer.

Early observations would indicate that 1986 cash receipts from marketing will definitely be down in several areas. The drought will cause reduced receipts for producers in the cash grain market. The tobacco crop of Southern Maryland which is sold in the spring of the following year will be down in acreage and yield reflecting over 3,000,000 pounds less going to the market in 1987. Many Maryland dairymen and other livestock producers who normally produce their own feed and forage may be forced to buy feed in 1986 and perhaps throughout the first half of 1987. For those Maryland farmers not affected by the 1986 drought, the supply of feed grains in other parts of the country will hold prices down through the 1987 growing season or longer.

Vegetable crops in Maryland, unless they were on irrigated land suffered about a 50 percent loss.

In summarizing the farm income response to events of the 1986 growing season it is somewhat like the glass being half full or half empty.

The corn loss due to the drought amounts to 30 or 40 percent of the previous harvested corn production, but the corn not produced would have sold for 50 to 75 cents less than last year. Corn and soybeans which must be purchased for poultry and livestock from out of state will be at a cost lower than Maryland's average of last year.

The most difficult will be to determine the cost effect of substitution of feed grains, silage, forage and feed supplements. There is also the possibility of production loss from feed adjustments for some livestock.

Actual cash receipts lost due to drought may be as much as 50 percent or near $70 million decrease for corn. As much as $40 to $50 million less for soybeans. Tobacco income could be down $2 to $3 million, depending upon the 1987 market prices. Vegetable and melon income could be down as much as $20 million. Purchased feed such as for the broiler industry will be cheap during 1986 and the foreseeable future.

It is too early to effectively allocate costs and returns between 1986 and 1987 farm income but it is expected that adjustments have been made to spread feed purchases through the year into 1987. There are also adjustments in the support and assessments for milk producers which come into effect in January 1987.

The low prices for so many major crops is affecting the income of the total agricultural industry, however, within the industry some sectors will suffer and some will profit from price changes. In many individual situations the current cost flow is low due to low prices and/or the drought. Where cash flow is limited and net assets are also low, many producers will have a difficult time surviving if largely dependent on farm income.

The brightest side of the farm income picture for 1986-87 will be government payments being higher than recent years, and possibly a means of survival for some agricultural enterprises.

Annual Agland Report Highlights Program Success

This has proven to be the most successful year to date in preserving the state's farmland, according to the 1986 annual report of the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation.

"We broke our previous records for both the establishment of new agricultural preservation districts and the acquisition of development rights easements," said Gerald F. Talbert, executive director of the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation. "The acquisition cost per acre, which was already the lowest for any program of its kind in the nation, actually decreased in FY 86 while other state's program costs increased."

"As most farmers are painfully aware, 1986 was a bad year for Maryland field crops and it was also a bad year for the amount of farmland lost to development pressure," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr. "Fortunately, more farmers than ever before are able to overcome these and other obstacles by the sale of their development rights to the foundation, sustaining themselves and their families and insuring that more agricultural land will be preserved for the future."

The Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation Program achieved its most productive year in the establishment of new agricultural preservation districts in FY '86 by approving 140 petitions protecting 19,982 acres. As of June 30, 841 agricultural preservation districts preserving 124,172 acres were enrolled in the program. The FY '86 totals provided a 19 percent increase in the district acreage base. The FY '86 Easement Acquisition Program was also the most productive year in the foundation's history. After settlement, 74 districts will add 11,439 acres to Maryland's list of permanently preserved agricultural land. The FY '86 easements provide a 31 percent increase in both number of easement properties and acreage: from 242 districts to 316 and from 37,299 acres to a new total of 48,725 acres. The new total of easements properties constitutes 39 percent of total districts acreage.

Full copies of the 1986 Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation Annual Report are available free of charge by writing to: FY '86 Annual Report, Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation, 50 Harry Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, or by phone 841-5860.

No-Till, Forage Meetings Planned For Mid-Atlantic Area Farmers

A series of regional forage and no-tillage meetings for Mid-Atlantic area livestock and crop farmers are being sponsored during December by the Extension Service and related support groups.

Part of the expense is defrayed by commercial exhibitors at each event, and the $3 tickets insure a hearty noon luncheon.

The meeting schedule is as follows:

Tuesday, December 9, The fourth annual Delmarva Forage Conference will be held at the 4-H hall at the Caroline County 4-H Park near Williston, about five miles south of Denton on Detour Road off Highway 16, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Wednesday, December 10, The fourth annual Central Maryland Forage Conference will be held at the Urbana Fire Station at the north edge of Urbana (Frederick County) on Highway 355 from 8:30 a.m. until 2:45 p.m.

Wednesday, December 17, The 13th annual Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference will be held in the Old Main building and Memorial Hall at the York County Fairgrounds, located at the corner of Market Street (Highway 462) and Carlisle Street (Highway 74), west of downtown York, Pa. The conference will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m., with free coffee, milk and doughnuts beginning at 8 a.m. Commercial exhibits will also open at that hour.

Both of the forage meetings will feature an audiovisual slide presentation on intensive pasture management, produced by the Soil Conservation Service, and a talk on "Voisin Pastures Management," an intensive grazing system developed in France.

William M. Murphy, associate professor of plant and soil science at the University of Vermont, will make the latter presentation. Reared on a Wisconsin dairy farm, Dr. Murphy has had seven years of professional experience in various South American countries.

Hay marketing and alfalfa weed control also will be program topics at both forage meetings. Unique to the Delmarva meeting will be a presentation on "Small Grains for Forage" by Lester R. Vough, Extension forage crops specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Ronald L. Ritter, an Extension agronomist at the University of Maryland, will speak on weed control at both forage meetings as well as at the no-till conference.

Other speakers at the no-till conference will come from Virginia Tech, Illinois and Penn State. A panel of three farmers from Pennsylvania and Maryland will tell of their experiences with no-till cropping practices. The panel members are John R. Stoner of Mercersburg, Pa.; Russell Cassell of Hummelstown, Pa., and Daniel D. Baugher of Middleburg, Md. (Carroll County).

Earl L. Butz, former U.S. secretary of agriculture, will close out the morning no-till program at York. His keynote topic will be "There is Still a Rainbow in Agriculture."

During the noon lunch hour, farmers attending the no-till conference will have an opportunity to pick up printed information and talk informally with Pennsylvania state representatives of U.S. Department of Agriculture agencies concerning conservation aspects of the Farm Act of 1985.

After lunch, farmers will have a question and answer session with the keynote speaker, Earl Butz. Afterward, they will be able to ask questions of other morning program speakers in a "quiz the experts" session.

Approximately 50 commercial exhibits will be open for viewing from 1 to 4 p.m.

Noon luncheon tickets for the no-till conference may be purchased through Friday, December 5, at county Extension offices in Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia. The cost is $3 apiece.

Farmers are welcome to attend the conference without a ticket, but having a ticket will insure noon lunch at the conference site.

Livestock Slaughter Numbers Reported

Maryland and Delaware commercial red meat production in October, based on dressed weights, totaled 5.2 million pounds, up three percent from September but down four percent from the previous October. Changes in total liveweight produced during October 1986 compared to a year earlier were cattle down three percent, calves up 15 percent, hogs down six percent, and sheep down 12 percent.

Commercial red meat production in the United States, based on dressed weights, totaled 3.5 billion pounds for October, up seven percent from September 1986 but down one percent from October 1985. Changes in total liveweight slaughtered during October of 1986 compared with October 1985 by individual species were cattle up one percent, calves down four percent, hogs down four percent, and sheep and lambs down six percent. January through October red meat production at 32.79 billion pounds was down fractionally

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

Drug Program

Doug Tressler, Oakland, will present a program on drug addiction at the Brookside Church of the Brethren on December 12. The meeting begins at 7 p.m. and parents and youth are encouraged to attend. The public is welcome.

Homemakers Change Date

The Christmas dinner and party for the Eglon Homemakers has been changed from December 12 to Thursday, December 11, because of the conflict in date with the above announced meeting. Each member and family are asked to bring dishes for a covered dish meal with program and recreation to follow. The time is 7 p.m.

Aurora School News

William Mathias, principal of Aurora School, has released the Honor Roll for the first grading period. Named to the 7th grade honor roll are: Tonya Beckman, Tammy Cassidy, Michelle Duling, Emily Lewis, Billy Moore, Sarah Payne, Kristi Schmidt, Renita Whitehair, Peggy Wotring, and Nicole Teets. Receiving honors in the 8th grade are: Shannon Fike, Leanna Johnson, Donna Mullenax, Kevin Stemple, and Mark Utterback.

A Book Fair is slated for both before and following the December 9 meeting of the Aurora PTO and for December 11-12 for the school students during the daytime. Persons may pick up books for their children's enjoyment or for gift-giving.

Deaths Noted

Mrs. Grace Cochran King of Charleston died November 20 at the Capitol City Nursing Home where she had been a patient for about two years. She was born September 26, 1889, and was the widow of the late Phenias Earl King, an Eglon native and well-known educator. Surviving are three sons, Earl O. King of Evans City, Pa., Joseph King of California, Jim King of Charleston; one daughter, Mary Carolyn Nestmann of South Charleston, and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Services were held Monday, November 24, at the chapel of the Charleston Baptist Temple with interment in Greenwood Cemetery, Wheeling.

Henry C. Fike of Morgantown died at his home November 24. He was born at Eglon March 30, 1891, a son of the late Silas and Matilda Slaubaugh Fike. His wife, Lena Hamstead, preceded him in death.

Surviving are three sons, Milton, Ralph, and Robert Fike, and one daughter, Genevieve Baehr; one brother, Homer Fike of Eglon; one sister, Lela Judy of Greenwood, Del.; and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Services were held November 28 at the Morgantown Church of the Brethren with further services at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren in Eglon. Interment was in the Eglon Cemetery.

News Of The Ill

Mrs. Mergil Fike was taken last Wednesday from Garrett County Memorial Hospital to East View Care Home in Terra Alta.

Alden Wilt returned to his home in Eglon last Wednesday. Mrs. Wanda Hauser of Amboy is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was admitted for treatment last week.

Omission Noted

At the recent Southern States Annual Meeting held in Ramada Inn, Morgantown, the names of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hedrick of Parsons were omitted from those who attended. Mr. Hedrick is a member of the Advisory Board of Eglon Farm Service.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Buckley, Tammy, John and Bob of Dover, Del., were Thanksgiving weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. Olive Beckman, Brookside. On Thanksgiving evening the following other children and grandchildren all gathered there for supper: Mr. and Mrs. Don Beckman, Brian and Dianne, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rembold, Shawn and Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hauser, Wade, Joe, and Beth Anne, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roth, Chris, Jason, and Lauren, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Arnold, Barry and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Bachtel and Zach.

Miss Kent Becomes Bride Of Mr. Davis In August Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Kent, Gorman, W. Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Lois Dawn, to Paul Craig Davis, Miss Kent and Mr. Davis were married on August 23, at Mountain Park Church in Lake Oswego, Oregon. Mr. Davis, Portland, Ore., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Davis of Milton-Freewater, Oregon.

The bride wore a gown of antique lace over satin, which was gathered at the waist with a full skirt and train. The waistline and sweetheart neckline were adorned with seed pearls and sequins. She wore a silk flower wreath with a tulle veil adorned with seed pearls. The bouquet was of cascading cream roses and ivy.

The bridesmaids wore tea length gowns of apricot taffeta and had silk flower wreaths in

The matron of honor was Mrs. Susan Watchko of Seattle, Wash. The bridesmaids, all from Portland, Ore., were Miss Coralyn Bond, Miss Cindy Crawford and Mrs. Heather Redmond.

The groom wore charcoal gray tails with a gray tie and cummerbund. The groomsmen wore gray tuxedos with apricot ties and cummerbunds. They were Scott Clark, Scott Clifton and Ken Gano, all of Portland. The best man was Philip Starkey, Hermiston, Ore. The groom's four brothers, Philip, Timothy, Steven and Roger, were ushers.

The bride's parents and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Frances Kitzmiller, also of Gorman, flew to Portland to attend the wedding. A reception for the bride's family and friends was held a week after the wedding in Baltimore.

Mrs. Davis is the granddaughter of Mrs. Pansy Kent, Mt. Storm, W. Va., and the late Ernest Kent, and the late Joseph and Katie Helmick, who resided in Gorman.

Mrs. Davis was graduated from the American University in Washington, D.C. and received a master's degree from Western Conservative Baptist Seminary, Portland. She is employed as a graphic designer for Multnomah Press in Oregon.

Mr. Davis is a graduate of Oregon college of Education and Western Conservative Baptist Seminary. He is currently the minister to young singles at Mountain Park Church.

Party

The Woodmen Rangers are planning a Christmas party for Sunday, December 21 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Woodmen Hall.

"Amahl" Opera
Slated At WVU

Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be presented on December 14 at the West Virginia University Creative Arts Center.

The opera, to be staged at 3:15 p.m. in the CAC Concert Theatre, will be presented by Aiken Productions as part of the WVU Art Series. Tickets are $8 ($4 for students and $6 for senior citizens and children under 12).

Now an annual Christmas feature, Amahl premiered nationally on NBC's Hall of Fame in 1951 and has been presented each holiday season since. This production, which includes soloists, chorus dancers and instrumental music, is under the direction of tenor David Aiken of the New York City Opera who played King Melchior in the original cast productions.

A one-act musical, Amahl tells the story of a crippled boy and his widowed mother who are visited by the Three Kings on their journey to Bethlehem.

The play is preceded by a special program of "Christmas Around the World," a selection of carols from many nations that are performed by the entire ensemble.

ATTENTION

Anyone interested in helping plan the 1977 class reunion please come to a meeting at First Federal in the Mid Towns Shopping Plaza on Tuesday, December 9, at 7:30 p.m.

New Homemakers Club To Meet

The second meeting of the newly formed Homemakers Club in the Oakland area will be held on December 17 from noon to 1 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office. Faye Bittinger will serve as chairman of the new club. The group will be meeting once a month from noon to 1 p.m. at the Extension Office; therefore, it is an organization that would be good for working persons in the Oakland area, according to Jane G.

Williams, Extension agent. Homemakers Clubs are educational in nature, Mrs. Williams said. Each month a topic of interest is presented to the group by one of its members. Educational material is provided by the Extension Home Economist.

At the December meeting, each member in the new club will be sharing a favorite Christmas idea. They will also be conducting a cookie exchange among themselves.

All persons are invited to join this group. For more information, persons may call the Extension Office at 334-1990.

TIPS TO PARTY BY

Many occasions, like the Christmas holidays, call for a home gathering of friends and family. Good food and drink seem to be a must at these get-togethers. But when too many alcoholic beverages are available, it can often lead to one more tragic alcohol-related traffic accident when the party is over and the guests drive home.

Here are some tips to party by that will help you keep your friends longer by keeping them sober:

*Always serve food when serving alcohol. High protein and carbohydrate foods like cheese and meats are especially good since they stay in the stomach longer. The food in the stomach helps to slow the rate at which the alcohol is absorbed into the body.

*When serving alcoholic punch, use a noncarbonated base such as fruit juice. The body absorbs alcohol faster when mixed with carbonation such as gingerale, colas and other soda pops.

*Serve nonalcoholic beverages. Remember that some of your guests may prefer not to drink alcohol.

*Have standard measures available at the bar when guests are mixing their own drinks. Guests are less likely to drink excessively when some sort of control is available.

*Do not force drinks on your guests or rush to refill their glasses when empty. Some guests may not wish to appear rude and will accept drinks that they do not want.

*Stop serving alcohol about two hours before the party is over. This will allow the guests' bodies time to absorb the alcohol consumed. During this time, serve coffee or other non-alcoholic beverages as well as food.

*If you observe a guest drinking too much:
—engage him/her in conversation to slow down the drinking;
—offer high protein food, or —offer to make the next drink using less alcohol—mix it with a noncarbonated base.

REMEMBER: Neither coffee nor a cold shower will help to sober someone up. Only time can do that!

HOT SPICED LEMON-APPLEADE

2 cups water
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon each ground cinnamon, nutmeg, and allspice
2 cups apple juice
1/4 cup fresh squeezed lemon juice

In saucepan, combine water, sugar and spices. Bring to boil; simmer ten minutes. Add juices, heat. Makes six 6-oz. servings.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS
"Making Your Own Rubber Stamps" will be the topic of a hands-on workshop to be held on December 10 at 10 a.m. and noon at the Garrett County Extension Office. The classes will be taught by Amy Rudy. Supplies will be available to purchase, although participants will be asked to bring their own exacto-knife. Minimum cost for more information call 334-1990.

WHEN NOT TO USE $125,000 EXEMPTION

Homeowners over age 55 may exclude from gross income any profit up to $125,000 realized on the sale of a principal residence. To qualify for the exclusion, you must be age 55 by the day the residence is sold, and you must have owned the property and used it as a personal residence for at least three of the preceding five years. This tax break can be used only once in a lifetime.

Does this mean that it ALWAYS makes sense to use this tax break if you sell a home for a good profit when you are 55 or older? Not necessarily.

This exclusion was made primarily for a retiring couple to sell their old home and buy a small retirement home without having to pay significant capital gains taxes. If you are going to buy another home that will cost as much or more than your present one, it might make more sense to avail yourself of the rollover break which allows you to defer all the profit from the sale and which can be used as many times as you desire.

Student Art Work

Student art work from the fall semester is currently on exhibit until December 19 at Garrett Community College in Room 010, Administrative Building.

The show includes oil paintings from Painting I, drawings and collages from Basic Design I, and etchings from Print-making II.

Gallery hours are weekdays from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

On Dean's List

Dr. John W. Cooper, Dean for Academic Affairs at Bridge-water College, has released the dean's list for the fall term.

Students on the dean's list have attained a 3.2 or better quality point average or a possible 4.0, and are included in

The National Dean's List, a publication citing academic achievement of college students nationwide.

Richard Lee Ridder, a freshman and son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin W. Ridder, Oakland, was among those on the list. Ridder is a 1986 graduate of Southern High School.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Jones Mining Co., Inc., P.O. Box 1503, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, having been issued a water permit No. 1986-001, is presently conducting blasting activities in accordance with all applicable State and Federal laws. Such activities will commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule of dates and approximate times, as approved by the State Regulatory Authority:

The yearly blasting schedule is as follows:

Monday through Saturday from December 21, 1986 through December 20, 1987. All blasting will be done between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon, and 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. No blasting will be done on Sundays.

At least 10 minutes prior to each blasting activity, all accesses to the area will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry, and a warning signal will be audibly indicated by WARNING SIGNAL. Three (3) minute noiseless warning signal audible to within one-half (1/2) mile will be given. This preblast warning shall consist of five (5) seconds duration with five (5) seconds duration between each blast. One (1) long audible warning signal of twenty (20) seconds duration shall be the ALL CLEAR signal following the inspection of the shot area in accordance with applicable State and Federal laws. Also approved by the State Regulatory Authority, blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced without appropriate notification, or in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning or other atmospheric conditions, operator, or public safety dictates unscheduled detonation.

LEGAL NOTICE STATE OF MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Secretary of Natural Resources will hold a series of public hearings on proposed new non-tidal fisheries regulations for 1987. The new regulations establish dates for trout stocking closures in 1987 and reduce the state-wide creel limit for other than put-and-take trout fishing to two fish per day. The creel limit for put-and-take areas will remain at five fish per day. In addition, two new special trout fishing areas, intended to create a trophy trout fishery, will be established in the Savage River below the Savage River Reservoir. A closed season on black bass in Deep Creek Lake from April 1 to June 15 is also proposed.

The public hearings on the proposed actions will be held on Monday, December 1, 1986 at Dulany Valley High School, 255 Padonia Road, Timonium, at 7 p.m.; Wednesday, December 3, 1986 at Frederick Community College, 7932 Opposumtown Pike, Frederick, at 7 p.m.; and Thursday, December 4, 1986 at Allegany Community College, Willowbrook Road, Cumberland, in Room CR 13 and 14 at 7 p.m.

Written comments on the proposed actions will be accepted by Dr. George Krantz, Tide-water Administration, Tide-water State Office Building, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, or call (301) 269-3558, until the close of business on December 12, 1986.

OFFICE OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROGRAMS DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND MENTAL HYGIENE WASTE MANAGEMENT

Public Notice and Opportunity to Comment on Controlled Hazardous Substances (CHS) Facility Closure Plan for Facilities Reverting to General Only Status.

Pursuant to COMAR 10.51.05.07 and Article 7-242 (a) (6) of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Office of Environmental Programs has received and is presently reviewing the closure plan for the container storage facility for Bausch & Lomb, Inc. located in Oakland, Maryland. Bausch & Lomb is currently permitted by CHS Facility Permit Number A-277 to store spent, halogenated solvents, spent non-halogenated solvents, EP toxic solvents and asbestos (FOOI: F003 and F005; D005 and D008; and U013) from the manufacturing and assembly of optical glass lenses and associated products.

Bausch & Lomb is not ceasing business operations. Submission of this plan represents a request by Bausch & Lomb to change the regulatory status of the facility from being permitted to store CHS for more than 90 days to generator status, not accumulating CHS for over 90 days.

The Plan includes:

1. Interim decontamination procedures;
2. Sampling and analysis procedures; and
3. Certification of closure by an independent registered professional engineer and Bausch & Lomb.

The closure plan and other pertinent information are on file at the Office of Environmental Programs and may be examined during normal office hours. Arrangements can be made for obtaining copies at sixteen (16) cents per page from the Office of Environmental Programs, 201 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201, Room A-2.

All written comments must be submitted on or before January 5, 1987. The comments should be addressed to Mr. Ronald Nelson, Director, Waste Management Administration, 201 West Preston Street, Baltimore, MD 21201.

Any requests for information or questions concerning this matter should be directed to Ms. Monica Miller at (301) 225-5701.

New Horizons Program Obtains Grant Approval

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College has received notification of grant approval for the 1986-87 funding year from the Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education, effective July 1, 1986, with funds provided to serve single parents, homemakers and displaced homemakers.

The program provides career counseling, career assessment, career testing, skills identification, job skills preparation in resume writing, interviewing, dressing for the job and vocational training. The program provides tuition assistance in both the non-credit and credit areas at GCC, child care, transportation and job assistance.

To be eligible, the single parent, whether working or non-working, should be unmarried or legally separated and have or share custody of at least one minor child. Homemakers should be individuals needing to strengthen marketable skills because they have devoted themselves primarily to the home and family. Displaced homemakers are individuals who must seek employment because they have become separated, divorced or widowed.

This funding year, $10,000 has been set aside for tuition assistance and book purchases. A total of $2,500 will be used for child care and transportation.

To determine eligibility for the New Horizons Program, interested persons are asked to call 334-9184 weekdays, between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., or to visit the office at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College in Room 603.

Engineer Council To Award Pair Of Scholarships

Scholarships worth $1,500 will be awarded to two engineering students pursuing a career in consulting engineering in a statewide competition being held by the Consulting Engineers Council of Maryland (CEC/Md.).

The $500 CEC/Md. Scholarship will be awarded to an engineering student who is enrolled in a Maryland college or university engineering program accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET) and seeking a bachelor of science degree which might lead to a consulting engineering career. Students must be entering their junior, senior, or fifth year (in a five-year program) in the fall of 1987 and should be in the top half of their class. Students meeting the above criteria but attending an accredited college or university in another state may apply if they are a Maryland resident.

The $1,000 William Roe Kahl Scholarship will be awarded to a selected civil engineering student who meets the above criteria. It is financed by Rummel, Klepper & Kahl, a leading civil engineering firm in the area, in honor of one of its founding partners, and administered by CEC/Md.

Winners may also have the opportunity to compete for a number of national awards totaling approximately $30,000 from the American Consulting Engineers Council (ACEC).

For additional information and application forms, persons may contact G. Robert Davidson, Education Committee chairman, CEC/Md., 1 East Franklin Street, Suite 401, Baltimore, Maryland 21202; phone (301) 539-1592. The deadline for submitting completed applications, and all necessary forms is February 2, 1987.

"Tri-State Toys for Happiness"

October Jobless Figures Show Usual Increase

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate edged up slightly from 4.1 percent in September to 4.3 percent in October according to statistics developed by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training. The over-the-month rise in the jobless rate, which follows established trends, matches this October's unemployment rate with that of last year.

Garrett County's jobless rate also increased, from 7.6 percent in September to 8.3 percent in October. The October 1985 rate was 9.5 percent.

Movement in the national unemployment estimate showed a slight decline in joblessness from 6.8 percent in September to 6.6 percent in October.

The statewide labor pool, which declined by more than 12,000 participants through August, grew by an estimated 11,500 persons between September and October. Employment rose by an estimated 7,100 persons during this October. In addition, there was an overall increase in the unemployment rolls of nearly 4,300 persons as a result of cutbacks and the expanding labor force.

Out of a workforce of 11,635 in Garrett County for October, 988 were unemployed. In September the local workforce totaled 11,425 and 874 were without jobs.

Job rolls increased noticeably in education, construction, trucking, local governments and health services. At the same time layoffs were most pronounced in food processing, industries and federal government.

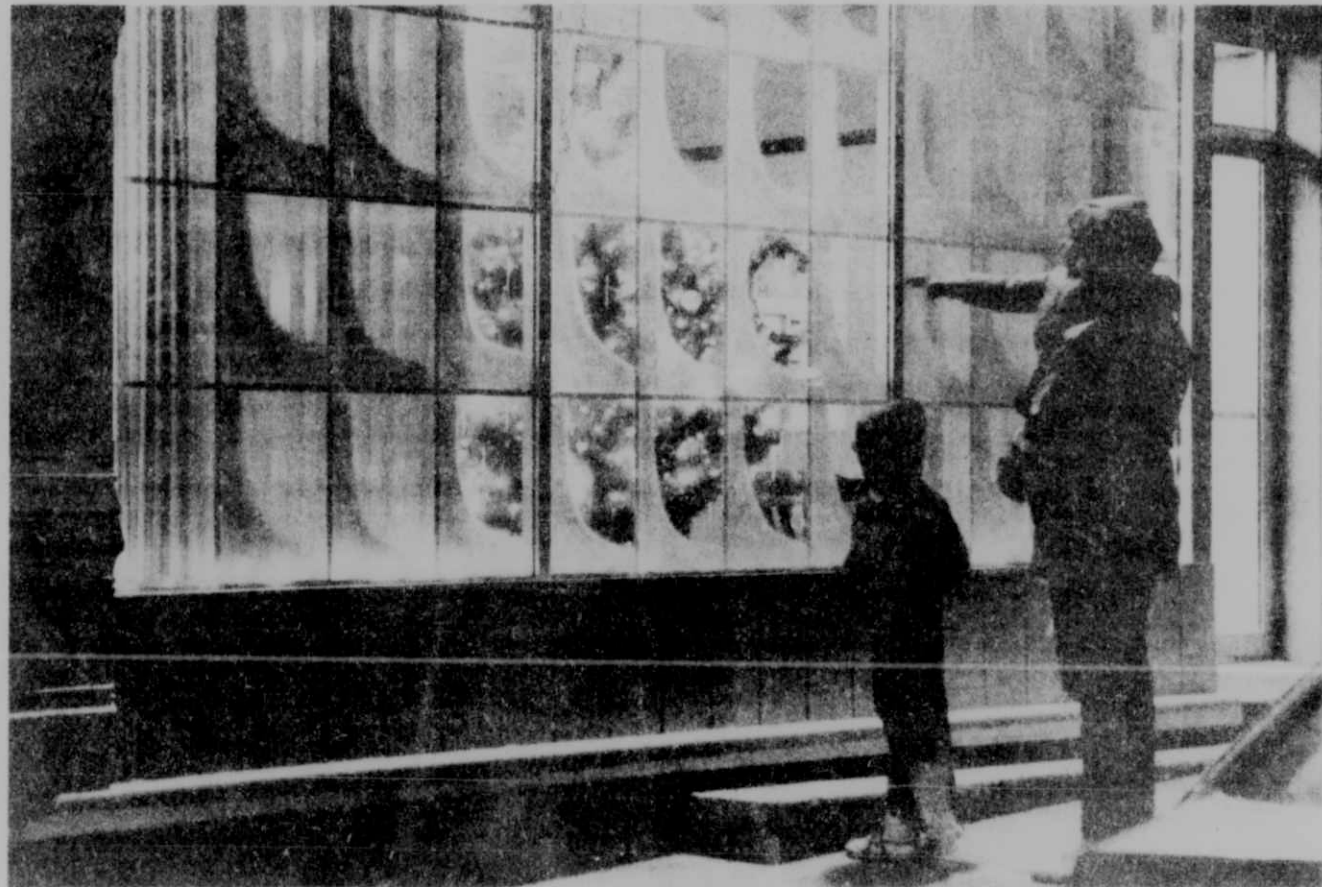

Regional unemployment trends were consistent with those statewide, with the exception of Western Maryland. The jobless rate in Western Maryland, which had been adversely affected by a temporary shutdown of a major facility in September, declined by 1.7 percent points to register 6.9 percent in October. Recall of workers at that facility reduced the joblessness in Washington County alone by 3.6 percentage points.

The largest rise in the jobless rate was apparent in the balance of state area. Joblessness in this nine-county area rose from 4.4 percent in September to 5.1 percent in October. The unemployment picture was particularly bleak in Worcester County as the end of the summer tourist and agricultural season.

"IN THE AIR THERE'S A FEELING OF CHRISTMAS," are the sentiments of Gene Helbig and his children, Katie Beth and Justin, as they marvel at the shopfronts "dressed in holiday cheer." Already, visions of sugar plums are dancing in the heads of children and mama and papa are scrambling to find the perfect gifts that make those dreams come true, 'cause soon it will be Christmas Day.

GCC Gets Grant For Instruction In Business Technology

Garrett Community College has been awarded a grant by the Maryland Department of Education for business and technology instructional use, according to a news release from Dr. Stephen J. Herman, president of the College.

The funds, to be matched by the College, were awarded in response to a proposal submitted by the Business and Technology Department to upgrade computer technology for instructional use in academic programs.

Dr. Herman indicated that the grant will enable the College to "take another step forward" in its effort to use information technology to enhance educational programming and services to the community.

Tax Collections For October Top $1,000,000

Tax collections for the month of October totaled $1,609,036.41, according to figures released recently by Garrett County Treasurer Arzella Parsons.

Of the amount collected, $114,104.20 was for real estate taxes. Refunds of $776.67 were given for personal property taxes. Ordinary business taxes were $13,389.74.

Public utilities and railroad taxes brought in $68,523.31 and prior years' taxes tallied $30,133.23. State taxes amounted to $16,636.23 while ad valorem taxes totaled $3,854.93. A total of $4,466.22 was realized from agriculture taxes.

Coal tonnage and coal severance taxes added $30,798.02 to

Young Career Woman To Be Named Tonight

The Garrett County Chapter of Business and Professional Women will choose its Young Career Woman at its meeting this evening at the Will-O' the Wisp. The Young Career Woman program is designed to recognize young successful, career women for their contributions in the work world and the community.

The Young Careerist candidate must be between the ages of 21 and 30 and be employed with at least one year of full-time work experience in her career area. She must also live or work in Garrett County and she must support the goals and objectives of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

The candidates for this year are Catherine R. Daniels and Teresa Marie Field.

Ms. Daniels is the Personnel Administrator at the First United National Bank & Trust. Prior to her present position, she was a marketing research specialist at the bank. She is a graduate of Hampshire High School and holds an associate of arts degree in computer programming from Potomac State College.

Ms. Fields is a registered nurse at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She is a head nurse on the third floor (Medical-Surgical and Pediatrics). She is a graduate of Southern High School and holds an associate of arts degree in nursing from Allegany Community College.

The two candidates will be judged by a panel of three judges: Katherine Zimmerman, a BPW member and certified public accountant with

Another Rabies Case Confirmed

A rabid raccoon, the ninth case of rabies confirmed in Garrett County this year, was reported by Health Department Official Rodney Giotfely this morning.

The raccoon was turned in late last week by Gary Yoder, who found it dead in his driveway on Marsh Hill Road early in the morning. Giotfely says this is a reminder that there is no season for rabies, and that the cold weather does not stop the spread of this disease.

In 1985, 17 cases of rabies were reported in Garrett County for the entire year. Through October 31, 1986, 618 cases were reported statewide, compared to 644 cases for that same period last year. Of that total, 535 were raccoons. The county with the largest number of positive cases is Harford with 171 cases as of October 31.

DECD Releases $50,000 In HODAP Grants

The Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development has announced that a second round totaling fifty thousand dollars in matching Housing Development and Assistance Program (HODAP) grants is now available to local development corporations.

HODAP grants may be used to develop or rehabilitate specific housing projects for people with very limited incomes. Individuals are not eligible for HODAP grants, which is operated by DECD's Division of Local Government Assistance. Applications for this second round of HODAP grants must be filed by Monday, December 29, at 4:30 p.m.

HODAP grants are intended as seed-money to help local development corporations put together specific housing projects. Grant funds may be used to hire and train staff, to engage consultant services, and to pay for architectural designs, site planning and engineering studies as well as for other project related pre-construction expenses. Construction costs and mortgage financing expenses are not covered by HODAP funds.

To qualify for a HODAP matching grant, local development corporations must develop or rehabilitate housing projects which will be occupied in substantial part by families of very limited income, earning annually less than 60 percent of the state or area median income, whichever is greater. Priority will be given to eligible applicants serving families with incomes up to 30 percent of

Record Buck Kill Is Reported In Garrett County

The official count of antlered deer killed during this year's buck season set a record in all four western Maryland counties, according to Al Bourgeois of the Department of Natural Resources. Bourgeois reported that Garrett County, with a total of 1,452 bucks killed, was second only to Allegany County, where 1,628 was the official kill. Washington County recorded 1,209 bucks killed by hunters, and the total for Frederick County was 1,098.

The biggest deer killed in Garrett County are listed below, however, Bourgeois stated that because all check stations are not equipped with scales, some heavy deer may have been checked in without weights recorded. The biggest deer recorded were: a 165-pound, 10-point buck killed by Denzil Wilburn in the Foster's Inn Road area; another 165-pound, eight-point buck killed by Jeff Gibson in the High Rock area of Savage Mountain; a 160-pound, eight-point buck killed by John O'Donald in the Negro Mountain area; a 158-pound, 10-point buck killed by Mike Koser in the High Rock area of Savage Mountain; and another 158-pound, 10-point buck killed by Richard Helbig in the Frick's Crossing area.

The bucks with the largest number of points were killed by: Fred Tettenburn, 16-point, 133-pound, on Westernport Hill; Eric Shoemaker, 14-point, 118-pound, in the Selbysport area; David Kaufman, 14-point, no weight, in the Bittering area; Levi Zehr, 13-point, 147-pound, near Hare Hollow Road; and John Layton Jr., 12-point, 151-pound, in the Bell School Road area.

Bourgeois stated that this year, as in the last three years, 47 percent of the deer taken in buck season had six or more points on their rack.

Tomorrow and Saturday, December 12 and 13, are set aside for doe season. This season for antlerless deer is open only for those who did not bag a buck in regular season. Eligible hunters must have a doe permit or be a landowner where they are hunting. All deer must be checked in, and Bourgeois reminds landowners that they are not excluded. To be legal, all deer must be field tagged before being moved from the woods. Landowners may make a tag which includes their name, date, and location

EPA Confiscates 150 Barrels Of Chemicals From Junkyard

The Environmental Protection Agency, which confiscated 150 barrels of "possible toxic waste" from a junkyard, owned and operated by Ernest R. Martin, now say they have determined the basic types of chemicals contained in those drums.

EPA officials, along with officers from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, first came to the junkyard site several days before Thanksgiving. EPA officials stated that they received a tip several weeks ago regarding the storage of those chemicals as did the FBI, the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and The Maryland State Police.

Preliminary findings by the EPA indicate that the chemicals which were stored in two box trailers at the junkyard, located six miles south of Oakland on U.S. Route 219, have been found to be flammable solvents, pesticides and acids.

Martin told reporters Tuesday that he was storing the drums in the trailers for the Cummings Development Company from Salem, W. Va. "I knew what was in the drums. There was a drum of a common pesticide, a weed killer, calcium chloride... what they use on the roads in the winter to melt ice, anti-freeze and some industrial chemicals. It's all stuff you can buy on the market. I just didn't have the proper license to store such large amounts of the stuff. I have that license now."

Martin contends that the only reason the FBI was called in was to obtain a search and seizure recommendation to permit the EPA on his premises. "I wasn't home when they arrived," he stated. "They really frightened my wife when they demanded to come in the house."

Following an on-site investigation of the junkyard and the Martin home, waste management officials converged on the site to begin the removal process of the chemicals. Raymond R. Germann, an official from the Office of Public Affairs at EPA's regional headquarters in Philadelphia, Pa., was requested by the State of Maryland and the FBI for a "possible toxic waste incident." He confirmed that the drums were not in the ground or on the ground, but were stored in two box trailers. He said some deterioration was detected on some of the drums. The drums are now in a storage facility in Pennsylvania where they were taken by an Ohio company contracted by the EPA. Reportedly, the cost to move the drums was $30,000.

Germann further stated that at least 150 soil, surface and groundwater and air samples from the site are presently being tested. He said he had no further details and that it has still not been determined if charges will be filed and that tests of the chemicals are still being conducted. He also stated that the drums would probably be moved to a federally-approved hazardous waste facility soon.

Bruce C. Frame, press secretary for Maryland Senator Paul S. Sarbanes, told reporters Tuesday that the Senator had been informed of the tip given to the local and state officials about the possible toxic chemicals and that he then contacted Ron Nelson from the Waste Management Administration. "The Senator urged the EPA to speed up the testing of the chemicals. He felt every precaution had to be taken. The watershed was tested in that immediate area to determine if any drinking water had been affected."

Frame indicated that federal and state officials are contemplating an enforcement action in the matter.

Martin stated yesterday, "This all started as a routine check. They check a lot of people. I guess if someone called the government and told them I was storing nuclear waste, they had to do their job... even if it was just a rumor. You know how people like to talk."

Martin said he realized that some of the chemicals were flammable but he said "many chemicals we use in our homes are flammable."

Waste management officials say there is no immediate danger to air or water supplies and that the main concern now was of the flammability of the substances which have since been removed.

Annual Christmas Treat Scheduled

The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce has announced its annual Christmas Treat will be held Saturday, December 20, at 1 p.m.

Santa Claus will be at Second Street between Green Street and the Oakland Post Office. Santa's helpers will be the Maryland National Guard and Boy Scout Troop No. 31. All children are invited to visit with Santa.

QUESTIONABLE STORAGE — Pictured above are the two storage trailers that contained 150 barrels of flammable solvents, pesticides and acid that were confiscated from the property of Ernest R. Martin several weeks ago. Martin was storing the chemicals for another company when the Environmental Protection Agency and the Federal Bureau of Investigation began their search and seizure. They had received a tip that Martin was storing "toxic waste."

MOBILE TESTING UNIT — The rental truck shown served as a mobile testing unit for the Environmental Protection Agency recently when they seized some 150 barrels of various chemicals from the property of Ernest R. Martin, who owns a junkyard six miles south of Oakland. Preliminary findings have revealed that the drums contained many "highly flammable" substances. The contents reportedly also contained pesticides and acids. Waste Management has removed the drums to a storage facility in Pittsburgh, Pa. at a cost of $30,000. Martin was storing the drums, which were contained in two box trailers, on his property. The drums belonged to Cummings Development Company, Salem, W. Va. No charges have been filed, pending further investigation.

Wreath-Making Project Raising Funds For Habitat

"Help build houses by decorating your own this Christmas" reads the sign at various locations throughout Garrett County. The message refers to an innovative fund-raising project currently underway in the county under the sponsorship of Garrett County Habitat for Humanity.

The idea was conceived by John Millican, a VISTA Volunteer assigned to Habitat by the Garrett County Community Action Agency.

Participating Habitat families attended a workshop on Christmas wreath-making, organized and planned by Millican. The workshop also included time in the woods to identify Princess Pine and instructions on where and how to pick this natural green.

Wreaths are made from the pine and then sold for $15. For every wreath made, the family making the wreath gets $4.00 and Habitat makes $11. If the participating family is not yet a Habitat homeowner, but is on the waiting list, they have a choice of taking the $4 per wreath or accruing the time spent in making the wreath toward their "sweat equity". The sweat equity is a new component to the local Habitat program. Once a family is found to be eligible to purchase a house through the Habitat organization, the family must perform 300 hours of "sweat equity" with the organization before that family's house is begun.

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity is a non-profit ecumenical Christian housing dedicated to eliminating substandard housing in Garrett County. Habitat has built 11 new homes and has done major repairs on 17 others since its beginning here in Garrett County in 1983.

The hand-picked, homemade Christmas wreaths are available at Penn Alps and Hilltop Market in Grantsville. They will also be available at Ralph's Richfood in Deer Park and Browning's Foodland in Oakland, this Friday, December 12. Wreaths may also be picked up at the Community Action Building, 360 W. Liberty St. Oakland.

HABITAT SELLING WREATHS — A rather unique fund-raising idea for Garrett County Habitat for Humanity was conceived recently by John Millican, a VISTA volunteer assigned to Habitat by the Garrett County Community Action Agency. The wreaths are made by participating Habitat families and sold for $15. The family receives $4 of the proceeds and Habitat receives $11. See story for details.

A TOTAL OF SIX PEOPLE SUSTAINED INJURIES as a result of these two accidents that occurred this past Monday. Shown above is a head-on collision that took place on Old Md. Rt. 135 near The Short Stop, Oakland. The two vehicles collided when Elonda Y. Foglepole, 16, Mtn. Lake Park, drove her 1985 Nissan into the path of Sharon M. Hebb, 26, Swanton, who was driving a 1984 Dodge pickup truck. The two drivers and three passengers in the Foglepole car have since been treated and released at area hospitals. Shown below is the late model Volkswagen Jetta driven by James V. Hauswaller, 31, McKees Rocks, Pa., after he lost control of the vehicle on Rt. 219 just south of Sand Flat Road. Although the telephone pole was severed by the impact, it somehow managed to remain in an upright position. Hauswaller was treated and released from Garrett Memorial Hospital. Man Found Guilty On Three Charges By Judge Thayer

A young Severn man was found guilty of destruction of property, breaking and entering with intent to steal, and theft by Judge Fred A. Thayer this week in Garrett County Circuit Court.

Timothy A. Cupp, 23, was charged in two separate cases following charges brought against him after he reportedly broke into two cottages in the Turkey Neck area of Swanton on July 31, 1985.

Cupp attempted to break into a cottage owned by Carl M. Trapletti by cutting the glass in a side door. When he was unsuccessful, he broke into a nearby cottage owned by Vincent P. Zanucki and stole property there including a Fisher VHS video recorder, a JVC digital synthesizer stereo, and a Sanyo cassette deck. Total value of the items was estimated at $920.

Deputy W. C. Thomas, Sheriff's Office investigated the incident and Deputy Harland Tichnell arrested Cupp.

A charge of attempted breaking and entering was not prosecuted. Judge Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Michael R. Morrisette was the defending attorney.

Thayer to Preside In Hagerstown Case

Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer will preside over a criminal case involving Hagerstown City Police Chief, Clinton E. Mowen, who was indicted in October on four felony charges.

The trial, which will be scheduled at Judge Thayer's convenience, was assigned by Washington County Circuit Court Judge, Frederick Wright III.

Mowen is charged with having someone wiretap the phone of one of his employees and "bug" the desk area of a receptionist employed with the detective bureau.

The incidents allegedly occurred between November 1, 1983 and June 1, 1984 according to the Washington County grand jury held on October 17.

Man Sentenced To Two Years On Weapon Charge

A young Oakland man received a suspended sentence of two years on a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon after being tried this past week in Garrett County District Court.

Judge Miller Bowen handed down the sentence to Ronald W. Beckman, 20, who was then placed on two years supervised probation as a result of the guilty verdict.

The charge stemmed from an incident on October 16 in Oakland when, according to complainant Duane P. Weaver, Oakland, Beckman was carrying a large knife with the intent to injure him.

Two other charges resulted from the same incident. Beckman was found guilty of destruction of property as a result of damaging Weaver's 1981 Chevette and ordered to make restitution. He was found not guilty of battery after he allegedly assaulted Weaver.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Beckman.

Nora M. Baker, 22, Accident, was found guilty on a charge of writing a bad check and received one year unsupervised probation.

According to the complainant, Dwayne E. Boyce, mana-

ELKS BOOST OVFD — The Oakland Elks Lodge 2481 recently handed a check for $800 to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. The monies were raised from a recent Bingo night that was coordinated by the Elks and held at the Oakland Fire Hall. ROTARY, HECKS COOPERATE IN GIVING PROJECT — The Oakland Rotary Club recently opened its annual Christmas Basket Project and Operation Santa Claus for this holiday season, and the Rotarians have received cooperation from Hecks department store to assist them in the effort. Since 1981 the Rotarians have served local needy families and will attempt to provide food, clothing, toys, and gifts to 25 families this year. The Rotary Club purchases food baskets and individual members buy clothing. Toys and other gifts have been donated in years past. Hecks is participating this year by having an "angel tree" at their Oakland store, whereby customers may purchase a gift for a child and leave it under the tree. All of the gifts, clothing, and food items will be delivered by the Rotarians the Saturday before Christmas. The project serves families all over Garrett County and was expanded into West Virginia last year following the severe flooding. In the photo, left to right, are Gary Deshong, manager of Hecks; Veronica Hillman, assistant manager; Joe DiSimone, toy distribution chairman for the Rotary; and Dr. David Bolinger, president of the Oakland Rotary Club.

Let's Write It Right . . .

A survey was done recently by the National Assessment of Educational Progress to check the quality of writing by our nation's students. As one might guess, the results were quite disheartening.

Of the 55,000 students who participated, fewer than 25 percent of the 11th graders met writing standards needed for business, professions, or education. Fewer than half of the juniors, 33 percent of the eighth graders, and nine percent of the students in grade four could write stories adequately.

Frankly, we are not surprised by the outcome of this survey and we are almost certain that, if the same test were administered to the adult population of this country, there would be similar results. We say this based upon the quality of material we receive in our newsroom which we are expected to translate and put in the form of a story. While most of the material is not difficult to understand, it is often loaded with a variety of grammatical errors. These errors are present even in news releases from government agencies, corporations, and organizations that all have professional, supposedly well educated, public relation staffs.

A perfect example of this was received this week in the form of a quarter-page public service advertisement, the text of which had a rather gross grammatical error. What was the topic of the ad? — the quality of education. Who sponsored the ad? — the Maryland State Teachers Association. We contacted their state office immediately and pointed out the error to help them avoid extreme embarrassment. We were informed that the mistake was typographical and marked for correction, but the correction was never made.

We believe this was an honest error and we do not necessarily blame our educators for the poor writing performances of our students. It is our suspicion that poor writing and the advancement of technology are in direct proportion to each other. Most of us simply do not write as much as folks did 50 or 100 years ago, given our present methods of electronic communication.

Fortunately, though, most educational leaders recognize the fact that writing is indeed an important part of education and steps are underway to adjust teaching methods and skills that will hopefully improve the situation. The state of Maryland, with its functional writing requirement program, has been one of the leaders in this effort.

It will take time, however, plus a lot of combined effort, patience, and understanding between parents and educators, before we can expect to see any dramatic improvement in writing proficiency.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Meals on Wheels program serving this area is composed of dedicated kitchen workers from the hospital and local volunteers. These faithful people who make this possible, Monday through Friday, fifty-two weeks a year, are caring and dedicated.

Recent volunteers to the program are Eileen Beitzel, Rossi Newton, Nancy Gregg, Marjorie Seifert, Dick and Phyllis Peake, Aloise O'Neill, Amy Rudy and Allison Geroski. Anyone interested in joining this group should call Jennie Mandrovsky at 334-8255, as new people are always welcome.

At the present time there are five (5) people on a waiting list to receive meals. In order to accommodate more clients, additional hot food carriers would have to be purchased and drivers would need vehicles to accommodate a third food carrier.

The Board welcomes any suggestions for improving or expanding the program.

To the Editor:

I find the Leo Beachy pictures and articles one of the highlights of The Republican, but I would like to correct the captions of the two Accident pictures shown on page 1 of the December 4 issue of the paper.

The building on the left in the foreground of the Accident pictures was never a hotel. It is believed to have been the site of Accident's first store, managed and owned by Samuel Spangler, who was Accident's first merchant. While a Mr. Browning has been credited for having the first part of the structure built, neither the Spangler credit nor Browning credit has been substantiated.

The sign, which appears to be against the wall of the building, is actually hanging from a porch post of the house, belonging at that time, after 1915, to the father of the well-known Felix Robinson. His father was Accident's first known dentist.

The sign reads "Linden Hotel" (a large linden tree stood in front of the hotel) with Robinson and two letters "M" below the hotel name.

By 1916 cars were used by Accident's more prosperous residents and gasoline would have been an item in demand. I'm wondering if the box over the gasoline pump might have served several needs: (1) to prevent thievery, (2) to maintain safety from explosion and (3) to prevent rusting of the pump.

To the Editor:

Even though we share the same last name I do not know nor am I a relative of the person in the news this week: as the news came over the airwaves and in the paper I could not believe what I was hearing and reading.

If ever a human being needed help and compassion and understanding, she did; but what she got was jail and courts.

Where in the world were the people and state agencies or the Ministerial Association or someone with some humanity to help a woman in trouble—"deep trouble," to feel she had to do what she did ?? before it happened or anywhere along the way after the fact ?? I am appalled at the way this was handled! Male chauvinist Garrett County. Is there no women's refuge help? Mental Health and Mental Health Advisory Board where are you in educating the public? Can you imagine how distraught this human being had to be and must be after all the compassion shown her, after the fact?

May God forgive us for our failings and in the Christmas season, if all times to be so heartless and lacking in understanding of troubled human beings.

This is my opinion.

Thank you,
Mrs. Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:

I am writing to ask if you will help us through your letters-to-the-editor column in our search for people with a fairly rare, inherited, neuro-muscular disorder called Charcot-Marie-Tooth disease, known also as Peroneal Muscular Atrophy.

Named after the three doctors who discovered it 100 years ago this year, CMT leaves a person with limited feeling and/or movement in his or her extremities. It is a disorder of the nerves in these areas and it can affect persons from the time they are born or not show up until later years. As muscles atrophy, we find we cannot walk well and lose our balance easily, trip often and sprain ankles continuously. Some develop what is known as foot drop and have to walk by throwing their feet out from the side. Our hands usually lose muscle in the thumbs first and we become unable to pick up small objects, open jars and doors, write for any length of time or shake hands without pain. The disease is usually not life threatening, but it is serious enough to cause a great deal of frustration and worry. To date

Art never depreciates and museums certainly do not remove the masters. I resent being denied the privilege of seeing Aza's work in Garrett County. Where are the paintings? If you have not considered putting them in a public place such as the hospital, library or museum, then I would appreciate the opportunity of purchasing them.

To the Editor:

I cannot tell you how disappointed I am in finding Garrett County no longer has Aza Stanton's beautiful paintings on display at The First United National Bank. Nothing highlighted my trip to Oakland as a child and now as a visitor! He was such an accent to the native Garrett County! No one has ever captured our county like the masterpieces Aza could put on canvas for everyone to view and enjoy.

I do not know who the interior designer was but for a real representation of Garrett County, he or she has accomplished a very poor job. I take pride in designing interiors with good taste and satisfying the needs of the community.

Mr. George Littman was well respected and liked by everyone in the community and I feel he was greatly responsible for the progress of the Bank. His portrait should not have been removed also.

Holiday Season Statistics for Families with School-Age Children by Susan Alvarez

99.9% of all tree ornaments are hung, clumped together, on the bottom one-third of the Christmas tree.

58.9% of decorated Christmas cookies will have over one pound of sprinkles on each; 40.1% will have no sprinkles whatsoever, and one percent will have fingerprints on them.

The average parent says at least 1,512 times, "Oh! I see an elf," or "I hope Santa didn't see that." It is a known fact that bribery is up nationwide over the holidays for all age groups.

0% of the stores on the planet Earth will have in stock the "must have" Baby-Bye-Bye with pink dress, blue hair and yellow ribbons.

100% of the snacks left for Santa and his reindeer will be gone on Christmas morning.

The average parent spends 3.4 hours looking for gifts hidden months ago in places where "the kids will never think to look."

95.6% of all parents will spend 17.6 hours rehearsing, pleading, reassuring and sweating out the annual Christmas pageant.

In 100% of all homes with children on Christmas morning, the kids having the most fun are over 21.

Stolen Tailgates

Investigated By Md. State Police

The Maryland State Police this week is investigating a theft that involved stolen tailgates from four separate vehicles, all parked at Point View Inn, McHenry.

On December 6, two patrons of the restaurant, John P. Spoerl and Francis A. Swene, both of McHenry, entered the parking lot and noticed that the tailgates had been removed from their trucks. They notified the State Police who then found two other vehicles with missing tailgates and notified the owners, Wendell R. Beitzel and Wayne A. Ellis, who were still inside the establishment.

The total loss was estimated at $925.

Tfc. R. M. Hershberger investigated.

Three young women were each charged with two counts of theft after they allegedly stole a billboard and signs located along New Germany Road, Grantsville.

Miranda Fitzwater, 18, Oakland, Pamela Thornburg, 19, Mechanicsville, and Nancy J. Wilcox, 18, Titusville, Pa., were arrested on December 9 for the thefts by Tpr. R.C. Resh.

The total value of the items was estimated at $200.

Roger W. Paugh, 40, Accident, was charged with assault and battery following an incident on December 6 at a residence in Accident.

The complainant in the case is Melvin J. Deal, Accident.

Tfc. R.J. Resh served the criminal summons.

Held At First

Annual Meeting

Grantsville Elementary School hosted the first meeting of the school year of the Garrett County Chapter I Parent Advisory Council on November 6. New PAC officers were elected at the meeting.

Parents from five schools were welcomed by Matthew B. Steringer, principal of the school. The 36 persons in attendance included parents, principals, Frederick Holliday, Mayor of Grantsville; Lois Bittinger, vice chairman for the State PAC; and Dorothy Spaid, supervisor for Chapter I.

Mrs. Bittinger discussed the two-year plan developed for the State PAC and Mrs. Spaid provided information to parents concerning pending legislation which will affect Chapter I funding and its distribution. She noted that a copy of the legislation, House Bill No. 5409, may be obtained by any interested parents or educators from the Chapter I office or from resource teachers.

Joan Whetsell, Chapter I resource teacher, then gave a demonstration on Touch Math, a new strategy for mathematics computation which is being implemented in most Chapter I schools.

The next Chapter I PAC meeting is scheduled for February 20 at the Friendsville School.

Have A Happy And Healthy Holiday

by Robert A. Goraliski, M.D., FFAFP

The holiday season is a time of joy and fun, presents and surprises, but beware of the extra hazards that the holidays bring. There are more traffic accidents, home fires, accidents with toys, falls, and heart attacks during the winter and the holiday season. Here are some tips to make the season safer for you and your family.

Select toys to suit the age and ability of your children. Children under age four should not have toys that can be swallowed. Make sure there are no small parts that can be pulled off larger toys. Also toys that shoot projectiles should be reserved for older and more responsible children. Check all toys (especially imported ones) to be certain they are noncombustible and have no lead-base paint on them.

Christmas trees can catch fire easily. You should keep water in the base of the container at all times. Place your tree away from heat sources and open flames. If you buy your tree early, keep it in a cool place as long as possible. Check lights for loose sockets and broken, frayed wires before putting them on the tree. Turn lights off when you leave your home unattended. Never use a regular string of lights on a metal tree—the danger of shock is great. Never use glass wool in combination with spray on flocking snow—the combination is highly combustible.

Holidays often create a dangerous combination—the throttle and the bottle. At least half of all fatal automobile crashes involve people who have been drinking. Alcohol and driving just don't mix. If you plan to drink at holiday parties, follow these guidelines. Set a limit in advance, on the number of drinks you'll have. Pace yourself by drinking no more than one drink per hour. This is the amount that your liver can metabolize. Alternate alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks and eat starch foods to slow the rate of absorption. Stop drinking well in advance of driving. Don't drive until you are sober no matter how long it takes. As a host, plan to close the bar one hour before the end of the party and never let anyone drive away from your party under the influence. Find someone who is sober to drive your guest home.

The holiday season means special care to prevent accidental poisonings. Chemicals in chemistry sets and science kits may be harmful. Follow directions and safety precautions and keep them out of reach of younger children. Alcohol, which is widely scattered at some parties poses a serious danger to small children. Holiday plants such as holly berries and mistletoe berries are extremely poisonous. One leaf from the common poinsettia can kill a child if eaten.

A "White Christmas" is the hope of all children and some adults, but can be quite a hazard. Snow and ice contribute to many slip-and-fall accidents throughout the winter season. Remove all snow and ice promptly around your home. Pay special attention to the steps. Wear rubber footwear for walking on icy walkways. Leather soled shoes are slippery. Walk on the sunny side of the street even when it is longer. Use handrails on steps to prevent or minimize a fall.

There are many back injuries and heart attacks during the snow shoveling season each year. Many sedentary indoor people play "Superman" or "Bionic Woman" when it comes to shoveling snow covered walkways and driveways. The following tips will help minimize injuries:

- Use a light-weight shovel. If you lift a 54 lb. shovel 200 times, you lift half a ton of shovel alone.
- Shovel at half the rate you're tempted to use. Cold air usually makes you shovel faster than you should.
- Scoop the shovel only a foot or so off the ground and throw it no farther than necessary.
- Space out the job, taking a break every 20 minutes.
- Wax your shovel to keep wet snow from sticking to the blade.
- Shovel snow when it's fresh. The longer it stands, the heavier it gets. Rain-soaked snow gets terribly heavy.
- Avoid snow shoveling if you have heart disease. If there is any question, ask your family doctor before you start shoveling. Many people first discover that they have a heart problem when shoveling snow, so know the five most common signals of a heart attack:
- 1. Uncomfortable pressure, squeezing, fullness or pain in the center of the chest behind the breast bone.
- 2. Excessive sweating.
- 3. Nausea.
- 4. Shortness of breath.
- 5. A feeling of weakness.

If any of those occur, stop the activity and sit or lie down. If the signals persist for two minutes or longer, call your doctor or go to the emergency room.

Have an enjoyable holiday season!

Local PT Director Gives Advice On Prevention Of Back Injuries

"Most of the people I work with who are recovering from back problems due to improper lifting and carrying of winter wood supplies, are in their 20's and 30's," says Theresa Hannibal, director of Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Physical Therapy Department. "It's very important for people, who haul, split, and stack wood, to do it the right way," she adds, "because improper methods will continually damage the back until, as one says, there is a painful problem that requires costly surgery and therapy."

Ms. Hannibal advises people who are heating their homes with wood this winter to follow these simple rules:

(1) Do warm-up exercises before you begin to chop. Lifting your arms from your sides, circle them, palms up for 2 minutes. Do jumping jacks for two minutes. Check the illustration here and practice proper bending while doing partial knee bends for two minutes.

(2) Stop often to stretch and walk around a few minutes and you will conserve your energy.

(3) Set small goals for yourself if you are not accustomed to heavy lifting. Don't try to stack a cord of wood within one Saturday afternoon!

(4) Get help for this chore.

(5) If you don't feel up to it, don't attempt this chore. Your risk of back injury is greater if you are pregnant, tired, under stress, in a hurry, ill with cold or flu, or trying to do too much at once.

(6) Do not ignore a "twinge" which may occur momentarily; it means you should stop, relax, take a hot shower and see how you feel the next day. If the twinge becomes painful and your back muscles go into spasm, apply ice wrapped in a towel to your back for up to 15 minutes every 1-2 hours.

Ms. Hannibal said the most important step to prevention of back injury is by lifting objects correctly. "Check the illustration and lock your back into place before you lift. Then pull with your arms and keep the weight close to your center of gravity. Rise up using your legs; and if you must turn, turn with your feet, not your body. Don't overload yourself with a large pile that is too awkward or too heavy to lift correctly."

Ms. Hannibal encourages all who haul, split, and stack wood to follow these rules "so an aching back will not be the price of a nice, warm fire this winter." For more information, persons may call "Wellness Together" at 334-2155.

DIRECTOR

PRE-SELECTING A FUNERAL HOME

There are a number of important advantages to choosing a funeral home in advance of death. To begin with, it will enable you to find the one that best suits your needs. As with most other professions, there is a whole range to choose from. With a little effort on your part, you can surely find a funeral home that will offer the arrangements you want, at what you feel is a fair price.

Having pre-selected a funeral home can be especially helpful if you or a loved one dies away from home. They can help make arrangements with a funeral home where the death took place. If the place was another country, this is doubly true. Our country's embassy or consulate abroad MUST have the name of a funeral home in the home city in order to ship the body. Having named one will save the survivors from having to investigate and decide upon a funeral home under pressure of haste and grief.

Senior-Brunch.
Career Sessions
Slated At SHS

The 1987 senior class of Southern High School will hold their annual brunch on Thursday, December 18, from 9-10 a.m. in the school cafeteria. Following the brunch, the seniors will attend three half-hour career sessions.

The career sessions will include representatives from the following areas: four-year colleges, two-year colleges, armed services, marriage and family, health fields, business and industry, computer technology, financial aid and banking careers and vocational schools.

The planning committee consisted of the senior class officers who include: Wayne Liller, president; Kathy Werdebaugh, vice president; Vicky Dillard, secretary; and Susan Loomis, treasurer. Senior class advisors are William Ewing and Mary Ann Shipe.

Alumni from the graduating class of 1986 are invited to the brunch to share their experiences since they have graduated.

In the event of a snow day or a delayed opening of school that day, the brunch will be rescheduled for Friday, December 19, at the same time.

Peterson Musical
To Be Presented
At St. Paul's

The Adult Choir of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will present John W. Peterson's Christmas musical, "A Special Kind of Love," at the Candlelight Services to be held at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 21, in the sanctuary. Dr. David Sheets, organist, will accompany the choir.

John Willard Peterson, the composer, has become especially well-known in evangelical circles since World War II. He was born in Lindsborg, Kansas, into a musical Swedish family, on November 1, 1921. During World War II he served in the Air Force as a pilot in Asia. Following the war, he received his musical training at the Moody Bible Institute and the American Conservatory of Music. Peterson has composed more than 1200 gospel songs and has supplied church choirs with more than 25 cantatas and musicals which have sold in excess of 6,000,000 copies.

The public is invited to the Christmas Candlelight Services. Diana McCartney is director of music, and Reverend Allen C. Ridenour is pastor.

NOTICE

The Town of Oakland is cooperating with the Downtown Oakland Merchants Association to provide FREE PARKING at all metered spaces in the town from November 28, 1986, to December 24, 1986.

The officials hope the offer of free parking will not be abused by employers and employees in town, and warn that the parking areas will be policed to make sure that the same car does not tie up a parking space for an inordinate amount of time. 40 31

We're Celebrating 40th Birthday Anniversary Sale

It has been 40 years since the Grand Opening of Englander's Pharmacy, on Saturday, December 14, 1946. There are prescriptions in our files for parents and grandparents of children who are now grandparents themselves. We are proud of the confidence placed in us by these six generations of patrons. We have earned this loyalty by providing dedicated professional service and concern for the many and various needs of our customers. From that day we opened the doors, 40 years ago, we have placed the welfare of our customers ahead of all other considerations. Now, on this anniversary, we want to express our appreciation to all of our customers whose loyalty has made possible this success story of 40 years of service.

Grand Opening: December 14, 1986

PRIZES AWARDED FOR:

- The oldest prescription bottle from Englander's Pharmacy . . . search through those old shelves.
 - A bottle of a non-prescription medicine with the old 10M telephone number before we had dial phones.
 - A story about an experience of yours, or your family . . . write it down or come in and tell us about it . . .
- Your first visit to Englander's Pharmacy . . . the funniest thing that ever happened in the drugstore . . . the happiest thing that ever happened because of Englander's . . . the most important thing that ever happened because of the drugstore.
- A different prize for each of the above, the winners to be announced the week after the end of the week-long anniversary celebration.

NEW CHEMISTRY AND PHYSICS LAB — Northern High School chemistry and physics students are now better equipped to study those sciences with the newly renovated lab at that school. Barbara Perfeiti, instructor of those courses, noted that the new lab will help the students learn from the practical uses of physics and chemistry in their everyday lives. New safety facilities have been placed in the lab including a safety shower, an eyewash station and a fume hood. The storage area allows for more space for the lab equipment and the lab benches provide ample space for all the students. Pictured, left to right, are Jeff Rounds, Megan Ramsey, Jan Thomas and Ellisa Schofield, learning practical application and safety techniques in the chemistry lab.

AURORA-EGILON NEWS

Christmas Program

The Aurora School will present a program on December 17, at 7:30 p.m. to which the public is invited. There will be choral numbers, a play by 4th-6th grades, band concert and a special surprise.

Shoppes Open

A new business had its grand opening Sunday when Cathedral Old Towne Shoppes officially opened for business. The main section is a restaurant and gift shop which will be open for breakfast about 6:30 a.m. and continue through lunch. On Friday and Saturday evenings, they will serve dinners and at present, be closed on Sunday. The business is owned by Charles and Julie Adams and operating a gift shop of country crafts in another section of the building is Teresa Newberry. Another shop will hopefully be open next summer. Located on Rt. 50 adjacent to Cathedral Park, the business is just east of Aurora.

Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harsh of Eglon observed their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 7, with a family dinner at the Starlite Steak House in Oakland. They were married January 1, 1937, by the late Rev. Daniel Spaid and are the parents of three sons, Marvin, Wade and Doyle Harsh.

Mrs. Harsh is the former Grace Evans, daughter of the late Wilbur and Dessie Evans, and Mr. Harsh is the son of the late Nelson and Carrie Harsh. There were 55 family members in attendance including brothers and sisters of both, their children and grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Roth Graduates

Willard Roth Jr., son of Dorothy and Willard Roth of Horse Shoe Run, graduated December 5 from the Diesel Institute of America at Grantsville, one of the top three in a class of 20. For an average grade of 92, he was presented with a Certificate of Honor. He is presently employed with his father in Fairfax Products.

Forty-nine members of the Aurora School staff and their families met Saturday evening, December 6, for a dinner at the new Cathedral Old Towne Shoppes Restaurant. Other than the dinner, there was a sharing of games and entertainment.

Award Rifle

The Aurora Twirlettes noted their appreciation to all who have donated to their uniform fund by the purchase of raffle tickets for the awarding of a Winchester 70 bolt action rifle. The drawing was made at the Aurora K and W on November 24 and the winner of the gun was John Sharpless of Oakland.

A meeting of the parents committee of the Eglon Child Development Center was held on November 17 with Stacy Fint presiding. A thank-you was sent to Bob Spaid for the hayride he provided for the children at Halloween. Plans are in progress for a trip to Storybook Forest next spring.

An assortment of handmade gifts were made for a raffle to fund activities at the center and the drawing recently made was as follows: beaded and macrame pot hanger to David Martin of Aurora; stuffed goose to C. Stemple of St. George; two pillows to Ramona Michaels of Aurora; crocheted tree skirt to Vilda Lewis of Horse Shoe Run;

grape vine wreath to Martin Schmidt of Kingwood; two large hoop pictures to Allen Mullenax; hoop picture to Webster Slaubaugh; decorated fly swatter to Martha Hollen; (all Horse Shoe Run) two small hoop pictures to Frances Kurilko of Kingwood; wall hanging to Russell Brown of Elizabeth, Pa.; Christmas hot pads and hand towel to Carolyn Mullenax; Horse Shoe Run.

There will be a Christmas party with Santa distributing gifts purchased by parents, the committee which bears the responsibility for this being Annette Strawser, Vicki Shaffer, and Judy White. The party will be December 17 at 10 a.m. with a bad weather date of December 19. At the party, the children will present the nativity scene.

Seniors Dine

An annual Christmas dinner took place at the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building on Saturday evening, December 6, for the Union District Senior Citizens. Grace for the meal was asked by Linda Garlett, senior nurse, who also did blood pressure

Lady Rams Open '86-87 Season With Four Consecutive Victories

Coach Don Stemple's girls' varsity basketball team at Southern High School is on a roll, and it's a winning roll, as the Lady Rams have opened their campaign with four straight wins in just six days.

The Rams embarrassed St. Maria Goretti in Hagerstown in their season opener Friday evening, 58-15; rolled past host Mercersburg on Saturday, 53-30; defeated Somerset

Monday night in Oakland, 60-53, and stopped Allegany last night, 46-36, on the Campers' floor.

Vicki Dilgard netted 14 points against St. Maria Goretti last Friday, while Trisha Heatherman chipped in with eight points.

Joy Tan led Goretti with six points.

Dilgard also paced the Rams' scoring effort against Mercersburg, finishing with 18 points on eight buckets and a pair of free tosses. Also reaching double figures were Kendra Stemple with 13 points and Tracy Watson with 10.

Watson also led Southern in rebounding with 14, while Joy Thrasher pulled down nine.

The Rams were never seriously threatened in the contest, holding leads at the quarters of 12-4, 24-17, and 39-26.

The Southern jayvee team was also victorious, topping the Mercersburg junior squad, 26-14, behind an eight-point performance by Melinda Evick.

It was Kendra Stemple who led the point production for the Rams on Monday night in their home opener against Somerset, as she poured in 24 points on ten field goals and four of six foul shots.

The Rams held a 14-7 margin at the end of the first period, stretched their lead to 34-22 by halftime, and fought off a Somerset rally in the second half to preserve the win. Southern was up by only four at the close of the third stanza, but managed to keep their lead intact throughout the final period.

Also reaching double figures for Southern was Dilgard, who finished with 10 points and also contributed six assists. Tricia Heatherman led the rebounding with 12 and Stemple was credited with five assists along with her two dozen points.

Despite a nine-point effort by Marci Stemple in the preliminary game, the Southern jayvee team was nipped, 26-24, by Somerset.

A 14-point performance by Tracy Watson highlighted the Rams' win over Allegany last night as the Southern team went to 4-0 on the season.

Stemple and Dilgard contributed 10 points each for the Rams, who held comfortable leads of 10-4, 26-15, and 32-23 at the quarters.

Leading the Campers' scoring were Marsha Williams and Leslie House, who finished with

Bishop Walsh.

Laker Women Fall To Aloysius. Then Top Dundalk

After being soundly defeated in the opening game of the Potomac State College Women's Invitational on Friday evening, the Garrett Community College women rebounded on Saturday for their first win of the season.

Coach Ann Wellham's 1-3 team was hammered by Mt. Aloysius, 82-41, but then whipped Dundalk CC in the consolation round, 81-66. Mt. Aloysius went on to capture the tournament title by topping Potomac State in the finals, 90-53, after the Catamounts defeated Dundalk in their opener, 88-55.

Cherry Peterman led five Mt. Aloysius players in double figures, finishing with 19 points, while teammates Traci O'Brien hit 13, Linda Sloan and Chris Sperry recorded 12 each, and Lydia Womack contributed 11. Sharon Taylor was the only Laker to reach doubles figures, finishing with 10 points.

Missy Simms and Stephanie Burks led Garrett's rebounding with seven and six, respectively, while Amy Berry and Gail Aldridge each pulled down five.

"They just dominated us on the boards," Coach Wellham stated, noting that the Mounties out-rebounded the Lakers, 51-29. "They are a very strong team with a lot of scoring potential. The players who scored double figures against us when we played them last week were not the same ones who scored double figures against us this time," she said.

The Lakers lost to Mt. Aloysius just two days before, 82-54.

Against Dundalk the Lakers

produced their strongest, most balanced offensive attack of the season, as five players finished in double figures. They were led by Amy Berry, who hit 24 points on nine buckets and six of nine shots from the line, and Sharon Taylor, who finished with 21 points. Chris Gregory, former Southern Hill player, and Aldridge hit 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Diane Ulrich paced Dundalk with 20 points, Amy Henneman netted 17, and Lisa Lechinski added 10.

Garrett out-rebounded the Lions, 47-32, with Gregory pulling down 10 of them. She also recorded three steals.

The Lakers were on top 41-22 at halftime and maintained about a 20-point advantage throughout much of the second half. However, Dundalk rallied late in the game and pulled to within six, 70-64, at the four-minute mark. The Lakers then responded with nine unanswered points to seal their victory.

Taylor was named to the All-Tournament team, as were Tracy O'Brien of Mt. Aloysius, Susan Lilly and Tracy Hutzel of Potomac State, and Lisa Lechinski of Dundalk.

"I was really pleased with Amy's performance," Wellham said. "She really took charge and penetrated the lane all evening. Chris Gregory played an exceptional defensive game. There is still room for improvement in our rebounding, though."

The Laker women will go after their second win this Saturday at Salem.

Huskies Open With Easy Win Over Salisbury, But Fall To Beall

The Northern High boys varsity basketball team opened its season Friday evening at home with a resounding victory over Salisbury, 54-27. However, the celebrating was shortlived for the Huskies, as they were mashed Tuesday night by Beall, 77-47, in Frostburg.

Four of Coach Harv Speicher's team finished in double figures, as Mike Robeson connected for 14, Aaron Zumpano netted 12, and Bob Martin and John Brobst each sunk 10 points.

None of the Pennsylvanians reached the double figure plateau, as Wes Brownlee recorded nine points and Ron Scharitger hit eight.

Leading the rebounding for the Huskies was sophomore Kevin Selby, who pulled down eight. Zumpano was credited with four steals and five assists.

Northern moved out to a 16-8 lead in the first quarter, stretched the margin to 33-12 by halftime, and was on top 41-18 after three quarters.

All was not gloomy for Salisbury fans, however, as their jayvee team topped the junior Huskies, 34-26, in the preliminary game. Northern's John Sherbin was the game's leading scorer with 13.

On Tuesday night in Frostburg, the Huskies found themselves down early and could not recover against the Mountaineers, who held an overwhelming 24-4 lead at the end of the first quarter. The Huskies played better in the se-

Northern Girls Nip Calvary In Season Opener

After trading the lead back and forth throughout the game, the Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team nipped visiting Calvary Christian Friday evening, 40-39.

The season-opening thriller was highlighted by a 28-point performance by Northern's Melissa Beeman, who sunk 13 buckets and connected on both of her free throw opportunities.

The Lady Huskies were down, 15-10, after the first quarter of action, but rallied to take a 22-20 advantage by halftime. They maintained the same edge by the end of the third period, 30-28, and came from behind again in the final stanza for the win.

Beth Scritchfield led Calvary with 13 points, followed by Connie Ketterman with 11.

HFC Banquet Set For Sunday

The Highland Football Conference Annual Banquet will be held this Sunday at Southern High School, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The featured speaker of the evening will be Charlie Latimer, former coach at Fort Hill and presently the supervisor of physical education for Allegany County.

Tickets for the event, which are $5 each, are available from the coaching staffs of all HFC teams.

Southern is hosting the event since the Rams captured the HFC football championship this past season.

Wisp Ski Club Meets To Open 1986-87 Season

The Wisp Ski Club started off the 1986-87 ski season with a get-together at the Topsider Restaurant in McHenry last Saturday.

The Club had planned a Christmas party at the Kushners for December 20, however, it has been cancelled. The Club hopes to sponsor an event that evening but plans have not yet been completed. The Club newsletter will give specifics.

Memberships for the 1986-87 year are still being taken. The cost is $10 for individuals and $20 for families. Memberships can be mailed to Bob Sutton, 5767 Franklin Drive, Gibsonia, Pa. 15044.

Lakers Destroy Howard, 102-78, For Fifth Win

The Garrett Community College Lakers improved their record to 5-2 Saturday evening by crushing Howard Community College, 102-78, to hand the visitors their fourth loss in five starts.

Jim Feagins continued as the Lakers' leading scorer by pouring in 21 points, while teammate William Scales was close behind with 19 points.

The Lakers dominated the entire contest, coasting to a 60-41 halftime lead and then holding Howard to just 27 points in the second half while netting 42 more of their own. Torin Savoy, who led Garrett with a dozen rebounds, also reached double figures with 15 points, as did Lakers Brian Temple and Terry Carter, who finished with 10 each.

Feagins also contributed nine rebounds, Scales pulled down eight, and Sean Hazel finished with 14 assists.

Howard was led by Morgan, who netted 22 points, while Bassnett finished with 13, Gridler hit 12, and Butler chipped in with 11.

"We played very good defense in the second half," stated GCC Coach Dennis Gibson, "and we shot over 50 percent from the floor for the entire game."

"Sean Hazel was the player of the game for us with his outstanding offensive attack," Gibson added.

The Lakers will seek win number six this Saturday night at Salem College against Salem's junior varsity, a team the Lakers have already beaten once this year by 20 points.

Halftime: Garrett 40, Howard 41.
Personal fouls: Howard 18, Garrett 16. Fouled out: Volkman, Howard. Rebounds: Garrett 46, Savoy 21, Howard 36.

However, Gibson believes it will be a different team this time. "They have been practicing against their varsity," he said, "and Salem is in a tough conference. I am expecting them to be much improved."

Lady Rams Open '86-87 Season With Four Consecutive Victories

Coch Don Stemple's girls' varsity basketball team at Southern High School is on a roll, and it's a winning roll, as the Lady Rams have opened their campaign with four straight wins in just six days.

The Rams embarrassed St. Maria Goretti in Hagerstown in their season opener Friday evening, 58-15; rolled past host Mercersburg on Saturday, 53-30; defeated Somerset on Monday night in Oakland, 60-53; and stopped Allegany last night, 46-36, on the Campers' floor.

Vicki Dilgard netted 14 points against St. Maria Goretti last Friday, while Trisha Heatherman chipped in with eight points.

Joy Tan led Goretti with six points.

Dilgard also paced the Rams' scoring effort against Mercersburg, finishing with 18 points on eight buckets and a pair of free tosses. Also reaching double figures were Kendra Stemple with 13 points and Tracy Watson with 10.

Watson also led Southern in rebounding with 14, while Joy Thrasher pulled down nine.

The Rams were never seriously threatened in the contest, holding leads at the quarters of 12-4, 24-17, and 39-26.

The Southern jayvee team was also victorious, topping the Mercersburg junior squad, 26-14, behind an eight-point performance by Melinda Evick.

It was Kendra Stemple who led the point production for the Rams on Monday night in their home opener against Somerset, as she poured in 24 points on ten field goals and four of six foul shots.

The Rams held a 14-7 margin at the end of the first period, stretched their lead to 34-22 by halftime, and fought off a Somerset rally in the second half to preserve the win. Southern was up by only four at the close of the third stanza, but managed to keep their lead intact throughout the final period.

Also reaching double figures for Southern was Dilgard, who finished with 10 points and also contributed six assists. Tricia Heatherman led the rebounding with 12 and Stemple was credited with five assists along with her two dozen points.

Despite a nine-point effort by Marci Stemple in the preliminary game, the Southern jayvee team was nipped, 26-24, by Somerset.

A 14-point performance by Tracy Watson highlighted the Rams' win over Allegany last night as the Southern team went to 4-0 on the season.

Stemple and Dilgard contributed 10 points each for the Rams, who held comfortable leads of 10-4, 26-15, and 32-23 at the quarters.

Leading the Campers' scoring were Marsha Williams and Leslie House, who finished with

Bishop Walsh.

Laker Women Fall To Aloysius. Then Top Dundalk

After being soundly defeated in the opening game of the Potomac State College Women's Invitational on Friday evening, the Garrett Community College women rebounded on Saturday for their first win of the season.

Coach Ann Wellham's 1-3 team was hammered by Mt. Aloysius, 82-41, but then whipped Dundalk CC in the consolation round, 81-66. Mt. Aloysius went on to capture the tournament title by topping Potomac State in the finals, 90-53, after the Catamounts defeated Dundalk in their opener, 88-55.

Cherry Peterman led five Mt. Aloysius players in double figures, finishing with 19 points, while teammates Traci O'Brien hit 13, Linda Sloan and Chris Sperry recorded 12 each, and Lydia Womack contributed 11. Sharon Taylor was the only Laker to reach double figures, finishing with 10 points.

Missy Simms and Stephanie Burks led Garrett's rebounding with seven and six, respectively, while Amy Berry and Gail Aldridge each pulled down five.

"They just dominated us on the boards," Coach Wellham stated, noting that the Mounties out-rebounded the Lakers, 51-29. "They are a very strong team with a lot of scoring potential. The players who scored double figures against us when we played them last week were not the same ones who scored double figures against us this time," she said.

The Lakers lost to Mt. Aloysius just two days before, 82-54.

"We just didn't use all of our offensive options," Wellham added. Against Dundalk the Lakers produced their strongest, most balanced offensive attack of the season, as five players finished in double figures. They were led by Amy Berry, who hit 24 points on nine buckets and six of nine shots from the line, and Sharon Taylor, who finished with 21 points. Chris Gregory, former Southern High player, and Aldridge hit 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Diane Ulrich paced Dundalk with 20 points, Amy Henneman netted 17, and Lisa Lechinski added 10.

Garrett out-rebounded the Lions, 47-32, with Gregory pulling down 10 of them. She also recorded three steals.

The Lakers were on top 41-22 at halftime and maintained about a 20-point advantage through much of the second half. However, Dundalk rallied late in the game and pulled to within six, 70-64, at the four-minute mark. The Lakers then responded with nine unanswered points to seal their victory.

Taylor was named to the All-Tournament team, as were Tracy O'Brien of Mt. Aloysius, Susan Lilly and Tracy Hutzel of Potomac State, and Lisa Lechinski of Dundalk.

"I was really pleased with Amy's performance," Wellham said. "She really took charge and penetrated the lane all evening. Chris Gregory played an exceptional defensive game. There is still room for improvement in our rebounding, though."

The Laker women will go after their second win this Saturday at Salem.

Huskies Open With Easy Win Over Salisbury, But Fall To Beall

The Northern High boys varsity basketball team opened its season Friday evening at home with a resounding victory over Salisbury, 54-27. However, the celebrating was shortlived for the Huskies, as they were mashed Tuesday night by Beall, 77-47, in Frostburg.

Four of Coach Harv Speicher's team finished in double figures, as Mike Robeson connected for 14, Aaron Zumpano netted 12, and Bob Martin and John Brobst each sunk 10 points.

None of the Pennsylvanians reached the double figure plateau, as Wes Brownlee recorded nine points and Ron Schartiger hit eight.

Leading the rebounding for the Huskies was sophomore Kevin Selby, who pulled down eight. Zumpano was credited with four steals and five assists.

Northern moved out to a 16-8 lead in the first quarter, stretched the margin to 33-12 by halftime, and was on top 41-18 after three quarters.

All was not gloomy for Salisbury fans, however, as their jayvee team topped the junior Huskies, 34-26, in the preliminary game. Northern's John Sherbin was the game's leading scorer with 13.

On Tuesday night in Frostburg, the Huskies found themselves down early and could not recover against the Mountaineers, who held an overwhelming 24-4 lead at the end of the first quarter. The Huskies played better in the se-

Northern Girls Nip Calvary In Season Opener

After trading the lead back and forth throughout the game, the Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team nipped visiting Calvary Christian Friday evening, 40-39.

The season-opening thriller was highlighted by a 28-point performance by Northern's Melissa Beeman, who sunk 13 buckets and connected on both of her free throw opportunities.

The Lady Huskies were down, 15-10, after the first quarter of action, but rallied to take a 22-20 advantage by halftime. They maintained the same edge by the end of the third period, 30-28, and came from behind again in the final stanza for the win.

Beth Scritchfield led Calvary with 13 points, followed by Connie Ketterman with 11.

HFC Banquet Set For Sunday

The Highland Football Conference Annual Banquet will be held this Sunday at Southern High School, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The featured speaker of the evening will be Charlie Lattimer, former coach at Fort Hill and presently the supervisor of physical education for Allegany County.

Tickets for the event, which are $5 each, are available from the coaching staffs of all HFC teams.

Southern is hosting the event since the Rams captured the HFC football championship this past season.

Wisp Ski Club Meets To Open 1986-87 Season

The Wisp Ski Club started off the 1986-87 ski season with a get-together at the Toppers Restaurant in McHenry last Saturday.

The Club had planned a Christmas party at the Kushners for December 20, however, it has been cancelled. The Club hopes to sponsor an event that evening but plans have not yet been completed. The Club newsletter will give specifics.

Memberships for the 1986-87 year are still being taken. The cost is $10 for individuals and $20 for families. Memberships can be mailed to Bob Sutton, 5767 Franklin Drive, Gibsonia, Pa. 15044.

Lakers Destroy Howard, 102-78, For Fifth Win

The Garrett Community College Lakers improved their record to 5-2 Saturday evening by crushing Howard Community College, 102-78, to hand the visitors their fourth loss in five starts.

Jim Feagins continued as the Lakers' leading scoring by pouring in 21 points, while teammate William Scales was close behind with 20 points.

The Lakers dominated the entire contest, coasting to a 60-41 halftime lead and then holding Howard to just 27 points in the second half while netting 42 more of their own. Torin Savoy, who led Garrett with a dozen rebounds, also reached double figures with 15 points, as did Lakers Brian Temple and Terry Carter, who finished with 10 each.

Feagins also contributed nine rebounds, Scales pulled down eight, and Sean Hazel finished with 14 assists.

Howard was led by Morgan, who netted 22 points, while Bassnett finished with 13, Gridler hit 12, and Butler chipped in with 11.

"We played very good defense in the second half," stated GCC Coach Dennis Gibson, "and we shot over 50 percent from the floor for the entire game."

"Sean Hazel was the player of the game for us with his outstanding offensive attack," Gibson added.

The Lakers will seek win number six this Saturday night at Salem College against Salem's junior varsity, a team the Lakers have already beaten once this year by 20 points.

A COMMUNITY MEETING was held Monday in Oakland by U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes and his staff members. The meeting was a part of the senator's continuing efforts to keep in touch with constituents and bring the government to the people. Many questions and problems were discussed, including local, national and international issues. Pictured above with Senator Sarbanes is Mrs. Helen Baumgartner, of Oakland, who met with the senator to discuss Social Security and Medicare problems.

edly occurred at the parking lot of Joe's Place, Oakland, on December 9.

According to Stotteleyer, someone used a bat and damaged her 1977 Chevrolet by striking it twice on the right fender and twice on the windshield. No estimate of damage was reported.

Deputy David Stoner investigated.

Another destruction of property was reported by Gary Gregory, Oakland, after someone threw an object through the windshield of his vehicle parked at the Garrett Community College parking lot on December 4. The windshield of the 1980 Ford Pinto was shattered.

Deputy L.E. Gnevy investigated.

A destruction of property occurred at Southern Middle School between December 7 and 8.

According to officials at the school, two large windows were broken. The loss was estimated at $50.

Detective-Sgt. D.W. Tucker investigated.

Cyril V. Sims, Rockville, reported a theft at his cottage on Giendale Road that occurred between November 17 and December 2.

According to Sims, a Sears 12-foot aluminum john boat was taken from his property. The value of the boat is $100.

Detective Richard Kutchman is investigating the theft.

Willard M. Ashby, 28, Oakland, was charged with theft by complainant Sandra M. Ashby, Oakland.

Mr. Ashby reportedly removed a starter, power steering belt, and coil wire from the complainant's car which was parked at Highview Apartments on December 7. He also unhooked the battery cables.

Deputy W. C. Thomas served the warrant.

James Riggelman Jr., 24, Deer Park, was charged with battery following an incident on December 7 at Zump's parking lot, Deep Creek Lake.

Willard J. Stemple, Oakland, filed the charges.

Deputy W. C. Thomas was the arresting officer.

BALLOONS HAVE COME FROM FAR AND NEAR and have landed on Garrett County soil, but few have ever made it as far as this balloon found recently by Larry Steyer, Oakland, while deer hunting. The card attached to the balloon contained no specific name of a student, but a simple "Say no to drugs" message from a Houston, Tex., elementary school. The balloon obviously got caught in a northeasterly wind pattern to find its way to Garrett County, a distance of over 1,200 miles.

Friends were received at the Shaffer Funeral Home on Wednesday.

A service will be conducted today at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Douglas N. Shepherd. Interment will be in Indian Mound Cemetery.

Graveside services will be accorded by Clinton Lodge 86 AF&M.

MRS. NELLE C. GARRETT
Mrs. Nelle C. Garrett, 81, Deer Park, died Tuesday, December 9, in Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Born in Oakland March 22, 1905, she was the daughter of the late Bartlett B. and Phoebe C. (Shreve) Nethken. She was preceded in death by her husband, Robert Browning Garrett Sr., July 1977.

Mrs. Garrett was a 1924 graduate of Oakland High School. She was employed by Garrett County Court House and later employed as an executive secretary at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and as a bookkeeper at Miller's Market, Oakland. She was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland; McVeigh Holy Cross Mission Club and several local bridge clubs. An accomplished pianist, she played piano for silent movies in Oakland and was organist for many years at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, and then at St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Surviving are three sons, Michael A. Garrett II, Pasadena, Robert B. Garrett Jr., Timonium, and Patrick J. Garrett II, Rockville; two daughters, Mrs. Sheila Reams, Nanticoke, Conn., and Mrs. Jane B. Nolan, Deer Park, and 10 grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home Wednesday and today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mass of Christian burial will be celebrated at St. Peter's Catholic Church Friday at 10 a.m. by the Rev. Father Martin Feild. Interment will be in Oakland Cemetery.

A Christian wake service will be held at the funeral home Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

JAMES A. MCKENZIE
James A. McKenzie, 73, Grantsville, died Wednesday, December 10, at Frostburg Community Hospital.

Born in Mt. Savage on March 22, 1913, he was the son of the late Frank and Greta (Kirby) McKenzie.

Mr. McKenzie was a retired employee of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and a member of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America.

Surviving are his wife, Pauline (Long) McKenzie; one son, James McKenzie, Mount Savage; two daughters, Mrs. Rosalie DeVore, Ellerslie, and Mrs. Polly Reed, Mt. Savage; three step-sons, Ronald McKenzie, Hedgesville, W. Va., Gary McKenzie, Mt. Savage, and Terry McKenzie, Corrigansville; three step-daughters, Mrs. Cherie DeHaven, Corrigansville, Mrs. Gayle Robertson and Mrs. Debora Stafford, both of Mt. Savage; one brother, Lewis McKenzie, Calif.; seven grandchildren, 19 step-grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends will be received at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

MRS. NORA E. DURR
Mrs. Nora E. Durr, 69, Oakland, died Tuesday, December 9, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born in McHenry October 18, 1917, she was the daughter of the late Alvin H. and Tracy E. (Teets) Friend. She was preceded in death by her husband, Eli P. Durr.

Mrs. Durr was a member of the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, McHenry.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Nadine L. Whitacre, Oakland, and Mrs. Alveta J. Whitacre, Plymouth, Mich.; three sons, H. Carl Lewis, Terra Alta, W. Va., Linsey A. Lewis and Alvin R. Lewis, both of Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. Violet Hoyer, McHenry, and Mrs. Juanita Savage, Oakland; three brothers, Leo Friend, Junior Friend, and Ernest Friend, all of Oakland; 19 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Stewart Funeral Home Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

A service will be conducted there Saturday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Donald Matthews. Interment will be in Lantz Ridge Cemetery, Amboy, W. Va.

MRS. MARGARET E. EVANS
Mrs. Margaret E. Evans, 61, Baltimore, died Tuesday, December 9, in Pasadena at the home of her son.

Born in Mt. Savage on August 15, 1925, she was the daughter of the late George W. and Edna (Frankenberry) Witt. She was also preceded in death by her husband, William H. Evans, in November, 1975.

Surviving are two sons, William Evans, Pasadena, and Tracey Evans, Baltimore; one daughter, Mrs. Victoria Monroe, Albuquerque, N.M.; four sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, Gaithersburg, Mrs. Helen Paul and Mrs. Leota Jenkins, both of Grantsville, and Mrs. Jeannine Beeman, Lakeland, Fla.; two brothers, David Gentry, Patterson's Creek, W. Va., and George Witt Jr., Houston, Tex., seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

RAYMOND ARBOGAST
Raymond Arbogast, 75, Oakland, died Monday, December 8, at West Virginia University Hospital, Morgantown, W. Va.

Born in Zeigler, W. Va. on October 24, 1911, he was the son of the late Jacob Arbogast and Mintie B. (Weimer) Waybright.

An Army veteran of World War II, Mr. Arbogast was formerly employed as a timberman with the Fred Glotfelty Lumber Company, Oakland.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Hattie P. (Harsh) Arbogast; two sons, Danny L. Arbogast, Oakland, and Wade E. Dumire, Newark, Del.; two sisters, Mrs. Mazelle Yow, Mtn. Lake Park, and Mrs. Eula Kidd, Jacksonville, Fla.; one half-sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stemple, Aurora, W. Va., four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home Wednesday.

A service will be conducted there Thursday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. David Moon. Interment will be in Accident Cemetery, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va.

Christmas Legends

Instead of Santa Claus giving the gifts, the Polish children are given gifts from Mother Star and her companion, Father Star!

If a French peasant has a daughter born on December 25, it is believed she will be virtuous, witty and wise.

In Loving Memory of my husband, Harland King, whose birthday would have been December 15th.

This month is your birthday with sad regrets.
The day you left us is one we will never forget.
You fell asleep without a good bye,
Our hopes, dreams and memories of you will never die.
We miss you more than anyone will ever know.
As each day passes our emptiness grows,
The tears that are still shed can never take away the hurt.
The ache in our hearts remain as we often sit and think nine years has passed but the grief and often tears are still with us.
Christmas time was always extra special.

Loved and sadly missed,

TOY SAFETY

The following tips will help you in selecting toys that will be fun, challenging, educational and above all, safe for your children this holiday season.

1. If a toy must be assembled after purchase, follow directions exactly.

Cumberworth, instructor and director Ben Sincell, Greg Brenneman, Linda Handwerk, and Patty Daniel. The program is slated for this Saturday, December 13, at 8 p.m. (changed from 7:30 p.m.). Admission is $1 per person. An art show by GCC students will also be a part of the production.

2. Consider the child's age, interests, capabilities and attention span to determine if the toy would be appropriate. Remember that playing is learning and many toys provide educational experiences.

3. The recommended age label is put on the toy by the manufacturer as a guide. For a less mature child, the toy could be dangerous or frustrating; for a more mature child, the toy could be boring.

4. PG (parental guidance) notation indicates that little brothers and sisters should be protected from complicated toys and crafts that could endanger them and that the older child should be taught to put such sets out of the reach of younger children.

5. Because many crafts for children require close parental supervision as indicated by the manufacturer's caution label, adults should read labels carefully to exercise proper supervision.

6. Toys should be inspected periodically and repaired if necessary. If they become hazardous from hard or extended usage, or exposure to weather, they should be discarded.

7. The Consumer Product Safety Commission and other experts offer the following advice about toys for young children. Make sure that a toy for a toddler or infant:

*is not so small that it can be swallowed;

*has no detachable small parts that can lodge in windpipe, ears or nostrils;

*is unlikely to break easily into small pieces or to leave jagged edges;

*has no sharp edges (particularly metal) or points;

*has no exposed straight pins, sharp wires, nails;

*is not made of glass or brittle plastic;

*is labeled "non-toxic" (avoid painted toys for infants who put playthings in the mouth);

*has no parts that can pinch fingers or toes, or catch hair;

*has no cords or strings longer than twelve inches for crib toys.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS
The newly formed Home-makers Club will meet on December 16, 1986 from noon to 1 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office. Please note that this date has been changed from the original date of December 17. All interested persons are invited to attend. For more information, call 334-1990.

AAUW Chapter
To Have Party

The December meeting of the American Association of University Women will consist of a holiday party at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Manning Smith, Mtn. Lake Park, on Saturday, December 13, at 7:30 p.m. Husbands and special guests are invited to attend.

Mrs. Phoebe Goodwin, cultural chairman, has announced that arrangements have been made for the branch and other interested persons to attend the performance of "Anahel and the Night Visitor." It will be held at the Church-McKee Art Center, Potomac State College, on December 15 at 8 p.m. The price is $7.00 per ticket at the door.

The Literature Study Group has chosen the book "Nicholas and Alexandra" by Robert Massie as its topic on January 5 at the home of Kathryn Helbig, leader of the group.

Housley Earns CFP Designation

Sam Housley, of the Hershberger Agency in Grantsville, recently earned the designation of certified financial planner (CFP) with an average test score of 89.5.

The coursework consists of six areas of study extending over a two-year period. The curriculum includes personal financial statement analysis, risk management, investments, tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning. The national exams are offered and administered by the College For Financial Planning in Denver, Colo., which is dedicated to the educational and ethical advancement of all candidates and C.F.P. designation holders.

Housley joined the Hershberger Agency staff in September after spending six years with Atlantic Richfield Company and then with Atlantic Refining & Marketing Corp. as a division sales manager.

He is a graduate of the University of Maryland and resides in Garrett County with his wife, the former Ellen Hershberger, and their two children, Michelle and Brent.

Terra Alta Bank Earns Top Rating

The Terra Alta Bank, Preston County's oldest bank, has received word from Sheshunoff & Company their bank has received an A rating.

Sheshunoff & Company is the leading bank analysis firm in the country with their ratings published in "The Bank Quarterly Ratings of All U.S. Banks." The A rating given to The Terra Alta Bank establishes it as one of the best rated institutions in the country and a letter of congratulations was received from the analysis firm.

The Terra Alta Bank has served the area for 95 years.

Cynthia Bosley Named Rotary Exchange Student

Rotary International District 735 recently selected Cynthia Ann Bosley, Friendsville as a Youth Exchange Student for 1987-88 year. She is a daughter of Clay and Linda Bosley.

Miss Bosley is a sophomore this year at the Northern High School where she is an honor student and secretary of the Student Council.

In addition to being a member of the basketball team, she is also active in the Jobs Club as its secretary. She is an active member of the Zion Lutheran Church and the Youth Group.

Cynthia was chosen from a number of qualified applicants from Rotary District 735, which includes parts of Pennsylvania, Western Maryland, and parts of West Virginia.

The Youth Exchange Program has been sponsored by Rotary International for many years. The purpose of the program is to give students from over 60 countries where Rotary exists an opportunity to spend a year in another foreign country.

Richard Peake, chairman of the Oakland Rotary Club Youth Exchange Committee, stated that the Club is "extremely pleased" that another Garrett County student has been selected to represent the District. He said he believes Cynthia will make "an excellent ambassador for Garrett County and Rotary."

Last year, Susan Fedde, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Fedde, visited Belgium as the local Exchange student. This year Christi Ann Wilt is representing the District and living with a family in Switzerland. Christi Ann is the daughter of Carolyn Wilt.

Income Levels For Prescription Assistance Up

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene has announced an across-the-board increase of approximately $300 in maximum income standards for the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program.

The increase will enable current beneficiaries to remain on the program and additional Marylanders to participate.

If a single person has a gross annual income of $6,100 or less and is not receiving Medical Assistance (Medicaid), that person may be eligible to obtain prescription drugs and certain other covered medical items at a cost of one dollar, with the State paying the remaining cost.

For each additional eligible person in the family, the income limit increases by approximately $650. The asset standards for the Pharmacy Assistance Program are similar to those for the Maryland Medical Assistance Program.

The Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program was established in 1979 to provide assistance to those persons who have an annual gross income higher than that which would make them eligible for Medicaid, but who are in financial need for the purchase of prescription drugs.

Approximately 14,000 Marylanders receive support from the Pharmacy Assistance Program.

More information about the program and an application form can be obtained by calling toll-free 1-800-492-1974. Correspondence may be addressed to the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program, Post Office Box 386, Baltimore, Maryland 21203.

Golden Chain Club To Hold Election

The Golden Chain Club will meet Tuesday, December 16, at 1 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church Social Center, Oakland for an election of officers and a Christmas party.

A club spokesman noted that each member is to bring two jingle gifts and a half-dozen cookies to share.

Maddux Resigns As DECD Head

Governor Harry Hughes announced this week that Thomas H. Maddux has submitted his resignation as secretary of the Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD), effective December 16, 1986.

Maddux, who has served as secretary since January, 1985, is expected to return to the private sector.

Hughes called Maddux "an excellent economic development secretary who also made a major contribution to the resolution of the savings and loan problem." Maddux headed the State's effort to sell or merge troubled savings and loans with strong financial institutions.

The Governor said, "Maddux should also be commended for his work promoting Maryland as a good place to locate and expand business."

In his letter of resignation, Maddux said, "I have always believed and will always believe that we were working with the greatest product in the land—The State of Maryland."

Funds Available Via Livability Code Program

The Community Development Administration (CDA) is accepting applications for the Livability Code Rehabilitation Program, which provides low-interest loans to rehabilitate residential properties to bring them into compliance with minimum livability codes.

A division of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, CDA is Maryland's housing finance agency.

Under the program, CDA provides qualified applicants with low-interest loans to finance improvements which bring residential properties into compliance with housing or livability codes. Properties must be located in political subdivisions which have adopted a housing or livability code and must be in violation of one or more standards of the code.

The program serves primarily those individuals or families with limited incomes. Income limits are based on household size. Applicants can include owner-occupants of single-family dwellings and owners of rental buildings with up to 20 dwelling units. The incomes of owner-occupants and at least two-thirds of the tenants in rental properties must fall within the program's income limits.

Interest rates will range from 7.5 percent to zero percent, depending on the income of the owner-occupants or the tenants in a rental property. The payment of principal and interest may be deferred. The maximum loan term is 20 years.

The Livability Code Rehabilitation Program is one of 14 programs created by the 1986 General Assembly as part of the governor's $38 million housing initiatives.

For information about the program or to obtain an application packet, persons may contact CDA's Rehabilitation and Special Loan Program office at (toll free) 1-800-492-7127.

Commission Gives Advice On Use Of Heat Tapes

Government safety experts ask persons who use electric heat tapes to protect exposed pipes from freezing to check the tapes now for possible fire hazards.

Citing some 500 house fires believed to have been caused by heat tapes over a six-year period, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission said tapes should be carefully inspected annually for cracked, baked-out, deteriorated insulation or bare wires that could cause a fire. Defective tapes should be replaced immediately and users should always unplug the heat tape prior to inspection to avoid a shock hazard.

Heat tapes are routinely used in crawl spaces and in the substructure of beach homes, mountain cabins, cottages, mobile homes and similar dwellings to prevent exposed water and drain pipes from freezing. Some heat tapes are left in place the year-round and are activated by a thermostat when the temperature approaches 32 degrees. In other cases, homeowners plug in the tapes at the start of the heating season and unplug them in the spring.

Heat tapes have also triggered fires because they were improperly installed, the agency said. Some homeowners disregard label instructions and lap the tape over itself along the pipe in the belief that better protection will result. As CPSC pointed out, heat tape manufacturers specifically warn against overlapping the tape around pipes.

Consumers should know the kind of pipe to be protected (copper, plastic, galvanized steel, etc.), also pipe diameter and length, when shopping for new or replacement heat tapes. They should make sure the heat tape is approved for use on the pipe found in the home.

CPSC said tapes should never

James Woods (l.) and James Garner star in a deeply moving story of love and loyalty presented by the "Hallmark Hall of Fame." "Promise" airs Sunday, Dec. 14, on CBS.

The night Kennedy went home early

By Cindy Adams

Note to Sen. Ted Kennedy: Neil Simon's Broadway-bound show "Broadway Bound" is a solid smash, in case you didn't notice.

Ted Kennedy

See, dear reader, the play was at the National in Washington, D.C. One night Kennedy came in late. He then proceeded to sneeze all through the first act. He left at intermission with a beautiful blonde who did not look like his nurse. Whatever her prescription was, it sure must have been potent. Kennedy never came back for Act II. Neither did the non-nurse.

Now it's Kirk Douglas co-starring with Gregory Peck. This new set of tough guys will make a modernized "Inherit the Wind" for NBC. Douglas's kid Peter is producing. The American Arbitration Association has awarded Connie Francis's ex-manager Frank Fiore nearly $200,000. That's Connie's debt on the breach of contract. Pope John Paul II's visit to Los Angeles didn't include Joan Collins or Sylvester Stallone, but by request His Holiness met "the creative people" — those responsible for what goes on in films and TV.

Burt Reynolds either adores TV's daytime soap "One Life to Live" or Barbara Luna, who's one of its stars, or an artist named Don Crowley. For some reason, Reynolds, who does not know Luna, shipped her Crowley's painting of "Flower of the Desert." Burt thought the painter resembled Barbara. Barbara thought so, too. She also thought this was some sort of prank. It wasn't.

I heard that Lucille Ball, whose series was bounced off ABC, might resurface on CBS, courtesy of her friend, Bill Paley, chairman of CBS. But it wasn't easy reaching those who know. Only those who scoffed.

Lucille Ball

Said Tom Lahey, CBS vice president of public relations: "Ridiculous. Aaron Spelling, her producer, is exclusive to ABC."

Video gifts for music lovers

By Marianne Meyer

If you haven't finished your holiday shopping yet, get rocking! Here are some home video suggestions for the music lovers on your list.

Wham!

Teeny-boppers will delight in "Wham! In China: Foreign Skies" (CBS, Fox) as it follows the toothful twosome on their historic trip behind the Great Wall. "A-ha — Hunting High and Low" (Warner Reprise) collects clips from their Norwegian trip. For home-grown hitmakers, "The Hooters: Nervous Night" (CBS, Fox) is an in-concert visit with Philadelphia's favorite pop band.

For the head-bangers on hand, try "Hear 'n' Aid" (Sony), an all-star musical session for famine relief. "Live Without a Net" (Warner Reprise), the new Van Halen concert documentary, or "The Ultimate Ozzy" (CBS, Fox), starring the inimitable Mr. Osbourne.

Mellow music lovers will love "Whitney Houston: The #1 Video Hits" (MusicVision), a new Neil Diamond collection, "I'm Glad You're Here With Me Tonight" (Vestron), or vintage Streisand specials — "Color Me Barbra" or "My Name is Barbra" (both CBS, Fox).

Funky friends will appreciate "George Clinton with Parliament Funkadelic: The Mothership Connection" (Sony), "James Brown: Live in London" (Sony) or "The Fat Boys: Brrr, Watch em!" (MCA).

A Beatlesmaniae's wish-list might include "John Lennon Live in New York City" (Sony), "Carl Perkins: Blue Suede Shoes" (MCA), with George Harrison's first on-stage appearance in 15 years, "The Compleat Beatles" (MGM/UA) or the (finally available) classic Beatles romp, "Help!" (MCA).

Psychedelic '60s fans can get off on "MTV's Closet Classics" (MusicVideo) with The Who, Hendrix and the Grateful Dead. "Don't Look Back" (Paramount), the classic Bob Dylan documentary, or the latest Dylan long-form, "Hard to Handle" (CBS, Fox), with special guests Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers.

New-wavers will rave over "The Cure: Staring at the Sea" (The Images), (Elektra) from the enigmatic British band, "Depeche Mode: Some Great Videos" (Warner Reprise), or "The Best of Elvis Costello" (CBS, Fox), value-packed with 22 clever clips.

Happy gift-giving — and viewing!

Dolly Parton is adopted by seven orphans in "A Smoky Mountain Christmas." The ABC holiday special airs Sunday, Dec. 14.

Fournier's handicap is never a problem

By Ian Harmer

HOLLYWOOD — TV producer Rift Fournier has been confined to a wheelchair since he was a teenager, but the number and diversity of the projects he has brought to the tube recalls the old joke: "To hear him speak, you wouldn't know he had a wooden leg."

Fournier himself sums up his situation with the comment, "I'm handicapped the same way Bill Cosby is black!"

Fournier's current claim to full-time employment is "Cover Story," a syndicated weekly interview show that mines the same celebrity vein as "Entertainment Tonight" and its clones, but does it with the emphasis on substance instead of style.

That's not to say that "Cover Story," which is aired in the top 80 TV markets across the country, is not stylish.

"I do all the interviews myself, and I am never seen on camera," says Fournier. "It has nothing to do with the fact that I'm not handsome enough for television — I am! — or that I don't want viewers to see me in a wheelchair."

"My approach is the same as a magazine journalist's," he explains. "It's the story that counts, not the byline, and my job is to get as much new and interesting information on the screen as possible," he says. "I'm not a celebrity, but my subjects are, and I don't come between them and the camera."

Fournier, 50, jokes that he started out in show-biz writing speeches for a presidential candidate, graduated to deliberate comedy as a gag writer for stand-up comics without political aspirations, then became co-producer of "The Mike Douglas Show."

He went on to write scripts for a slew of weekly series, including "Kojak" and "Kaz," and developed a number of highly rated movies of the week. He still sandwiches drama scripts between editions of "Cover Story," and is working on a potential network series, which he describes as "Kojak on the kiddie beat."

I was the first person in a wheelchair to join the Directors Guild and the Writers Guild, but so what?" he says. "I'm not applying to be a pole-vaulter or middle linebacker for the L.A. Raiders. I'm in show-biz."

When polio put me in the chair when I was a kid, it never occurred to me that life wouldn't go on, and I don't ask for or get any concessions in my business, says Fournier. "I have a job to do, and I don't have to be on my feet to get it done right."

The delightful comedy ballet "Die Fledermaus" features an international cast of dancers, including Richard Cragun and Galina Panova. It airs Wednesday, Dec. 17, on PBS. (Check local listings.)

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Toni D'Amato

How old is Jane Fonda and when is her birthday? My friend says she is younger than 45 and I say she is older. — J.B., New City, N.Y.

Jane Fonda

The older she gets, the better she looks. Believe it or not, Jane Fonda will be 49 years old next week. She was born in New York City on Dec. 21, 1937. It's hard to believe that this actress, daughter of the late Henry Fonda, will be 50 next year. She is dedicated to fitness and has brought her exercise and diet plans to millions through books, tapes and her fitness studios.

I think Lorna Patterson was great in "Private Benjamin." What else did she appear in on TV? — F.S., Peoria Heights, Ill.

Patterson had her longest TV run as Private Judy Benjamin in "Private Benjamin." She was a regular on other series, but none lasted too long. "The Book of Lists," a variety show, ran only four weeks in May 1982. Patterson was co-host, Bill Bixby the host. As Betty Crandall in the sitcom "Goodtime Girls," Patterson's stint lasted from January to August 1980 when the series ended. And the sitcom "Working Stiffs," in which she portrayed Nikki Evashevsky, ran only from September to October 1979.

Which two male actors starred in the series "Movin' On"? — L.A., Portland, Ore.

This adventure series, which aired from 1974 to 1976, starred Claude Akins as Sonny Pruitt and Frank Converse as Will Chandler.

My boyfriend says "Scarecrow and Mrs. King" has been on television for four years and I say it has been on for two years at the most. Which is it? Two or four? — S.C., Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

It's four. "Scarecrow and Mrs. King" premiered on CBS on Oct. 3, 1983. The series began its fourth year this past fall. It stars Bruce Boxleitner as Lee "Scarecrow" Stetson and Kate Jackson as Amanda King, his sidekick.

By golly, it's Dolly, in new holiday special

By Wendy Wallace

For Dolly Parton, her first television movie, "A Smoky Mountain Christmas," airing Sunday, Dec. 14 on ABC, marks the achievement of her long-awaited dream.

Dolly Parton

"I had the idea to do this particular Christmas story several years ago," Parton told a gathering of press representatives in New York City recently. "It was a very inspired idea. I always thought it would be great to do a modern-day movie, a combination of 'Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs' and 'Sleeping Beauty' — it has some elements of that, too — yet, only using a movie star and seven orphans."

"And I thought it was a good idea," she continues, "to do it in the Smoky Mountains, living in an old cabin."

The singer actress plays Lorna Davis, one of America's most popular stars, who, alone and tired, is not looking forward to the upcoming holiday season. Davis decides to get away from Hollywood and spend Christmas back home in her beloved Smoky Mountains to seek solace in a secluded and empty cabin. But her plans are altered somewhat by the presence of seven orphans who have set up housekeeping in the cabin after having run away from their institution.

Adopted by the children, the joy of the holidays returns to Davis, although lurking in the background are two adversaries who seek to destroy her new-found resurgence.

The cast also includes Lee Majors, Bo Hopkins, Dan Hedaya, Anita Morris, David Aykroyd, Rene Auberjonois, Gennie James and Danny Cooksey.

Parton, who wrote six original songs for the movie and enjoyed her co-stars, also spoke highly of its director, Henry Winkler, marking his movie-directing debut.

Henry Winkler directed it, which was wonderful. He has a magical way with kids, and he's very childlike himself in a lot of ways," she says. "He's very intelligent but has that sweet-little-kid nature that made the days real fun, and I'm kind of childlike, too."

Parton's bubbly and warm nature is reflected in her numerous film, television and musical performances. Her contributions to the profession have made her an internationally known entertainer.

"I go into every project thinking that it could be a success. I mean, I believe in it," Parton says. "You're at the mercy of whatever is good and at the mercy of the people. So you just only hope that you can do your best and try to do your best every time."

Show's creators hope 'Crime Story' pays

By Frank Lovece

The ad in "TV Guide" for NBC's "Crime Story" reads: "Before you had the right to remain silent, you had Torrello." The part about the right to remain silent refers to the Miranda law, which requires that the police inform you of your basic legal rights if you are arrested. The part about Torrello refers to the Chicago police lieutenant played by Dennis Farina.

Dennis Farina

He continues: "We wanted to show a guy with a personalized sense of justice. We wanted to show how that attitude changes as the series moves through the '60s into the '70s. Torrello will learn that the end doesn't necessarily justify the means. It'll be a subtle change, though," he admits.

Reininger seems the last person in the world who'd argue in favor of police brutality. He spent five years as a banker before one of the scripts he wrote sold and ignited his present career. "But I wasn't going to glorify the pre-Miranda skull-bashing cop," he says. After thinking about it, he compromised for the sake of drama. "I had to see the show seen as justification for people being falsely arrested or deprived of their rights. I know it used to happen more than it does now. I wouldn't want to contribute to a return to that."

In any case, Reininger's next planned TV show, a 1960s Cold War spy drama, will give him a chance to fuel paranoia on an even bigger scale.

Runyeon of "ATWT" sings and plays piano

By Kimberly Redmond

I've been told that Frank Runyeon (Steve Andropoulos) of "As the World Turns" is a concert pianist and that he sings. Why hasn't he performed on the soap? — L.F., Tampa, FL.

Frank Runyeon

Runyeon sang on the show during some location scenes that he filmed in Greece about three years ago. His songwriting talents were demonstrated when the show used one of his original songs, "Warm By My Side," as the love theme for Steve and his wife, Betsy. Currently, Steve never has much to sing or be joyous about so the story line doesn't call for Frank to sing.

I rarely miss an episode of "Guiding Light." I would really like to know something about Gil Rogers, the actor who plays Hawk Shayne. I'd also like to know if he was ever in the television series "Buck Rogers." — L.C., Kenner, LA. Sorry L.C., you have Gil

Gil Rogers

Rogers mixed up with Gil Gerard, Gerard, the star of ABC's "Sidekicks," appeared on "The Doctors" and played Captain William "Buck" Rogers on "Buck Rogers in the 25th Century." Rogers, though, has an impressive list of regional theater, repertory theater and Broadway credits. His film credits include roles in "Panic in Needle Park," "Pretty Poison" and "W.W. and the Dixie Dance Kings." Previous to joining "GL," Rogers had roles on "Search for Tomorrow" and "The Doctors." He is very well remembered for his role as the dastardly villain Ray Gardner on "All My Children" several years ago. The actor is married to actress Margaret Hall.

The clover-leaves are looking more like giant doodles. But can you imagine how long it would take to make a left turn at this intersection the old-fashioned way?

For all we've learned about controlling traffic, there are still areas of life where our differing aims and directions create stress, tension, and sometimes conflict.

Our religious heritage is the key to progress here. From the Golden Rule, the Good Samaritan, the Good Shepherd we gain positive insights, a sense of spiritual direction.

God has provided excellent highways for all who are going His Way.

NOT "UNTIMELY BORN" December 14, 1986

Background Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:1-8; Luke 1:1-4; John 20:30,31; 1 John 1:1-4

Devotional Reading: John 21:24,25

The Apostle Paul makes a very curious statement in telling the church at Corinth about the source of his Christian experience and gospel. Speaking of Christ's appearances to the various disciples, he concludes, "Last of all, as to one untimely born, he appeared also to me" (1 Cor. 15:8). What did he mean by "untimely born"? Scholars are not certain, but it would seem that his words must be a reflection upon a criticism that was almost surely leveled at him: although he was presuming to preach the Good News like Christ's other disciples, he had, in fact, come along too late to ever have known Jesus in the days of his earthly ministry. How could he preach with authority when he had never met, let alone sat as a disciple of, Jesus Christ?

Paul's problem with this is also our problem. Like him, we are not what the other disciples of Jesus most certainly were: eyewitnesses. Much of what we find in the gospels is based in some way upon eyewitness experience. Luke tells us that his narrative is based upon the testimony of those "who from the beginning were eyewitnesses..." (Lk. 1:2) and John says that his gospel is dependent upon some of Jesus's "signs in the presence of the disciples" (John 20:30). We are dependent, to some extent, upon the witness that is passed on to us by those who were eyewitnesses.

That doesn't mean that we will all "know him" in the same way. Even the disciples whom Paul referred to had different experiences of the Risen Christ and reported those experiences in different ways. Although we may not meet him as Paul did on the Damascus road, Paul expects that we will know Christ just as he did. John also refers to this when he says, "...that which we have seen and heard we proclaim also to you, so that you may have fellowship with us; and that our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ" (1 John 1:3).

Thus, when it comes to experiencing the Christ, no one is "untimely born."

Our Christian faith is not to be founded merely upon what we have heard from others, important that may be. In fact, what we heard from others is meant to enable us to experience Christ for ourselves. The words that the writer of the Fourth Gospel put together "were written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in his name" (John 20:31). The gospels were written, not just so that we may know about the Christ, but that we might know him ourselves.

Born in White Rock on December 7, 1913, she was the daughter of the late John and Effie (Teets) Uphold. Her husband, William Blaine Friend, died July 28, 1985.
Surviving are one son, Leroy Friend, Crellin; three daughters, Mrs. Glenna Roth, Deer Park, Mrs. Elva Jean DeWitt, Friendsville, and Mrs. Louella Nazelrod, Accident; one brother, Orval Uphold, Deer Park, 21 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.
Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home Saturday.

THE MODERN BRIDE — Remember the feature story last Christmas about Freda Iden, the woman who buys yard sale dolls and creates magic with them? Freda is still at it. Her latest creation, shown above, was a dirty yard sale doll purchased for 85 cents in Erie, Pa. After cleaning the doll, she spent over 100 hours fashioning the gown and veil, as well as the lingerie underneath. The organdy gown was trimmed with handmade embroidery edging and enhanced in the back with circular ruffles. Lace appliques completed the gown. The hat piece was trimmed with seed pearls and sports a Marabou feather. Freda is still adamant about not selling her talents. "It's just a hobby for me at this point," she stated.

Susan Mason, Gary Ferguson Are Wed In October Double-Ring Ceremony

Susan R. Mason and Gary A. Ferguson were united in marriage October 18 during a double-ring ceremony at the Loch Lynn Evangelical Free Church, Loch Lynn, with the Rev. Russell Hamilton officiating.

Organist Lela Paugh, trumpeter Tom Simpson, and vocalists Jerry Ferguson and Becky Mason provided nuptial selections before and during the ceremony. The selections included "The Lord's Prayer", "This is the Day", and "Endless Love".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mason, Oakland, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil R. Ferguson, Deer Park.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a full length gown of white bridal satin. The bodice was defined with Alencon lace and pearls, captured neckline and puffed sleeves. The bell skirt was accented with pearls, Alencon lace applied to a ruffled hemline, sweeping to a chapel train.

Her headpiece of Alencon lace and pearl covered sweetheart chapel featured corded scallop-edged veiling accented with lace appliques. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from the bride's father to her mother, and pearl earrings. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of burgundy roses, Rubrum lilies, springri, and pink splash.

Tammy Thomas, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Robbin Johnson, friend of the bride, Gail Hebb, sister of the bride, Connie Garlitz, friend of the bride, and Gale Bosley, friend of the bride.

All were attired in daphne rose and burgundy satin tea-length dresses with lace overlays and satin cummerbunds with soft bows in back. Each attendant wore matching satin pumps and carried a long stem rose, baby's breath and leather leaf with pink and burgundy ribbon streamers. The matron of honor wore a headpiece of baby's breath.

Sara Thomas, niece of the bride, served as flower girl and wore a white gown of soft polyester and chiffon over acetate with a wide ruffle at the bottom of the skirt, a daphne rose ribbon around her waist with shoes to match, and carried a white basket with burgundy streamers filled with rose petals. She wore a headpiece of baby's breath.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose street-length dress and a corsage of burgundy roses and ferns. The groom's mother wore a tea-length dress of daphne rose with an appliqued waist band with matching shoes and a corsage of burgundy roses.

David P. Shaffer, friend of the groom served as best man. Ushers were Steve Ferguson, brother of the groom, Andy Mason, brother of the bride, Danny Tasker and Terry Tasker, friends of the groom. Serving as ring bearer was Timothy Ferguson, nephew of the groom. He was attired in a white tuxedo with tails and pink cummerbund.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with tails and a white cummerbund and bow tie. His boutonniere was a Rubrum lily with springri. His attendants were all attired in silver gray tuxedos with tails, burgundy cummerbunds and a single rose boutonniere.

The altar was decorated with spiral candelabra holding long tapered pink candles. Each candelabra held an arrangement of Rubrum lilies, burgundy carnations and pink gladiolas with springri and pink splash.

Valerie Smith, friend of the bride, registered guests. Tammy Ferguson, niece of the groom, handed out bulletins. Video taping of the ceremony was done by Jeff Bernard, friend of the couple.

The reception was held following the ceremony at the Oakland Country Club with the Party Gals coordinating the event. The traditional toast was proposed by the best man and Robbin Johnson, bridesmaid. The four-tier wedding cake was baked and decorated and served by Eleanor Moon, aunt of the groom. Wilda Sanders, friend of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Music was provided by David Terlizzi.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at their home. The bride was the guest of honor at a shower given by her sister, Tammy Thomas; her aunt, Becky Mason; and her cousins, Debbie Weeks, Tina Mason and Sandy Mason. She was also surprised with a shower by her co-workers.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High School, Garrett Community College, and Alderson Broadbush College, Philippi, W. Va. She is presently employed by the Frederick County board of education as a physical education teacher. The groom attended Southern High School and is presently employed by Shaffer Home Builders, Germantown.

Following a brief honeymoon to Cheat Lake Resort in West Virginia, the couple established residence in Germantown. Out of town guests were from Michigan, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Miss Carroll Becomes Bride Of Mr. Sherrard In August Ceremony

Mary Ann Carroll and Stephen James Sherrard were married at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittering on August 23. Pastor Louise Knotts performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Fred and Helen Carroll, near Red House. The groom is the son of Jim and Lois Sherrard, Waco, Texas.

Jane Carroll Pritts, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Kevin Bass, friend of the groom, served as best man.

The bride wore a tea-length dress of Swiss cotton batiste trimmed with antique lace. The dress was made by the bride and bride's mother.

Wedding bouquets and altar baskets contained wildflowers and lilies in shades of rose and white. The flowers were arranged by the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Music was provided by the band, Alleghany Front.

The groom has been employed in New Orleans as a petroleum geologist with Chevron, U.S.A. Following the wedding he will be attending Frostburg State College.

Holiday Mailing Tips Offered By Postal Service

With a little bit of care, holiday cards and packages can arrive on time and in good shape, according to the U.S. Postal Service.

In addition to shopping and mailing early, customers are urged to properly address cards and packages with the name, house number and street (or post office box number) and the city, state and ZIP Code reserved for the last line. The apartment number should also be used if applicable.

"It is also a good idea to put a slip of paper with the recipient's name and address and your return address inside parcels, and be sure the addressing on the outside of the parcel includes your return address and ZIP Code," Baltimore Field Division General Manager/Postmaster James A. McDougald said.

Customers are also reminded to check the size of their envelopes before mailing Christmas and other holiday cards. Letter size standard require that envelopes be at least 3 1/2 inches high and 5 inches long to be accepted for mailing.

"Parcels will arrive at their intended destination in good shape if you follow a few simple suggestions," McDougald said.

CUSHION: Make sure contents are well-cushioned and there is no empty space in the box. Use crumpled newspaper around the item—including all sides, top and bottom. Commercially available foam shells or air-pocket padding also are good cushioning materials. Padded mailing bags are a good way to mail small items.

DON'T OVERWRAP: Just use your carton. Brown paper and twine cord are not necessary. Paper can rip, and twine can become entangled in mail processing equipment.

SEAL PROPERLY: Close your parcel with one of the three recommended types of tape: pressure sensitive, nylon-reinforced kraft paper, or glass-reinforced pressure sensitive. Don't use cellophane tape or masking tape—they aren't sturdy enough. It's a good idea to put a slip with the address and return address inside the parcel.

AVOID SMUDGES: Use smudge-proof ink for your addressing.

POSITION ADDRESSES PROPERLY: Put the recipient's address in the lower right portion of the package. Put your return address in the upper left corner of only one side of the package. Remove all other labels.

USE ZIP CODES: Be sure to include the ZIP Code in both the recipient's and your address. Remember, wrong ZIP Codes can delay the mail.

APARTMENT NUMBERS: Use apartment numbers or suite numbers. It helps us deliver mail in large buildings.

TIME IT RIGHT: Mail early in the month and early in the day.

USE THE RIGHT SERVICE: Irreplaceable items and valuables, should be sent by Registered Mail.

IF YOU RUN OUT OF TIME: Priority Mail affords First-Class handling for packages weighing over 12 ounces and up to 70 pounds. Priority Mail can be sent from any post office, station or branch or through rural carriers to any address in the United States. Delivery of Priority Mail is accomplished in two to three days anywhere in the country. Priority Mail can even be used for foreign mailings.

This service is available with insurance, return receipt, COD, certificates of mailing and Special Delivery. Customers interested in Priority Mail should contact the post office for details.

LAST MINUTE MAILERS: Express Mail guarantees overnight delivery services and can reach 54 countries within days. With express Mail service, customers can reach a large number of cities overnight. You can mail a package one day and have it reach the addressee by 3 p.m. the following day. Customers also have the option of having Express Mail package available for claim at the destination post office by 10 a.m. the next business day.

Express Mail offers weekend and Christmas Day delivery to the addressee at no extra charge. Items weighing up to 70 pounds can be sent by Express Mail.

We're Hear To Help

RINGING IN THE EARS

Tinnitus is a subjective sense of ringing in the ears. Its causes can range from earwax buildup to nerve-related problems. A recent survey estimates that as many as 36 million Americans suffer from tinnitus. Some hearing loss usually is involved. In those cases associated with Meniere's disease, dizziness may arise as a symptom. Although the cause of tinnitus is not known, there are ways of dealing with it. A hearing aid may help if a patient has a hearing loss and the tinnitus is in the medium or low pitches. In some cases, a tinnitus masker will work on the problem. A masker produces a "white sound" that covers up the ringing. As an external sound, it can be more easily ignored than the internal "ringing."

If a hearing instrument is the answer to your problems then the place to come is ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES. Our experienced and helpful staff is prepared to assist you in the selection of the instrument suited to your needs. Enjoy the ability to better hear the world around you. Come in to ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES today.

At present, there is no medicine for tinnitus.

Give Christmas Gifts That Favor The Md. Flavor

Holiday time is just around the corner, and many of us have done very little serious gift shopping. According to Helen M. Huber, marketing specialist, Maryland Department of Agriculture, gifts for adults and overall families seem to cause the most problems. "What could be more appropriate in these just mentioned instances than gifts of food: Maryland produced, processed or manufactured foods," adds Huber.

Everyone has a sweet tooth and a gift of Maryland produced honey can fill this yearning. Flavors range from mild-flavored, light-in-color clover to the strong flavored, dark-in-color buckwheat. Most of the honey marketed is a blend of different floral types. This blending results in a uniform color and flavor. Most honey is also extracted honey. That is, honey separated from the comb. Crystallized honey is becoming popular and is marketed as creamed, candied, fondant or spread. This honey is of a fine texture, spreads easily and doesn't drip.

Maple syrup is another natural produced sweet in the Western Maryland area that makes an excellent gift.

There are several companies in Maryland that make delicious jams, jellies, preserves and fruit butters. These can be purchased in different size containers, placed in a suitable basket, then wrapped in clear cellophane, with a red or green ribbon attached, resulting in a very exclusive gift. A present of these fruit products is one that has a good shelf life and, therefore, does not have to be used immediately.

Maryland also has some excellent candy companies that make top quality chocolates, peanut brittle and other varieties that are associated with the holidays.

Farming In Maryland

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Apples are the only fresh fruit available for gift giving from our state at this time of the year. Red Delicious is the most popular variety. Other varieties include Golden Delicious, Staymans, Jonathans, Romes and York Imperials.

Maryland has some excellent wines that are available in retail liquor stores. A bottle of wine is usually most appreciated by a host or hostess at a dinner party, family meal, or on any entertaining occasion.

Other Maryland produced foods that are appropriate for gift giving include meat (hams, turkeys, beef) seafoods, mushrooms, breads and cakes (fruit, pound).

In conclusion Huber says, "Of course, no gift is as welcomed as a homemade item, a gift of love and the sharing of oneself. Everyone has a specialty: breads, cakes, cookies, jams, jellies, preserves, candies or a decoration made from one of nature's products. An appropriate holder for the item, box, basket, bowl, plate, pan or colander, with a holiday ribbon, relays, 'I'm just for you'."

"Even if you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there."

Two Area Dairy Sanitarians Receive Certificates Of Merit

Allen Murray, an employee of Fikes Dairy, Uniontown, Pa., and Arthur Freehling, a fieldman with Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association, were two of six persons in the United States to receive Certificates of Merit in 1986 for serving their state affiliate (The Pennsylvania Dairy Sanitarians Association) in an outstanding manner.

The two Pennsylvania employees were recognized by The International Association of Milk, Food and Environmental Sanitarians. This 3,700 member association comprises industry, regulatory and education members.

Both Murray, who is an Oakland resident, and Freehling have served a succession of offices in the Pennsylvania association culminating as president. They have served on, and chaired, many committees during their more than 25 years of individual membership in the association.

During the presentation, Barnard told the men, "I hope these certificates only serve to spur you on to more activity in your association."

The certificates were presented at the annual meeting and three-day conference of the association by IAMPES President Sidney E. Barnard. Both serve on the merger committee this year and Murray is chairman of the program for 1987, while Freehling serves on the Farm Methods Committee.

Dept. Of International Trade Is Formed To Promote Ag Exports

Maryland has taken a giant step toward the promotion of the state's agricultural exports with the 1986 creation of the Maryland Department of International Trade. Marketing specialists with the new Department, David DeChant and Peter Wilby, spoke at the recent Women's Agricultural Forum in Annapolis to familiarize farm women and the agriculture community of the state with the necessity of finding world markets for agricultural products and the Department's intent to carry out that necessity.

DeChant told the group of forum delegates that international trade has been important to Maryland since colonial days when the first hogshead of tobacco was sold in European markets. "We have the whole group of diverse resources in this area including the airports, manufacturing basis, and our agriculture community to create a comprehensive universe for international trade," said DeChant. "Today," he continued, "products from all over the U.S. pass through Maryland on their way to international markets, but we have neglected to promote our own products, be they agricultural or manufactured."

He explained that five percent of our gross state revenue is in exports, while the national average is eight percent. Maryland ranks 45th among states in average per capita export value. "This no longer is acceptable as it relates to agricultural products," he exclaimed. "We have the potential of being an international agricultural leader so long as our private and public leaders create an effective partnership and seize the high ground."

In 1986 the Department of International Trade was established. Up until that time, the Maryland Department of Agriculture had been charged with promoting all facets of the ag economy of the state in world markets. "Up until recently," said DeChant, "we have never had any resources and commitment to carry out that business."

DeChant told the group that his Department was brought aboard to create an international marketing services office to significantly enhance the growth of agriculture products throughout the world. "Your mission," he told the farm women, "is, first, to help Peter and me to promote an economic and social environment with the resources of the agriculture food and seafood industries and the Maryland Department of Agriculture. This can make the greatest contribution to Maryland's economic growth."

Secondly, he said, "I think we must increase the private and public sector's participation in, and awareness of, the contributions these industries can make to the overall revenues and jobs created in our state."

Since the creation of the Department of International Trade in August, the marketing specialists have been stressing four points: information management, with product studies, foreign contact, product development, export services, and trade show participation; maintaining a continued and visible presence in world markets and creating an export directory; highlighting the state's agricultural products; and establishing support activities.

He compared these steps to changes which are occurring in agriculture and said that farmers must become agents of change. "I would translate being agents of change into people who view history," he told the group. "I believe there are three kinds of people: people who make history, people who read about history; and people who don't give a damn about history. I think our challenge is to be in the first category."

Peter Wilby then spoke of some specific problems and solutions. "I think statistics are very useful," he said, "but I think they're a symptom of a problem, a symptom of a disease. We have heard from various people, from federal government, from state government, how we're affected in agriculture by interest rates, budget deficit, relative strength of the dollar, and how ag exports, once so strong, have been on a steady decline. The effect of decline, in value of exports, has fallen faster than our overall volume decline. For so many years, ag trade has been a healthy factor in a healthy trade policy."

Wilby went on to say, "There is without question an emphasis on exporting." He told of the limited options available to overcome the decline in world markets for ag goods. "We can raise world incomes and bring about an upswing in the demand for ag products from this country. We can steal marketing shares from others, we can best learn about this by how it's been perpetrated on us. Or we can increase the value and volume of our exports by creating markets where they have never existed before. This is the primary emphasis of the International Marketing Services and Maryland Department of Agriculture."

The farm women present were again brought into the picture when Wilby told them, "We in the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the International Marketing Office firmly believe that the incentive and priorities for international trade must come from you. We can facilitate anything you wish to bring about. If you have dreams and ambitions that you wish to become a reality, let us know. What we need to complete Maryland's export initiative is you, the private sector."

Wilby informed the group that through the Target Export Assistance Program (TEA), the federal government has put at the disposal of state marketing agencies one billion dollars exclusively for the use of private ag-based product or manufacturing companies. This, he said, has come about as a deep-seated change within the USDA itself, creating changes in the state of Maryland, such as the office of International Trade, which has created major changes in the marketing division of MDA.

To reach a foreign export goal, he said, we must begin to learn the techniques of our trading competitors. "We must abandon our order-taking mentality and be aggressive in our marketing."

Garrett YF'er Is First Runner-Up In State Contest

Dove Wassell DeBerry was named first runner-up, in a very close decision, at the Maryland Farm Bureau Young Farmers Discussion Meet held Monday night in Ocean City. The Discussion Meet was held during the 71st annual Maryland Farm Bureau Convention.

Dove is the wife of Tom DeBerry of Deer Park, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wassell of Bittering.

As first runner-up, Dove won a $100 gift certificate for Safemark products, and an expense-paid trip to the Maryland Young Farmers Leadership Conference.

The question answered by the contestants in the preliminary round was, "How can agriculture attract and keep competent and dependable sources of credit?" Serving as the moderator for the preliminary round was Criss Kepple, of Oakland.

Moving into the finals, Dove and the other contestants debated "How should conservation programs be structured to ensure the preservation of our land and water resources?"

According to Kepple, the final round was extremely close with only a fractional margin separating Dove from winner Charles Otto, of Somerset County. Otto is a graduate of Virginia Tech and, along with his uncle, runs a broiler, vegetable, corn and soybean operation. He will represent Maryland at the National American Farm Bureau Federation Convention in Anaheim, Calif.

Dove is a graduate of Northern High School, where she was a FFA officer, a past State FFA Vice President, a graduate of Garrett Community College, and is currently employed by REVCO Discount Drug Center.

Other Maryland Young Farmer business which was conducted on Monday included the election of 1987 officers. Elected State Chairman was Chuck Cole, State Vice Chairman Jeff Griffith, and State Secretary Criss Kepple. Three new directors were also elected. The new District 1 director is Charlie Fisher, District 3 director is Gilbert Bowling, and District 5 director is David Alvario.

The Maryland Young Farmers of the Year are Roy and Sue Crow, who operate a dairy farm in Kent County. They will also travel, expense free, to the AFBF Convention in Anaheim to compete nationally.

Women's Ag Forum Gives Hope For Farming Through Determination

Hugh Binks, assistant secretary of the Maryland Department of Agriculture addressed the second annual Women's Agricultural Forum in Annapolis with words of hope and encouragement.

"In my opinion," he said, "women's roles in agriculture, historically, have been very important. I don't think it's received the recognition that it should, and I don't believe it receives the recognition today it deserves."

Saying that he was glad to see so many farm women attending the forum, he told them that their increasing and very effective participation in the public sector, particularly moving into management roles... "I hope the ladies will seize every opportunity to participate in the affairs of agriculture and become more visible in the decision-making process."

Speaking of the morning forum sessions on lobbying and letter writing, he said, "What a timely subject, lobbying effectively, I know of no area where agriculture, especially in this state, could use more help. Farmers are becoming a minority, and they are going to become even more of a minority."

He told the women that he hoped they had all taken the opportunity to vote on November 4, and that they know who their representatives are so that they will be able to lobby those representatives. "There will be dozens of bills introduced in the General Assembly that in some way or another will affect agriculture. If you've been to hearings in Annapolis, you know the bankers will be there lobbying, the environmentalists will certainly be there this year, the fishermen, the oystermen, teachers, police, the landlords, the tenants, and we definitely must get more participation from agriculture. We in agriculture must make our position clear to the legislators," he stressed.

Agriculture, he explained,

STANDING BEHIND THIS DISPLAY OF MARYLAND AG PRODUCTS are some of the Western Maryland representatives to the recent Women's Agricultural Forum in Annapolis. A total of 14 women from Garrett and Allegany counties attended to learn about the issues affecting agriculture today and how these issues relate to women and their new roles on the Maryland family farm. Pictured, left to right, are: Bernice Kepple, farm editor, The Republican; Criss Kepple, Ag Economics major at The University of Maryland; Carolyn Gano, Finzel; Wilma Mallow, Maryland Farm Bureau Women's Committee; Fannie Bender, Cove; and Jane Williams, Garrett County Extension agent. Not pictured are Hilda Millsberger, Betty Blubaugh, Dorothy Workman, Hattie Jean Brode, Mary Robinette, Mary Teler, Dorothy Royer, and Irmgard Koscielniak, Allegany County Extension agent.

was the basis on which the Maryland colony was founded in 1634. It still remains the state's most important industry, he confirmed. Agriculture sales in Maryland amount to one and one-quarter-billion dollars every year. "Agriculture is the single biggest employer in the state. Without it, Maryland's economy wouldn't be very good. I'll grant you that agriculture is having some hard times, but I'm certain we're going to survive—that agriculture in the future will prosper," he concluded.

Sara Osborne, representing the Maryland Future Farmers of America, continued that upbeat note in her talk on non-food agriculture.

She gave the group some examples to show that Maryland agriculture is more than just food, fiber and feed. Those examples included horse racing, nursery and landscaping, cosmetics, perfume, forestry and textiles.

Agriculture affects us all in our everyday lives, she said. "Imagine with me the upcoming season of Christmas," she asked the group. "As you sit on your couch made or rayon, smoke the tobacco in your pipe, gaze at the wood crackling in your fire, glance at the decorated Christmas tree in the corner, walk across the cotton rug to fill the woolen stockings, and fall asleep in your wooden house, you can say without a doubt, yep! that's agriculture."

The height of inspiration was presented by Harold O'Flaherty, president and chairperson of the board, O & R Management. O'Flaherty, who has been blind since birth, worked from 1981 to 1983 with President Ronald Reagan as special assistant on disability policies; from 1983 to 1986 he was special assistant to the surgeon general of the United States; and has spent a lifetime in civic and volunteer work.

He shared philosophy and approaches for the group to consider as women who are becoming imbedded in the process of change. "I believe that you can make a difference," he told them, "by coming together from a multiplicity of backgrounds and realizing that your collective energy is greater than your individual energy."

Each of us has a certain number of hours and a certain destiny on earth, he stated. His advice to the farm women was to "look at yourself and look at your time, and say 'How can I do what I'm going to do in a way that will make a difference?'" Choose who you shall serve. Will it be your past industrial and corporate failures, or will you serve the new vistas of opportunity that you might articulate for yourself, for your farms, for the farming community? Indeed, that's your challenge, that's your opportunity," he concluded.

To sum up the day's activities, Dr. Mary Stephenson, family resource management specialist with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service Home Economics Department, related how the day had started out in the morning with action, moved on to inspiration, then went into gloom and doom. "I was so glad when we moved on to the fact that there is a future for the farm family," she said.

She told the group, "We have a golden opportunity in front of us. We can make a difference, but it's going to take hard work, and it's not the kind of hard work farm women are used to doing. We won't be out in the field, or milking the cows, or feeding the chickens, this is the kind of hard work that's going to take looking into what the issues are, looking at the alternatives, doing the work you were presented this morning, things like lobbying and lobbying effectively. So I challenge you to study the problems and alternatives."

To conclude the day which had been educational and encouraging to approximately 167 farm women, Dr. Stephenson said, "I don't think we're going to give up agriculture in this country...we like our rural way of life, and I think it's going to continue to be with us."

For the week ended Nov. 30 rains held fieldwork to only 2.6 days. Topsoil moisture was adequate while subsoil moisture increased to adequate to short. The week ended November 30 was the sixth consecutive week of significant statewide rains. The precipitation helped the fall planted small grains, but it also slowed harvest. Soybean harvest was 70 percent complete, well behind the average for this date. The soybeans remained in fair to good condition. Significant pod shattering has not yet been reported, but conditions favor that possibility.

The harvest of corn is behind average progress and is still not quite complete. The corn crop remaining in the field is in fair condition.

Only a few fields remain to be planted in small grains. The crops are presently in good condition. Pasture conditions were rated mostly good to fair. Hay was reported to be in short supply. Some alfalfa is still being cut and being used mostly and wet. Temperature departures from normal varied widely. North central and western Maryland showed weather mostly three to five degrees above normal with southern counties west of the Bay normal to three degrees above normal and the Eastern Shore two to five degrees above normal. High temperatures were in the mid 50's to mid 60's. Lows were in the mid 20's to near 30. Precipitation averaged 0.98 inches, ranging from 0.66 inches at Smithsburg to a high of 1.45 inches at Bel Air.

This is the final Maryland crop-weather report from the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station and State Statistician for 1986. The next Maryland crop-weather report will be in April 1987.

AFT Report Shows Small Farms

Make Big Dollar Impact On Economy

A recent report by the American Farmland Trust states that despite the persistent trend toward bigness in U.S. agriculture, America is still a land of small farms.

According to the report, a surprising 72 percent of the nation's 2.3 million farms gross less than $40 thousand a year in agricultural sales. Yet, because these small farms account for only 11 percent of the total value of annual U.S. food production, their special needs have often been neglected by agricultural policymakers.

The study by the American Farmland Trust, which was funded by The Ford Foundation, could change that. "Small is Bountiful: The Importance of Small Farms in America," was the title of the study and consequential report.

According to the study, the key to understanding the role of small family farms lies not in how much they produce, but in what they consume and how much land they hold. As an example the report states that in 1982, small farmers owned over half the nation's tractors. The value of all their farm equipment was four times as great, per dollar of agricultural sales, as that of larger producers.

Land ownership is another area where the importance of small farms stands out. Nationally, they hold roughly a third of the farmland, about three times their share of total food production.

"This has tremendous implications," says AFT Study Director Edward Thompson, "not only for the availability of agricultural resources and open space, but also for the property tax system. If small farms were swallowed up or developed, I think we'd see more of the local tax burden shifting toward homeowners, because of a reduced base due to fewer farmsteads and greater public service costs."

One caution raised by the study, which AFT intends to follow up, is a finding that small farmers tend to use fewer soil conservation practices than their larger counterparts.

The Maryland Area Agricultural Outlook Report is published annually by specialists at the University of Maryland and the Cooperative Extension Service. This article features one of the subjects covered in that report.

U.S. AND MARYLAND DAIRY SITUATION AND OUTLOOK

By John W. Wysong

Cash receipts in 1986 have declined slightly as increased milk output has been offset by lower prices received for milk. Cash receipts are expected to drop again in 1987 because of continued declines in average milk prices. Nationally, the all-milk price will rise in the fourth quarter of 1986. For the whole year, milk prices will average nearly $12.30 per cwt. This would be a drop of 45 cents in 1986 and 70 cents from 1985 in the effective price.

Under current legislation, U.S. support prices for manufacturing milk will drop to $11.35 per cwt on January 1, 1987. However, the deduction for the dairy termination program (DTP) will be lowered to 25 cents from 40 cents per cwt in 1986. On October 1, 1987, national support prices may drop another 25 cents but the 25-cent deduction to help pay for the DTP will be eliminated. Therefore, the effective U.S. support price will be $11.10 cwt during 1987.

Overall, U.S. and Maryland milk prices are expected to remain considerably below the higher prices of the 1980-83 period. However, the trend toward lower feed prices the past few years and expected to occur in 1987 and 1988 should favor increased concentrate feeding on many dairy farms. Changes in output per cow could swamp the actual reduction in milk cow numbers on non-DTP herds; and resulting total U.S. and Maryland milk output increase not only in 1986 but also 1987. Much depends on the rate of retention of older cows for one or more lactations and the rate of introduction of young first calf heifers into the milking string. The interaction of these leads and lags in cow herd entries and exits will determine the eventual success or failure of the national DTP in Maryland, the northeast, and the U.S. as a means of reducing excess milk production capacity.

Utility cow prices have averaged slightly lower in 1985 and 1986. However, the reduction in beef cow and milk cow numbers expected on January 1, 1987, will reduce the amount of cull cows going to market in 1987, and some improvement in cull beef and veal prices may occur.

The large national stockpiles of feed grains moving to market at discount prices will keep the pressure on animal producers to utilize these feedstuffs. Poultry producers have expanded substantially since 1984 along with milk producers. Strong demand for broilers, turkeys and milk has kept market prices higher than would have occurred with open market sales of the increased milk and broiler production and lower costs of production for poultry and dairy producers.

ALTERNATIVE SUPPLY MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS

UNDER CONSIDERATION FOR THE FUTURE

Although a large number of dairy farmers and milk cows and replacement heifers have been removed from the U.S. dairy industry, excess productive capacity relative to available effective demand for dairy products still probably will exist in 1987 and 1988. The relatively small net number of milk cows actually removed from the national dairy herd in 1986 means that higher milk production and sales per milk cow will probably result in more milk rather than less in 1987 and beyond. Although dairy product demand has been strong the past few years, supply expansion has exceeded available commercial markets.

Farm sector resources such as milk cows and heifers and dairy production labor and management will continue to be shifted into other farm and non-farm activities beyond the official termination of the DTP. Maryland dairymen may be more fortunate than dairy farmers in some other states in terms of finding non-farm markets for surplus land, capital, labor and management. The non-farm areas of Maryland have benefited during the past several years. Resource transfer from agricultural to non-agricultural employment has been easier to implement in situations with strong employment and income growth.

If the federal dairy diversion program and the dairy herd termination program are unsuccessful in balancing U.S. milk production and consumption at reasonable prices, then a mandatory, national milk marketing quota system may be developed along the lines of the European Community and the Canadian quota systems. Because of lower prices and reduced receipts and the potential for adopting such a quota system to reduce federal government purchases, many individual dairymen in Maryland, the northeast and the U.S. are trying to hold or increase their milk sales volumes in 1986 and 1987. Of course, existing national legislation already provides for continued reductions in U.S. milk price support levels over the next year or so if national production should continue to exceed national consumption by more than five billion pounds. Therefore, dairy farmers as a group have vested interests in both increasing demand and reducing supply of dairy products in the U.S. in 1987 and 1988.

GARRETT COUNTY Cooperative Extension Service FARM-O-GRAM

by Jim Sims
Extension Agent, Agriculture Science

Changes in Capital Gains Taxes in 1986

Maryland Dairyman have been adding dairy replacements and retaining older cows longer during 1986 as one way of maintaining total and per farm milk production during late 1986 milk base making period. Where dairy facilities permit, this practice of her enhancement should be profitable if levels of output per cow in the herd are maintained or preferably increased.

Normally, breeding cattle such as milk cows have been eligible for the 60% capital gains exclusion before being taxed at 50% of the remaining gains. However, the tax reform bill recently passed by congress and signed by President Reagan will eliminate the 60% capital gains exclusion in 1987 (as of Jan. 1). Therefore, the potentially lower rate of taxation will be applied to a larger taxable base (capital gain). This probably will result in more total tax being paid on sales of breeding cattle in 1987.

Dairyman need to carefully evaluate their dairy herd health status between now and the end of December 1986 so that those cows with high mastitis counts and undesirable health histories can be culled during 1986 if their accounting is on a calendar year basis. Because Maryland dairyman will have lower incomes in 1986 than they had in 1985 or may have in 1987, many dairyman will benefit from shifting other income as well as capital gains into the 1986 taxable year.

Maryland dairyman will continue to emphasize high volumes of milk per worker and per cow in 1987. Therefore, culling low producers and disease infected animals should help to lower costs of production and enhance the profitability of the whole farm business.

Soap Will Repel Deer

Those small bars of soap you find in hotel rooms are ideal for repelling deer. They cost between 2 to 5 cents each and the recommendations are to use one bar of soap at 10 ft. to 20 ft. intervals suspended at browsing height. To extend the life of the soap, leave it in its original wrapper and suspend it from a pole or branch using copper wire drilled through the bar and wrapper. Recommendations are to hang the soap around the perimeter of the planting and observe if the deer penetrate. If they do, you will need to hang additional bars of soap in that area. Highly perfumed soaps are recommended but there is a report that Ivory soap is also very effective.

Farmers and Cancer

Did you know that Kansas farmworkers using herbicides had a higher risk of developing non-Hodgkin's lymphomas than non-farmers in the State? The National Cancer Institute and the University of Kansas reported that the problem is caused mostly by Phenoxy herbicides. In addition to being used extensively in the growing of grains, phenoxy herbicides are used in forestry, lawn weed control, as blue stain retardants used in sawmills, slime control substances in paper and pulp manufacturing, cutting oils, wood preservatives, water proofing agents for leathers and textiles and medications. Farmers not using protective equipment and clothing when applying these herbicides, had a 40% higher risk for non-Hodgkin's lymphomas. The evidence is overpowering: wear protective clothing when applying all pesticides. It is to your benefit.

"BUT, SON, I THOUGHT YOU'D BE THRILLED AT THE THOUGHT OF WORKING WITH HUNDREDS OF YOUNG CHICKS EVERY DAY."

Federal Feed Grain Program Underway

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is currently accepting applications for the 1987 feed grain and wheat acreage reduction programs. Sign-up began October 1 for wheat and November 17 for feed grain. The sign-up period will end March 30, 1987.

Maryland State ASC Chairperson Olin S. Davis Jr. said the acreage reduction programs are necessary to bring about a better balance between supply and demand. All farmers with an established crop acreage base are eligible to participate in the voluntary program.

"We encourage all producers to study the programs and consider the benefits in relation to their farm operations," Davis said.

He said program participants will be eligible to receive price support loans and deficiency payments. Additionally, feed grain program participants will be eligible for land diversion payments. Producers may also receive advance deficiency and diversion payments as soon after sign-up as possible, if requested.

The 1987 farm programs offer target prices of $3.03 per bushel for corn, $2.88 for sorghum, $2.60 for barley, $1.60 for oats and $4.38 per bushel for wheat. According to Davis, a 20 percent acreage reduction requirement is in effect for 1987 feed grains with an optional paid land diversion of 15 percent. Another acreage reduction requirement is 27.5 percent for wheat.

"Only those producers who take part will be eligible for 1987 farm program benefits."

Potato Crop Higher Than Previous Year

Potato production in 1985-86 was a record 407.1 million cwt, up 12 percent from the previous year. All the increase came from the fall harvest, as output jumped to 354 million cwt, up 13 percent from the previous fall. Winter and summer output together increased 18 percent, while spring output fell 11 percent. Acreage increased in all four seasons. Poor yields reduced spring output.

The allocation of potato acreage among seasons has changed, with fall receiving an even larger share of the total. The acreage share devoted to fall production has grown 10 percent over the last 16 years, from 77 to 85 percent. Summer acreage accounted for 14 percent of the total in 1970 and eight percent in 1985. Winter acreage, with the smallest share, dropped from 1.3 to one percent of total land devoted to potatoes, while spring acreage now accounts for six percent.

Most of the potato imports, about 79 percent, enter the United States between January and June. Higher import tariffs are levied after 45 million pounds of table potatoes enter the United States during a 12-month period starting in September. After January 1, 1987, a 35 cent per pound tariff will be levied on all quantities of table potatoes crossing either the Canadian or the U.S. border all year round.

AURORA

the meal, the meeting was called to order by vice president, Ted Hardesty. Devotions and prayer were by Martha Crowe, a reading "What?" by Virginia Watring and Rev. Annabelle Childers concluded with prayer.

Annie Ringer announced that there will be a training class for anyone wishing to attend the Silver Haired Legislature. Applications for low income fuel assistance were available and completed.

The Methodist Men's Quartet from Kingwood provided the entertainment. They are Tom Harriman, Charles "Bud" Whetsell, John Wills, and Dr. Fred Conley with their accompanist, Linda Royce. There was also group singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Knotts presented each person with a small Christmas remembrance. Five get-well cards were signed for those who are ill at home or in the hospital. The prayer of dismissal was by Mr. Whetsell.

Those Who Are Ill
The Rev. Vincent Pink is recuperating from hepatitis. He is pastor of the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church at Accident.

Mr. Russell Z. Feather of Aurora is recuperating in Preston Memorial Hospital from recent surgery.

Mrs. Marie Martin of Aurora, and Dayton Moats, also Aurora, are both patients in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Margaret Case of Aurora, remains in WVU Medical Center, but is slowly beginning to improve.

Mrs. Loretta Snyder is confined to her home near Aurora with the shingles.

Personals

Mrs. Nina Bess of Aurora, and Mrs. Evelyn Smith Rogers returned last Wednesday to Aurora, after spending three weeks at Mrs. Roger's Ft. Lauderdale home in Florida. Mrs. Rogers will be spending the winter with Mrs. Bess.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Skinner of Dale City, Va., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Harsh, Horse Shoe Run. They are here to enjoy the 50th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Skinner's brother-in-law and sister, Ernest and Grace Harsh.

Bruce and Mary Teets and their daughters, Melinda and Traci, of Dodsonville, Ohio, were weekend visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harsh at Gortner, and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets, Eglon.

Recent visitors with Mrs. Lydia Harsh and Robin Lipscomb near Aurora, were Olive Beckman, local, and Mr. and Mrs. Oran Harsh of Ohio. On Sunday, the younger Harshs took his mother to Limestone where they visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harsh.

Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lorain Hanline, Mt. Top, were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hanline and Laryn, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hanline and Patrick and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Friend and Travis of Oakland, Cline Schrock and Chris Scranon of Wadsworth, Ohio, and George Ervin Schrock of Charleston. Mrs. Elaine Stemple of Morgantown was a recent guest there.

Herman Beckman of Mt. Lake Park, remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital and his wife, Bessie, is ill at their home.

Here for the funeral of Steven Shaffer on December 3, the following visited with his great uncle and aunt, Armand and Bessie Heckert and Barbara, at Eglon: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shaffer of Essex, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Vanderpool and Mrs. Lucille Patchett of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marsh of Glen Burnie, and Mr.

and Mrs. Joseph Buzzard of Richmond, Va.

Word was received here by relatives that Roy Harsh, son of the late Jesse and Effie Harsh of Eglon, is a patient in a Richmond, Va., hospital.

Members of the Young Adult S.S. Class of Maple Spring Church met Sunday for a covered dish dinner and hanging of the greens.

Maxine Martin, Martha Crowe and Alverta Edwards, all Aurora, visited last week at East View Care Home with Mrs. Mergil Fike.

Winters-Hostutler Marry Kimberly Winters and Henry Hostutler Jr. were married Friday evening, December 5, at the Crellin Assembly of God Church. Kim is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Winters of Hutton and attending the wedding from Eglon were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Winters, and her uncle and aunt, David and Lois Layman and sons, Jim and Aaron.

Bicentennial Seal

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Aurora is planning a bicentennial celebration for the 200th anniversary of the founding of the church and community in 1787. They invite residents of Aurora to submit an original design for a seal which will commemorate the founding and which will be displayed during the Bicentennial Year, 1987. All designs should be at least six inches in diameter and should be sent to Darla Stemple, chairman, Historical Display Committee. Persons are asked to write their name and phone number on the back of the design. Entries cannot be returned.

New Pastor Arrives
The Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Nascembini have arrived to pastor St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Aurora and St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, where they will be residing in the parsonage.

Old-Timers Assist In Search To Restore American Chestnut Tree

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—Jim Comp remembers the towering American chestnut trees he played under as a youngster in Grafton in the early days of the 20th century. "You couldn't have been a boy in West Virginia in those days unless you gathered chestnuts. We were always sneaking into the neighbor's woodlot and getting a few chestnuts. It was just something all the boys did."

Comp, now 86 years old, lives with other retired men at the Michigan Masonic Home in Alma, Michigan. For the past dozen years, he and several of his friends have been assisting scientists at West Virginia University, Michigan State University and elsewhere who are attempting to return the American chestnut to the forests.

"I watched them die," Comp recalls. By the time he left his railroad job in Grafton in 1928, nearly all the chestnuts in that area had succumbed to the chestnut blight—a fungus disease which eventually eliminated American chestnuts as an important timber and food tree in the U.S.

"I didn't pay too much attention to it then," Comp recalls. The blight moved westward around the same time he did, wiping out thousands of trees in Ohio in the late 1920s and early 1930s, and arriving in Michigan around the time

Comp was sent there by B.F. Goodrich to help develop an industrial plant. "When I moved to Cadillac, some of my neighbors had beautiful chestnut trees. But in a few years, the trees were dead."

Comp's memories of the chestnut were stirred about 12 years ago by a newspaper article, quoting a forest scientist who believed only 100 such trees still existed in the United States. "I knew of more than that right here in Michigan," he recalls. He contacted a researcher and drove him from farm to farm in northern Michigan, pointing out groves of chestnuts planted by homesteaders in the 1800s. Many were miles from any natural chestnut stands, and had been isolated from the blight.

Enlisting the help of four other retirees, Comp began tracking down chestnuts all over northern Michigan. "We drove hundreds of miles, we followed every lead. Sometimes we would go three or four hours, and just find a horsechestnut tree or a black walnut. But we ended up finding eight or nine thousand trees."

The "five old coots"—as Comp described the group—ended up leading a corps of volunteers which has collected more than a quarter-million chestnuts over the past decade. Michigan officials have used the nuts to raise 100,000 seedlings, many of which have found their way back to West Virginia.

WVU researcher Bill MacDonald, who spends his days studying the biology of the chestnut blight fungus, says the chestnuts found by Comp and his friends have been of immense help in his research.

"Some of the Michigan groves were never affected by the blight, some were devastated, but others were hit by blight and are recovering," MacDonald says.

A variant strain of the fungus was found on several of the recovering Michigan trees—one with double strands of RNA in its cells. The fungus was less destructive than the related strains which wiped out tens of thousands of acres of chestnuts 50 years ago.

The trees seemed to be able to wall off their diseased areas and continue to thrive.

MacDonald and collaborating scientists at MSU are studying both the double-stranded RNA varieties found in Michigan and apparently similar varieties recently discovered in Pocahontas County, W. Va.

The Michigan scientists, MacDonald says, are concentrating on determining whether or not the various double-stranded types found in Michigan are genetically similar to those in West Virginia. At WVU, research is concentrated on quantifying the presence of double-stranded RNA blight in West Virginia and determining the role it is playing in the spread of the disease and its effects on the chestnut trees.

Because American chestnut exists only in scattered sprouts in West Virginia—never reaching maturity—the stands in Michigan are important both for research and for seedlings.

"We could never develop the number of seedlings here that have been made available as the result of Mr. Comp's group," MacDonald says. "Most chestnut trees in West Virginia don't live long enough to be more than shrubs, and rarely produce more than a few nuts."

MacDonald's research, and that of other scientists at WVU and a half-dozen other universities doing chestnut blight research, is not aimed at returning the chestnut to its former role in the forest. "I don't foresee that happening, at least not in my lifetime," he says. "but if the less-virulent fungus could be introduced to small forested areas, it might control the blight there. We could produce nuts for people and as food for wildlife, and perhaps a limited amount of American chestnut lumber."

Comp's original crew of chestnut detectives has been largely idled. One is dead, another confined to a wheelchair, a third to a hospital bed. "But we know now that a lot of people are going to carry this on," he says. "I've never given up hope. I don't think I ever will."

CARD OF THANKS

I want to personally thank all my relatives and friends for the beautiful cards and gifts, and to all those who visited me at the hospital and in my home, and to the pastors and congregations of the area for their prayers and good wishes. To Dr. Fedde and staff, and to all the nurses on second floor.

May God bless you all.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

Christmas Party
The Grantsville Firemen and Auxiliary held their Christmas Party on Sunday evening at the Fire Hall with 125 persons in attendance. Raymond Yoder gave the welcome and served as master of ceremonies and gave the invocation for the dinner. Herman Yoder, president, gave a report on the 86 alarms they had answered and that only one house was lost. Firemen from Bittinger, Accident and Salisbury, Pa., were there. The Fireman of the Year Award went to Clair Folk; the most improved fireman went to George Lapp; the most Unsung Award fireman went to Wayne Butler; and the fireman from the Junior Fire Department went to Steve Dike. A 50-year Plaque for continued service in the Fire Company went to Emmons Warnick. Lulu Brown, president and fire woman of the year, spoke for the Auxiliary. She presented Herman Yoder, president, with a $500.00 check for rent and also a $5,000 check to the fire company. Zola Patton gave the treasurer's report, while Genevieve Swauger gave the secretary's report. All Auxiliary officers were held over for the new year. They are as follows: Lulu Brown, president; Mary Broadwater, vice president; Zola Patton, treasurer; Genevieve Swauger, secretary, and Hilda Sturtz, chaplain. Two door prizes were presented to the children, one to Lauree Yoder and the other to Brandon Stein.

"The Old Timers" played and furnished entertainment. Santa Claus arrived during the music and treats were given to all the children.

The Southern High School VICA Club has organized a Student Safety Committee, which will promote safety throughout the vocational areas of the school. Members of this committee are Todd Spencer, John McCartney, Melissa Livengood, Dee Stull, Mike Welch and Paul Browning.

Planned activities for this coming school year include a survey of all vocational shops for safety procedures, a possible industrial site tour to witness a safety plan in action, formulating an accident reporting system, and developing a specific safety plan for an individual shop. The final goal for this committee is to set up a safety notebook for competition on the state level in the VICA State Safety Contest.

VICA is the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America which is supported by many businesses and industries throughout the nation.

FRAME OF REFERENCE

You thought your house was worth $150,000 but your neighbor just sold his very similar house for $200,000. How can you determine if your house is worth a lot more than you think it is or whether the higher sale was just a matter of luck?

An established Realtor makes a practice of charting actual sale prices in the area. This information, which we call "comparable sales data," is used as a general frame of reference. To this base would be added specific property related criteria to arrive at a reasonable market value for a particular home. In addition to pure numbers, emotion plays a role in a buyer's decision. That, and other factors, such as supply and demand, may lead a buyer to pay more for a home than the land, bricks and mortar appear to be worth.

If you visit our office, we can share our comparable sales data with you and give you a good idea of the current market value of your home. We offer this service at no charge.

Church News
Holy Communion will be celebrated in all three churches of the Bittering parish next Sunday.

Confirmation class will meet on Saturday, December 13, at 10 a.m. at Emmanuel.

St. John's LCW will meet on December 11 following hymn practice which begins at 7 p.m. at the church.

Lectors for Sunday's worship services were St. John's, Barbara Herbert; Emmanuel, Maxine Legeer; and Zion, Bonnie Resh.

Community Party
The Bittering Fire Department invites the Bittering community to its annual Christmas party on Sunday evening, December 14, at the fire hall. Each family is asked to bring some

POSTMASTER GENERAL AWARD — Postmaster Paul Bauer of Oakland, left, recently presented Robert Bruce Groves the Postmaster General Award. Groves is a 26-year postal veteran. He was recognized for his "consistent and sustained superior performance of his regularly assigned duties," said Bauer. "He has an excellent attendance record and has been awarded a sick leave award for over 1,800 hours."

State Police Join National Effort To Reduce Drunk, Drugged Driving

Maryland State Police are joining with Mothers Against Drunk Driving in the designation of December 14 through December 20, 1986, as National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week.

Each year, about 560,000 people are injured in alcohol-related crashes. Two-thirds of all people killed in alcohol-involved crashes are drivers or pedestrians who had been drinking, while one-third are innocent victims.

State Police Superintendent Colonel George B. Brosan has ordered Maryland State troopers to be ready for the increase in drunk drivers during the holidays. "We will make every effort possible to apprehend those who choose to drive while under the influence. Those persons are a threat, not only to themselves, but threaten safety of the entire motoring public," he said.

The kickoff to 3-D Week will commence with D-Day, beginning Friday, December 12, at 4 p.m. D-Day will be 13 hours of concentrated enforcement by police who will put all of their enforcement plans into effect. The operations of each enforcement activity will be reviewed to be certain it will work efficiently through the holidays.

Use of a designated driver is being highly recommended by State Police for those who will be drinking during the holiday season. A designated driver is a person who agrees to remain alcohol and drug free during a party or social gathering. When the party's over, this person will be able to safely drive their friends home and in reality be "the life of the party."

State Police throughout Maryland will be taking a highly proactive role in enforcement of the drunk driving laws as they attempt to remove those driving under the influence from the highways before needless tragedy occurs.

During the past two months, State Troopers have been receiving updated DWI enforcement training. This training covers drunk driving laws, detection techniques and evidence collection to prepare for successful prosecution of the case in court.

State Troopers will maintain high visibility on Maryland roadways, especially in areas with a history of drunk driving incidents. This visibility will be enhanced by a federal grant allowing troopers to work overtime on DWI enforcement. Many of these troopers will be assigned to saturation patrols. These patrols will concentrate a large number of troopers on specified portions of highways known to have a large number of accidents and deaths attributable to drunk drivers.

Increased personnel will also be used in sobriety checkpoints. The unannounced checkpoints will be used at various times and locations throughout the state. Maximum use of sobriety checkpoints will be during those days of the week that statistics show produce the most alcohol related crashes.

The State Police Special Traffic Enforcement Unit will be used as a statewide strike force to detect drunk drivers especially during the time most Christmas parties are held. These troopers have extensive training in the enforcement of speed and drunk driving laws. They will be looking for drivers who possibly began drinking during the afternoon at an office party and continued the consumption of alcohol through the evening. Many times those people don't realize how much alcohol they have consumed due to the extended period of time they have been drinking. Due to the party atmosphere, they fail to notice the effect that alcohol has had on them and attempt to drive home.

The State Police fight against drug and alcohol abuse will take place not only on the highways, but in communities and schools throughout Maryland. Troopers from local barracks will be speaking to community organizations and high school groups, warning them of the effects of drug and alcohol use, especially when combined with driving.

State Police enforcement efforts will not be confined to the National Drug and Drunk Driving Week, but will continue throughout the holiday season. In observance of this awareness week, the Maryland State Police encourages motorists to follow these safety tips:

—If you are drinking alcoholic beverages, limit yourself to one drink or less per hour. Your body needs about one hour to eliminate the alcohol in one drink.

—Try to finish your last drink at least an hour before you think you might be driving.

—Eat before you drink any alcoholic beverages. Snacks can slow down the rate at which your body absorbs alcohol.

—Plan to use the "Designated Driver" approach: One person in a group sticks to non-alcoholic drinks during the evening. This person drives the others home. At the next gathering, another person refrains from drinking alcohol and the responsibility is rotated.

Twenty-One Die In Auto Mishaps

Twenty-one traffic fatalities were reported throughout the state of Maryland during the week ending December 7. Among these fatalities, 10 were drivers, six were passengers, and five were pedestrians.

Preliminary investigation of these accidents disclosed that alcohol was a contributing factor in four deaths, speed in 13 and driver error in 20. Traffic fatalities in Maryland through December 7 total 724, compared to 696 during the same period last year.

Winter Driving Tips Offered By Committee

The Garrett County Traffic Advisory Committee of the Garrett County Board of Education reminds motorists of the necessity to alter driving habits during inclement weather conditions.

"Poor visibility and reduced traction are two the greatest hazards of winter driving," stated a committee spokesman. "Posted speed limits are almost meaningless when confronted with snow or ice. The most effective driver weapon against adverse winter driving is to slow down. A driver will have more time to see and be seen, more time to react, and more space in which to stop."

The following are additional winter driving hints:

1. Install winter tread tires on the drive wheels.
2. Replace worn wiper blades; fill windshield wash reservoir.
3. Monitor weather forecasts and advisories for road conditions.
4. Operate with headlights on one-half hour before dawn, one-half hour before dusk, and during inclement weather.
5. Turn heater and defroster on as soon as you start the engine to prevent windows from fogging.
6. Be wary when nearing shaded areas, bridges and overpasses. These sections of the road freeze first and stay frozen longer.

7. Approach intersections and curves with caution.
 8. Keep a light foot on the accelerator and ease forward when starting on snow and ice.
 9. Drive defensively and only when necessary.
- "Remember, during inclement weather reduce speed, secure proper equipment and avoid driving when it is not essential," the spokesman concluded.

Fire Marshal Issues Holiday Safety Tips

As the holiday season approaches, Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele urges all Marylanders to exercise care and good judgment in the decoration of their homes with Christmas trees and other decorations.

Each year during the holiday season, families suffer as their homes are destroyed by fires, which are usually caused by carelessness, he said. Some examples of these fire problems are the improper use of decorations, faulty light wiring, and the placement of Christmas trees too close to heating appliances.

"Christmas trees may become highly flammable when cut long in advance of their use, and placed indoors where heat and low humidity accelerate drying," said Gabriele.

"Furthermore, Christmas trees should be kept indoors only as long as absolutely necessary, and the base of the tree maintained in water," he said.

The Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office and the Maryland State Firemen's Association offer the following guidelines in an effort to help Marylanders celebrate a happy and safe holiday season:

CHRISTMAS TREES

—Christmas trees should be kept in water while in the house. The bottom of the tree should be cut on an angle to expose fresh wood so water will be absorbed into the trunk.

—Christmas trees should be placed in an open area, away from exits in the home.

—Trees should be disposed of when the tree shows signs of excessive dryness.

LIGHTS

—Use only indoor lighting sets that have an Underwriters Laboratory (U.L.) listing on them, on live Christmas trees, whether artificial or "live."

—All lights and extension cords should be checked for cracks or frayed and deteriorating conditions before the lighting equipment is used.

—Decorative lights on trees and around the home should be turned off if the home is unoccupied at any time.

DECORATIONS AND CANDLES

—All decorations should be non-combustible or flame retardant. Decorations should be kept away from heat producing appliances, such as portable heaters.

—If candles are lit to add to the decorations in the home, they should be extinguished before you leave your home or go to sleep.

—Dispose of wrapping paper immediately to limit the chance of a fire accidentally starting in these easily ignited materials.

For further information on Christmas or holiday fire safety measures, citizens should contact the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office at (301) 764-4324 or their local fire prevention bureau.

Summer Jobs Available In Forests, Parks

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service in Garrett County announced it will hire over 50 persons for summer jobs at New Germany, Big Run, Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor, and Swallow Falls State Parks.

The jobs include building and grounds maintenance, small construction projects, fee collections, office duties, interpretive programming and seasonal rangers. To qualify, applicants must be able to read and write, provide their own transportation to work, be physically able to perform the required tasks and be available to work a variety of shift schedules including weekends, holidays, evenings and nights.

Applications will be accepted from persons who are at least 16 years of age as of May 1, 1987. However, first consideration will be given to applicants who are at least 18 years of age. Applications will be accepted until January 31, 1987 for first consideration. Late applications may be considered to meet future needs.

Complete information, job description and applications are available only through Job Service, 216 East Alder Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550; telephone, 334-3972. Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

IN MEMORIAM

in loving memory of our dear wife and mother.

Anna Mae Hardesty

who went to be with the Lord seven years ago on Christmas day, December 25, 1979.

Since you went away the love and joy you brought us all is still with us today. We lived in hope and prayed in vain that somehow you'd be well again, but God knew best, you left us knowing of God's love for all. You told us in so many words to be faithful and we could meet you on that heavenly shore. Our hearts are sore, as time goes by, we miss you more, your loving smile, your gentle face. No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed and loved by

"SNOOPY DOESN'T HAVE ANYTHING ON ME," muses this Christmas mutt as he rests peacefully in his holiday-decorated house located on High Street in Oakland. The Christmas-spirited doggy noted that he spent days wiring the lights and making the wreath for his front door. He wouldn't permit the photographer inside to see his Christmas tree because he said the place was a mess — the cleaning lady had been sick and didn't make it in this week. The holiday hound stated that he was thinking of hooking up a super sound system next year to provide the neighborhood with carols of the season, like "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," "Silver Bells," and "The Little Drummer Boy."

Local Yough Board Retirement Gala Asks For Response To Sept. Letter

The Youghiogheny River Local Advisory Board met in a regular session on November 13 at Garrett Community College. Among the items of business was an inquiry by board member John E. Hinebaugh about the lack of a response to the board's letter of September 15 to the Seemee and Wild Rivers Review Board regarding the Department of Natural Resources field investigation of the Yough corridor.

In that letter, board chairman Elwood L. Groves II conveyed comments and recommendations for the board's review. To answer Hinebaugh's inquiry, Hugh Trimble, local DNR representative, said that he would do what he could to speed up the response.

On that same subject, Senator John N. Bambacus sent a letter to DNR Secretary Dr. Torrey C. Brown asking for his efforts in expediting a response to Chairman Groves and the Advisory Board.

"To the best of my knowledge," wrote Bambacus in his December 15 letter, "the Advisory Board has received neither a reply nor an acknowledgment of the recommendations to date."

He continued, "It seems to me that no good purpose is served by keeping matters pending for so long. Such delays contribute to an erosion of confidence in the system. It seems to me that the Local Advisory Board is serious in its commitment to carrying out its charge, and their efforts deserve an acknowledgment."

Retirement Gala Honors Treasurer Arzella Parsons

Arzella Parsons, treasurer of Garrett County for 20 years, was honored on the occasion of her retirement with a surprise buffet on December 5 at the Will O' the Wisp. The dinner was given by her co-workers in the Treasurer's Office.

Some 85 county and state officials and family members and friends were in attendance.

Mrs. Parsons received letters of recognition from President Ronald Reagan, Senator John N. Bambacus, Senator Charles Mathias, Representative Beverly Byron, and Delegate George Edwards.

The honoree was presented a walnut plaque with the county seal by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners. The Commissioners also handed her a letter of recognition.

An album, compiled by Ken Ridder who works across the hall from Mrs. Parsons in the Assessment Office, was also given to the retiring treasurer. The album contains photographs of each county department head and staff from each department.

Mrs. Parsons was also presented with a gift by Paul R. Shockey on behalf of the Garrett County Roads Department.

Mrs. Parsons's successor, Pat Glover, who has worked with her for a number of years said she would really miss Arzella and commended her for her years of "dedicated service to the County."

In their letter of recognition to Mrs. Parsons, the Commissioners stated, "Her personal dedication and contribution as Treasurer"

Trustees Eye Governance Charter For Garrett Community College

A new governance charter was reviewed Tuesday night at a meeting of the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees.

Dr. Stephen Herman, GCC president, indicated that the charter is substantially complete and commended the department heads, faculty and staff for their input regarding the charter.

Final action by the Board for its approval of the charter is expected at the February board meeting. No amendments were suggested at Tuesday's meeting. Herman said that the College will follow the charter as a guideline until it is formally approved by the Board of Trustees.

College administrators are also in the process of developing a mission statement that will supplement the current statement.

Dr. Herrman explained that the purpose of the statement was to see that the needs of Garrett County citizens are being met with special emphasis being placed on the particular needs of our region. "We are looking at ways to make GCC a highly individualized institution that will also be compatible with the economic development here in the County," stated Herman. "We are also seeking to sustain and preserve cultural life and the traditions of Garrett County by offering new relative courses."

The president said that three committees are now working on drafts which will be compiled into one mission statement. He said the statement will guide the self-study of a five-year plan for GCC.

Academic Report

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, introduced three guests to the Board of Trustees at Tuesday's meeting from the GCC Continuing Education Department.

Lowell Bender, director; Jean Tressler, assistant director; and Tom Kierstead, newly-appointed program coordinator outlined the activities in which continuing education has been involved.

They also reviewed the new course schedule for the spring semester and noted that classes would be held in 14 various locations across the County.

Finally, they spoke of their involvement with Habitat for Humanity, JTPA, medical services and senior citizen programs.

Dr. Mitchell then reported to the Board that two certificate programs at GCC are currently being reviewed.

She indicated that the gerontology program has been recommended to be put on inactive status by the State Review Board. That recommendation was made because there are only two graduates in the program this year and no new enrollments have been realized. She explained that the status could be changed later if the need arises within the next two years.

The other program being reviewed is the environmental renewal resources technology program. Some minor changes have been recommended for that program.

Student Affairs

Dr. Nancy Priselac, dean of student affairs, reported that federal regulations have changed regarding institutions that disperse financial aid.

She said that GCC is now required to begin drug and alcohol programs to combat the increasing problem. GCC is part of a collective effort with other Western Maryland schools to get that effort underway.

Dr. Priselac also noted that student activities have shown an upward trend this year and that Student Government hopes to extend the activities with

DECD Awards $135,000 In HOMAR Grants

Officials of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development have awarded $135,000 in matching Home Maintenance and Repair (HOMAR) Program grants to ten organizations in the state.

The HOMAR Program is designed to help local governments, local development corporations and local development agencies provide minor safety and security repairs and housing improvements for elderly and handicapped homeowners with limited incomes. The current awards mark the second and last round of HOMAR grants for this fiscal year. With the awarding of the current $135,000, all of the $250,000 allocated for FY 1987 in HOMAR matching has been committed to 16 organizations.

The Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. has received $10,550.

Recipients will use the HOMAR funds for the direct provision of repair services, particularly to purchase materials and tools, hire work crews, contract for trade services such as licensed electricians or plumbers, lease storage space, obtain a performance bond as required or other eligible costs. The recipients will match the grants 100 percent with in-kind services, cash or contributions.

The HOMAR Program, one of the Housing Initiatives enacted by the General Assembly earlier this year, fills a real need. By supplying simple, essential repairs and safety improvements at minimum cost to their clients, these ten organizations and others like them, make it easier for the elderly and handicapped to remain in their family homes and maintain their independence, a DECD spokesman said.

For additional information on the HOMAR Program, persons may contact the Program Coordinator, Division of Local Government Assistance, 45 Calvert Street, Annapolis, MD 21401 or call (301) 269-2854.

Senator Asks For HMR Vehicle Allocation In '88

Senator John N. Bambacus followed up some earlier correspondence to Governor Harry R. Hughes this week with a letter urging that funding be allocated for the purpose of locating a hazardous material response vehicle in Allegany and Garrett counties.

"As you will recall," the senator wrote Gov. Hughes, "I asked that the budget for the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services include $50,000 for a specially "GOOD BYE ARZELLA... AND GOOD LUCK," were the sentiments of the Board of Garrett County Commissioners as they bade retiring Garrett County Treasurer Arzella T. Parsons a fond farewell. Mrs. Parsons has served as treasurer for 20 years. Commissioners John G. Braskey, Ernest Gregg Jr. and Elwood Groves II are shown presenting a walnut plaque with the county seal to Mrs. Parsons "for her personal dedication and contribution" as treasurer.

Driverless Auto Accident Sends One To Hospital

The Maryland State Police recently investigated an accident involving a driverless vehicle that resulted in a Grantsville man being sent to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, for injuries received.

William D. Guthrie, 24, was standing inside the open door of his parked car preparing to add transmission fluid to the vehicle. He had previously parked another car above his location in the driveway with the parking brake engaged. The vehicle drifted down the drive and struck the first vehicle broadside, pinning Guthrie's ankle in the door.

Guthrie was taken to the hospital by the Northern Rescue

Co. Commissioners, WRA Heads Discuss Possible Changes In Regs.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with Water Resources Administration officials to discuss the re-evaluation of current regulations regarding watersheds in the county.

At a press conference later in the day, Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. noted that many of the current regulations do not allow for the "real problems" that exist with many watersheds across the State, particularly in Garrett County. There are 12 watersheds in the County.

WRA officials will be looking closely at Bradley Run, Crellin, Underwood, Savage River and the Potomac River basin. Those areas have caused considerable problems in the past, particularly in the flood of 1985, said Commissioner Gregg.

WRA will be seeking possible solutions and Gregg said the County would more than likely receive state assistance for those trouble spots.

Water run-off in those areas have caused considerable damage to the landscape as well as to many homes and businesses.

Insurance Reviewed
Also at the press conference, the Commissioners indicated that medical insurance for county employees is currently being reviewed by insurance consultant, Mark Zanger.

Zanger will be looking at the past year's utilization of insurance benefits versus the cost of the premiums and benefits paid by the insurance company.

Commissioner Gregg noted that in any given year if the paid benefits exceed the premium, the insurance carrier has the right to review the policy and make adjustments. It appears that Garrett County may be facing such an adjustment.

The Commissioners expect a final report in a few weeks.

SHS Renovation
The Commissioners also met with Board of Education officials Tuesday to discuss the proposed renovation of Southern High School.

Present were Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools; James Morris, assistant superintendent; and Earl J. Clark, president of the Board of Education.

All the county officials were elated and surprised by the recent verbal go-ahead by the Inter-Agency on School Construction to begin the planning phase of the renovation.

Commissioner Gregg explained that they had not been optimistic because of intense competition across the State for renovation funds.

A written approval is expected in January.

CHESTNUTS ROASTING ON AN OPEN FIRE is but one of many highlights of the Christmas season, and so is the annual Christmas Concert by the Garrett Choral Society, which will be held this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. The concert will feature contemporary as well as classical numbers, including solos from Handel's Messiah by Kathryn Sincell, Marcette Danner, and Jim Chisholm.

Leonard Eiswert will also present a solo. The Society is under the direction of Nancy Leary. Musical accompaniment will be by Dr. David Sheets, Ruth Huebner, Jeff Gilbert, Richard Hill, John Thorhauer, Lessa Thorhauer, Mary Beth Johnson, Lowell Leitzel, and Sam Moon. Admission to the concert is $2 for adults and children under 12 are admitted free.

Sheriff's Dept. Arrests Four On Theft Charges

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department reported four arrests this past week for theft-related charges.

Douglas D. Hinebaugh, 21, Oakland, and Lisa R. Sweitzer, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, were arrested on counts of forgery, theft, and conspiracy on December 11 following an extensive investigation by the Sheriff's Department.

The couple reportedly stole a Social Security check in the amount of $294 from James Knox, Oakland, on September 2. According to arresting officer, Deputy Dave Crossland, they are currently each being held at the Garrett County Jail on a $5000 bond.

Harry L. Wilt, 23, Grantsville, was arrested on December 11 and charged with theft following an incident at the K-Mart Store in the Country Club Mall, LaVale.

According to Joseph Metzner, a spokesman for the store, Wilt stole merchandise in the amount of $29.95 on November 17.

The arrest was made by Deputy R. Drenning.

Another man, Willard M. Ashby, Oakland, was arrested on December 10 for breaking and entering and theft.

The complainant, Sandy M. Ashby, Oakland, reported that Ashby entered her home in Oakland on December 9 and removed her personal property.

Ashby has been released on his own recognizance, according to Det. Richard Kutchman.

A theft was reported by Frank R. Lancelotta, Swanton, that occurred at his residence at the intersection of Toothpick Road and State Park Road on December 10.

Items stolen were two snowmobiles, a 1983 Yamaha and a 1982 Arctic Cat, and a 1985 Snowbird trailer. Total loss of the items amounted to $4,300.

Man Sentenced To 18 Months On Theft Charge

A young Oakland man was sentenced to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail after being found guilty of theft this week in Garrett County District Court.

Ronald W. Beckman, 20, was arrested by Cpl. Handy L. Sines, Oakland City Police Department, on October 16 for stealing a purse belonging to Jean E. Hetrick. Hetrick's truck was parked outside Hometown Market, Oakland, when Beckman removed the purse.

Beckman then took checks from the purse, forged and cashed them. He was also charged with forgery as a result but the charge was plea bargained.

Garrett County District Court Judge, Jack R. Turney, fined Beckman $25 and placed him on two years supervised probation. The sentencing and probation are to be served concurrently with time Beckman is already serving for other charges.

John R. Toston, public defender, was the defense attorney.

Another man, Larry M. Bittinger, 19, Grantsville, was found guilty of battery and given a suspended sentence of 18 months in the Maryland Department of Corrections following an incident that occurred on October 26, 1985, in Grantsville.

The charge was filed by Jay M. Bittinger, Grantsville, after he was allegedly assaulted by Bittinger.

Bittinger also received a $50 fine and was placed on 18 months supervised probation. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered in the case.

Lisa C. Thayer represented Bittinger.

Kevin M. Clark, 21, Frostburg, was found guilty of theft and received a six-month suspended sentence in the Garrett County Jail as a result.

Clark, who was charged with a total of 14 counts of theft, stole a $20 check from Eastern Garrett Fire Department, Finzel, once a month from August 29, 1985, to August 26, 1986 and cashed them for his own use. Total amount of the theft was $260.

The remaining 13 counts of theft were not prosecuted.

Clark was also given a $50 fine and placed on one year supervised probation as a result of the first count.

James F. Braskey was the defending attorney.

David W. Bowers, 26, Keyser, W.Va., was found guilty of battery and given a one year suspended sentence in the Garrett County Jail.

He received a $50 fine and was placed on one year unsupervised probation as a result of the charge, which stemmed from an August 8 incident in Swanton.

The complainant in the case was Mark Solomon, Swanton. Bowers was represented by Lisa C. Thayer.

James V. Filiaggi, 55, Uniontown, Pa., was found guilty of unlawfully carrying a handgun following an incident in which he was arrested for speeding by Tfc. C.R. Smith, Maryland State Police, on Rt. 48. It was then discovered that he was carrying a loaded handgun in the glove box of his vehicle. The incident occurred on August 13.

Filiaggi was fined $250 and placed on six months unsupervised probation as a result.

Michael R. Morrisette was the defending attorney.

Andrew J. Romano, 24, Deer Park, was found guilty of disturbance of the peace and received 30 days in the Garrett County Jail. The sentence was then suspended and he received a $50 fine and was placed on six months unsupervised probation.

The charge stemmed from an incident in which Romano created a disturbance on Liberty Street, Oakland, on November 1.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Romano.

Arthur B. Deem, 30, Friendsville, was fined $500 and placed on 18 months supervised probation after he was found guilty of disorderly conduct.

The charge stemmed from an incident on November 14, 1985, at which time Deem acted in a disorderly manner at the Friendsville Amoco Station.

The charge was filed by Walter W. Fearer, Friendsville. Marshall T. Lancaster, 37, Baltimore, was found guilty of assault, fined $5, and was placed on six months unsupervised probation.

The charge was a result of an incident that took place on August 4 in Swanton when he allegedly assaulted the complainant, Alvin H. Broadwater, Swanton.

Lisa C. Thayer represented Lancaster.

John E. Bishoff, 51, Friendsville, was found guilty of battery and malicious destruction of property of another. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The complainant in the case, Betty M. Bishoff, Friendsville, charged that Bishoff assaulted her on September 2 and damaged her 1986 Dodge pickup truck.

Michael R. Morrisette was the attorney for the defense.

In two separate cases, Catherine A. Strobel, 26, Mtn. Lake Park, was charged with two counts of battery which stemmed from incidents on June 24 and September 28 at the residence of Andrew Baker, complainant, in Oakland.

Strobel was found guilty of the September 28 charge and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

She was found not guilty of the second charge.

African Queen

(Or The Adventures Of Harry And Marilyn)

by Sherry Frantz

Marilyn was a bit anxious. No. Marilyn was more than a bit anxious. She was having fourth and fifth thoughts about this impending venture. Just the same, she was preparing for it. Gathering and organizing supplies, constructing a tent, and making the necessary arrangements for departure. Marilyn, the reluctant sailor.

Harry was invigorated, alive with the air of adventure. "Chomping at the bit." Ready. Confidently making arrangements, checking the engine, building accommodations. His hat cocked, his eyes gleaming with anticipation, he had been thinking about this trip for 25 years. Harry, the zealous sailor.

Harry and Marilyn Filemyr of Mt. Lake Park, were getting ready to embark on an unusual trip. They were going to sail their 19-foot Flying Scot from McKeesport, Pa. to St. Petersburg, Fla. via the Mississippi River. Their immediate goal: New Orleans. Their ultimate goal: to sail back up the east coast to Baltimore. However, time and other restrictions ended their trip at St. Petersburg, Fla.

In preparation, Harry constructed four floor boards, 18 inches wide and four feet long, out of one-half inch thick cedar siding which made a bunk (when air mattresses were added) that was four feet by six feet in size. When boards were maneuvered or taken away, they would serve other purposes, such as cooking and dining surfaces.

Marilyn made a tent that could be adjusted to suit their need for varying amounts of exposure or cover, and she fashioned fenders from Styrofoam "peanuts", enclosing them in cloth covering.

During the two weeks of preparation, Marilyn became more enthusiastic about the trip. She was beginning to adopt Harry's spirit of adventure.

They gathered together supplies, fuel, food, and the camping gear they used 30 years before while honeymooning on Lake Michigan. This was the anniversary of their wedding and the couple decided that the sailing trip would be a "nice" way to celebrate.

No luxury cruise for this two-some! The most expensive purchase they made in preparation for the trip was a Marine VHF radio with emergency channels with which to hear weather reports and to call ahead to the locks on the river so that channels would be open to them. On August 4 they sailed off, ready to test the waters, their skill and courage, and (dare one say it?) their marriage.

The 2,500-mile trip began at McKeesport, Pa. at the Youghiogheny River. From the Youghiogheny to the Monongahela River. From the Monongahela to the Ohio River. From the Ohio to the Mississippi River. Into Lake Pontchartrain (the northern boundary of New Orleans), out into the Gulf of Mexico and onto St. Petersburg.

According to Harry, New Orleans was "the last pronounceable place" they passed.

As far as the Filemyrs have been able to ascertain, they traveled 10 times farther than anyone ever had in a Flying Scot.

But that is not what makes their trip so special - nor memorable. Such stuff is made up of their open-mindedness in facing encounters, their temporary change of life-style and culture, and their willingness to meet, head-on, the adventures (and inherent obstacles) they experienced along the way.

Since sailing is quite uncommon on the rivers, Harry mused that an appropriate analogy would be "like bicycling on the interstate." And, since everybody of water has its own personality, they had to adjust to and cope with each one as they were met. The Ohio River hasn't much of a current and there is a lock and dam to contend with about every 50 miles. The Mississippi River, however, has a current that would often take the Filemyrs faster than their boat was capable of going under its own power. They were surprised more than once by the "rapids."

Perhaps the biggest challenge for them on the Mississippi was having to navigate

THIS IS THE MAP that charts the course that Filemyrs took that began in the Youghiogheny River that led to the Gulf of Mexico. These are the faces that show the smiles that Harry and Marilyn wear that shows the pride that came from an unusual trip. This is the boat that sailed the rivers that led to the gulf that Harry and Marilyn played in.

They also kept a journal of their daily activities so, even though they spent long, long periods of time without even a hint of civilization - especially on the Mississippi River - they were almost always kept busy. According to Marilyn, there was always something to see and "each day was unique."

On one of these unique days, they were caught on the Ohio River with their sails up when a short, but violent, thunderstorm ascended on them. Wisely, they had brought along their foul weather gear. Dismayed with that and their relentless determination to cope with even the foulest weather conditions, they, indeed, had only one choice: to ride out the storm.

Another time, while sailing around the west coast of Florida around the barges - especially at night when it was sometimes extremely difficult to judge the perimeters of these "river monsters." Evidently, one so small as a Flying Scot need only get into the current of one so huge and, inevitably, be sucked underneath. A mile-long barge does not promise the survival of anyone so unlucky as to meet that fate.

One night, Harry and Marilyn encountered shallow, "rapid-like" water on the Mississippi and were quickly pulled along sideways to within 100 feet of a barge. (It is an accepted practice that one never get within 2 to 300 feet.) Afraid they wouldn't be spotted by the towboat, Marilyn's reluctantly accepted enthusiasm quickly waned as she shouted, "Get me out of here!"

While doubtful that Harry's cool remained intact during the episode, he certainly understated his assessment of it when he said (with hand rubbing chin) that it was not "seaman-like behavior to get yourself in that situation."

While this near-tragedy is the stuff of adventure novels, a good deal of Harry's and Marilyn's time was spent with the more mundane business of life (river life, that is). A captain and his crew need nourishment to keep up with the demands of life on a sailboat. Nourishment was provided by a generous supply of dry and canned food (and replenishable items when a grocery store was convenient) that were stored, prepared and eaten in the confines of the 19-foot boat.

Marilyn had brought along rice, dried milk, oatmeal, spaghetti, and Bisquick all stored in plastic gallon milk jugs. These provided the base for various and numerous meals which were prepared on a three-burner Coleman stove. There were also eight gallons of fresh water on board for cooking purposes.

And, of course, there was everyone's favorite, Spam, which Harry and Marilyn found to be one of the most underrated of gourmet foods. As Harry proclaimed, it is "vastly better than bologna."

They enjoyed such meals as eggs and blueberry pancakes for breakfast and stew and dumplings, spaghetti, and even Chinese food for dinners. They always had a glass of wine from their liquor cabinet with dinner. Lunch typically consisted of finger foods such as cheese and crackers.

Even though they used fresh water for cooking, the Filemyrs found the river quite suitable for bathing purposes. They did not enjoy the luxury of a shower for quite some time. That is, with the exception of one night spent in a motel room in Apalachicola, Fla. when they stopped because of engine problems. That night was the only one during the 50-day trip spent sleeping on a real bed. Marilyn's only comment about that night was, "it was the worst bed I'd ever slept in!" She was plagued with a back ache all the next day.

Since their "house" for this period of time was also their means of transportation, Harry and Marilyn had worked out what they called a "division of labor." Generally, Harry was responsible for navigation and maintenance and Marilyn, typically, (besides cooking and swabbing the decks, of course) watched and recorded mile markers along the way and checked them with the navi-

Energy For Giving . . .

Everyone, especially parents of adolescents, is familiar with the rather erratic, unpredictable, exasperating behavior often displayed by eighth graders. It is an especially tough stage of life, not only for these teenagers and their parents, but also for others who associate regularly with these youth, such as their school teachers. Good teachers have found that tactful re-direction of an eighth grader's energy into constructive avenues is the only way to survive in the classroom. When this is accomplished, yes, even eighth graders can be beautiful people.

An example of this re-direction of adolescent energy is underway right now at Southern Middle School, where the eighth graders are busy donating, collecting, and planning to deliver special Christmas packages to needy elderly couples and individuals in Garrett County. Twenty-three specific persons and/or households have been targeted for the students by the Area Agency on Aging. Once the collection of food, clothing, and personal hygiene items is complete, all will be divided into 23 packages that will be delivered two days before Christmas.

Teaching these young people just to be aware that extreme poverty truly exists right here in their own county is but one of many wonderful lessons of such a project. They learned, for example, that one unidentified local elderly lady is restricted to a high-protein diet. However, she has so little money that she virtually lives on cat food. We understand that can after can of tuna has been rolling into Southern Middle to be placed in her package.

Also assisting the students are a number of area businesses, the owners of which have been most generous in donating food, materials, and other items needed for the project.

Similar giving efforts have occurred in past years and are going on right now by other schools and organizations throughout the county. We will remember, for example, the Christmas gifts that were gathered last year by the students of Northern High School for the members of those families affected by the severe flooding in West Virginia. The Oakland Rotary Club is aiding two dozen other local needy families with gifts of food, clothing, and other necessities.

The residents of Garrett County are among the most giving in the world, which is just one more good reason for living here and being proud of our county.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the suspected toxic waste incident at an Oakland area junkyard. I think the public would like to understand what risks to their health are possible from toxic materials being stored improperly and what the government will do about it.

Toxicity refers to the effect on living cells of a substance. Extremely toxic or poisonous chemicals may or may not be hazardous to humans. It depends on their use and disposal. Many chemicals can be handled and disposed of safely. Until they reach and produce effects inside the body, all toxic substances are not harmful.

However, storing toxic substances endangers the health of the public in the following ways:

1. Toxic or poisonous substances will seep into the earth where they are stored and drain into the ground water that feeds private wells in the area;
2. Toxic or poisonous substances will run off with rainwater and drain into the surface water such as streams, lakes and rivers, contaminating those water supplies;
3. Toxic or poisonous substances will evaporate into the air, depending on the concentration and various environmental factors present, posing threats to the respiratory system of humans;
4. Toxic or poisonous substances will contaminate the soil and crops grown in that soil. The food will contain toxic substances. When humans eat the food, it will hurt them.
5. Toxic or poisonous substances will contaminate the cattle, deer or other animals that graze near the site or drink any contaminated surface water. In turn, food products from these sources will also be contaminated.

There are four ways toxins or poisons can enter the human body. They are:

1. Breathing the toxic substances from the air or from shower spray;
 2. Exposing the skin by touching dirt, animals, clothing, or bath water that contain these substances;
 3. Exposing the eye in accidents, washing your eye with contaminated water;
 4. Swallowing the substance in food, water, or its pure form.
- Each substance has its own method of doing damage to humans. Therefore, when the United States Environmental Protection Agency discovers which substances are present in the Oakland site (if any), they can begin to determine if any of those chemicals has contaminated or may contaminate the water supply. Their procedures include thoroughly checking wells in the area and thoroughly checking surface water. This information will be reported to the proper authorities at the health department to act upon and determine methods of protection.

Proper disposal methods for chemicals are available. Many industries in our nation partake of the proper methods of disposal. They are to be praised. The Cumberland Area Health Education Center is presently developing training programs for physicians and other health professionals on diagnosing and treating exposures to toxic substances. For more information on our programs, please call 777-9150.

Susan O. Davis

To the Editor:
I want to say, "Thank You" for publishing the articles about my uncle, Leo Beachy. I have been getting a lot of good feedback from this end of the county.

I am grateful to so many people, especially Mrs. Ruth Hershberger and Dr. Alta Schrock for giving me the glass plate negatives. Also, to the Lewis Boones for inviting me to an historical dinner in Cumberland where I met Gaye Savant. Then it was Dr. Schultz and the Warrens from Annapolis.

Most of all, to you and Craig Phillips and Craig Speicher's journalistic writings bringing the Beachy photos to life once again.

I was only two years old when he died, but I feel he must have held me on his lap a time or two, as I feel very close to him.

Thanks again,
Maxine Beachy Broadwater

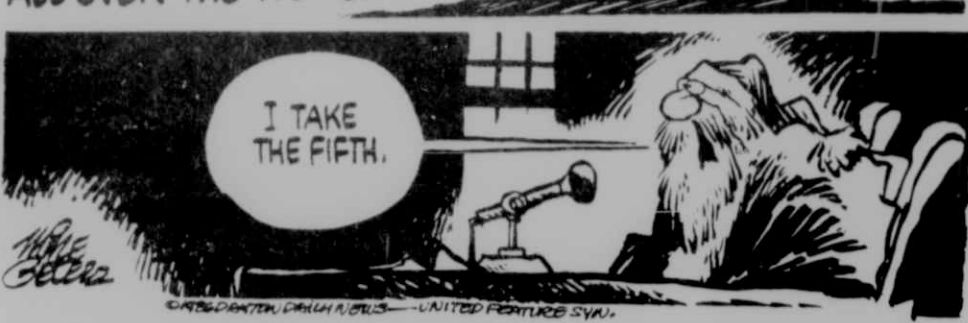

To the Editor:
On December 11, ten of the tenth grade students from Southern High School were recognized by The First United Bank & Trust for making perfect scores on the Maryland Functional Citizenship Test. Our son, Darren, was one of those students, and we want to publicly thank the bank for their kind consideration. We appreciate their thoughtfulness and generosity.

To the students, we say congratulations on a job well done. We're proud of you.

And to the person we feel was greatly responsible for these perfect scores, Mr. Dave Beard, (Civics teacher of all these students) we feel you deserve a lot of thanks! It's good to know Garrett County has such a sincere and devoted teacher on its staff. We Salute you!

Thanks again,

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to all those who live and work in Garrett County. Each and every week, we all read or hear about the crimes occurring in the county and it continues to get worse. When someone wants to break into your home or place of business, alarms, bolted windows and doors really don't stop them. When eventually the law does catch them, our courts turn them loose again, so the criminal continues to break the law. A criminal only has to read the court proceedings in the paper to determine his/her odds as to whether they will get time if caught. Therefore the crime rate is going to continue to grow unless stiffer prison and jail sentences are given out.

As an ex-criminal, I thought the same way and on my fourth arrest, I received time. In all reality, I should have been sent to jail the first time instead of a slap on the hand. I am currently still in prison awaiting my release after serving almost three years.

It took prison to turn my life around and to show me my freedom is worth more than anything in this world and I now regret all the illegal things in my life I've ever done. I don't intend on doing them again. I know there are many out there doing the things I once did, but let me say this to those of you who still are: if you don't want to experience a life in hell where all freedom is taken away, quit doing crime. Believe me, it doesn't pay.

To the Editor:

I want to say a hearty amen to what Elaine Baker wrote about the Harvey baby and also what Mrs. Louise V. Harvey wrote. In a time of labor the Guardian Angel was with mother and baby. I am glad we have people who read the Bible and say what it says about "go and sin no more," we all fall short. I don't think the woman deserves the charges she got.

Let God do the judging. If I could meet her I would tell her I love her. She left the baby in where it was warm and had shelter.

Praise God we have a Heavenly Father who forgives.

Goodbye And God Bless You

by Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

This is the last of the regular columns that I shall write to the people of Maryland. Over my entire period of Congressional service—a span of 26 years—I have tried to discuss in these short articles the major issues that have come along.

These visits with you through my column have been important to me because they touch upon one of the most essential qualities of the relationship between a legislative representative and his constituents: the element of communication, the importance of mutual knowledge about the issues. In order to make judgments about me through the years, it has been essential for you to understand the issues as I saw them, and the ways in which I approached each one. These columns have been one opportunity for me to explain to you exactly how I felt about each of the succeeding problems that has beset the country for over a quarter of a century. As a result, many of you have expressed agreement or disagreement, or perhaps a fresh approach to an idea.

I believe that the job of a member of Congress is divided into three recognizable parts. One of course, is legislative; making, amending, and supervising the execution of the laws. The second is advocacy: that is, fighting for the rights and the welfare of the people who elect us to the Congress.

The third part is education. These columns have fallen within the scope of education because it is essential to our democratic process that constituents know members of Congress and what they think. But this type of education requires more than just newspaper columns. It requires correspondence, it requires personal visits, it requires formal speeches, it requires other types of written communications, even radio and television communication. Without this type of communication, the Congress would not be a representative body and be able to represent the views of the majority of the American people. And so I want to take this opportunity to thank each of you who has read my column and reacted in some way to the issues that we have discussed.

It has been an enormous privilege, a unique privilege to be able to represent the people of Maryland in the Congress of the United States. It is the kind of experience that can never be duplicated or repeated. It is a personal relationship of a very intimate kind between those who elect a member to Congress and the member who assumes that responsibility. It provides insights into the life of our generation which could not be obtained in any other way. It provides information about what is happening in the world, which is unique. And it provides the opportunity to serve in ways that are very heartwarming. The greatest reward that I have received in my years in Congress is the response and support that I have found from the people of Maryland. For this I thank you. Goodbye and God bless you.

Our Turn

In Search of the Christmas Spirit
by Pam Ashby

It was late — nearly midnight, to be exact. The reluctantly dedicated reporter was just arriving home from a late night at the office. The Christmas lights were kept burning for her. She placed a Placido Domingo/Vienna Boys Choir cassette in the stereo in hopes that her mild depression would give way to the Christmas spirit.

The children were nestled, all snug in their beds and her husband had already settled his brain for a long winter's nap. She tended to her motherly duties and began packing nourishing lunches for the next day.

Each of her three children were looked upon lovingly as she planted tender kisses on their brows. "Did you remember to watch your Christmas specials on television tonight while mommy was at work?" she wondered.

The tired working mother marveled at how peacefully her rambunctious four-year-old daughter was sleeping. Did she fall asleep with happy thoughts or was she wishing mommy had been there to read her a bedtime story?

Her eight-year-old daughter in the next bed tossed fitfully. She couldn't help but sympathize with this wise child who was discovering early that life isn't always fair. Was she dreaming of the cross words she exchanged with a playmate — the playmate with whom her personality clashed?

In the next room she heard her 15-year-old son stir. She entered the room and denied to herself that he was now a young man. She knew in her heart that she was no longer the most important female in his life. She vowed to take second place with grace and dignity. Then she promised herself to buy him the "neat skateboard" that would make his small material world complete. She decided the new "Bon Jovi" tape would be in his stocking too.

Overcome with emotion, she retreated to the living room where the "most beautiful Christmas tree ever" beckoned her to sleep in the sights and sounds of Christmas.

She stared into the very soul of the Scotch Pine. Just a few days earlier it had stood in a lonely forest. Now it was hers, adorned with the jewelry of the season and crowned with its guardian angel.

Her children had made so many of the ornaments. Others had been given by cherished friends. The ancient ones had been purchased with her husband on their first Christmas together. She chuckled to herself as she recalled how 16 years earlier the young lovers had to borrow $5 for their first tree.

She began to cry again as she remembered her own version of "The Gift of the Magi." They were not supposed to get each other a gift that first Christmas. There was only enough money to buy presents for other family members and friends.

So she took their emergency fund which consisted of $7.50 and bought her new husband a new watchband for his old watch. When her husband found the emergency box empty, he sold his old watch to buy her a new nightgown. Oh, maybe it didn't happen that way at all. She wasn't sure anymore. She once prided herself on her keen memory. She had too much to remember.

Her self-pitying thoughts were interrupted when she spied the creche on the old piano. She moved slowly toward the holy scene. It had taken 15 years to convince her husband to build the miniature stable and to afford the animals, the shepherds, the drummer boy, the wisemen, the angel, Mary and Joseph and, most importantly, the tiny manger cradling the baby Jesus.

Her heart ached as she remembered the wonderful pain of bearing her own children. Just as God had given the world his son, he had given her children and so much more.

She turned out the Christmas lights slowly and took her tired body to bed. The muscular arms of her husband encircled her. She was loved by so many special people and she loved them in return. That was it! The Christmas spirit had never really escaped her. She had simply misplaced it. It was there every day of the year. It was the gift of love.

Christmas Eve candlelight services at 6:30 p.m. at the Kitzmiller Presbyterian Church, 9:00 p.m. at the Gorman Presbyterian Church and 11:00 p.m. at the Mt. Storm Presbyterian Church.

A town Christmas treat for the children only of Loch Lynn will be conducted Monday, December 22, at 7:00 p.m.

Local Man Files $50 Million Suit Against State

A $50,000,000 lawsuit against the State of Maryland, the Garrett County Social Services Department, Hilda Rowan with the Department of Social Services, and Rebecca Thayer with the State's Attorney's Office was filed in United States District Court Monday by Jerry A. Cline, Oakland.

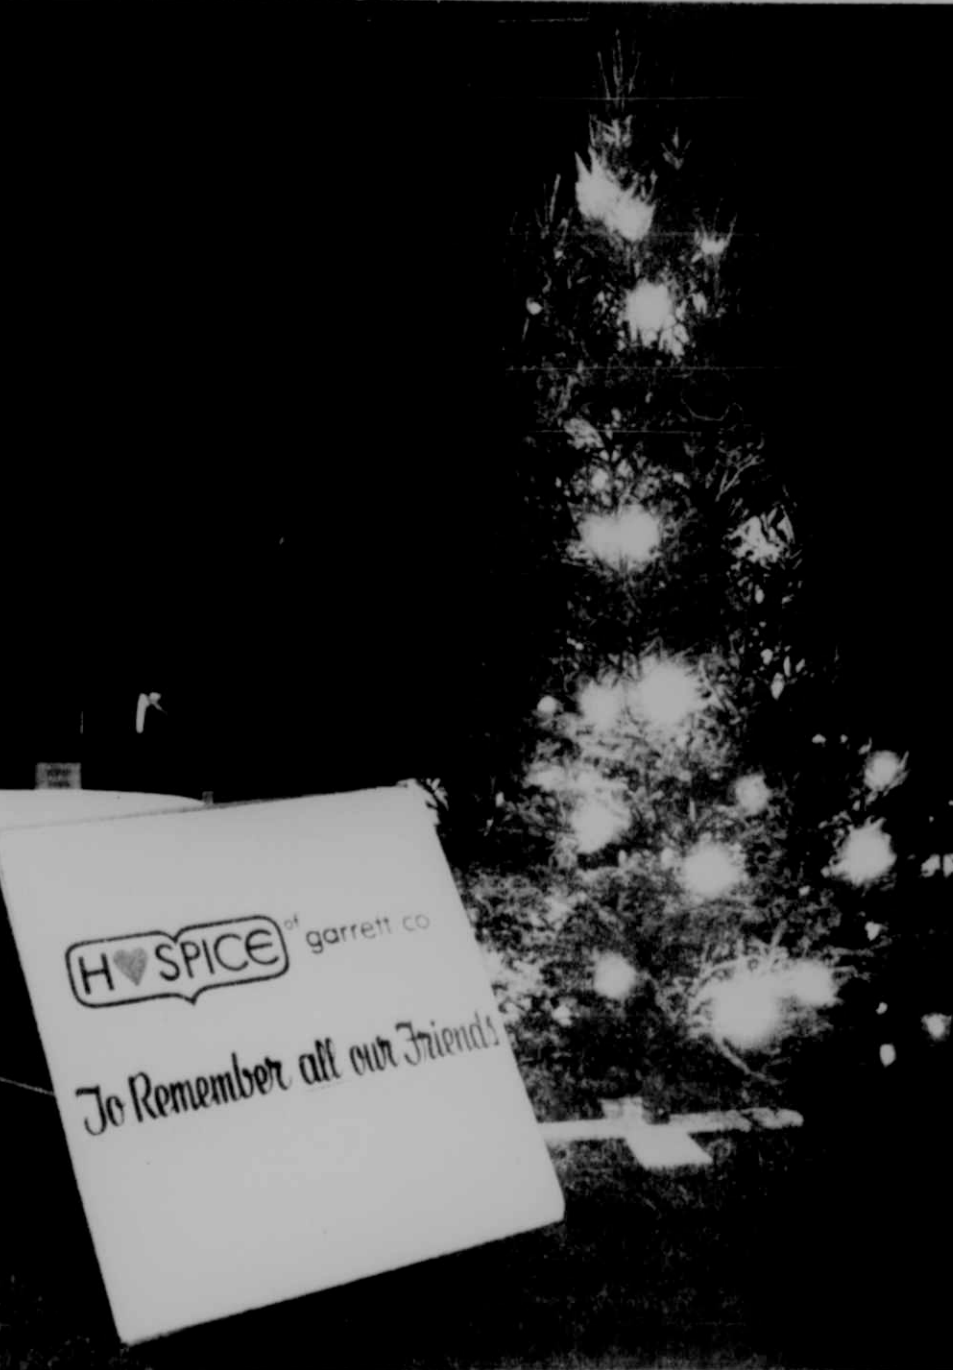

Cline, 35, is seeking compensatory damages, punitive damages, and a restraining order from the U.S. District Court.

The plaintiff contends that the defendants in the case have continuously violated his civil rights. He alleges that on numerous occasions he has sought help through government agencies and attorneys and the American Civil Liberties Union to relieve the injustices directed toward him.

Earlier this year Cline filed a suit for over $35 million in U.S. District Court against various county officials and the Sheriff's Department. A $10,000 settlement was made between insurance companies when county officials determined that a lengthy court battle would have cost the taxpayers more than the insurance settlement.

At that time the Board of Garrett County Commissioners stated that they would have preferred to allow the case to go to trial, but that the cost of doing so would have been prohibitive. Cline agreed to the out of court settlement.

HOSPICE REMEMBRANCE TREE — Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. placed this tree on the St. Matthew's Episcopal Church lawn recently in honor of all patients, families and friends. The tree also honors all those who have helped and supported Hospice in any way, according to Wayne Johnson, executive director. "It's our way of thanking those who have assisted us physically, morally, spiritually and financially. Without your help we could not continue to serve those in need of hospice care. The tree was donated from the Potomac State Forest by the Maryland Department of Forest and Parks. The sign was relettered by Signs by Domenick.

Oakland K Of C Donates $1,000 To G.C. Hospice

Recent projects of the Oakland Council #1771, Knights of Columbus included a $1,000 check presentation to Hospice of Garrett County and a Christmas poster contest.

Wayne Johnson, executive director, and J. Haig Jackson, board member for Hospice accepted the check on behalf of that organization which aids the terminally ill and their families.

The money was raised from the sale of Pepsi-Cola at the Garrett County Fair in August and at the Autumn Glory Festival.

The council also presented a hospital bed to Hospice which was used by a deceased member of the council, Sherman White.

The poster contest, entitled "Keep Christ in Christmas," was held for the students of St. Peter's School of Religion. Winners included: Katie Utterback, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Utterback, grades kindergarten through three; Stacy Finch, daughter of Rosalie Finch, grades four through six; Ben Reeves, son of Arden and Loretta Reeves, grades seven and eight. The winners in each category won $20 and the second and third place winners won $15 and $10 each, respectively.

Judges for the contest were the Rev. Martin E. Feild, John R. Maroney, John P. Kurilla and Joseph F. Shorb, all from the Council, and assisted by Wayne Johnson and J. Haig Jackson.

John R. Maroney was the chairman of the Pepsi sales and the poster contest. Frenchie Palineau assisted with the poster contest.

Henry G. Gregory is the Grand Knight of the Council.

"Operation Yuletide" Now Implemented

The Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office have announced the formation of "Operation Yuletide" which began December 15 and will end December 25.

The purpose of the operation is to insure public safety during the holiday season by closely monitoring crime in and around the shopping areas in Garrett County.

Police officials will be on duty daily to deter shoplifting and motor violations.

Friends Of Ruth Enlow Library

by Sull McCartney

"Now that I've paid my dues, what is Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library going to do for me?" I would answer this query by turning the question around. Especially this first year as we solve organizational problems, we would ask "what can you do for the library?" or "what would you like to have the Friends do for you or the library?"

Already the directors and others have been in touch with state and county legislators hoping to make them realize the important place our county libraries have in our lives and the reasons our Ruth Enlow needs financial help. (More on this subject in a later column). But each patron can help by "talking library" to others, voicing how much the library means to you and what services you have used. Be a supporter! Be a communicator!

Christmas isn't far off. Why not put the library or Friends of the Library on your gift list? If you work, you may not have an hour to give the library, but can you give an hour's pay? Grandparents, give your grandchildren the thrill of seeing a book given in their honor. Children, remember your mother or dad with a gift that will be used, won't be a duplicate, is non-caloric, doesn't take up space—and it lasts.

Want to thank or honor an employer or employee, an associate or a special friend? A book can be an appropriate tribute.

Do you have an all-time favorite book, one you re-read from time to time or a recent one you could recommend? My choice would be Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen. I also saw the movie again and again. Here are some other choices.

*Coach Tom Woods (SHS): Yeager, an autobiography by Chuck Yeager and Leo Janos. A recent favorite because of Tom's interest in getting his pilot's license.

*Gerald Snelson (NHS): Moby Dick by Herman Melville tops a long list of old favorites, but The Name of the Rose, Umberto Eco, is a recent addition.

*Mary Stover: not one to read for pleasure but The Jungle by Upton Sinclair made a deep impression.

*Gus Johnson: Tolkien's trilogy, Lord of the Rings, an all-time favorite.

*Shirley De Matz: a true story, Unveiling Claudia by Daniel Keyes is recommended by this Accident business lady.

*Tara Willey, a fifth grader at Route 40 School, particularly enjoyed Watership Down by Richard Adams.

*Linda Edwards looks on the Grantsville shelves for any of Stephen King's books which is where Dixie Otto found A Woman of Substance, Barbara Taylor Bradford, a book worth enjoying a second time.

The library staff at Accident has The Rev. Randolph and the Splendid Samaritan, by Charles Merrill Smith for those fans of the Reverend's mysteries.

And what are yours? Why not leave your name and choice at the library. Mention our name. We're Friends!

NOTICE

Valley View Country Store will be closed December 29, 30, & 31, and January 1. Regular store hours will resume January 2.

LISTENING INTENTLY were about 75 children, parents, and grandparents at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland last Thursday evening as Dr. Gail Herman, a professional story teller, shared original tales about everything from Christmas to rainbows to chipmunks, with the assistance of various puppet friends. The youngsters all arrived at the library in their pajamas to enjoy about 45 minutes of stories in which they participated by singing and answering questions. Dr. Herman is the wife of Dr. Steve Herman, president of Garrett Community College. The activity was sponsored by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library. Pictured above are Denise Helbig and her sons Joel and Josh, and Rachel Sincell.

GCFT Attends Annual Reception

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers, along with the Federation of Allegany County Teachers, held their annual legislative reception at the Holiday Inn at Grantsville recently.

Following the buffet dinner, Don Lipscomb, president of the GCFT introduced the guests, which included: Irene Dandridge, president of the Maryland Federation of Teachers; Loretta Johnson, vice president of the MFT; Betty Pitt, lobbyist for the MFT; and Delegate George C. Edwards.

Local Students To Be Awarded Degrees At FSC

Frostburg State College will award 311 degrees at its mid-year commencement ceremonies this Saturday, December 20 (see separate story elsewhere in this issue). Seven Garrett County residents are among those to be awarded degrees during the ceremonies, which will be held in the Physical Education Center.

Degree recipients completed graduation requirements earlier this month or last summer.

Garrett County students receiving degrees are: Carla Rexrode Kisner, Deer Park, bachelor of science; Rosalind J. Lancaster, Friendsville, bachelor of arts; Mervin L. Yoder, Grantsville, bachelor of science; Candace H. Ferrell, Gary L. Heginbotham, and Cynthia M. Stem, all Mtn. Lake Park, all bachelor of science; and Susan H. Alvarez, Oakland, bachelor of science.

Swanton Church Notes Activities For Christmas

The Swanton United Methodist Church is planning several Christmas activities, according to a church spokesman.

The annual Christmas program and cantata, entitled "That's Christmas," will be presented Sunday, December 21, at 7 p.m.

Pastor Richard Ogden and his wife, Rose, are sponsoring the Boy and Girl Fellowship Christmas party on Tuesday, December 16, at 4 p.m.

Barbara Rexrode, director of the King's Kids, announced that Christmas caroling will be held on Tuesday, December 23, at 6 p.m. A Christmas party will follow.

January will be collection month for the House of Hope. The Christmas card donations will begin the project.

Dinner Held
The Christmas dinner for the Swanton-Kitzmiller United Methodist Charge was held December 7 at the Swanton Community Center.

Doris Friend read the Christmas story with puppetry by Pastor Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. Burk Friend and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Beckman were honored under the mistletoe during a special game of charades. Both couples have been married for over 50 years.

Library Corner

HOLIDAY HOURS

All branches excepting the Oakland Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library will be closed Wednesday, December 24 and Thursday, December 25. The Oakland Branch will stay open until 1 p.m. on December 24. Libraries will re-open on Friday, December 26 and all branches will be closed on Thursday, January 1, and re-open Friday, January 2.

Saturday films on December 20 at 1:30 p.m. are: "Morris's Disappearing Bag" (Christmas film); "Clown of God" (Christmas film); and "Country Coyote Goes Hollywood." Admission is free.

Traffic Mishaps Claim 14 Lives

Fourteen traffic fatalities were reported throughout the State of Maryland during the week ending December 14, 1986. Among these fatalities, seven were drivers, two were motorcyclists, five were passengers and two were pedestrians.

Preliminary investigation of these accidents disclosed that alcohol was a contributing factor in one death, speed in two, and driver error in 12.

Traffic fatalities in Maryland through December 14 total 738, compared to 709 during the same period last year.

Children can make creative, inexpensive Christmas cards with assorted cookie cutters used as stencils.

New Glades Star Volume Available

The latest bound volume of The Glades Star, the news publication of the Garrett County Historical Society, is now on sale at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland.

This fifth volume in the series contains the 35 most recent issues of the publication, plus an index of the subject matter contained in the various issues.

Begun in 1941, the Glades Star has been published quarterly by the Historical Society since that date, with a limited number of copies of each issue set aside for future binding.

According to Rev. John Grant, current editor of the publication, members of the Historical Society have kept their own copies of The Glades Star and to accommodate these members, the editors have always printed extra copies of the index to each volume bound. Separate copies of the index to Volume 5 may be purchased for $2 at the library or mailed for $2.50.

The cost of Volume 5 is $37.50. Copies may be purchased through the mail by writing to Mrs. Martha Kahl, corresponding secretary, Rt. 4, Box 89, Deer Park. Checks should be made payable to the Garrett County Historical Society.

Trust Offering Two Mini Grants

The Maryland Environmental Trust has announced that, as part of its Keep Maryland Beautiful activities, it will award two mini-grants for environmental education projects in 1987. The objectives of the mini-grants are: 1) to stimulate a better understanding of environmental issues; 2) to aid in the elimination or reduction of a local environmental problem, and 3) to encourage a sense of stewardship and personal responsibility for the environment.

The Trust invites school groups, science and ecology clubs, and other non-profit youth groups such as scouts and 4-H clubs, to apply for the grants. The Trust will consider proposals for the two grants of $500 apiece. Projects could include, but are not limited to these kinds of activities:

- 1) sponsoring recycling programs or litter clean-up days in conjunction with a study of local municipal waste disposal; 2) adopting a local stream could include learning about stream ecology and monitoring for pollution, with documentation in a photo exhibit); 3) planting trees and shrubs which would discourage erosion and sedimentation and enhance wildlife habitat near waterways or on public property (this could entail working with a state forester or biologist to develop a wildlife management plan); 4) designing, printing, and distributing a poster or brochure which explains a local environmental concern and including suggestions for individual or community involvement.

Mini-grant application forms may be obtained from: The Maryland Environmental Trust, Suite 700, 118 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md. 21201; (301) 333-6440.

Completed application forms should be received by the Trust by February 27, 1987.

in the Gulf of Mexico, they were met by another storm. This one lasted the whole night. To preface this episode, two things should be explained: 1) that from Apalachicola to Tarpon Springs, Fla., there are unprotected waterways and one must stay from six to 12 miles offshore, and 2) that Marilyn was sailing the boat the night the storm hit.

Unable to get to shore, she worked with and against the storm all night. Fortunately, Harry had prepared her somewhat by leading her into the wakes of tow-boats on the river so that she could acquire the necessary skill to maneuver in and out of the waves. Marilyn's status as a novice sailor was probably out-dated that very night.

The storm subsided.

The sun rose.

They slept.

The experience was unforgettable as well as educational. But they were not only educated by the waters and weather but by some of the people they met as well.

One very significant experience was encountered in New Orleans at the Southern Yacht Club where the biggest Flying Scot race of the year, The Lipton Cup, was being held. The club, located on Lake Pontchartrain, is the second oldest in the United States, being over 100 years old, which may explain the good ol' "southern hospitality" with which the Filemirs were met. They were overwhelmed with the accommodating and open arms attitude. As they said, "It was like coming home. We were treated like cousins." The club executives were even apologetic about their lack of reciprocity with the Deep Creek Yacht Club.

It seemed that wherever they stopped along the way, they encountered a willingness to help. Earlier in their travels, they stopped at Hickman, Ky. - a little run-down town that time seemed to have forgotten - to stock up on some supplies. Of course with no land vehicles available to them, they walked (sometimes for quite a distance) to the nearest stores.

At this particular town, the stores were not convenient to those arriving from the river. After some time on foot, Harry and Marilyn were offered a "taxi service" by some rather unseemly-looking characters in an old pick-up truck. They accepted. A friendly rapport was quickly established as the "characters" drove them to the various stores and waited for them to make all their necessary purchases. No money was accepted for the favor.

The town of Carrollton, Ky., along the Ohio River, will be remembered by Harry for a simple yet meaningful gesture of good-will. Harry's hat had been "lost at sea" and he was in search of a replacement. One was presented to him as a gift at a store owned by the Glauber family. The Glaubers, incidentally, appeared to have owned just about every store in Carrollton! At any rate, the gift, as well as the gesture, was appreciated.

And so it went that Harry and Marilyn enjoyed a camaraderie with these and many other people they met. They enjoyed themselves. They appreciated their experiences. They surely learned a new respect for nature - its vastness, its confines.

If they didn't know it before they sailed off at McKeesport, they must have been aware by the end of the trip of the somewhat surprising durability and flexibility of their home away from home, the Flying Scot. As Harry said, "It was a real tough boat. It performed beautifully in every situation we were in."

Apparently, this 19-foot boat had some advantages over the bigger boats, not the least of which was its lightness which allowed them to pass every other sailboat they saw. They averaged between 60 and 75 miles per day on the rivers.

Another advantage the boat had was that it had very little free board underneath and allowed them to sail in water as shallow as one foot. This was especially nice when they needed the seclusion and safety of an inlet.

The three-horsepower British Seagull engine they used is a primitive one with no clutch and no gear shift. Therefore, no reverse. To stop the engine, one reaches back and simply turns it off. The attitude of these pioneering voyagers was that they would use what they had.

Of course, having no reverse has its disadvantages. They "hit the dock" at Paducah, Ky. when they were unable to slow down. Another one of those "unseamanship-like" situations.

At one point, a problem with the engine required some time and thought. After weeks of the fuel becoming hot to the boiling point, Harry finally figured out that the midwest's version of unleaded gasoline was actually "gasohol" which caused a vapor lock. Solution: they added gasoline every hour and used a towel as a "cozy" around the engine, frequently pouring water over the towel to keep it cool.

Marilyn's adoring assessment: "He was a very good mechanic."

Harry's nonchalant (and modest?) response: "No, I wasn't."

It would seem that the Filemirs were able to maintain their relationship after this long and close encounter. Indeed, few couples would have managed anything less than hostility after such an experience.

From frolicking in the Gulf of Mexico with the scallop to battling the storms at high sea, Harry and Marilyn revealed sailing adventures. their playful, yet determined, personalities through their be more appropriate Harry?)

Auto Accident

Squad where he was treated and released.

The accident, which occurred on Monday, December 15, at the Avilton-Lonaconing Road, was investigated by Tfc. C.R. Smith. Dorothy M. Kitzmiller, 37, Bayard, W.Va., was traveling north on Rt. 560 on December 11 when she lost control of her 1985 Jeep Cherokee, crossing the center line and striking an embankment on the left side. The vehicle then overturned.

Kitzmiller was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released. Tfc. R.M. Hershberger investigated the accident.

Jacqueline E. Weimer, 21,

Grantsville, was westbound on the Avilton-Lonaconing Road when she passed a second vehicle that was waiting to make a left-hand turn. While passing, she ran off the right side of the road, into a ditch, re-entered the roadway, swerved again, and struck a tree.

The accident occurred on Sunday, December 14, and was investigated by Tfc. C.R. Smith.

Two more accidents occurred due to icy roadways.

Michael E. Bolding, 25, Glen Burnie, was westbound on Rt. 135 when he lost control of his 1979 Chevrolet Corvette. He ran off the right side of the road, into a ditch and overturned.

Bolding was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

Tfc. L. Rosage investigated. Derron L. Pinckney, 20, Bel Air, was traveling on the State Park Road on December 13 when he lost control, went off to the right side and struck a culvert.

Pinckney was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released. Tfc. R.M. Hershberger investigated the accident.

equipped vehicle during the coming budget year."

In an official response last May, the governor was unable to guarantee such an allocation. Bambacus reminded him that the need to assure a more expeditious response in the event of a chemical spill or hazardous materials incident has not diminished. "In fact," he said, "there was another occurrence of a spill in LaVale earlier this week. Again, local officials had to wait several hours for a team from Baltimore to respond."

Sen. Bambacus asked that the budget for FY 1988 is finalized and prepared for presentation to the General Assembly, "that every possible consideration be given to the needs of the citizens and firefighters in the Western Maryland region. Highway safety is a matter of vital concern in this mountainous region, and the potential for a life-threatening incident is ever present."

Cline contends that since that time the defendants in the present suit continue to subject him to "constant" harassment, public humiliation, loss of employment, arrest, court appearances without legal assistance and denial to the right of a trial by jury in both Circuit and District courts."

He further stated that he has to appeal on his own behalf and that the defendants "willfully and without morals and regards to human life, safety and welfare have deliberately threatened against him incarceration for failure to pay a debt." He claims he has made efforts to pay those debts.

Cline believes his constitutional rights were violated because he was denied his right to a trial by jury and that he was threatened with incarceration for failure to pay a debt.

The case involves child support payments which Cline states he was unable to pay at certain times because of being "permanently disabled." He said that he was forced to work regardless of his disability which further aggravated his physical ailments. He claims that he was told he would be incarcerated if he did not pay the back child support of over $1,500. He further stated that he made numerous telephone calls to the Department of Social Services and the State's Attorney's office to seek relief from his indebtedness. He claimed that he was asked to leave the State's Attorney's Office by Investigator William Ferry through the direction of State's Attorney James Sherbin and witnessed by Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell.

Cline is seeking a jury trial in the case.

During the November 13 meeting, the Advisory Board reviewed the rewritten goals and objectives of the draft management plan, with suggestions and comments made on goals one through five. It was agreed to continue the review of objectives at the next meeting.

An issue was brought to the board's attention by Phillip Kirk, of Mon-Valley Coal and Lumber, who commented on the potential for compensation of mineral rights relative to the prohibition of strip mining.

Present at the meeting were: members; Melvin R. Dunithan, John E. Hinebaugh, Dr. Deborah Pepper, Shaun Sanders, Donald P. Sebold, Robert Thomas, Rusty Thomas; DNR representatives; Hugh B. Trimble, Marsha Healy; visitors; Al Feldstein, Patrick E. Healy, and Phillip Kirk.

Be watching for our grand opening.

REACHING HIGH ABOVE THEIR OPPONENTS all evening long were the Garrett Community College Lakers, who crushed Penn State Fayette Monday evening, 99-61, on the Pennsylvanians' floor. It was the seventh win of the campaign against two defeats for Coach Dennis Gibson's squad. Above left,

No. 20 Terry Carter and No. 22 Jim Feagins out-reach their Fayette opponents for a rebound, while at right Sean Hazel goes up for two. Feagins and Carter led the Lakers with 22 and 21 points, respectively. Also identifiable in the photos for the Lakers are No. 10 Brian Temple and No. 44 William Scales. The Lakers will host their annual Christmas Classic this weekend.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Grace E. Hinebaugh, who departed this life December 26, 1985. God saw you growing tired, and the cure was not to be, so he put his loving arms around you and whispered "Come to Me." He took you during the Christmas season—just as he sent his Son. We know you are at peace and rest now, and your long days work are done.

Huskies Fall To 2-1 With Losses To Black Knights And Indians

The Northern varsity boys' basketball team saw its record drop to 1-3 this past week, as the Huskies were topped by Valley Friday night at the Cove, 58-48, and were edged Tuesday evening by undefeated Mt. Savage, 45-41, also on the Huskies' floor.

Coach Harv Speicher's squad was down 20-11 at the end of the first quarter against the Black Knights, but closed the gap to 33-29 by halftime. The Huskies fell behind 48-34 by the end of the third period, however they fought back once again in the fourth stanza to within four points. They could get no closer, though, and the Knights recorded their first win in two starts.

Valley's John Smith led all scorers with 18 points, as he hit five field goals and connected on all eight of his free throw opportunities. Frank Garlitz and Chris Winner netted 12 and 10 points, respectively, for Valley. Pacing the Huskies' offensive effort were Aaron Zumpano, who finished with 14 points, and John Brobst, who hit 13.

The Northern jayvee team also went down to defeat in the preliminary contest, 45-22.

Although Northern's Mike Robeson led all scorers Tuesday night against Mt. Savage as he netted 18 points on nine buckets, it was not enough to halt a fourth quarter rally by the Indians, who won their fourth straight game of the season.

The Huskies took an early lead and remained on top until midway through the final stanza. The score was 12-7, 25-17, and 33-29 at the quarters.

The Indians knotted the score for the first time with just 4:30 remaining in the game and then took the lead at the four-minute mark on a basket by John Lohnas.

Brobst tied the score again at 41 apiece by sinking a pair of free throws at the 1:30 mark, but Lohnas responded with a basket with one minute remaining to give the Indians the lead for good.

The Huskies' next shot which would have tied the score again at 43 was no good. Rocky Reed was then fouled with just one second left in the game and he made both of his free throws to give the Indians their four-point win.

Lohnas led the winners with 14 points, while Reed finished with 12. Robeson was the only Husky to reach double figures.

Both teams netted 19 buckets, but Mt. Savage made good on seven of nine foul shot attempts, compared to a three-for-six effort by Northern.

The Northern jayvees were crushed 50-27 in the preliminary contest. David Yoder led the junior Huskies with 12 points, while Marlin Martin and Scott DeHaven hit 13 and 12 points, respectively, for the visitors.

The Huskies will return to action this Saturday at Allegany.

Rams Bounce Back With Wins Over Mountaineers And Sentinels

After a pair of opening season losses, the Southern High boys' varsity basketball team bounced back this week for two wins, the first one occurring Saturday evening at home against Beall in a thriller, 42-41, and the second taking place Tuesday night against Fort Hill, 53-40, also in Oakland. The win against the Sentinels avenged a loss to them the previous week.

It was a pair of foul shots by Bobby Bernard with just nine seconds remaining in the game that gave Southern the one-point victory over the Mountaineers. Bernard and Max Hill paced the Rams' scoring effort with 10 points each.

The Rams were down throughout the first half, 13-9 at the end of the first period and 25-21 at intermission, but came back to knot the score at 33 after three quarters of action. The lead exchanged hands a few times in the final stanza before Bernard's winning free throws. It was Beall's second loss in three outings.

Pacing the Mountaineers' scoring was Eric Patterson, who hit eight buckets and a pair of foul shots for a game-high 18 points.

Southern won the game from the foul line as they were out-gunned from the floor, 19-18. The Rams sunk six of ten free throws, while Beall netted only three of eight.

Southern Coach Oren Yoder noted that both teams shot poorly throughout most of the game, but both also played well defensively.

The Southern jayvees were defeated in the preliminary contest by their Beall counterparts. Richard Evick hit 16 for the junior Rams.

Southern's Jim Liller played the best game of his career at Southern in the win over the visiting Sentinels on Tuesday night, pouring in 23 points and grabbing nine rebounds.

The Rams had lost to Fort Hill, 63-53, just one week earlier.

After each team scored eight points in the first quarter, the Rams erupted for 22 points in the second stanza compared to 10 for the Sentinels, to give Southern a 30-18 advantage at halftime. The Rams held a commanding 49-32 lead after three quarters.

Liller's points were recorded on nine baskets and a five-for-five effort at the foul line, while teammate Max Hill contributed 10 points.

Robert Meeks was the only Sentinel to reach double figures, finishing with 12 points.

Fort Hill dropped to 2-3.

Yoder noted the strong game of Liller and also described J.R. Bosley's game from the point guard position as "super."

The Southern junior varsity was nipped in the preliminary game, 51-50, by an undefeated Fort Hill jayvee squad. Evick again led the Rams with a game-high 26 points.

Southern will travel to Valley on Tuesday evening.

Laker Women In Finals Of PG Tournament

It will be the Garrett Community College women against the Montgomery-Rockville women in the finals of the Prince George's Community College Tournament this afternoon at 3 p.m.

The Lakers earned a spot in the finals last night by whipping host Prince George's, 71-55. Montgomery-Rockville stopped Allegany Community College in the other first round contest, 58-44.

Gail Aldridge led the Laker offensive attack with 20 points on seven buckets and six of 11 free throws. She also had five assists, while teammates Sharon Taylor and Amy Berry added 15 and 14 points, respectively. Taylor also recorded five assists. Berry was credited with three steals, former Southern player Chris Gregory pulled down 13 rebounds, and Stephanie Burks grabbed 11.

Coach Ann Wellham's team, which picked up its second win in five games, held a 37-30 halftime advantage, but the Owls narrowed that gap to just one point, 50-49, with 10 minutes remaining in the game.

The Lakers regained the momentum, however, and reeled off eight unanswered points to put the game out of reach for the Owls.

Montgomery-Rockville is 4-1 on the season, while ACC dropped to 1-4.

Southern Girls

Edged By BW

The Southern High girls' varsity basketball team recorded its first loss of the season Monday night at home against Bishop Walsh, 48-45.

The 4-1 Lady Rams maintained the lead throughout most of the contest, holding a 9-4 advantage at the end of the first quarter, stretching it to 23-15 at halftime, and taking a 31-29 margin into the final quarter. However, behind the shooting of Kathleen Collett, who finished with 17 points, the Lady Spartans rallied in the fourth period for the win.

Katrina Ganoie added 14 points to the BW total, while Tracy Watson paced the Rams with 15 points and eight rebounds. Trisha Heatherman connected for 11 points.

Ram Grapplers Fall To Keyser

Southern High's varsity wrestling squad fell to 0-2 on the season Tuesday night, losing to host Keyser 46-17.

It was the first win in three starts for Keyser.

Earning pins for Southern were Steve Few in the 167-pound class and Scott Smith in the 185-pound class, while Todd Beahm earned a decision win in the 126-pound division. Randy Weasonforth, Robbie Snyder, and Darrell Tillman recorded pin victories for the Golden Tornado. Three of Keyser's wins were via forfeits.

The Rams will seek their first win of the season this evening at Valley in a tri-match against the Black Knights and East Preston.

Numerous Awards Given At Annual Jets Banquet

Numerous player, cheerleader, coach and parent awards were presented recently at the Jets Youth Football banquet held at Dennett Road Elementary School.

Head coach, Tom Ritchey, welcomed the group and the cheerleaders gave a welcome cheer and did their half-time routine.

MISS JET AND MR. JET — Kellie Durst and Tommy Ritchey, cheerleader and player for the Jets Youth Football Team were named "Miss Jet and Mr. Jet" at the annual awards banquet held recently. They were selected by a vote of the players and cheerleaders.

Jet coaches, Ritchey, Brian Sanders, Paul Harvey, Rich Skipper and Mole Alexander were presented with clocks by the team in appreciation of their efforts in leading the team to an undefeated season and the Youth League Championship this season.

The coaches then presented trophies to the following outstanding players: most valuable player, Tommy Ritchey; best offensive back, Richie DeWitt; best defensive back, Jason Rinker; defensive back, Jerry Welch; defensive lineman, B.J. Shaffer; offensive back, Shawn Ryan; offensive lineman, Robbie Colaw; most improved, Bobby Evans; most coachable, Mike Freyman; best first year player, Tim Ball, and "Mr. Hustle," Mark Paugh. Coach Sanders then presented his "awesome" defense, nicknamed "The Executioners," with plaques.

Included in the "Wild Bunch" were: Tommy Ritchey, Shawn Ryan, Garth Glatfely, Jerry Welch, Richie DeWitt and Mike Freyman. Members of "Fast and Furious" were: Jason Rinker, David Biser, Robbie Colaw, B.J. Shaffer, Matt Wilt and Tim Ball.

Every player was presented with a trophy for being a member of the undefeated team.

Cheerleader advisor, Peggy Cannon, then presented the following cheerleaders with trophies: Heather Savage, Kellie Durst, Amy Piper, Stephanie Piper, Tammy Rosenthal, Nancy Alvarez, Shelli Cannon, Amy Rice, Mandy Rush and Kerri Cannon.

The cheerleaders then presented awards to Mrs. Cannon, Linda Piper, Teresa Durst, Linda Ritchey and Cathy Alexander. Peggy Cannon also presented centerpieces to Teresa Durst, Linda Piper and Linda Ritchey for their support. Pam Ashby, reporter for The Republican Newspaper, although unable to attend was presented with a centerpiece for coverage and technical assistance.

A covered-dish dinner was followed by entertainment which included a skit by the team entitled "Here's Looking at You, Coach," and a skit by

WARDING OFF
THE COMMON COLD

It seems ironic. Science has overcome the ravages of infectious diseases such as smallpox, even bubonic plague, yet the common cold—that annoying, uncomfortable little illness—has managed to elude medical research for decades. But now, new hope is surfacing.

Findings are appearing on how a cold can be prevented in the first place and stopped from spreading. The answer is pretty simple, according to The Soap and Detergent Association. Practicing good personal hygiene is the key factor.

Recent medical research shows that colds are not spread by catching a chill or kissing a cold sufferer. Rather, the virus tends to spread through hand-to-hand contact, and that contact may be direct or indirect. Cold viruses can survive admirably for several hours on the hands, on hard dry surfaces and in cloth handkerchiefs. Live virus particles are transferred to the hands when a cold sufferer touches or blows his nose. The infected person may then touch a door knob, telephone, glass or any surface leaving the virus behind, which is picked up on the hands of the next person who touches that surface. That person, in turn, can easily infect himself by touching his nose or tear ducts in the inner corner of his eyes. If he touches his mouth instead, he is in better luck since cold germs do not survive in saliva, which explains why colds are not easily spread by kissing.

So, if someone in your workplace or home has a cold, try to avoid catching it yourself by taking the following measures:

*Wash your hands thoroughly and frequently with soap and water to remove any cold viruses and to prevent transmission. Use running water rather than water standing in the basin. Leave your rings on your fingers, so the bacteria from underneath them can also be flushed out. Wash your hands well for about 30 seconds. Rinse well and dry thoroughly.

*Washing hands often can help ward off cold germs. But it may not always be possible, so a concerted effort should be made to avoid touching the eyes and nose. This is particularly important when someone in the immediate vicinity has a cold and surfaces are shared.

*Use disposable tissues instead of cloth handkerchiefs. Cold germs can live for hours in cloth; they die relatively quickly in disposable tissues. After using a tissue, dispose of it immediately and wash your hands.

*If frequently touched hard surfaces are cleaned often, cold germs are not likely to flourish. Such objects as telephones, doorknobs, bathroom cups, dishes, utensils and counters should all be washed regularly with suds and water. A household disinfectant is also helpful. Follow these tips to help keep your family and yourself free of nasty cold germs.

To make candles burn more slowly and evenly, place them in the freezer several hours before using.

Catherine Daniels Chosen BPW's Young Careerist

Catherine Daniels, a personnel administrator at the First United National Bank and Trust, Oakland, was chosen as the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Young Careerist recently.

The first runner-up was Teresa Marie Field, a head nurse on the medical-surgical and pediatrics floor at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Ms. Daniels was selected by a panel of three judges at the BPW meeting held last Thursday at the Will O' the Wisp. Criteria for the judging included a personal interview, group interaction and a speech presentation.

The winner will now represent the local organization at the State level next spring.

In conjunction with the Young Career Woman Program, the local BPW group held their annual Christmas party, including a buffet dinner, entertainment and a "silent auction."

There were over 50 members and guests in attendance, including several members of the Grantsville BPW and state federation officers.

Wooden plaques, decorated by Alice Smith, Accident, were placed on the lawns of the winning homes.

Serving as judges this year were: William Carlson, Marie Coddington and Sharon Settle.

Southern GOP Women Meet For Holiday Luncheon

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club held its annual Christmas luncheon at the Starlite Restaurant, Oakland, on Friday.

Following lunch and a brief business meeting, a copy of the book A Walk Across America by Peter Jenkins was presented to Edith Brock of the Ruth Enlow Library by Ann Groves, chairman of the club's Mame Eisenhower Library Project.

Festivities of the day included a gift exchange and a 50/50 drawing, which was won by Verna Harvey.

The following members were in attendance: Sue Shockey, president; Norma Dankulich, vice president; Arzella Parsons, treasurer; Nancy Gregg, recording secretary; Ann Groves, corresponding secretary; Mary Alice Fries, Louise Bell, Nancy Helbig, Mary Helbig, Shirley McNair, Gertrude Aronhalt, Verna Harvey, Glenna DeWitt, Wilma Calhoun, Doris Groves, Lorena Smith, Vicki Berry and Ruth Umbel. Other guests included JoAnn Harsh, Connie Myers, Edith Brock, and Janet Paugh.

Sales Reps Qualify For Trip

Walter A. Campbell

Karen F. Spiker, president of Mountaineer Log and Siding Company, announced last week that two sales representatives have qualified for attendance at a sales seminar to be held in Hawaii.

The winners are Walter Allen Campbell and Robert Dettinburn. They were selected based upon a high level of sales volume along with displaying service to the customer.

Campbell resides in Friendsville with his wife, Janet, and their two daughters. He has been a sales manager with Mountaineer Log and Siding Co.

since 1985 and was the regional sales manager for the company prior to that.

Dettinburn joined Mountaineer in September of 1985 and "has produced consistently good results since that time," said Spiker. He resides on Crook's Crest in Oakland and is the father of two children.

Spiker noted that Mountaineer Log and Siding is the only log home manufacturer based in Maryland and sells and delivers log home packages throughout the east coast, using native West Virginia resources.

Area Agency On Aging To Conduct Alternative Housing Course In March

The Area Agency on Aging has announced it will offer a training course titled, "Alternative Housing for Senior Citizens" in March 1987. This course is for individuals who are 21 years old and older and have a residence which can be adapted to meet certification standards and county guidelines to house senior citizens.

Margo Van Diver, director of the Agency, stated that this course is offered in response to the growing population of senior citizens who are ambulatory, but may require some daily assistance with shopping, transportation, laundry, cooking and personal care.

The State of Maryland Office on Aging presently certifies homes whereby four or more unrelated individuals, 62 years and older, reside in a congregate setting. Garrett County now has two certified sheltered homes, one a private residence and the recently opened Truesdell Home for seniors, operated by the Area Agency on Aging. Both of these homes offer 24-hour care and meet state and county regulations, with the present capacity to serve 13 residents.

Because of the significance of this program, subsidies will soon be available for sheltered residents who qualify. Ms. Van Diver said, "This alternative housing program is important to the entire community and it has proven successful for residents, caregivers offering the service, and to the public taxpayers as well," she stated.

Rebecca Oldham, coordinator of Residential Care Services, said "This course is an important step in developing a more comprehensive county program. Many individuals have large homes and wonder how to put these and their homemaking talents to good use. Others have family members who need employment and could work well as alternative caregivers. Sheltered housing provides a fine opportunity for the family to work together."

"Determining factors for caregivers are excellent physical and mental health, good homemaking and managerial abilities, common sense and compassion," she said.

Observes 35th

An open house to be held on Sunday, December 28, from 2 until 4 p.m. in the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building will honor Tom and Lois Adams of Aurora for their 35th wedding anniversary. They were married December 22, 1951, and are the parents of one son, John, who along with his wife, Jeanette, invite everyone to attend this event.

Mountaineers Meet

At the December 8 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club, opening devotions were by the Recreation Committee—Melissa Evans, John Utterback, Natalie Snyder and Kevin Corbin. Following the 4-H Pledge, Christmas carols were led by Stephanie Evans and the Music Committee.

Vice president Julie Lewis conducted the business session during which donations of $25 to the Preston County 4-H Foundation and $15 to the IFVE program were authorized. Elaine Roth pinned new members Shannon Fike and Patty Mullenax and presented a perfect attendance pin to Donna Mullenax, all of whom were absent at the Achievement program. Completed energy audits were collected and those not yet complete need to be in by the end of the month.

Recreation followed with Bingo being the main attraction and pizza party at the conclusion of the meeting. An executive meeting was also held by leaders and officers.

Attending were David Baker, Tonya Beckman, Brian and Kevin Corbin, Andrea Delaney, Melissa and Stephanie Evans, Jeremiah Feather, Shannon Fike, Julie and Emily Lewis, Billy and Danny Moore, Donna and Patty Mullenax, Debra and Donald Rinehart, Tammy Slau- baugh, Natalie Snyder, Aaron and Kevin Teets, Nathan and Nicky Teets, John, Mark and Matt Utterback and leaders, Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth. Parents present were Jean Rinehart, Ardis Teets, Sue Corbin, Carolyn Mullenax and Diane Evans.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Gladys Corbin, 91, of Kempton died December 12 and funeral services were held from Hinkle Funeral Home in Davis on Monday, December 15. She is the mother of Milnor "Putt" Corbin of Horse Shoe Run and grandmother of Rick Corbin, Eglon.

Herman Beckman of Mt. Lake Park, returned last week to his home but has been readmitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Russell Z. Feather of Aurora, returned last week to his home from Preston Memorial Hospital and continues his recuperation from recent surgery.

The body of Pearl (Mrs. Frank) Parks of Vindex, was brought Sunday, December 14, to Eglon for burial.

Visiting Sunday evening in Eglon with Mrs. Mildred Wilt was her grandson and his family, Eugene, and Linda Wilt and their sons of Rowlesburg.

Sunday evening guests of Mrs. Lectie Bonner at her home in Eglon were her grandsons, Bobby and Donna Teter, of Oakland and David and Maggie Teter and family of Mt. Lake Park.

The latest report from Martha Copeman is that she is very slowly improving and receiving therapy at the Harmerville Rehabilitation Center, Room 221, Guys Run Road, Box 11460, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15238.

FSC Schedules Commencement For Saturday

Frostburg State College will conduct its 89th Commencement ceremonies this Saturday, December 20, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at the Physical Education Center. Over 300 degrees will be conferred at the mid-year event.

For the first time, the ceremonies will include not one but three commencement addresses. The addresses will be delivered after the processional by the Commencement Ensemble, the National Anthem sung by graduating senior Kimberly D. Correll, and an invocation by Rev. Lawrence A. Newmark of the United Campus Ministry.

Speakers will include Mrs. Ann Hull, vice chairman of the Board of Trustees of the State Universities and Colleges; Christopher B. Ogden, graduating senior and President Herb F. Reinhard, Jr.

Mrs. Hull is vice chairman of the board and until 1978, she served as a Prince Georges County delegate to the Maryland General Assembly. She holds a B.A. degree from the University of Washington and an M.A. degree from Syracuse University.

Mr. Ogden, who will be granted a bachelor of science degree, summa cum laude, in biology, reclamation and earth science, is a Frostburg native who plans to pursue advanced studies in environmental toxicology. He has served as president of Gamma Theta Upsilon and is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Beta Beta Beta honorary societies.

President Reinhard, who assumed Frostburg State College's presidency in July 1986, has devoted most of his adult life to public higher education, including the presidency of Slippery Rock (Pa.) University and Morehead (Kentucky) State University. Dr. Reinhard chairs the Committee on Governance of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and was a member from both Division I and II of the new 44-member President's Commission of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

He received his bachelor's degrees in psychology from Florida State University and the doctorate in higher education, business and public administration from Indiana University.

The college's three academic deans, Dr. Ron Kealy, Dr. Don Smith and Dr. James Cotton will present the candidates for degrees which will be conferred by President Reinhard. Honor graduates will be recognized by Dr. Kenneth Jablon, vice president for Academic Affairs.

Hughes Declares December 26 "State Holiday"

Governor Harry Hughes announced this week that he has declared December 26, 1986, as a holiday for State employees.

"Many workers in the private sector will not have to report on the Friday after Christmas," he said. "This declaration gives Maryland's dedicated State employees an opportunity to spend more time with their families during this important holiday."

The Governor said December 26, 1986, will be covered by the same rules and regulations as other State holidays.

In addition to Friday, December 25, being the day after Christmas, this year it marks the beginning of the celebration of the festival of Hanukkah by Maryland's Jewish citizens.

"Many employees would have used annual leave to be able to celebrate this holiday more fully," the Governor said. "Not having to report this one day is an appropriate way to show our appreciation for the crucial work done by public employees every day of the year," he added.

Alcohol; A Threat To Women During The Holidays And All Year Round

More than ever before, this year's season's greetings from the alcohol industry are heavily targeted to female drinkers.

"The holidays mean big sales in wine, beer, and hard liquor," says Jean Kilbourne, a member of the board of directors of the National Council on Alcoholism. "And this year, the alcohol industry is doing everything possible to ensure that women contribute to those critical seasonal sales."

With the per capita consumption of alcohol slowly dropping in the United States, manufacturers have increasingly focused on women—who typically drink less than men and represent a lucrative, but largely untapped market, says

Kilbourne.

To appeal to women, Kilbourne charges that the industry is heavily promoting wine coolers, specially sweetened liquors, and even beer sold in slender, designer-like bottles.

What the industry isn't advertising, however, is that alcohol appears to pose a unique and serious set of health risks to women.

"For many years it was assumed that alcohol affected men and women in precisely the same manner," says Mark Kantor, a nutritionist with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service. "But growing evidence now suggests that alcohol may pose a more serious health threat to women than to men."

According to the American Medical Association, a woman who matches drinks with a man will become more intoxicated by the alcohol she consumes—even if she and her male drinking partner are exactly the same height and body weight.

Why? Because men have proportionately less fat and more muscle tissue than women. And muscle tissue is high in body fluid. In fact, about 75 percent of muscle tissue is water—water that can dilute alcohol and counteract its inebriating effects, says

4-H ACHIEVERS RECOGNIZED — Many 4-H clubs in the county hold achievement dinners or special programs each year to recognize members and leaders who have given their time and talent to the club and its members, and by doing so, achieved their own goals for the year. On Monday night, December 8, such an achievement program was held by The Yough Valley Indians 4-H Club in Friendsville. Pictured above, left to right, are: Organizational Leader Jack Teets, who received a leader's recognition award; Organizational Leader Pat Bowser; Jennifer Lininger, membership pin; Peggy Bowser, fair participation award, membership pin, and past officer pin; Danielle Rodeheaver, membership pin; Jeff Lowdermilk, large animal trophy for fair participation, membership pin, and past officer pin; Rebecca Meyers, large animal trophy for fair participation, membership pin, and past officer pin; Billy Nedrow, membership pin and past officer pin; Barbie Umbel, membership pin, fair participation award, and past officer pin; Daun Umbel, membership pin and fair participation award; and Tammy Wakefield, membership pin, and fair participation pin. Those receiving fair participation awards, but not pictured, were: Tonya Friend and Scott Sines. Also receiving a past officer pin was Regina VanSickle. The club meets in the Friendsville Fire Hall and an appreciation certificate from the club to the fire department was accepted by Fire Department President Rodney Bowser. Officers for 1987 were elected by club members. Pictured below, left to right, those new officers are: Barbie Umbel, song/recreation leader; Tammy Wakefield, vice president; Peggy Bowser, secretary/reporter; Rebecca Meyers, president; Billy Nedrow, treasurer; and Daun Umbel, photographer. Billy Nedrow was also recognized as The Yough Valley Indians' 4-H'er of the Year.

Kantor.

Mounting evidence also suggests that alcoholism develops more rapidly in women than in men and that women are more susceptible to the major medical complications of the disease.

"There appears to be a sexual vulnerability among women to major organ damage," says Shirley Y. Hill, faculty member at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

"For example, it is well documented that women develop cirrhosis of the liver at lower levels of drinking and after shorter histories of drinking than men."

Compared to their male counterparts, alcoholic women are approximately four times more likely to die from circulatory disorders, two times more likely to die from digestive complications, and almost three times are likely to die from cirrhosis, Hill reports. Precisely why alcohol's toll is greater for women is still largely speculative.

Finally, pregnant women who abuse alcohol—or even drink moderately—may be risking more than their own health.

Because alcohol readily passes through the placenta to the fetus, pregnant women literally drink for two, the experts warn.

Says the University of Maryland's Kantor: "The pregnant woman who seriously abuses alcohol is at risk of delivering a baby with fetal alcohol syndrome—a cluster of severe birth defects that can include intellectual impairment and hyperactive behavior."

In addition, moderate drinking by pregnant women has been linked to miscarriages, stillbirths, and infants born with low birth weights. Even as few as two drinks a week throughout pregnancy may result in behavioral problems in infants, according to a recent study at Emory University.

Consequently, says Kantor, many physicians are now recommending that women abstain completely from alcohol from the moment they first try to conceive until they finish nursing—regardless of holiday socializing.

Fall Wild Turkey Hunters Enjoy Successful Season

Despite poor weather, fall turkey hunters bagged a record 243 birds, topping last year's take of 183. The turkey harvest in Garrett County was 88 birds this year, compared to 78 last year. In Allegany County, 132 birds were taken this year and 99 in 1985. Washington County hunters bagged 23 birds this year, after getting only six turkeys in 1985.

The fall turkey season is traditionally restricted to a few days in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties. Because birds of either sex can be taken during the fall season, its impact on turkey populations can be greater than the spring season, which is limited to taking bearded turkeys.

According to the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Maryland's turkey population is on the increase, thanks to two years of good reproduction, habitat management programs, and the wild turkey trap and transplant program. Under the trap and transplant program, turkeys have been released in good turkey habitat in Calvert, St. Mary's, Worcester, Dorchester, Somerset, Kent and Queen Anne's counties.

FAMILY OF THE YEAR — Each Garrett County 4-H Club has the option of naming a Family of the Year. A competition will then be held for the county title, and the winning county family will then compete on the state level. The family chosen to represent The Yough Valley Indians was the Meyers family. Pictured, left to right, they are: Rebecca, a four-year club member; her mother, JoAnn; and her father, Larry. The family owns a beef and sheep farm near Friendsville. Rebecca has been active in her 4-H club, serving as president the last two years, and has also been active in school and community events. The county Family of the Year will be chosen in March. All clubs are encouraged to nominate the family of their choice.

The adventures of orphan Annie (Aileen Quinn) and her canine companion Sandy are told when the film version of "Annie" is rebroadcast Sunday, Dec. 21 on NBC.

'GH' played romantic music for fan's ears

By Kimberly Redmond

Several months back I noticed "General Hospital" always featured a certain song in the background whenever Frisco and Felicia Jones, played by Jack Wagner and Kristina Maldonado, had a romantic scene. Can you tell me the name of that song? — K.G., El Paso, Texas.

Jack Wagner

There have been several songs used in the past, but "Lady of My Heart," which was recorded by Wagner on his album "All I Need," is the one that's frequently used on the show.

I think that Kim Zimmer, who plays Reva Lewis on "Guiding Light," is not only beautiful, but a great actress. Can you tell me something about her? I'd also like to know if she has a fan club. — S.W., Temple, GA.

Zimmer began her professional career by appearing in repertory productions such as "Cabaret" and "Oklahoma." She has been seen in off-Broadway productions and had a featured role in the hit film "Body Heat." Zimmer's soap opera career started with a short-term role as a terrorist on "One Life to Live." She went on to spend three years on "The Doctors" as Nola Aldrich and later returned to "GLT" as Echo DiSavoy. Zimmer was cast as Reva on "GL" just a few months after her second go-around on "GLT." She won a Best Actress Emmy in 1984-85 for her portrayal of Reva. She's had an active interest in music and still performs her nightclub act whenever time permits. Married to actor A.C. Weary, they have a daughter, Rachel, and another heir due in March. To my knowledge Zimmer has no fan club, but you can write to her c/o "GL," CBS-TV, 51 W. 52nd St., New York, NY, 10019.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

Michael Nader says manners matter

By Ian Harmer

HOLLYWOOD — Actor Michael Nader recalls the night when he was sitting in a restaurant enjoying a private meal when another patron walked over to him, pulled the food away from his mouth, and demanded an on-the-spot autograph. He doesn't expect a fear to be shed for the indignities suffered by a highly paid actor in Hollywood, but he tells the story as an apology for celebrities who have developed a reputation for public rudeness.

Michael Nader

Nader jokes that as a regular on "Dynasty," he has "a high profile visually if not creatively," and admits that there are times when he wishes his face wasn't familiar to every supersoap fan in the world. Says Nader: "There's no excuse for bad manners, and I think that fact applies just as much to the public as it does to the people they recognize from TV and the movies. I hate to hear about young actors who make it a habit to be rude to anyone who approaches them, because I think that's wrong — but on the other hand, I know a little about provocation!"

"Dynasty" is at present in the throes of a ratings slide that may or may not prove to be permanent — but either way, Nader expects to be around a lot longer than the Carrington saga.

"I'll stick with the show as long as they want me, and I think Joan Collins and I work very well together. But there are times when I wish I had more to say for myself than a couple of lines in an episode," admits Nader.

I'm pretty confident that if I had a show of my own and had to work 16 hours a day, I'd count myself lucky and keep smiling. But until it comes along, I'm happy where I am. As an actor, I'd like to be doing something more creatively satisfying than "Dynasty," but there's plenty of time for that. I'm certainly not ashamed of the show. It seems to me that when you can consistently entertain tens of millions of people every week, you don't have to make excuses.

"Everyone's ideal is to be in a show which is both a critical and a popular success, and I don't understand why anyone in that position would be angry with the public that made it all possible. But then, I wasn't tending a bar in New Jersey yesterday and worth $5 million today. I've been working on my craft for a good number of years, and I know better than that!"

George C. Scott stars as Ebenezer Scrooge in Charles Dickens' holiday classic "A Christmas Carol," to be rebroadcast Tuesday, Dec. 23 on CBS.

Gift books that really rock

By Marianne Meyer

Still haven't checked off all the music fans on your holiday gift list? For a different kind of visual stimulation, maybe your favorite video-rocker would like to open one of these recently published books.

"I, Tina" by Tina Turner with Kurt Loder (William Morrow). The private dancer goes public with her autobiography, aided by Loder, the Rolling Stone reporter. Turner, a farmer's daughter from Tennessee, overcame a rotten marriage and financial ruin to become rock's most charismatic female performer. This first-person account, with stories from Ike, Mick Jagger and others, is a lot like the lady herself — a class act.

"Skywriting by Word of Mouth" by John Lennon (Harper and Row). Anyone who has read "A Spaniard in the Works" or "In His Own Write" knows that the literary Beatle "well deserved that title. Lennon's unique worldview emerges once again in a collection sure to delight any Beatles fan.

"True Stories" by David Byrne (Penguin). This behind-the-scenes look at the making of the "True Stories" movie is not just a souvenir program. In addition to the complete screenplay, it contains the tabloid tales that inspired the film, on-set photos, and more of Byrne's dry insights. According to Byrne, it's "a book for people who usually like to watch TV. And for people who don't."

"Springsteen: Blinded by the Light" by Patrick Humphries and Chris Hunt. The first part of the book is your standard Bruce bio, an introduction for fanatics who need to catch up on the man's life. But the second part, "The Bruce Files," is what makes this volume a must-have for even the best-informed Springsteen followers. The files include full discographies for Bruce, his band and the bootlegs, as well as a collector's cornucopia of great newsclips and photos.

"The Harmony Illustrated Encyclopedia of Rock" by Mike Clifford (Harmony-Crown). Perhaps the perfect pop reference tool, this generously illustrated volume has over 800 biographical entries, 650 color photos and 14 of Pete Frame's fascinating "rock family trees." Packed with facts and juicy tidbits, you don't have to be a rock critic to enjoy this one, although my copy is getting quite dog-eared. Santa, are you listening?

Conductor John Williams and the Boston Pops Orchestra are joined by the Vienna Choir Boys and the Tanglewood Festival Chorus in "A Christmas at Pops." It airs Monday, Dec. 22 on PBS. (Check local listings.)

Walk of fame's Russian roulette

Christmas specials highlight the week

By Wendy Wallace

'Twas some nights before Christmas and all through the house, not a creature was stirring except for Santa Claus gathering his bag of holiday goodies. So he asks that you sit back, relax and enjoy what he has in store for viewing this week.

Art Carney and Jaclyn Smith

Singer Amy Grant takes guest stars Kaleena Kiki, Art Garfunkel, Ed Begley Jr., Jimmy Webb and Dennis Weaver to Montana's Big Sky country in Amy Grant's "Headin' Home for the Holidays" (NBC, Dec. 21). In her first special, Grant combines traditional Christmas music with her own distinctive gospel hits and joins Garfunkel to sing portions of a new Christmas cantata.

In "The Christmas Gift" (CBS, Dec. 21), a recently widowed father (John Denver) and his young daughter (Gonnie James) discover the people of a small Colorado town hold a fervent belief in Santa Claus and fall under the town's mystical spell. Faced with a personal crisis, his one act of goodness, can save the town. Loretta Young returns in her first television role in 23 years. In "Christmas Eve" (NBC, Dec. 22) she plays the lovable and wealthy eccentric Amanda Kingsley, who, besides feeding the homeless and unfortunate, goes to great lengths to bring her own scattered family together for one last Christmas. Trevor Howard, Arthur Hill, Ron Leibman, Patrick Cassidy and Season Hubley co-star.

The stingy Ebenezer Scrooge (George C. Scott) returns in Charles Dickens' classic holiday tale "A Christmas Carol" (CBS, Dec. 23). Hating the joyous Christmas season, Scrooge gets a visit from three spirits — the Ghosts of Christmas Past, Christmas Present and Christmas Yet to Come — who take him on an unbelievable trip that includes glimpses of friends, family, strangers and his ultimate doom. The trip ultimately succeeds in opening Scrooge's eyes, his heart and his wallet. Art Carney stars as a 20th century Santa Claus and Jaclyn Smith is a woman who tries to stop her husband from blowing up the North Pole in his quest for oil. In "The Night They Saved Christmas" (ABC, Dec. 24).

And airing Christmas Day on CBS is "The Gift of Love: A Christmas Story." Lee Remick plays Janet Broderick, a woman shattered by the concurrent loss of her mother (Angela Lansbury) and the failure of her husband's once-thriving business. Through her dreams, Broderick recalls the good times they shared, which help pull her through her sense of self-pity and doom.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Toni D'Amato

We've enjoyed Johnny Cash and other country singers in their Christmas specials. We like seeing Loretta Lynn in TV commercials and were wondering if there is any chance of her doing a Christmas special. What is she working on? Where can we write to her? — R.D., Eastchester, N.Y.

Loretta Lynn

The Queen of Country Music, Lynn has a special Christmas planned this year for TV viewers and American GIs. She's doing a 21-day USO holiday concert tour that will bring her to Korea, Japan and the Philippines. This is her second such tour. Her first was in 1983, one month after the Beirut bombing, which killed hundreds of American servicemen.

"They'd been trying to get me to do it (a USO tour) for a long time," she says. "When I finally did the first one I knew it was very important because no one knows how much these boys are doing for our country."

Consuelo Mack means business

By Frank Lovece

Business-news broadcaster Consuelo Mack is not a woman in a man's world — she's a human in the financial world. And it's a world that's getting more human all the time.

Consuelo Mack

"The days of the old, conservative, impenetrable Wall Street brokerage houses are long gone," says Mack, who is currently anchor and executive editor of the syndicated "Today's Business." She was previously an executive at the Wall Street firms Merrill Lynch, Wood, Walker and Mitchell Hutchins. "It's a wide-open environment now with tremendous opportunity," she claims. "If you're good, you'll succeed — man or woman."

That the 36-year-old Mack succeeded as a portfolio manager and stock analyst is clear. But with brothers and a grandfather in the journalism trade, and with a college background not in business or finance but in English literature, history and political science, she wanted to do more than make millions on the stock exchange.

"One of the things I enjoyed most at Merrill Lynch was the meetings we'd have every morning to discuss the state of the world — political events, social trends, the climate the big picture. But I was restless just the same, so I decided to go with my instincts and make a career switch to journalism."

The change came gradually. In 1981, working by day and taking college classes at night, Mack met an executive for the over-the-air pay-TV service WHT. The executive needed a part-time market commentator, and Mack fit the bill.

She was eventually named co-producer of WHT's "Wall Street Perspective" and, later, of its "Stock Market Today." Mack went on to serve as anchor and news editor of ESP's "Business Times" and as a contributor to the "Today" show. Although Mack is the only woman in the upper echelons of "Today's Business," she says, "more than 50 percent of the staff are women, including several on-air reporters."

That fact will, she hopes, keep "Today's Business" interesting to a wide audience of men and women. "Women are very much involved in business and in taking charge of their financial lives," she notes. "Almost half the people getting MBAs today are women. Believe me, they're interested in business news."

SUNDAY

John Denver makes a rare acting appearance in "The Christmas Gift," a CBS special airing Sunday, Dec. 21. Jane Kazmarek also stars.

THURSDAY

Angela Lansbury (l.) and Lee Remick star as mother and daughter in "The Gift of Love: A Christmas Story." It airs Thursday, Dec. 25 on CBS. (Rebroadcast)

THE HOPE OF A HOME

It takes a heap o' livin' to make a house a home!

Paul and Dee don't agree. They are counting on this—their dreamhouse—to be a home the day they move in.

And who's to argue. Surely it's the quality and not the quantity of living that makes a house a home. A Bible that is read, prayers that are said, thoughts that comfort and inspire, smiles that encourage and forgive—these bring brightness and warmth no hearth can provide.

Nearby there's a church in whose life and friendships Paul and Dee will find growing faith and enrichment. Sunday after Sunday they (and soon their family) will bring its glow home with them.

God bless you, Paul and Dee—and millions like you who turn houses into homes.

MADE LIKE US
December 21, 1986

Background Scripture: Luke 2:1-20; John 1:14-18; Galatians 4:4-7; Hebrews 2:14-18.
Devotional Reading: Hebrews 4:14-16.

There are two births we celebrate at Christmas. And one is incomplete without the other. The first of these is the obvious one:

Veiled in flesh the Godhead see;

Hail the incarnate Deity

Christmas is a celebration, not that Jesus was born in Bethlehem, but that in the birth of Jesus God became incarnate—the "Wholly Other" became enfleshed in human form. So, Christmas tells us who God is, that is, of course, so far as it is possible for human beings to understand who and what He is. The writer of John's Gospel says, "No one has ever seen God; the only Son... has made him known" (John 1:18).

The Incarnation was not just a spectacular divine demonstration to amaze and amuse his children, but the supreme act by which God reveals himself to us. The writer of the Letter to the Hebrews says, "In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets; but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son... He reflects the glory of God and bears the very stamp of his nature..." (Hebrews 1:1-3).

Goldstein Gives Recommendations On Tax Reform

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has released his final report and recommendations concerning the so-called "windfall" in state revenue resulting from the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986. The comptroller recommended tax relief amounting to approximately $157.3 million on Tax Year 1987 individual and corporation income tax returns and estimated tax payments.

"The $166.7 million in state corporation and individual income tax revenue expected in fiscal year 1988 as a result of federal changes should be used

"WHAT MAKES LOVE GROW," was just one of the selections the children at Salem Children's Trust, above, sang at the dedication of their new house on Meadow Mountain Farm. They also presented those attending the dedication with a recorder ensemble; a flute solo, "O Christmas Tree," by Tina Forney; and Debi Salmon singing "Great is Our Faithfulness," accompanied by Sean Keeseecker on the trumpet. Pictured in the front row below, left to right, are: Mrs. Ursula Mueller and Dr. Gottfried Mueller, of Salem in Germany who visited the United States and Meadow Mountain Farm specifically for the dedication; Louise Sufermeister, executive director of Salem Children's Trust; and Harry Kriemelmeyer Jr., president of the German Orphans' Home Foundation, who presented Salem Children's Trust with a grant to help finish the house. In the back row, same order, are: Pastor J. Richard Greene, of God's Ark of Safety in Frostburg; and Byron Christenson, the German Orphans' Home Foundation; and Byron Christenson, the German children and will replace the 150 year old farmhouse which has served the Children's Trust for the last seven years.

in a fiscally responsible manner to provide a measure of tax relief to Maryland taxpayers," Goldstein said. "I believe the General Assembly should enact a 5% tax credit on individual income tax returns for the 1987 tax year. Those returns will be filed between January and April 15, 1988.

"I further believe a 5% tax credit should be enacted for corporation income tax returns for the 1987 tax year," he said. Under the proposal, individuals would benefit from $106.4 million in tax credits, while corporations would benefit from $13.5 million in credits. An additional $37.4 million in estimated tax payments would not be received in fiscal year 1988. These estimated payments are usually based on prior year's tax liability.

Goldstein noted that the one year tax credits would apply to the state tax liability only and not against the local income tax.

"One major factor in recommending a temporary tax credit is that the impact of federal tax reform on local governments is still being analyzed. Any permanent state tax reform measures should not be enacted until all information is available and we have at least one year's experience to determine the actual impact of federal laws on state income tax returns," he said.

Goldstein stated that he would continue to monitor the impact of the Tax Reform Act as its provisions are implemented. "We will advise the Governor and the Legislature if it appears that changes to revenue estimates are needed," he said.

Goldstein said he is recommending that long term changes to Maryland's income tax law should not focus on decoupling from advantageous provisions of federal law. "Instead, I am recommending that if revenue increases continue to result from the Federal Tax Reform Act as we gain more experience with its impact, the legislature do the following:

1. Increase the current $800 personal exemption.
2. Make the standard deduction a flat amount and increase it above the current 1.3% of adjusted gross income and current maximum of $1,500 for an individual and $3,000 for a married couple.
3. Reinstatement of the extra exemption for taxpayers 65 and over.
4. Reinstatement of the extra exemption for blind taxpayers.

5. Reinstatement of the exemption for dependent taxpayers, who are claimed on someone else's return.

6. Reduce the corporation income tax rate to bring it more nearly in line with neighboring jurisdictions.

"These recommendations would have the effect of making Maryland's income tax more progressive without significant decoupling from advantageous provisions of federal law," he said.

Goldstein noted that he had appointed a blue ribbon task force chaired by Harold L. Ashby of Coopers & Lybrand to help analyze the effect of the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst

DIRECTOR

IMPORTANCE OF PLANNING

Often one works for a lifetime, makes countless sacrifices, and does a great deal of planning in order to provide financial security for one's heirs. On the other hand, often too little time and thought is spent on other considerations involving one's survivors.

What should be done in the event of one's death is of primary importance. It is a difficult enough time for spouse and close relatives without having to make decisions regarding your wishes—particularly if these have never been expressed. Discuss the subject openly and, better yet, include your wishes in written form (called letter of instruction).

Plan ahead concerning other matters. Should the survivor stay where he or she is and live alone? Would it be better to move in with grown children, another relative, a friend, a retirement community? Unless this type of question is explored and answered, one has not fully provided for one's survivors.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Airman Chris A. Davy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Didawick of Mount Storm, W.Va., has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft maintenance course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

During the course, students were taught aircraft maintenance fundamentals to repair and service one and two-engine jet aircraft. Maintenance management and documentation was also taught to assess aircraft readiness capability.

Graduates of the course earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Army Reserve Private Rusty L. Lucas, son of Russell D. Lucas of 57220 Township Highway 101, Alledonia, Ohio, and Darlene A. Lucas, Route 2, Red House, has completed basic training at Fort Sill, Okla.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Terry Lee Fike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fike, Deep Creek Lake, recently completed basic training in the United States Navy at Orlando, Fla.

He is presently stationed in Meridian, Miss. preparing for ship servicing.

Fike is a 1986 graduate of Southern High School.

Army Private 1st Class Cheryl L. Wotring, daughter of Gary and Mary E. Wotring, Route 3, Oakland, has completed training as an Army military police specialist under the one station unit training (OSUT) program at Fort McClellan, Ala.

OSUT is a 13-week period which combines basic training with advanced individual training.

Students were trained in civil and military law, traffic control, map reading and self-defense.

Energy Assistance Advice Given To PE Customers

Potomac Edison customers who have trouble paying their electric bills this winter can take advantage of several available energy assistance programs, according to a PE spokesman.

"Any of our approximately 250,000 residential customers throughout portions of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia who think they may be eligible for assistance can contact the local agencies administering the programs of Potomac Edison to apply," says Jo Mullendore, supervisor of residential activities for the utility.

Weatherization, energy and emergency energy assistance programs are available to Garrett County customers through the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. (334-2151).

Maryland customers who qualify for energy assistance administered by community and local agencies are also eligible to participate in the Winter Heating Protection Program (WHPP), Mullendore said. This program helps low-income customers avoid service disconnection during the heating season (Nov. 1 to March 31) by allowing them to pay only a portion of back bills and part of their current bill.

In addition, she said, Potomac Edison provides funds for weatherization materials to be permanently installed in homes of electric heat customers meeting state low-income energy assistance guidelines. Through PE's Weatherization Residential Assistance Program (WRAP), up to $500 per household will be contributed toward the installation of weatherization items in homes of qualified customers. Customers will also receive a free home energy analysis to determine the types of weatherization needed, plus a water heater insulation jacket, electrical outlet draft seals, door sweeps and low-flow shower heads.

Other assistance programs available through Potomac Edison include:

•Average Payment Plan—levels out higher and

Christmas Eve Services Noted At St. Mark's

Christmas Eve services at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, have been scheduled, according to a release from Pastor Ray Ursin.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 p.m. During that service, vocal solos will be presented by Marcette Danner and James Chisholm.

The traditional candlelight service will be held at 11 p.m. where special vocal music will be provided by the adult choir. Kathryn Sincell and Amy Piper will present vocal solos.

Organ music will precede each service. Pastor Ursin noted that the public is invited to attend both services.

Among Who's Who

Brad Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer R. Yoder, Route 1, Accident, has been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for 1986-87.

Yoder, a graduate of Northern High School, is a student at Roanoke College, a co-educational, liberal arts and sciences college with an enrollment of 1300.

NHS Activity Committee Formed

Carrie House, daughter of Floyd and Carol Platter and Steve and Gayle House of Grantsville, is a junior. Her school honors include a perfect score on the Maryland Functional Writing Test, Student of the Month, and Snowball Princess in the tenth grade. Her special interests are being with people, especially children, and riding all-terrain vehicles. Her ambition in life is "to be happy."

Kim Frantz, daughter of Carol and Barbara Frantz, Friendsville, is also a junior and a member of the Volleyball Team, Girls' Varsity Club, vice president of the Future Homemakers of America, and Student Council. Her school honors include a perfect score on the Maryland Functional Writing Test. Among her community activities are being a member of the Rush Baptist Church of Friendsville and president of the Rush Baptist Youth Group for the past three years. Her special interests are volleyball and swimming. Kim's ambition is to further her education and major in Child psychology or business administration.

Kina Perry, a sophomore, is the daughter of Gerald and Barbara Perry, Grantsville. She is a member of the S.A.D.D. Club, and her school honors include honor roll and 1984-85 Who's Who Achievement and Service Award. Her special interest is collecting unicorn figures. Kina says she hopes to go to college to study psychology.

Rachael Frantz, daughter of Darrell and Betty Frantz of Friendsville, is a freshman and a member of Chorus, basketball and softball teams, and Crafts Club. Her community activities include Woodmen of the World and Blooming Rose United Methodist Church and Youth Group. Her special interests include camping, meeting new people, bike riding and seeing movies. Her ambition is to graduate and get a successful job.

Activities organized by the Committee this year are: a "Welcome Back to School" Dance, the showing of Rocky IV for an after-school activity, assisting with the dedication of NHS after renovation.

They are planning more movies during the year and to add a Husky to the school sign. The committee is also working with the Ways and Means Committee on several activities.

Oak Park Choir To Sing Holiday Cantata Sunday

The Oak Park Church of the Brethren Adult Choir will present the cantata, "Let the World Rejoice," this Sunday, December 21, at 7:00 p.m.

This musical celebration of Christmas includes such carols as: "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," "Angels We Have Heard on High," "O Holy Night," (soloist, Harold Holopieper), "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "What Child Is This?," "Away in a Manger," "Silent Night," "O Come All Ye Faithful" and "Joy to the World."

News from Northern Middle School

Thanksgiving Dinner
A Thanksgiving dinner was held November 26 by the classes of Doris Cooper, Shirley Noonan and Jackie Stuck at Northern Middle School.

Ralph Miller, art teacher, was the guest of honor. Other guests included: Gary Heginbotham, student teacher; Kent Huber, math teacher; and Jack Settle, counselor.

Students preparing the dinner were Jeff Boyd, Kim Cross, Charles Fazzenbaker, Katrina Jackson, Charles Pursley, Dennis Sines, Kenny Sines, Jamie Strawser, Ann Warnick, David Boyd, Orville Fike, Jay Niner, Brian Rosenberger and Daniel Oaks.

Also aiding with the meal were Mary Friend, Nancy Friend and Sharon Thomas.

Attends Convention

Northern Middle School Student Council members, Karen Wilhelm, council president; Audra Speicher; Sally Schaulis; and Advisor Mrs. Carol Schaulis, attended the Maryland Association of Student Councils Convention in Annapolis last week.

The Maryland Association of Student Councils is a statewide student government organization and provides training in areas of leadership, communication and personal development. It also acquaints students with the process of state and local government.

The one-day conference focuses on training in the legislative process and lobbying techniques. Each year, two students from this group are nominated for consideration by the Governor for appointment to the Maryland State Board of Education.

EYEGLASS HEARING AIDS

Eyeglass hearing aids have the components built into the temple of the frame. Although this causes some enlargement of the frame, modern technology has made miniature parts that are hardly noticeable. From a technological standpoint, eyeglass aids allow a procedure called contralateral routing of signals (CROS) fitting. CROS-fitting means that there are two parts of the aid on either ear with a wire running through the bridge of the eyeglasses connecting those two parts. This type of fitting is particularly appropriate for a person with a severe hearing loss in only one ear. Sound from a microphone near the "bad" ear is routed into the "good" ear. This type of fitting is also beneficial for someone who needs amplification in only the high frequency areas.

Modern technology serves to meet the needs of people as well as their preferences and cosmetic concerns. At ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES, we have the inventory of hearing instruments that will return to you the sounds you seek. Likewise, many of your cosmetic goals can be achieved with the variety of shapes we have available. Come in today and see as well as hear the difference.

CROS-fitting also can be done with a wire extending across the back of the head between two behind-the-ear aids.

who was taken from us without warning on December 20, 1985.

Dad, you were taken so suddenly. There was no warning, no time to say goodbye. There's not a day that goes by that our hearts don't ache to see your smiling face or hear your wonderful laugh. Just knowing you were always there meant so much. They say time heals all sorrows but it's not easy because to us you were the greatest, and a friend to all who knew you.

It must be true that only the good die young because you were taken away too soon. We can only find peace in our hearts knowing that you are in heaven with the Lord, waiting for us to join you someday.

Southern Faculty Names Top Students For November

The Student Council Student of the Month Award recipients for November were named

Charlie Moore, a sophomore, received the Science Student of the Month Award. He is the son of Carolyn Riley and Robert Moore, Oakland. Charlie plans to attend Virginia Tech or another technical school to study engineering.

The award in the Vocational-Drafting category was given to Steve Friend, a senior. The son of Audrey and Brenda Friend, Swanton, Steve attends Swanton United Methodist Church where he is the youth group treasurer. In school, he is presently the president of the National Honor Society and a senior representative to student council. He plans to study engineering at West Virginia University.

A sophomore, Karyn Posey, won the Student of the Month Award in the Social Studies category. Karyn is the daughter of Mary Jane and Thomas Edward Posey Jr., Oakland. She attends Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses. Her plans are to take a secretarial type job and to further her career in religion, talking to people and teaching from the Bible.

Lisa Schmidt, another sophomore, was given the Electives-Drivers' Education Student of the Month Award. The daughter of James Schmidt and Diana Craver of Oakland, she is a cheerleader and was a Football Homecoming Princess this year. Her plans are to attend a school for the arts or to train to be an accountant or legal secretary.

In the Math category, Marty Sharpless, a junior, received the award. Marty attends St. Peter's Catholic Church and is the son of Susan and Martin W. Sharpless Sr. of Oakland. He has played football all through high school. He plans to attend college.

Tracy Humberston, a senior, was given the English Student of the Month Award. She is the daughter of Fred Humberston, Friendsville, and Karla Humberston-Riley, Deer Park. Tracy previously won the Student of the Month award in art. She is a member of the tennis team and also the Art Honor Society and has won several awards which include: U.S. National Art Award, U.S. National Leadership Award, and Who's Who Among American High School Students. She placed third in the Western Maryland Art Show and was a participant in the Maryland Artists-in-Education Program. Tracy plans to be a fashion illustrator and artist.

YODER SCHOOL: CENTER OF LEARNING

by Mrs. Carolyn Tice,
Principal of the Yoder School

A public school, located in a rural part of northeastern Garrett County, Yoder School offers county curriculum to students in grades 1 through 8. Enrollment in the school is open (by application to the Board of Ed.) to all children who live in the Northern High School attendance area. Yoder School dates from the original founding by the Amish & Mennonite community in 1882. Originally a one-room structure, it now houses three full-sized classrooms, a library and a resource room, as well as an office.

With 8 grades divided between three classrooms, much peer tutoring happens naturally throughout the course of a child's education. It's quite common to find children "listening in" on another grade's lesson, either for enrichment or reinforcement. This allows the younger children to experience the everyday stimulation of older students, while giving the older ones the important role of leadership.

Because of the intimacy between teachers, students, and parents, each child's progress is carefully monitored, resulting in children being accelerated at their own pace. This also enhances each child's feeling of self worth.

PRACTICAL APPLICATION — All Yoder School students use the school's computers on a regular basis from basic word processing to printing the school newspaper. The PTA is currently investigating the possibility of obtaining more advanced computers. Carolyn Tice, principal, explains, "We hope to provide our students with the best of the skills needed for survival in today's modern world." Pictured above are Cynthia Miller, eighth grade student, and Robb Yoder, seventh grade student, practicing newswriting techniques. Below is David Schofield mastering his word processing skills.

The rural setting is not synonymous with backwardness. Every child in grades 1-8 uses one of our Commodore Computers regularly. Younger children practice correct keyboarding skills and use simple word processing programs. Older children practice typing to gain speed and accuracy as well as use the word processor to do regular lessons. Seventh and eighth graders use a special computer program to print the school's newspaper.

The PTA has investigated the use of more advanced computers in the school as true learning environments. We are eagerly awaiting the arrival of these computers during early 1987. Through an arrangement with one computer manufacturer, we will have free use of these computers for educational evaluation purposes. This we hope to be an ongoing program. An effort will be made to coordinate our experiences with those of other schools in the nation who are conducting similar experimental computer assisted instruction programs. We hope our learning experiences from this program will also be of value to others in Garrett County.

Through efforts such as these we hope to provide our students with the best of the skills needed for survival in today's modern world, as well as maintaining the sound background of basic education.

Garrett Bureau Represented At State Convention

Garrett County Farm Bureau was represented by President Clark Kolb; Women's Committee Vice Chairman Kathleen Fratz; President of Associated Women Fannie Mae Kolb; Vice President William DeWitt; Board members Leslie Guard and Delmar Yoder; Women's Committee member Leona DeWitt; Mrs. Eva Yoder; Garrett County Extension Agent Ted Sprangel; Mrs. Joan Sprangel; Dove DeBerry, Young Farmers' Discussion Meet contestant; Criss Kepple, Discussion Meet Moderator; and Safemark Dealer Lowell Merrill.

Federal tax reform, and its effect on farmers, was the subject of an address by American Farm Bureau lobbyist Grace Ellen Rice. State Secretary of Agriculture Wayne Cawley Jr. urged farmers to protect their investment with crop insurance, and reported on the department's 1986 activities.

Vice presidents Edward Allen, Calvert County; Wade Dudrow, Talbot County; and Donald Dell, Carroll County were each reelected for another one-year term.

Allen has been a vice president since 1982. He produces corn, soybeans and barley on his 363-acre farm near Prince Frederick. He also serves on the Calvert County Farmland Preservation Advisory Board, and is a member of the Maryland Agriculture Commission.

Dudrow milks 65 head of dairy cattle, and farms 850 acres near Easton. This will be his second term as vice president. He is a member of the local FmHA board and county Extension advisory board.

Dell, a vice president since 1983, farms in a family corporation in Westminster. In addition to dairy and crop production, Dell and his sons operate a grain storage facility.

Maryland Farm Bureau's president, Robert Wilson, is currently serving a two-year term which expires in December 1987.

At a Women's Committee meeting on Monday, December 8, over 200 farm women heard from Marilyn Campbell, a member of the American Farm Bureau Women's Committee and of the New Hampshire State Legislature. The current WC vice chairmen, Talbot County's Debbie Luthy, and Allegany County's Wilma Mallow, were reelected to another one-year term. Chairman Leona Dell continues to serve her first two-year term.

A Kennedyville dairy farmer and his wife were named Young Farmers of the Year. Roy and Sue Crow farm 125 acres of corn, alfalfa, and pasture/grass hay. They are currently milking 52 cows with a herd average of 19,000 pounds of milk per cow each year.

Roy started the operation in 1977 with 35 registered Holstein cows. He had just graduated from college, and arranged to use his father's then vacant dairy facilities. Since then, Roy and Sue have increased the herd, begun growing their own feed, and purchased used equipment.

Roy was vice president of Kent County Farm Bureau in 1985, and served on the Maryland Holstein Association board of directors in 1982 and 1986. Sue has been a reporter for the "Southeastern Holstein News" since 1981, and is currently Eastern Shore editor. The Crow's have three young sons.

The couple will travel to the American Farm Bureau convention in Anaheim, California, January 11, to compete against other state winners in the national YFer of the Year competition.

Also traveling to Anaheim will be Charles Otto, from Princess Anne in Somerset County. Otto won the Young Farmer Discussion Meet and will represent Maryland in the national competition. Coming in as first-runner-up in the Discussion Meet was Garrett County's Dove DeBerry. As her prize, Dove received a $100 gift certificate for Safemark products, and an expense-paid trip to the Maryland Young Farmers Leadership Conference.

A Farm Christmas: Make It One To Remember

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Christmas on the farm: is it any different than Christmas anywhere else? Oh, I think so, at least it used to be in many subtle little ways. Of course, farm children used to be different in many subtle little ways, too. Kids weren't as homogenized then, farm children didn't have much in common with their city neighbors when I was young. We were country through and through.

For us, a trip to town to see the decorations and do some Christmas shopping was a highlight of the holiday season. Farm families in our area usually planned one night during the season to drive around the different sections of town to "see the lights."

Christmas cards began coming early in December, and in my family we kids anxiously counted the number brought by the mailman each day. We helped tape them up on the inside of the front door and stood oohing and aahing at the pretty winter scenes and Christmas pictures, with the younger kids asking, "Who is that one from?" and then "Well, who's that?" Being the oldest, I can remember when the Christmas cards played an even more important role in decorating the house. When I was very young, our only Christmas tree was a small, table-top artificial tree decorated solely with Christmas cards. Perhaps that's why, even today, I like receiving Christmas cards so much.

Because parts of the farm had been strip-mined at some point of ancient time, pines had been planted on the backfill. These pines were fully-grown by the time I first remember them and gave us an unending supply of Christmas trees. We would pick a number of possible Christmas trees when the weather was still nice, in September or October, then take Daddy to help us cut the tree just before Christmas Eve. One of my great childhood disappointments came the year we had found the perfect tree. It was about six or seven-feet tall and beautifully shaped. We talked about that tree and checked on it all during December. Proudly we took Daddy to cut our tree, just to find that someone from the little town just two miles away had walked over the hill onto the farm and cut the top out of our perfect tree. Just the top! If they had taken the whole tree we could have accepted it easier than seeing that poor tree with just its top gone.

The Christmas tree was always put in our "back room." This was the "good" room, and the door to that room also had a hook on it higher than a child could reach. On Christmas Eve we hung our stockings and went to bed early so that we could be up before Mom, Daddy and Grandma went to the barn Christmas morning to milk. But, no matter how early we got up, we were only allowed to have what Santa left in our stockings. No presents could be opened until the barn work was done.

Oh how long it took them to milk on Christmas morning. We watched out the window for the barn lights to go off, then listened for the cello door to open, then finally everyone was upstairs except Daddy. How could it take him so long to get his coat and boots off? When at last the back-room door was unhooked and we saw the Christmas tree for the first time with all the presents stacked underneath, we knew it had been worth the wait.

Our Christmas school vacation seemed to last much longer then than it does now, and we spent a lot of time sled riding. We had a good hill for sledding on our farm, and at least once during the holidays each year all of our cousins, and those Kepple boys from the next farm, would come to spend an afternoon sled riding. The adults got in on the fun too. A couple of times, someone used the hood of an old automobile to come down the hill (you know the hood of those old cars looked like a boat when it was turned upside down).

Later came the homemade toboggan. Daddy made it from an old piece of roofing tin and a few boards, and it could really go. It really picked up extra speed with Daddy riding way in the back with as many kids in front of him as the toboggan would hold. What I remember best is the snow in my face, up my coat sleeves, and down my neck when I had to sit in the front, and Daddy laughing loud and hard all the way to the bottom of the hill.

With a live-in grandma, we had lots of goodies in the house for the holidays, too. I especially remember her gingerbread men, but she always made our cream cookies with sugar on the top because she said she knew the Kepple boys liked them.

Church plays, singing—it all comes back and it seems as though there is just not as much time for Christmas these days. But I'll bet that in 20 years, our kids will all have Christmas memories as meaningful to them as these are to me.

To all of you who farm, and to those who are farmers at heart, I wish a Christmas to remember.

Gray Communications

A Division of Sargent Electric Company

In these ever changing times, people today, more than ever before, have resorted to two things to determine with whom they do business - honesty and reputation. In days past, the public automatically assumed and felt confident that the job done would be without question as good or better than expected. Today, this seems to be the exception and not the rule.

When it comes to telephone systems for business, the people in this area have come to rely on GRAY COMMUNICATIONS located at 1107 E. Walton Ave. in Altoona, phone 1-800-821-7470. Their honesty and everyday business practices have gained them the respect they rightly deserve. They offer free consultation and cost analysis on voice and data communications systems.

In the line of business telephone communication, they offer replacement of your telephone systems, single or multi-line installation, switchboards, intercoms, etc. GRAY COMMUNICATIONS uses state-of-the-art equipment from manufacturers such as NEC, Mitel and AT&T.

The management of GRAY COMMUNICATIONS believes that people are more critical than ever before, and they strive to give even the smallest of your concerns their complete attention. They offer 24 hours/day, 265 days/year dependable service support by GRAY'S GARD CENTER. This is just part of what has placed GRAY COMMUNICATIONS a head above the rest.

Remember, when in the need of telephone equipment or systems, don't hesitate, call the professionals at GRAY COMMUNICATIONS - 1-800-821-7470. We know you'll be glad you did.

Deep Creek Realty

SECOND HOME AS REPLACEMENT

The rollover tax break allows you to sell your principal residence and defer paying any taxes on the profit as long as you buy another home that costs as much as the one you sold. If you already own a second home and plan to move into that as a replacement, you can take the same deferral as long as you purchased it within two years before or after the sale.

If you've owned that second home LONGER than the two-year envelope and desire to rehab it, can you deduct the cost of the new construction from the profit on the sale of your present home? No matter how long you have actually owned the second home, you need only start "reconstructing" it within the two-year period to qualify for the home-sale break. Major reconstruction of the second home is treated the same as the purchase of a new home.

Each dollar spent in reconstructing the second home cuts into the amount of taxable income you receive from selling the old home.

Do You Have Hay For Sale?

I am receiving a lot of calls from people who are wanting to buy hay, mostly alfalfa and grasses. I am still passing out the names of people who told me they had hay for sale back in July. I need to update this list because many have already sold out of hay. If you have hay for sale, call my office at 334-1990. Give the following information: name, address, phone number, kind of hay, and number of bales.

Beef Tips

1) Over-wintered heifer calves should gain 1.25 to 1.5 lb/day and steers should gain 1.5 to 1.75 lb/day. A suitable diet to achieve these goals would include a full-feed of legume-grass hay plus four to eight pounds of grain or 40 pounds of corn silage. One pound of soybean meal per head per day along with a free choice mineral mix (50% TM Salt, 25% Limestone and 25% Dical) would be required.

2) Calving season is rapidly approaching. Take time to prepare facilities and equipment for those females that may require assistance. Evaluate the condition of the heifers and cows. You may have 20 to 30 days or even a couple of months to increase the plan of nutrition so that cows are in good flesh at calving. This will enhance their opportunity to rebreed sooner.

Did You Know?

—For every consumer dollar spent on food at the supermarket or in a restaurant, the American farmer received $.27. The remaining $.73 covers marketing costs ranging from packaging to profit.

—A sirloin steak which costs $2.39/lb. in Washington, D.C., sells for $.35/lb. in London, and $14.12/lb. in Japan.

—Fat consumption in the U.S. has increased 31% since the early part of this century. This increase in fat consumption is directly attributed to a two-fold gain in fat from vegetable sources. At the same time, consumption of fat from animal sources has declined 8%.

Generic Advertising For The Dairy Industry: Is It Helping?

R. J. Beiter, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service, reports that for many years there has been a controversy over the value of generic versus brand advertising. There have been studies supporting both sides of the issue, he said. According to a recent study conducted by A.D. Little, Inc., as reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, generic advertising has been responsible for increased milk consumption. An increase of 1.268 billion pounds of fluid milk has been consumed since the National Dairy Board's Promotion and Research campaign has been in effect from August 1984 to December 1985.

Regardless of the reasons, Beiter said, consumption of milk and dairy products increased 3.3 percent in 1985 over 1984 and is up seven percent from two years ago. During the first six months of this year, commercial milk disappearance is up 4.2 percent over the same period last year.

Beiter says that it must be recognized that increased milk consumption in recent years has been influenced by economic trends such as declining unemployment, increasing personal income, and declining relative price of dairy products. Generic advertising of milk has never been attempted on the scale that it has since the formation of the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board. This is the first time that the dairy industry has been in the same league with other food and beverage industries with a promotion and research budget sufficient to provide significant national advertising of generic milk and dairy products.

Regardless of the findings of the various studies that have been conducted, generic advertising does appear to cause an increase in consumption above that normally expected from other economic factors, according to Beiter.

New Commodity Certificates Provide Greater Flexibility

New provisions governing the use of commodity certificates earned by producers on or after November 17 under the acreage reduction, land diversion, conservation reserve, and emergency feed programs give farmers an additional three months before the expiration date to submit the certificates to the Commodity Credit Corporation for cash.

Olin S. Davis Jr., chairperson, Maryland State ASC Committee, said all producers now will be able to transfer their commodity certificates until the expiration date contained on the certificate regardless of when the certificates were issued.

Previously, farm program participants who earned commodity certificates were not allowed to transfer their certificates after the first transfer deadline shown on the certificate, and could receive cash only during the 10 business days following the first transfer deadline.

Davis said the new provisions will provide producers greater flexibility. "All commodity certificate holders have until the expiration date of the certificate to transfer or sell their certificate. However, the certificate must be used by the expiration date shown on the certificate," he said.

The ASCS official said farm program participants may continue to use commodity certificates to redeem CCC loans.

It is a non-profit organization that started in the early 1970s with a few students in a building that belonged to the Wilhelm family and now with several buildings offers accommodations for about 60 volunteers and private donations. The ministry also offers an adult religious retreat for a day and night annually. More information may be obtained by writing to Aldergate Evangelical Center, Route 2, Box 46, (Cranesville), Terra Alta, W.Va. 26764.

The monthly "Terra Alta Rotator," published by Rich Hopkins, reveals that tentative arrangements are being made to repeat a meeting held 50 years ago at Martinsburg, a joint session of Terra Alta, Newburg, Kingwood, and Martinsburg Rotary Club which featured as speaker Rotary's founder, Paul Harris. Frank Everhart of Kingwood, who was present at that meeting, is making every effort for that meeting to be remembered and re-enacted.

President Logan Weber emphasized the need for recruiting new members.

The Steering Committee for the 1987 Fourth of July Celebration is in progress, headed by Rich Hopkins. He urges all members to be interested in the project and offer assistance.

All Rotarians are requested to be active in making "Christmas at Hopemont" a successful event by donating gifts to the residents.

Each Preston's basketball team has been underfunded and all Rotarians were requested to donate, hoping to come up with at least $100.

Fruit cakes can still be obtained at Thomas IGA Market for $7.00.

ARE COMING TO OAKLAND FOR THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS TREAT

Saturday, December 20

1:00 P.M.

Second Street

Between Green St. & the Post Office

It's a tradition in Oakland to have Santa Claus visit us and to give a Christmas Treat to all the kids. Many of them and their parents look forward to it each year.

This is our annual request for cash donations to help cover the expense of the treat. Send what you can. Through your fine support we are always able to have Santa make his annual visit.

Sincerely yours,
The Committee For Christmas Treat

WOW News

The last Woodmen of the World meeting for 1986 was held on December 9, with a covered dish dinner at the Woodmen Hall.

Walter Younkin gave the Invocation.

The business meeting was conducted by Alice Younkin.

The new members were received into Lodge No. 41 and one in Unit No. 128.

The building will be winterized after Christmas. The meetings will then be held at the Walter Younkin home and all are welcome.

Phyllis Bender won the door prize.

Walter Younkin led the Installations of Officers for 1987. They are: Phyllis Bender, president; Harold Butler, vice president; C.C. Bender, treasurer; Thomas A. Bender, secretary; James Guthrie, Walter Younkin and Lillian Guthrie, trustees; Harry Pope, escort; Mildred Pope, watchman; Janet Wable, sentry and Rose Lee Folk, musician.

Phyllis Bender closed the meeting. Alice Younkin was presented with a Certificate of Appreciation by the secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bender, Mrs. Janet Wable and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin attended the Christmas dinner and program at the Deer Park Fire Hall for the Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 11 on Saturday evening.

The Woodmen Rangers Unit No. 128 will have its Christmas party on Sunday afternoon, December 21, for all members and parents. Santa will be there.

Church Services

The Jennings United Methodist Church will present a Christmas program on Sunday, December 21, at 7 p.m. The Rev. Powell Hall is the pastor.

The Maple Grove Church will be presenting a candlelight service, along with communion, on Tuesday, December 23, at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. James Show is the pastor.

The St. John's United Church of Christ will celebrate Christmas on Christmas eve, December 24, at 7:30 p.m. with a candlelight service. The Rev. Borch is the pastor.

The Bethesda Church of the Brethren is presenting a Christmas program entitled "A Journey to Bethlehem" on December 21, at 7:30 p.m. The youth will present their program at the morning service, which was coordinated by Debbie Campbell and Donna Miller. The evening service is being conducted by Shirley Shultz and Sharon Butler. The Rev. Connell Chaney is the pastor.

The youth group of the Brethren Church recently met and held election of officers for the coming year. They are: president, Melissa Green; vice president, Tina Beitzel; secretary, Jackie Campbell; and treasurer, Beverly Miner. The youth leaders are Linda Green and Debbie Campbell.

Promotion Noted

Airman 1st Class Jeffery Green has been promoted to military police. He has been serving since August 1986 and is stationed in Zaragoza, Spain, for 18 months. He is the son of Blaine and Linda Green.

Seniors Have Party

The Grantsville senior citizens had a Christmas party on Wednesday with a covered dish dinner at the United Church of Christ social room.

Esther Durst gave a reading and the Invocation. After dinner games were played and gifts were exchanged.

Three social workers attended and presented each senior with a bag of fruit. Rev. and Mrs. Borch and Bertha Gearhart won the door prizes. Readings were presented and Lulu Brown was presented a special gift. Santa Claus presented gifts to all present.

Homemakers Meet

The Mars Hill Homemakers Club met at the home of Marlene Beachy Tuesday, December 9, for their regular meeting and annual turkey Christmas dinner, with each one bringing a covered dish.

Christmas songs were sung, led by Karin Durst at the piano. Readings were given. Santa appeared and gave each one an orange, a candy cane, and a gift. Secret sisters were revealed and new names drawn for 1987.

Door prizes were made and donated by Marlene Beachy. Those who won were Hilda Sturtz and Linda Upole.

The January meeting will be

THANK YOU
The family of

would like to thank friends and relatives for their prayers, food, flowers and cards during our time of sorrow.

A special thanks to Rev. Charles Teets, Dr. Johnson, Dennett Road Manor, Garrett Memorial Hospital, Southern Rescue Squad, and Stewart Funeral Home. Also, to the members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias for their memorial services, and those members who served as pallbearers.

WITH GRATITUDE . . .

I would like to thank all the people and businesses in Garrett County and surrounding areas for their support over the past years.

My husband, Bill has passed away, but I am continuing the operation of Ashby Fire Equipment. I will endeavor to give you good service as we have in the past.

I appreciated your continued support and wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Creation Of Farm Game Advisory Committee Noted

Over the past 20 years, the Department of Natural Resources' Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has documented a decline in Maryland's quail, rabbit, and pheasant populations. According to Joshua Sandt, Forest, Park and Wildlife Service Upland Wildlife Program Manager, these species (known collectively as farm game) are declining due to two primary problems: loss of habitat and changes in agricultural practices. Numbers of farm game hunters have also dropped in response to the population reductions.

"Because nearly all of the prime farm game habitat is in private ownership, we are asking for landowners' cooperation to help reduce these downward trends," Sandt said. To help open the lines of communication, the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has formed a 12-member Farm Game Advisory Committee. Volunteers from the farming and conservation communities across the state have agreed to donate their time and expertise to the committee. William Nemith, of Sanders Lane, is on the committee.

The committee has two goals: to increase the quality and quantity of farm game habitat in each Maryland county, and to increase farm game hunting opportunities. Some of the methods the committee will be considering to reach those goals are developing habitat improvement programs which will be acceptable to private landowners and providing incentives for landowners to maintain or create farm game habitat. The committee will also be looking for ways to improve landowner/sportsman relationships.

"The potential for increasing quail, rabbit, and pheasant populations is excellent," Sandt said, "because they respond well to improvements in their habitat."

Concerned citizens are urged to contact a local committee member or to write the committee with their suggestions. Letters may be sent to the Farm Game Advisory Committee, Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, P.O. Box 68, Wye Mills, Maryland 21679.

NEWS from THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

YOUR CHRISTMAS TREE

The Christmas tree. A sight that brings joy and excited anticipation to the children. A symbol of peace and hope to everyone throughout the nation during this holiday season.

Our tradition of decorating a tree with lights and ornaments dates back to the Revolutionary War. It was during this time that the Hessian troops hired by the British and homesick for their German homeland, decorated native American pines to remind themselves of their homes and families. The evergreen has been a symbol of the Christmas season since the European middle ages, and lighted and decorated trees have adorned Christmas celebrations in Germany since the days of Martin Luther (1483-1546).

Each December Americans take home an evergreen to decorate with tinsels, ornaments, candy canes and lights to be used as the center piece of the holiday season celebrations. Many people still cut their trees in the wild forest, though more and more the trees we use are coming from cultivated Christmas tree farms and are sold at a retail lot in residential areas.

When you visit the local retail lot you will of course be looking for a good tree, one that is fresh and appealing to the senses. The size, shape and kind of tree is determined by personal preference and the space the tree will occupy, but a fresh tree is something we are all looking for. Here are some simple tips that Ernie Metz, Project Forester for Garrett County, has suggested will help you determine if a tree is fresh:

—Bend a needle on the tree. If it is resilient, the tree is fresh.
—Bump the base of the tree hard on the ground, if no needles fall the tree is fresh (Spruce do not retain their needles well, in their case it is not a reflection of freshness).
—Feel the bottom of the stump, if it is sappy and moist, it is fresh.

Buying a Christmas tree that passes these three tests will help assure that you are buying a fresh tree, one that will not prematurely drop its needles, and has the strength to carry your ornaments and lights without undue fear of breaking or catching fire.

For further information contact Ernie Metz, Project Forester of the Garrett Project, at (301) 334-3296.

NONDISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT
"Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order No. 11246. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications."

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT
"Each BIDDER must fully comply with the requirements, terms and conditions of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region III, Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) requirements, including the goals for minority business participation during the performance of this contract. The BIDDER commits itself to the goals for minority business participation contained herein and all other requirements, terms and conditions of these BID conditions by submitting a properly signed BID."

The BIDDER agrees that it will make good faith efforts to subcontract at least ten percent of the total value of this contract to minority businesses. Failure to make such efforts may lead to rejection of BIDS. For the purpose of this program, the term "subcontract" includes all construction, modifications, and service work contracted for by the BIDDER in the execution of the work under this contract. Notwithstanding the fact that a BIDDER may have the capability to complete the total PROJECT with its own workforce and without the use of subcontractors, each BIDDER will still be required to take positive efforts to subcontract to minority firms a share of the WORK consistent with the goals. These requirements are also applicable to BIDDERS who are themselves minority-owned enterprises."

Specific requirements for subcontracting to MBE's is contained in the BID documents section entitled MINORITY BUSINESS ENTERPRISE PARTICIPATION OF THE EPA Region III, Federal Insert.

BIDDER'S Proposal must be accompanied by a BID BOND or a Certified Check in an amount not less than five percent of the Total BID Price.

The OWNER reserves the right to waive any informalities to any BIDS or reject any and all BIDS.

A pre-bid conference will be held January 20, 1987 at 2:00 p.m. at the office of the OWNER to answer any questions concerning the Contract Documents. All bidders are invited to attend.

PUBLIC HEARING

Mortgage Revenue Bond Policy Statement.

Notice is hereby given that the Community Development Administration of the State of Maryland (CDA), a division of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, will conduct a public hearing at 10:00 a.m. on Monday, December 29, 1986, at the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Room 110, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, for the purpose of providing an opportunity for interested persons to express their views, both orally and in writing, on the report regarding the housing, development and low income housing assistance policies which CDA plans to follow in 1987 in issuing single family mortgage revenue bonds, for financing mortgage loans for homeownership, general rehabilitation and energy conservation.

This report is being prepared and the public hearing is being held as required by Federal Tax Law regarding the issuance of mortgage revenue bonds. These federal requirements have been added in order to require issuers of tax exempt mortgage revenue bonds to make greater efforts to assist lower income eligible households to receive loans before assisting higher income households. CDA has in the past made efforts to do this and also intends to expand and refine its programs to include new ways to provide homeownership opportunities for the lowest possible income eligible households.

Any person may obtain draft copies of the proposed report prior to the hearing by contacting Kristen Mark Hughes, at the above address or by calling (301) 269-2176. The final report will be available on December 31, 1986 and may be obtained by contacting Kristen M. Hughes.

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission (the "Commission"), the governing body of the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., has heretofore passed and adopted a resolution (the "Commission Resolution") proposing to create a service area in Garrett County designated the "Shallmar Sanitary District" for the purpose of constructing and operating water and sewerage systems to serve the area described in the Commission Resolution and shown on the plat attached thereto (copies of both of which are attached hereto and incorporated by reference herein), the Commission Resolution having been duly passed and adopted on May 6, 1986.

2. Sections 9-647 and 9-648 of the Health Environmental Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1982 Volume) provide that the governing body of the County in which the proposed service area is located shall hold a public hearing to consider the proposed service area and may approve the creation of the proposed service area if it finds that the creation is necessary for the public health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the proposed service area and is feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

3. The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County (the "Board"), which is the governing body of County Commissioners of Garrett County (the "County"), held a public hearing on July 15, 1986 at 7:30 p.m. at the Kiltzmill Elementary School, Kiltzmill, Maryland, to consider the proposed creation of the Shallmar Sanitary District, notice of the public hearing having been published on July 3rd, and July 10th, 1986 in The Republican, a newspaper of general circulation in the County.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF GARRETT COUNTY:

1. The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County (the "Board"), which is the governing body of County Commissioners of Garrett County (the "County"), held a public hearing on July 15, 1986 at 7:30 p.m. at the Kiltzmill Elementary School, Kiltzmill, Maryland, to consider the proposed creation of the Shallmar Sanitary District, notice of the public hearing having been published on July 3rd, and July 10th, 1986 in The Republican, a newspaper of general circulation in the County.

2. Based upon the legislative findings set forth in Section 1 of this Resolution and after considering the views expressed at the public hearing held on July 15, 1986, the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County approves the creation of the Shallmar Sanitary District.

3. This resolution shall be effective upon its adoption and the Clerk shall immediately file an executed copy of this Resolution with the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County and shall cause the title of this Resolution, which constitutes a fair summary thereof, to be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the County.

Adopted and certified this 2nd day of December, 1986.

John Sheltra, plant manager at the local Bausch & Lomb facility, has announced the addition of Geni Guseila to the plant's staff in the position of manufacturing manager for plastic manufacturing.

Ms. Guseila is a 1977 graduate of Columbia University with a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering. She has held previous positions with Union Carbon Corporation in Lakewood, Ohio, and John Deere Corporation in Waterloo, Iowa. She has held numerous positions with Bausch & Lomb at the corporation's Frame Manufacturing Facility in Rochester, N.Y., including, senior industrial engineer, quality assurance manager, general department manager, quality control manager, and plastics manufacturing manager.

In her new position, Ms. Guseila will be responsible for all aspects of plastic frame manufacturing, including supervision and production. She will report directly to John Sheltra in this capacity.

Ms. Guseila is a member of American Institute of Industrial Engineers, American Society of Quality Control and The Rochester Engineering Society.

Employee Of The Month Named At Bausch & Lomb

The Employee of the Month for December at the local Bausch & Lomb Facility was announced recently by John Sheltra, plant manager, and Ron Heginbotham lens edging manager.

Madeline Whitehair, a machine operator II in the lens edging department, was selected for the monthly honor. She began her career with Bausch & Lomb on May 5, 1971, as a toric blocker, a position she held October 4, 1980, when she was transferred to the matching room as a matcher. She held this position until February 27, 1982, when she transferred to the lens edging department where her duties include trademark and processing lenses.

Mrs. Whitehair resides in Oakland with her husband, Frank. They have two daughters, Carolyn Sterling and Lisa Ingram. They also have three grandchildren.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Clerk of the Circuit Court Clifford E. DeWitt reported this week that 10 couples applied for a license to wed. Two couples requested that their names not be published.

Terry Eugene Stump, 39, Dellslow, W. Va., and Joan Marie Leighty, 41, Morgantown, W. Va.

Jeffrey Alan Moore, 21, and Rose Ann Couch, 19, both of Morgantown, W. Va.

George Edgar Wyland, 24, and Mabel Marie Rhome, 16, both of Greensboro, Pa.

William Henry Collins, 18, Deer Park, and Tonya Michelle Hoye, 16, Mtn. Lake Park.

Richard Paul Weidman Jr., 28, and Robin Lynn Haynor, 28, both of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Clare M. Abbott, 43, Moatsville, W. Va., and Lilah L. Phillips, 30, Philippi, W. Va.

James Everett Kent, 36, Mtn. Lake Park, and Carol Mae Tichnell, 20, Kitzmiller.

Christopher Louis Dick, 40, and Gloria Jean Crane, 37, both of Fairmont, W. Va.

New Year's Day has its origin in Roman Times, when sacrifices were offered to Janus, the two-faced Roman deity who looked back on the past and forward to the future.

"Tri-State Toys for Happiness"

If you want to find the true spirit of Christmas, just look deep inside yourself. It lives there, waiting for a chance to blossom. Help the spirit of Christmas blossom within yourself this year by donating a toy, gloves/mittens or winter hat to be distributed to less fortunate children in the tri-state area. Donations can be made at the "Toys for Happiness" area located in the Center Court of Country Club Mall.

A Country Club Mall Gift Certificate is the “perfect” gift for anyone on your Christmas list. Country Club Mall certificates are available in any denomination and can be redeemed in any one of over 80 fine stores.

Available Monday-Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Mall Management Office.

Sheriff's Dept. Investigating B And E, Theft

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week is investigating a breaking and entering and theft that occurred on Rt. 50 near Gorman and resulted in the loss of $1170 worth of tools from a shed.

James H. Grubbs reported that someone entered the shop between December 8 and 12 and took the following items: one Homelite chain saw, one Super Xl, Homelite chain saw, two Black & Decker sabre saws, one Sears four and one-half foot disc grinder, one Black & Decker circular saw, one San Burn air compressor, one Black & Decker router, one Skill hammer drill, one Black & Decker vibrating sander, and other items.

Deputy P.J. Pratt is investigating the theft.

Another theft was reported by Robin J. Davis, Swanton, that occurred on December 12 at her residence on Beckman's Peninsula.

According to Davis, her oil tank was drained of approximately 125 gallons of oil. Total loss amounted to $130.

Deputy L.E. Gnegy is investigating.

A destruction of property was reported by Duane C. Bolyard, Oakland, that took place on December 17 on Rt. 39 near Dille Road.

Bolyard reportedly had engine problems while traveling on Rt. 39, left his 1979 Chevrolet El Camino to get help, and when he returned, found that his vehicle had been vandalized.

Damage included a smashed windshield, shattered side and rear windows, and a broken grill.

Deputy L.E. Gnegy is investigating the crime.

Another destruction of property took place on December 21 on the Shady Dell Road and involved the slashing of tires on a 1985 Chevrolet pick-up truck.

The destruction was reported by Larry Dunphy whose mother, Hazel D. Colbert, Martinsburg, W. Va., owns the truck.

Damage to the tires amounted to $100, according to Det.-Sgt. Donald Tucker.

Four area residents were arrested on assault and battery-related charges, according to the Sheriff's Department.

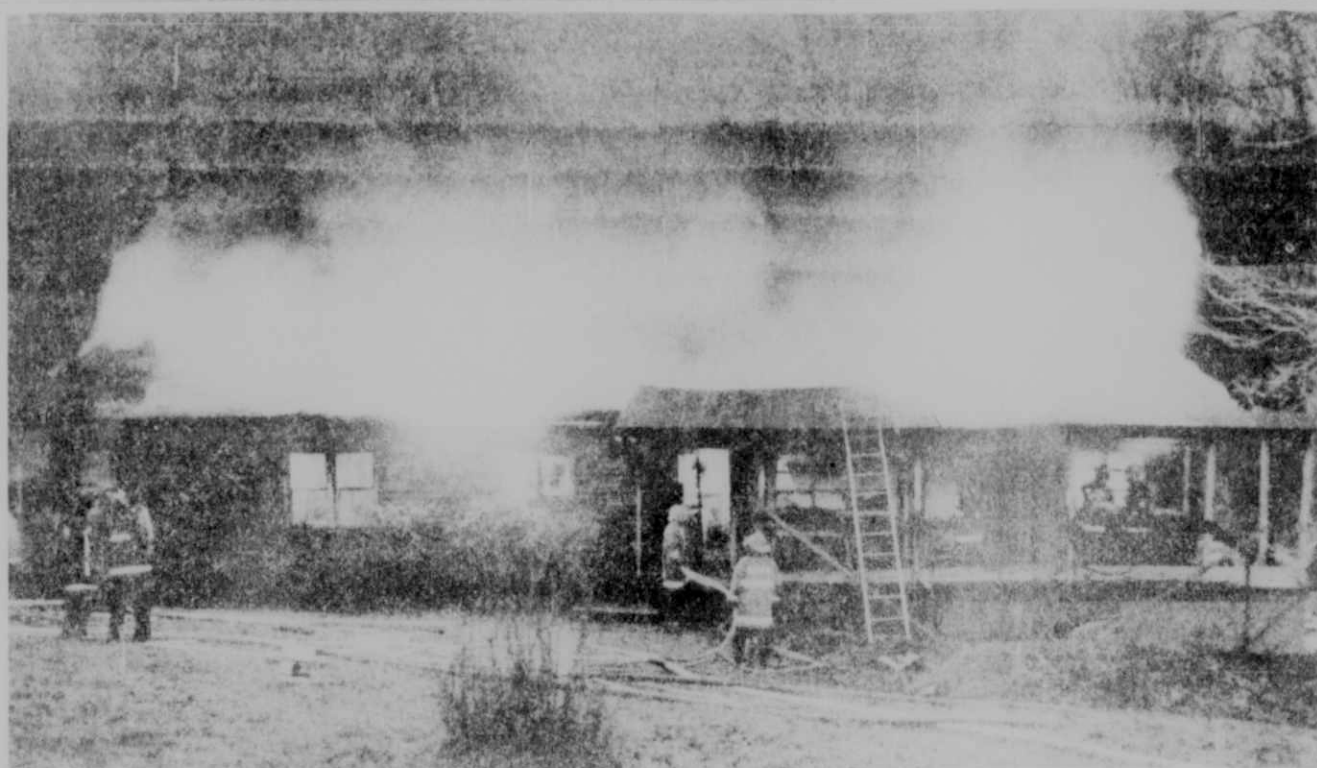

Robert A. Sharpless, 26, Deer Park, was arrested and charged with battery following an incident in Deer Park.

The charge was filed by Twila M. Flores, Swanton, after Sharpless allegedly assaulted her.

Deputy C.P. Nolan was the arresting officer.

Ricky C. Stewart, 19, Deer Park, was arrested and charged with assault and battery on December 21.

The charge stems from a December 6 incident in Deer Park where Stewart reportedly assaulted Betty Stewart, Deer

UP IN FLAMES goes one of three Garrett County homes this week, keeping local volunteer firefighters busy and dampening the holiday season for the residents of these homes. Pictured above is a house located near Swanton that was destroyed yesterday afternoon after a pan of grease caught fire. Also destroyed on Monday were the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Metz, located near Hazelhurst at Deep Creek Lake, and the Finzel Road residence of Karen Sines and her 14-year-old son. All three families lost nearly all of their possessions, although there were no major injuries. See story for details. Photo by Craig Phillips

Nearly $3000 Theft Probed By State Police

The Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment, is investigating a breaking and entering and theft that resulted in the loss of $2,965.

Donald L. Lipscomb reported the theft which occurred on December 15 at his residence near New Germany where he operates a taxidermy shop.

Items taken included: an H&R .22 caliber semi-automatic pistol, a Savage O-U .22 caliber 20-gauge shotgun rifle, a Fox Savage 20-gauge double-barrel shotgun, a Winchester .22 caliber semi-automatic rifle, a Mossberg .22 caliber bolt-action rifle, a Browning .243 caliber, lever-action rifle, a Winchester .264 magnum bolt-action rifle, a Remington 12-gauge shotgun, a CVA .32 caliber muzzle loader, $25 in Susan B. Anthony dollars, two lock-back pocket knives, a Yashika 35-mm camera, and a Fisher VCR.

The house was entered through a double-glass patio door, according to Cpl. G.D. Broadwater, investigating officer.

Another breaking and entering was reported by G.R. Chaney, Maryland State Police, that occurred between December 15 and 20 at the Glendale Road.

The crime was discovered while the officer was investigating another residence nearby.

The owner of the cottage, James C. Defibaugh, Rockville, was not at the residence when the breaking and entering occurred. Inventory of any stolen items is pending until Defibaugh returns to the cottage.

Damage to the door was estimated at $150.

Thayer Sentences Man To 18 Months For Theft, D.O.P.

Judge Fred A. Thayer this week in Garrett County District Court sentenced a Mtn. Lake Park man to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail on charges of theft and destruction of property.

Duane A. Garlitz, 18, was also fined $25 and placed on 18 months unsupervised probation. His sentence was suspended to two months.

Charges were filed by Det.-Sgt. Donald W. Tucker following an incident on September 22 in Mtn. Lake Park in which Garlitz broke into the Loch Lynn Service Station by breaking out a window and stole property belonging to Terry and Ruth Imhoff, owners.

A charge of breaking and stealing shop was not prosecuted.

John R. Toston, public defender, was the defending attorney.

Donna R. Fazenbaker, 23, McHenry, was found guilty of theft and sentenced to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail. She also received a $25 fine and was placed on 12 months unsupervised probation.

The charge was filed by Julie Fratz, Fratz Red & White, Oakland, after Fazenbaker stole merchandise from the store on November 21.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Fazenbaker.

William D. Ford, 30, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of malicious destruction of property of another, sentenced to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail, fined $5 and placed on one year unsupervised probation.

According to the complainant, Leslie M. Moon, Mtn. Lake Park, Ford damaged her 1981

New Governance Charter For GCC Expected To Be Approved By Board

A new governance charter, which is expected to be formally approved by the Board of Trustees in February, is now in place at Garrett Community College.

Work began on the charter by the interim cabinet shortly after Dr. Stephen J. Herman began his duties as president of the College in September.

The declaration of the charter reads, "The Board of Trustees and the community of Garrett Community College subscribe to the proposition that a community bonded together in mutual respect can interact in a spirit of open communication. We encourage and respect the full involvement of all in guiding institutional life toward the common good."

The declaration continues, "We believe further that a college must be a living example of its principles and vision. GCC has a duty to be a model of good self-government so that its students can carry with them ideals for building a better life, realizing a better future and perpetuating democratic values."

Three principles by which the college elected to govern itself were set down and include: 1) Every human has dignity and worth, 2) All human beings should be equal under the law, and 3) Participative democracy is the form of government that best fits the achievement of the above principles.

The declaration further stated that this form of government is "an experiment in the human capability to live and work together in harmony and mutual respect and as a living example of the power of reason, democracy and goodwill."

The goals of governance are then outlined in the charter and include: integration, democracy and inclusiveness, openness and communications, efficiency, flexibility and responsibility.

Definitions of governmental procedures are explained in detail on the premise that policy is intended to flow from the bottom up. The decision-making flow has six levels: 1) individuals and groups, 2) divisional committees of the whole, 3) cabinet of representatives, 4) all-college forum, 5) president, and 6) Board of Trustees.

Recognizing that governmental systems are "as good as the people who run them," the interim cabinet also agreed to include facilitator(s) who would be able to judge without bias or prejudice. Such a person would be elected by the payroll employees of the College.

Any member of the college community would be permitted to bring any issue to the facilitator's attention who would, in turn, act as a good faith partner to rectify, in an informal manner, any concern or dispute. The facilitator will act with the authority of the Board of Trustees and may be removed from

Local Schools To Be Included In Computer Program

Plans for Garrett County's inclusion in the Maryland Educational Technology Network (METN) were discussed at the December 11 meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education.

Funding has been made available for labs at Northern High School, Southern High School, and Southern Middle School, according to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent of Garrett County Schools. Each lab will be equipped with 30 computers.

Using transmitting devices and stereophonic broadcasting signals, data will be transmitted from METN, based in Owings Mills, to the student's computer via the central computer in the classroom, said Ryscavage.

This will allow the student access to software, electronic mail, information, and other services. Teachers can then use the materials as part of the instructional program.

Ryscavage also stated that this computer arrangement with IBM would be done on a one-year trial basis.

Other items on the agenda included two administrative concerns. First, the renovation of Southern High School was again discussed following the presentation of a report by Dr. Ryscavage on the sequence of events leading to the renovation.

In essence, the report outlined 10 "decision points" to be accomplished, in succession, before planning could begin.

Those decision points are as follows: 1)granting of planning approval by the Board of Public Works, 2)scope approval by the Interagency Committee on School Construction (IASC), 3)selection of an architect, 4)decision on the use of a construction manager, 5)development of the educational specifications, 6)equipment purchasing plan, 7)project design, 8)housing of high school students during construction, 9)construction considerations, and 10)other considerations (in particular, decisions concerning the housing of students could present problems such as student transportation, food service programs, extra-curricular activities, etc.).

The second administrative concern discussed was the problem of bus passes. According to Ryscavage, better control is needed in this area due to a significant number of students using a different bus in the evening than in the morning. This often results in over-crowding of buses.

It was determined that a group would be formed (composed of administrators, parents, and bus contractors) to look at the problem and suggest solutions.

Among other items discussed at the meeting was the board's invitation to student and PTA groups from the two high schools to present their perspectives on the current school system. Student representatives will be present at the February meeting of the board.

The Republican office will be closed Thursday, January 1.

Notice Of Early Deadline And Closing Date

Because of the New Year's holiday, next week's issue of The Republican will be published on Wednesday, December 31.

Deadline for advertising copy will be Monday at 5 p.m. Deadline for news material will be Tuesday at noon.

The Republican office will be closed Thursday, January 1.

Holidays Dampened For Three Local Families As Fires Destroy Homes

Christmas will not be as bright as in the past for three Garrett County families this year, all of whom lost their homes to fire this week.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Metz, located near Hazelhurst at Deep Creek Lake, was gutted by an early Monday morning blaze, the house of Karen Sines and her 14-year-old son, located on Finzel Road, was nearly destroyed Monday, and a house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Friend, located on the Sweitzertown Road near Swanton, was destroyed Tuesday afternoon.

Ernest and Jane Metz were awakened by their smoke alarm at 3:35 a.m. Monday and, upon investigation, discovered fire in the ceiling above their coal and wood furnace in the basement. Metz attempted to douse the blaze with water while his wife called for assistance, but the smoke soon became too intense and the couple had to flee the house. They were able to move their family vehicles away from the house, however they lost nearly all of their possessions inside the two-story structure.

The Garrett County Office of Emergency Management alerted the Deer Park and Bittering volunteer fire departments, the Southern Rescue Squad, and the county air cascade vehicle. Upon their arrival, firefighters found most of the house involved in flames.

Summoned later were a tanker from Oakland, while crews from Oakland and Kitzmiller were sent to stand by at Deer Park's station.

The rescue squad transported Ron Beeghley, a member of the Deer Park VFD, to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released for smoke inhalation.

Most heavily damaged in the blaze was the kitchen area, however intense heat and smoke destroyed most of the rest of the house and the items inside.

Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, blamed heat ducts fastened to dry floor joists as to the cause of the fire. He noted once again the importance of smoke detectors, saying that the alarm in the Metz house probably saved their lives.

Firefighters remained on the scene until 8:39 a.m.

Carola said that the Metzses did have insurance on the house and its contents.

Karen Sines and her son were not at their Finzel home when fire broke out there later on Monday, also in the ceiling of the basement.

Allegany Civil Defense sent crews from Eastern Garrett, Grantsville, and Frostburg fire departments after a passerby saw smoke and called for assistance. According to a fire department spokesman, bystanders were able to remove a sofa from the house, however most of the Sines' possessions were destroyed.

Most of the damage was confined to the basement and the living room, but smoke and heat caused extensive damage throughout the house. It was believed the fire started as a result of furnace piping being located too close to the basement ceiling.

It was the cooking of French fries that led to the destruction of the Friend residence in Swanton late yesterday afternoon.

Firemen from Bittering and Deer Park were called by the Office of Emergency Management at 4:28 p.m. and discovered flames coming through the roof of the old large one-story structure.

Summoned a short while later were tankers from Oakland and Deep Creek, while crews from Oakland and Kitzmiller were placed on standby status at Deer Park's station.

According to Carola, Elaine Friend was cooking French fries when the pan of grease burst into flame. Mrs. Friend attempted to douse the fire with flour, but the flames quickly spread to the kitchen cabinets and walls. Mr. Friend was in Oakland at the time.

Carola said the house is used by the Friends primarily on weekends and June Sweitzer resided there during the weeks and looked after the property for the Friends, whose permanent residence is in the Washington, D.C. area.

Because of the rather remote location of the house and some difficulty with water supply, the entire roof burned off the structure and only some of the walls remain. The Friends reportedly had no insurance on the house or contents.

Firefighters remained on the scene until 9:44 p.m. Also responding was the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Two indictments which had been sealed by the September term of the Grand Jury of the Garrett County Circuit Court were unsealed this week and summonses have been served to a Loch Lynn couple for drug-related charges.

Indicted were Lyle K. and Pamela M. Rexrode. They have been charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, possession of cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia.

According to a spokesman from Circuit Court, the indictments were unsealed on December 17 and the summonses served on Sunday.

It had been requested by Cpl. Chester Miller of the Maryland State Police and James L. Sherbin, state's attorney, to seal the indictments returned by the September Grand Jury pending the investigation.

THE LIGHT EXCELLETH THE DARKNESS at the home of Welfon and Joy Lane, located on G Street in Mtn. Lake Park this Christmas season. The restored home which once served as a tourist home and a library is called "The Colonial." The Lane home is among one of the many light shows being displayed around the county now. Word has it that the decorated homes in the Accident area are splendid this season as are many homes in the area. A drive along the highways and byways should provide quite a holiday treat for youngsters of all ages.

Christmas Is Giving . . .

OPERATION SANTA CLAUS, a project sponsored for the past several years by the Oakland Rotary Club, culminated for this holiday season on Saturday with the delivery of food and gift packages to 34 local needy families. In the foreground of the photo above, Rotarian Don Storck assists in the packing of the food boxes at St. Paul's United Methodist Church Friday evening. The effort provided some Christmas cheer to 125 local men, women, and children who were referred to the Rotarians by the Garrett County Social Services Department. Businesses assisting with the project this year were Hometown Market, D&S Trucking, Hecks, and Farmers Market. Members of the Operation Santa Claus committee were Barry Conger, Joe DiSimone, Rick Cropp, John Morris, Tom Browning, Lloyd Jones, and Dave Bolinger.

MAKING CHRISTMAS BRIGHTER for nearly two dozen local elderly couples and individuals were the students of Southern Middle School, who brought in hundreds of pounds of food, clothing and other items which was divided into special packages, gift wrapped, and then delivered to the Area Agency on Aging at the Community Action building in Oakland. The project was sponsored by the S.A. students, one of whom stated "It's a neat feeling helping someone, even though they don't know you." Several local businesses also assisted with the project by donating a variety of needed items and food.

THE TREE WILL BE EXTRA SPECIAL this year for 28 children from Broad Ford Elementary School. Gifts for the children were donated by Browning's Foodland, the Oakland Elks Lodge, Ralph's Richfood and the Broad Ford PTA. Pictured with just a few of the 145 gifts collected, left to right, are volunteers Carolyn Thorn, Carolyn Corley, Kathy DeBerry, Alveria Sweitzer and Thomas Fowler, principal of Broad Ford.

A GIFT EXCHANGE was not held this year by the employees and staff of A&A Realty. Instead, they decided to donate the money they would normally spend on each other to the Garrett Crossroads, Inc., a non-profit housing corporation operated by the Appalachian Center. The $300 collected will be used to purchase gifts for those residents of Crossroads who have little or no family. Presenting the money to William Aspinoli, director of the Center, is Karen Spiker, president of A&A Realty. Last year the A&A staff made a similar donation to the flood victims of West Virginia.

HELPING THE NEEDY — The Oakland Junior Woman's Civic Club recently donated $100 to the Oakland Rotary Club to help fund the annual Christmas basket program which provides food, toys, and clothing to 33 needy families in the Garrett County area. The money was earned by JWCC through pictures taken with Santa Claus at Heck's Department Store, Oakland. Shown presenting the check is Glenda Newcomb, JCCC member, to Joseph DiSimone, Rotary Club member. Heck's donated the use of a camera and a 50 percent discount on the film.

OCPD Arrests One; Investigates Theft And Fire

The Oakland City Police Department was kept busy this past week with various complaints and investigations including one arrest, one theft and a vehicle fire.

According to Police Chief John K. Sines, a Loch Lynn man was arrested Monday evening for disorderly conduct in a public place.

Jerry A. Cline, 35, was arrested and charged with being drunk and disorderly in a public place, assault and battery on a police officer and resisting arrest. According to investigating officer, Cpl. Randy Sines, the incident occurred at about 8:30 p.m. when an anonymous call from Garrett County Memorial Hospital was received regarding a man who was displaying disorderly conduct in the hospital. When Sines arrived at the hospital he reportedly found Cline in the parking area outside the hospital in an alleged drunk and disorderly state.

Cpl. Sines then received assistance from Garrett County Sheriff's Deputy Paul Pratt and Detective Sgt. Donald Tucker.

Cline was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and released on 10 percent of $1,000 yesterday morning, according to a spokesman from the Sheriff's Department.

A theft was also investigated this week by Cpl. Sines. He reported that an undetermined amount of cash was taken from the register at Fox's Pizza Den, Oakland.

Maryland Students Above National Average On Placement Exam Scores

Maryland's brightest public high school students outscored their national counterparts on Advanced Placement Examinations this year, achieving a mean grade on these college-level exams of 3.11 compared with a national mean score of 3.05, according to a release from the Maryland State Department of Education.

The five-point scoring of the advanced placement exams counts a 3 as qualified for advanced placement and a 5 as extremely well qualified. Fifteen percent of AP exams taken by Maryland public high school students received a top score, compared with 13 percent of tests taken nationally.

The release said Maryland is one of 17 states with an exceptionally high rate of participation in the Advanced Placement Program. Black students, however, represented only 4.5 percent of Maryland students taking AP exams last year.

The exams are administered by the College Board to high school students who wish to receive credit or advanced college placement for taking college-level studies. Last May, 17 percent of the nation's college-bound secondary school students took one or more AP exams.

Out of 24 subject area tests, Maryland public high school students outscored the national mean in 11 areas, including history, English, computer science, physics, and music. Maryland students scored below the national mean scores in calculus, biology, chemistry, art history and Spanish.

The total Maryland mean score—a figure that includes scores of private school students—is 3.13, slightly higher than the 3.11 public high school mean score. Nonetheless, the state's public high school students outscored private school students in computer science, math, physics, and music.

Results of the May 1986 AP exams released by the College Board also reveal that 59 percent of all Maryland students taking AP exams had their scores sent to colleges and universities outside Maryland.

The University of Maryland at College Park received 1,307 AP grades, making it the apparent first choice among these highly able students. Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University placed second among institutions favored by students seeking advanced placement. Ranked according to the number of AP exam grades received, five of the top 10 colleges and universities are out of state.

Named Employee Of The Year At Diesel Institute

Lucy E. Stein, Grantsville, was recently voted Employee of the Year by her co-workers at the Garrett Campus of Diesel Institute of America.

Sheldon Monseim, president, presented Ms. Stein with a plaque at the annual Christmas Party held at the Wisp December 17 in recognition of "Faithful And Meritorious Service" during the past year.

Ms. Stein is married to Eugene Stein and they have two children, Stacy, 4 and Kelly, 19 months. She is the daughter of Clarence and Maxine Guthrie, Grantsville.

Smith Attends 4-H Congress For State Of Virginia

Sean Smith, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith, Virginia Beach, Va., attended the 65th National 4-H Congress in Chicago. He represented Virginia at the December 5-12 event as a state winner in Leadership. The state Leadership winners were sponsored by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company who paid for all transportation and lodging.

Smith's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Delores Sharpless, Kitzmiller. His paternal grandfather is James Smith, also of Kitzmiller.

While in Chicago, Smith attended a speech given by Orville Redenbacher, who was a 4-H'er in his youth. Senator Robert Dole also spoke to the Congress and there was a presentation by noted blind composer, Tom Sullivan, whose life was the subject of the motion picture Can You See What I Hear?

Sean has been active in 4-H in Virginia Beach for seven years. He was a member of the 4-H Leadership Component Committee which set the guidelines and rules for the 4-H program in Virginia Beach. Additionally, he helped to pilot the National 4-H Computer Projects Book. He was also active on local and district committees and instructed computer classes for both youth and adult students. As a teen leader, Sean helped develop the guidelines for the 4-H Clover Bud program (a 4-H Club for youth ages 5-8).

There was a dance on December 19. The DJ's were Mike Bittinger and Pat Hanline. There were door prizes. It was sponsored by Student Government.

Student Teacher

A student teacher, Mrs. Candace H. Ferrell, has been teaching Mrs. Green's science class for eight weeks.

She was born in Bangor, Maine, and has lived all over the country. Mrs. Ferrell graduated from Stoneham High School in 1977. She attended D.V.U. from 1977-1981 for a degree in psychology, then she went to Frostburg State for a degree in elementary education. She worked in a lumber industry for 2½ years.

Mrs. Ferrell has a husband named Joseph Ferrell. The thing she likes most about S.M.S. was the students and teachers. The thing she likes is the discipline policy.

She says her future holds a job teaching. Mrs. Ferrell enjoys crocheting and sewing in her spare time and in the summer she works around the house and visits her parents.

We asked Mrs. Ferrell, if she had three wishes, what would they be and she said, "To get a job, to be a good teacher, and have motivated students."

Food Drive

The students of 8A sponsored a food drive for elderly people who don't have any relatives. On December 23, 8A packed foods, made decorations, and cards for elderly people in our community. They then delivered the goods to the Community Action Center where they will be delivered to the people.

We would like to thank the teachers and students of Southern Middle School for supporting our food drive. We feel that we will make many people happy this Christmas.

Use Christmas cards to decorate big boxes that are awkward and expensive to wrap. Cut the illustrations of cards and glue them to boxes.

Local Schools

while PTA representatives will be at the March meeting to present their views.

Recommendations of the ad hoc fund raising committee were presented at the meeting. It was determined at a study level to evaluate the problem and present alternatives.

Information was given concerning the Loch Lynn school district.

Overcrowding and age and condition of the school building have prompted board members to establish a group to study the attendance area and measures to be taken to alleviate the problem.

The goal of the group is to institute a short-range plan whereby the attendance area will be made smaller by bussing some of the students to other schools.

Long-range goals consist of three possible alternatives: for Loch Lynn to continue as is, for the school to close completely, or to build a new school. The problem with the third alternative is that IAC would not fund the project, thereby making it the responsibility of county government.

Athletic financial reports were submitted from both high schools and, according to Mr. Luther Parrick, both schools finished in the black.

Related to this was information from an ad hoc committee studying extra-curricular activities. The committee has recommended that "extra duty positions" be, in some cases, created and, in other instances, salaries be increased to compensate for extra duty positions already held.

The issue has yet to be resolved and has been referred to the Garrett County Teachers' Association.

manager of the establishment, told police that the culprit(s) entered through the front door which he found unlocked when reporting for work on Sunday at about 1 p.m. The restaurant was supposed to have been closed sometime after 11:30 p.m. on Saturday. The investigation is continuing.

Chief Sines investigated a vehicle fire last Friday at 11 a.m. According to a report filed by the owner of the 1978 Chrysler New Yorker, smoke and sparks were emitted from the heater as she was travelling on U.S. Route 219 near the Oak-Land Motel. Sines determined that the fire was not of a suspicious nature.

The vehicle was towed to the residence of the owner.

AS WE HEAD FOR OUR HALF CENTURY MARK

All of us at Englander's Pharmacy want to say thanks to all the friends who joined us in our 40th birthday celebration. We enjoyed your notes and expressions of congratulations.

The oldest prescription bottle filled by the Pharmacy was brought in by Mrs. Alice Fitzwater. It had been filled on October 1, 1959.

Mrs. Francis Martin had saved a bottle of Glycerin and Rosewater with the Englander Pharmacy label bearing the old 10M telephone number.

A mother wrote to us that her fondest memory of the store is the experience one of her sons had as an employee while he was in high school. He had earned enough money to be able to complete high school, which she couldn't have afforded for him. But more important, this mother appreciated that the work habits he developed while employed at Englander's enabled him to find good jobs after graduation.

There were several stories from patrons who recalled being brought to the store by their parents as small children. The soda fountain was important to many as a place to meet teenage friends while they were in school. The Pharmacy was important to young families as a source of information.

Englander's Pharmacy wants to say . . . THANK YOU . . . the most appropriate words we know to convey our gratitude for the friendship and confidence you have shown through the 40 years we have been in business.

It is truly because of you that our Pharmacy has grown and become a strong part of this community. May 1987 and the years to come bring an abundance of good health, happiness and prosperity to each of you and to your families.

Clever Device Fights DWI

A decorated tree, beautiful packages, the singing of carols, joyous children, special programs and worship services, family homecomings, parties with friends, and at least one fantastic dinner are among the finer things of this season, all of which make it a most wonderful time of year. However, all of this can be shattered in an instant by poor judgment on the part of those who have drunk too much alcohol, but have decided to drive anyway. These people are just asking for tragedy.

Garrett County's holiday driving record has been reasonably good in recent years. We hope that one reason for this is that the majority of our citizens are using good judgment when it comes to drinking and driving, such as arranging for a friend who has not been drinking to do the driving.

Although stiffer fines and jail sentences are being handed down to persons guilty of DWI, unfortunately the repeat offender rate remains high. Telling persons not to drive when they are under the influence and then punishing them when they do does not seem to be working satisfactorily. Perhaps it is time to make it so a person cannot drive when under the influence.

The Guardian Interlock Ignition System was designed for this purpose. This invention is a compact breath-testing device that is connected to the ignition of an automobile. To be able to start the car, the driver must first breathe into a mouthpiece. If his or her blood alcohol is above the legal limit, the car will not start.

A judge in Calvert County is putting this new device to use by ordering DWI defenders to purchase and install the system in their automobiles. While we recognize that the constitutionality of such a sentence may be in question, we like his idea because it protects not only innocent, would-be victims along the highways, but also protects the life and property of the offender. It also saves the persons from another embarrassing arrest and possibly the loss of his driver's license.

We have utilized this column in the past to sound off about the dangers of drinking and driving, and to those who never drink and drive, we apologize for being redundant. But as long as persons are dying on our roadways because of alcohol-related mishaps, we believe it is important that we keep harping on the issue. It may also encourage those who are never guilty of DWI to serve as drivers for those who are during this festive season.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging desires to respond to the article "Energy for Giving" which appeared in the December 17 edition of The Republican. Although the article was well intended, demonstrating that students are compassionate and caring, we feel there was some misinformation which should be addressed.

The incident of an elderly person subsisting on cat food due to lack of money, was not based on a local individual. The incident had been relayed to the children by Mrs. Green, a teacher at Southern Middle School. She cited a case from a national report and the information helped spur the children into action and a project was formed to share the Christmas spirit with senior citizens in the county.

Margo Vandiver, Director of the Area Agency on Aging, was contacted by Mrs. Green and the Agency's aid was enlisted to assist the children in spreading holiday cheer to those less fortunate, which could include nursing home residents who have no visitors as well as frail elderly who are homebound.

The Agency was contacted because we are here to serve the senior citizens of Garrett County in numerous capacities. The most well-known, of course, is the nutrition program which serves 25,000 meals yearly to seniors at 10 sites located throughout the county and 7,200 meals are delivered yearly to homebound elderly.

The Agency is well aware of situations similar to the one identified by Mrs. Green, but thankfully, this has not been documented locally. One of the principal reasons for the existence of Area Agencies on Aging is to eliminate such occurrences. To that end, we need everyone's help in bringing situations such as this to light. If anyone in the community knows of an elderly person who could benefit from any of the services offered through our Agency, it should be brought to our attention immediately by contacting our office at 334-9431.

The Area Agency on Aging sends a heartfelt thank you to the students of Southern Middle School and the businesses which assisted them with this valuable project.

Margo Vandiver
Director
Area Agency on Aging

To the Editor:

I am writing on behalf of hundreds of concerned Baltimoreans who oppose the construction of a new stadium. We are against the proposal, which will be presented to the legislature this session, for the following reasons:

1. The Sports Authority based its recommendations on reports that were incomplete and riddled with errors.

2. Because there is no economic impact study, the cost of building a new stadium would require an open-ended budget. It is fiscal irresponsibility to spend $200 to $400 million of the taxpayers' dollars when there are so many more pressing needs.

3. To get what he wants, ex-Mayor, Governor-elect William D. Schaefer is steamrolling this proposal through the legislature. This stadium will be shoved down our throats despite local or statewide opposition.

Please help us by printing this letter in your newspaper and/or writing your own editorial opinion to inform your readers on this important issue.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

I would like to say thanks to some very special folks, whom I had never met, Debbie and James McCroskey.

On September 20 at 3:30 a.m. my son and I were on Boiling Springs Road eastbound to the White farm on Bethlehem Road. We had been on the road for about six hours from Massillon, Ohio, when an oncoming vehicle ran us off of the road. To them it may have been a prank. To us it was very real. I thought my son was dead when I dragged him from the truck and down the road to the first sign of light. These wonderful folks had heard the crash, had gotten out of bed, turned on their lights, and welcomed us with open arms. They helped my son across the porch and in their living room, where he bled on their carpet and furniture. They called in the rescue squad, who treated us and took us to the hospital.

I thank God for folks like this, and ask, would you do this for a stranger?

To the Editor:

With this very special holiday season upon us, I would like to take this opportunity to give thanks to a very special person to the Duckworth family, as well as to many other families in our area. This person is none other than Dr. Calandrella of Kitzmiller, not only a mighty fine gentleman, but a doctor who to this day has no comparison to his talent and kind-hearted treatment of his patients; a family doctor to three generations of the Duckworth family and one who will never be forgotten in our hearts as long as there is one of us still breathing.

In my opinion, it is a downright shame that doctors today cannot be more like the kind of physician he was to his patients; always there when one needed his expert attention.

Thousands of dollars are put into building hospitals, and into equipment to keep people alive but to me, all of the money and equipment in the world will never take the place of the good ol' kind-hearted treatment one used to get from Dr. Calandrella. It was the caring from the heart, and the warm feeling that made a person know Dr.

Calandrella would and could always make you feel better.

A doctor to me is not just a person with a pedigree a full sheet of paper long, and makes loads of money, but a person who, no matter how much money they make, still has time to treat you for an ailment, and when you leave, you just know that the doctor has treated you for just that and there is no more trouble. A few instances like those I have just mentioned really makes one thankful for having Dr. Calandrella around to help us for as long as we did. Have a very happy holiday season, Dr. Calandrella, from all the Duckworth family.

Sincerely,
Don Duckworth

To the Editor:

Seven people were killed on Maryland roads during the Thanksgiving Holiday and not one of these auto fatalities was wearing a safety belt. This is hardly something for which we may be thankful.

We are now in the midst of the holiday season, a period of heavier traffic, poor weather conditions and celebration, which combined increase the risk of highway travel.

Why senselessly add to that risk? Why fail to buckle up? The simple act of putting on a safety belt or using a child safety seat greatly increases the chances of survival in an accident—a fact no one can deny.

Maryland law requires that we buckle up, but this is ultimately up to each of us as individuals. The State and local police can only enforce the law—they can't buckle up each driver and passenger.

Buckling up for safety is our responsibility as law-abiding citizens. More importantly, safety belt use is our responsibility as safe drivers.

After all, what better present for Maryland families in this time of giving and joy, than the saving of lives and anguish by simply buckling up?

Our Turn

Hey, Christmas Tree
by Pam Ashby

Folks, due to technical difficulties beyond my control (I'm suffering from various types of Christmas burn out, i.e. shop out, cookie bake out, tree trim out, Christmas card write out), my column has been reduced to stealing an old German carol and rewriting it out of sheer silliness. Show it to the kids. They'll have a ball singing it.

Hey, Christmas tree, hey, Christmas tree.
You needles brown depress me.
Hey, Christmas tree, hey, Christmas tree.
I paid big bucks to own thee.
Your branches were once green, you know.
You looked so pretty in the snow.
Hey, Christmas tree, hey, Christmas tree.
Your needles brown depress me.

Hey, Christmas tree, hey, Christmas tree.
You give me much displeasure.
Hey, Christmas tree, hey, Christmas tree.
I trimmed you at my leisure.
How oft I watered you in vain.
Stepped on needles, yelled in pain.
Hey, Christmas tree, hey, Christmas tree.
You can be replaced . . . artificially.

Happy holidays and may God bless you.

QUESTIONS THAT POINDEXTER AND NORTH WOULD SURELY ANSWER...

He was born in an obscure village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was 30. He then became an itinerant preacher. He never held an office. He never had a family or owned a house. He didn't go to college. He had no credentials but himself.

Nineteen centuries have come and gone, and today He is the central figure of the human race.

All the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever sailed, all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned have not affected the life of man on this earth as much as that one solitary life.

Merry Christmas and a blessed New Year to all through that one solitary life, Jesus, our King.

According to the Pittsburgh News, a Nativity (manger) scene near a courthouse offended some delicate sensibilities, with the whole incident ending up in a law suit. Seems the very idea of the Virgin Birth infuriates these people. So what! It's history! We can't change the truth of a historical happening that took place back during the days of the Roman Empire just so it won't offend someone. They don't have to look at it.

It's great to see Christians no longer acting like cowards. The Nativity scene is still there,

NEWS

THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

POINTERS FOR FIREWOOD BUYERS

As temperatures drop, the demand for firewood rises. Garrett County Project Forester Ernie Metz cautions firewood buyers to be aware of what they are buying.

According to Maryland law, firewood must be sold on the basis of a standard cord, or a portion of a cord, "the amount of wood which is contained in a space of 128 cubic feet, when the wood is stacked and well stowed." A cord is a volume measure arrived at by multiplying the height times the length of the stack, times the length of the sticks, all measurements in feet. Commonly, a standard cord is thought to be four feet high, by four feet wide, by eight feet long.

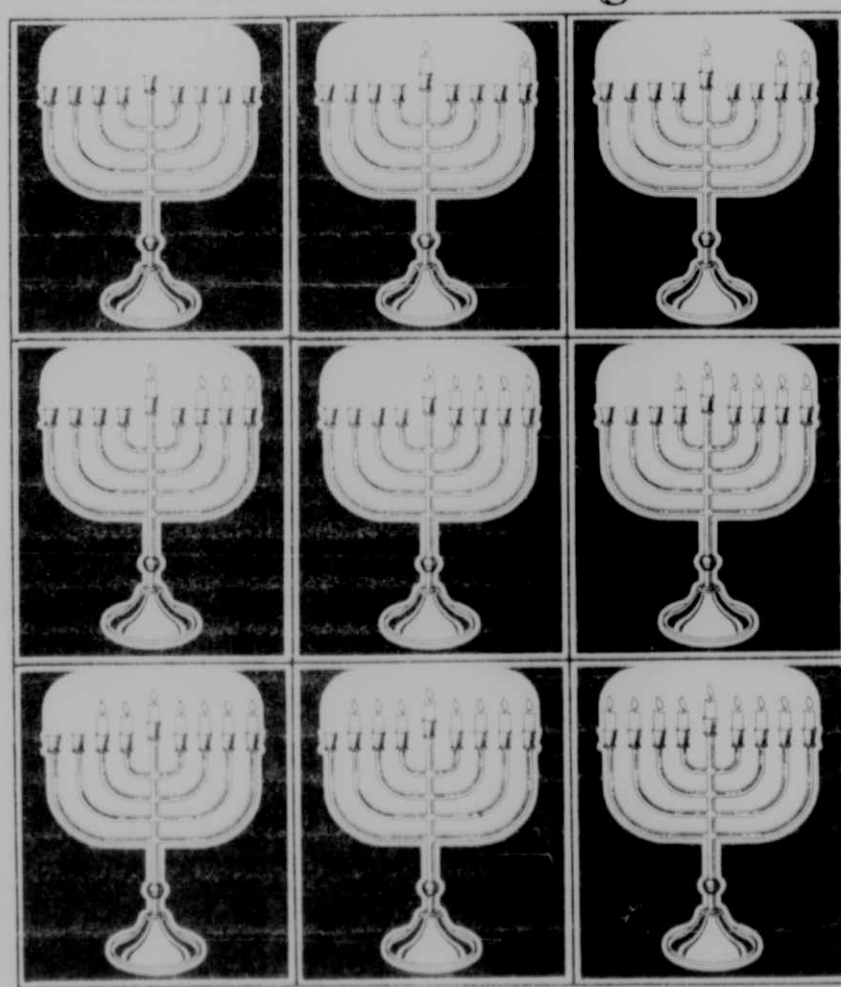

The law was designed as a consumer protection measure, to protect the fuelwood buyer from measurements such as "face cord", or "truck load" which vary in volume.

A firewood seller should also identify the wood by species group and say if the wood is unseasoned (green) or dry. A representation of two or more species groups shall indicate within five percent accuracy the percentages of each group.

The Weights and Measures Section of the Maryland Department of Agriculture is responsible for enforcing the method sale of commodities regulations. The Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Department of Natural Resources, works cooperatively with them to get consumer information to the using public.

Individuals interested in purchasing firewood should contact the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service office at the Mt. Nebo Work Center, telephone number 391-334-3296, for information. A listing of licensed Forest Products Operators is available to all interested parties.

December Marks The 250th Anniversary Of The Potomac River's First Survey

by Bernice Kepple

Just over 250 years ago, a group of men, sent by the king of England and Virginia's Lord Fairfax to survey the Potomac River, camped, cold and starving, at the mouth of a savage, raging river. It was November 29, and the group of 17 surveyors and assistants had been measuring and mapping the North Branch of the Potomac River since leaving Harpers Ferry early in October.

The tenth month was late in the year to start a journey into the mountains. However, the surveyors had hoped that by leaving late the dangerous snakes which lived among the river rocks would be in hibernation. Their start was also delayed because it took more than a week just to get all the king's horses, and their own horses, shod and ready for the trip. To add to the delay, horses belonging to one of the surveyors mysteriously came up missing, and the others went on, leaving that man to find or replace his animals which were the only means of transportation for himself and his baggage.

Who were these men, who Stephen Schlosnagle describes in his book, "Garrett County: A History of Maryland's Tableland" as the first white men ever to visit present-day Garrett County? Representing the king were surveyors Major William Mayo and Robert Brooke, working for Lord Fairfax were Captain Benjamin Winslow and John Savage. At the same time, another party of surveyors set out to map the Rappahannock River. The goal of both teams was to "measure the breadth and depth of the said two branches at the mouths thereof and also the extent of them to their respective first heads or springs that feed and supply the said branches" and to establish Lord Fairfax's estate with the king of England.

The king's commissioner, William Byrd, was very displeased with the delay met by the surveyors on the Potomac, and wrote a prodding letter to the party. "Your proceedings gentlemen," he wrote the surveyors, "have been very dilatory and we can't construe your conduct other ways than you imagine you are to be paid by the day and that you intend for that reason to make the most of." He added that they were not to spend their time in sloth and merriment and promised to examine each day's proceedings and pay them not according to their time, but according to their accomplishments.

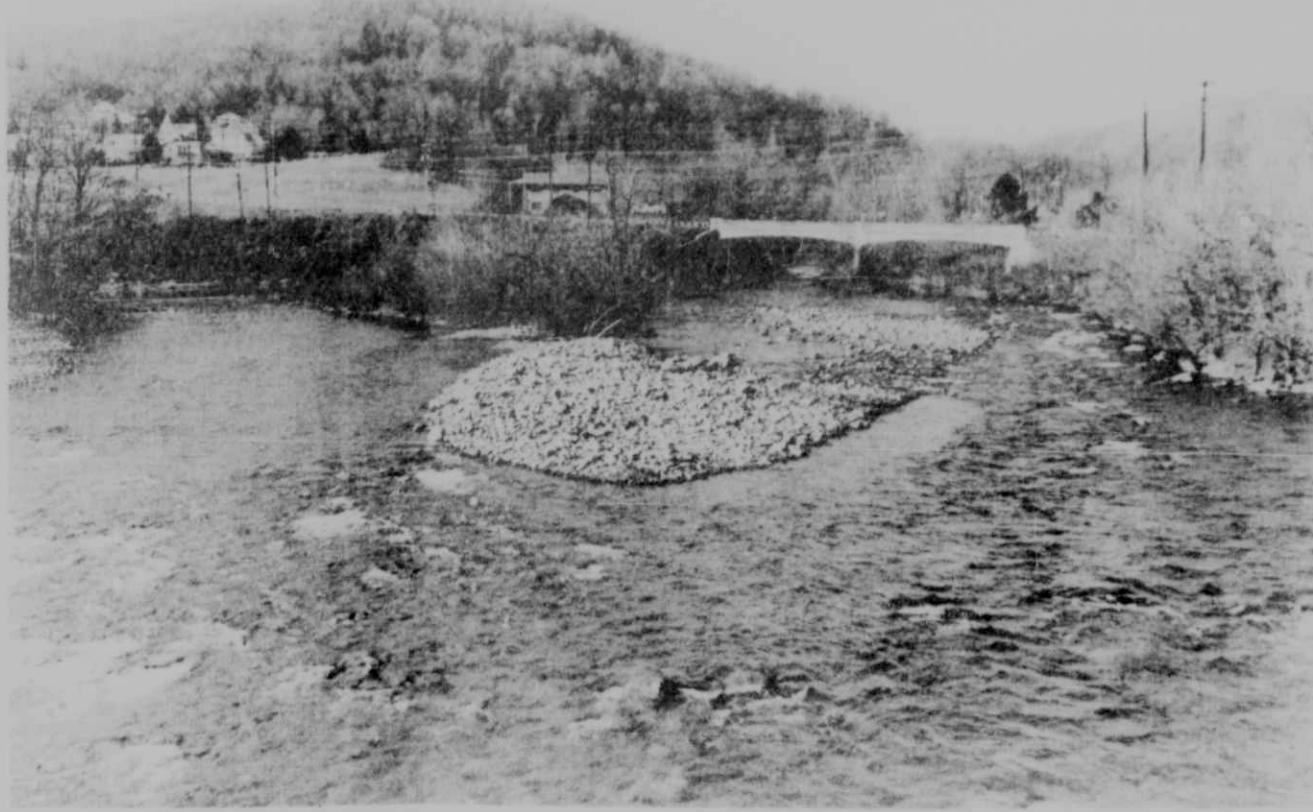

Winslow and Savage were indignant at the commissioner's unfounded implications and wrote a letter in return. Along with that letter, they enclosed their journal so that the commissioners might be sure that they were not guilty of any breach of trust. "The difficulties that lie before us and ye many greater we daily expect do not in the least discourage us from the prosecution of the great trust repos'd in us with the utmost circumspection..." they wrote.

But finally they were on the move, through weather that was hard on both men and horses. They were met by bitter cold, rain, sleet, and snow (two snowstorms hit during the month of October alone). The surveying equipment was heavy and awkward. The footing was bad. Horses were injured, or wandered off never to be found. And their problems were just beginning.

On October 12, Winslow wrote in his journal: "Last night one of the king's baggage horses fell down a rock and disabled himself so much that he can't stand." The next day, his journal continued: "It began to rain at nine in ye morning and continued all day. Maj. Mayo's horses stray'd away, it continued raining. One of My Lord's baggage horses and Maj. Mayo's is not to be found."

In his journal recordings on October 14, Winslow concluded that their horses were very poor and not able to carry their provisions. It was agreed to make a "cornue" and the company began to fell a tree that afternoon. He also noted that it continued to rain.

That first canoe was completed and launched on October 16. The party stayed in camp through Sunday, October 17, and received news that the king's horse that had fallen down the rock that previous Monday, had died. All this time it had continued to rain. His journal noted that it rained all Sunday night, but Monday morning became fair. "We find that our horses would be very

AT THE MOUTH OF THIS RAGING RIVER, later to be known as the Savage River (right), a group of cold, tired, starving surveyors and their assistants set up camp on November 29, 1736. They were on their way to the headsprings of the North Branch of the Potomac, surveying and mapping, to establish the estate of Virginia's Lord Fairfax with the king of England. This year, 1986, marks the 250th anniversary of that undertaking, with the Savage River, the first geographic feature in Garrett County to receive a white man's name, remaining the only tributary of the Potomac to keep its original name.

troublesome to us and a great hindrance to the business in hand and of little use, we determined for the greater dispatch to ease ourselves of that trouble to quit them in this place and pursue our business on foot and for the carriage of our provisions to make use of canoes so that we began to make another this morn."

Several of the men, under the leadership of a Thomas Ashby, after hearing the decision to proceed on foot, left the party. An entry in the journal stated: "...he insisted he would carry his horse as far as he pleas'd, we reason'd with him some time but all would not do, for unless he could do as he pleas'd he would go back and that every one of his men (as he cald them) would go one and all together."

Those disgruntled men hurried back to the Fairfax commissioners and gave a rather uncomplimentary and one-sided account of the survey. This provoked another letter of censure from the commissioners. In that letter they threatened to believe the deserters if work the party had undertaken was not completed that season. They also noted (from Ashby's report) "and we apprehend you have had very good weather." Meanwhile, it continued to rain.

On October 19, Israel Friend was hired as a "pilot" for the party on their journey up the Potomac. Friend, whose home the party had visited near Harpers Ferry, was a cousin of the early Garrett County settlers. Being hired as a guide for the party, he worked for both sides of the question, the King and Lord Fairfax.

The third canoe was finished and launched on October 22 and the party put all the provisions in the canoes and proceeded to survey. However, after five miles Maj. Mayo fell off a rock while surveying and hurt himself so badly that he could not walk and was obliged to travel by canoe.

It continued to rain. Journal reports told of several great falls on the river which made it very hard work getting the canoes over. An entry on October 26 said: "It snow'd two hours, we were oblig'd to stay for our canoes, the river being broad and the waters shoal that they were for it to drag the vessels most part of the way, we had very bad going with rocks close to the river." It was at this point, an obvious low point of the trip, that the surveyors received the commissioner's letter concerning the Ashby report.

The surveying party toiled on, and through more bad weather and hardships reached the mouth of the "raging river." Their food supplies exhausted, they were faced with starvation.

In spite of Ashby's report, Commissioner Byrd had warmly praised not only the "uncommon skill, but also the courage and indefatigable industry" of Mayo, Brooke, and Winslow.

According to one member of the party, they decided from necessity to kill and eat one of their own surveyors, John Savage, he being "the most worthless member of their party" as a result of failing eyesight. This was reported to Commissioner Byrd who after praising Mayo, Brooke, and Winslow, later wrote: "Neither the unexpected distance, nor the danger of being doubly starved by hunger and excessive cold, could in the least discourage them from going through with their work, though at one time they were almost reduced to the hard necessity of cutting up the most useless person among them, Mr. Savage, in order to support and save the lives of the rest. But providence prevented that dreadful blow by an unexpected supply another way, and so the blind surveyor escaped."

Yes, supplies came just in the nick of time to save Savage, and the river by which they were encamped was named in his honor. The Savage River was therefore the first geographic feature in Garrett County to receive a white man's name, and was the only tributary of the Potomac to keep the name given it by the original surveying party.

Before returning east, just before Christmas, the Winslow-Mayo party completed its mission by blazing marks on trees near the supposed headsprings of the Potomac River.

An extensive study of the 1736 survey has been made by Jim Raleigh, of Colts Neck, N.J., vice commodore of the American Canoe Association, who has run the rapids of the Savage River about 20 times. Raleigh notes that at least two maps, showing both rivers were developed, one credited to William Mayo and the second to John Warner.

The "backline," the line between the Rappahannock and the headspring of the Potomac, was not actually surveyed until ten years later, 1746. Peter Jefferson, the father of Thomas Jefferson, and Benjamin Wirslow, the only man from the first Potomac survey, accompanied by the surveyor Thomas Lewis, were commissioned by the king of England "to run the dividing line between His Majesty and Ld Fairfax from the head spring of the Rappahannock to the head spring of the North Branch of the Potomack."

They returned to the area by an overland route, found the blazed trees marked in 1736, and planted a stone marker at the site on October 22. This was the survey that actually placed the first Fairfax Stone.

According to Raleigh, this survey led to an update of the Warner map showing the backline. The famous and copied Jefferson-Fry Map was also made after this survey. The original Winslow map is still on display at the Enoch Pratt Library in Baltimore, and a large copy of the same map is on display in the Garrett County Historical Museum in Oakland.

The Savage River, though named by circumstance after a mere human, is still a savage, raging river today. And to see the river as it is, and was, gives even more credit to those surveyors who struggled to map the river and open the county to civilization.

NHS Committee Raising Funds

The Northern High School Student Council Ways and Means Committee is in the midst of a busy year, fulfilling its responsibility to raise money for the student body and for the Annual Student Council Honors Banquet in the spring. Members of the committee are, pictured left to right, Crissy Sisler, Tammy Brenneman, Aaron Zumpano, Stephanie Broadwater, and Connie Bowman, chairperson.

Miss Bowman, a senior, resides in McHenry and is the daughter of Sam and Norma Bowman. Her activities include Senior Class vice president, Ski Club and Student Council representative. Her honors include, Who's Who Among American High School Students and awards from the U.S. Achievement Academy. She enjoys snow skiing. Her ambition is to get a good job once she graduates, to get married and have a family, and eventually go to college for business management or cosmology-beautician.

Aaron, the son of Pat and Gene Zumpano of Grantsville, is a junior. He participates in varsity football, baseball, and basketball and is in Letterman's Club. His ambition is to go to the University of Maryland and major in criminology.

Miss Broadwater is a sophomore and the daughter of Mary Jane Yoder and Garland Broadwater, both of Grantsville. She is involved in band, pep band, Student Council representative, Bonfire Committee and Girls Basketball. She plans to further her education.

Miss Brenneman is a freshman and the daughter of Harley and Joyce Brenneman of Grantsville. Her activities include Girl's Junior Varsity Volleyball, Girl's Varsity Club and Chorus. Tammy's honors are the Who's Who Achievement Award, The Outstanding Achievement Award, The Art Award and she has placed in the talent show for four consecutive years. She also sings at special events and at churches. She is a member of the youth at Glade Mennonite Church. Her interests include music, art and sports and she plans to further her education in music.

Miss Sisler, a sophomore, is the daughter of Glenn and Delores Sisler, Grantsville. She enjoys rollerskating, ice skating, and horseback riding. She is actively involved in tennis and is a member of SADD. She is an honor roll student and received the Who's Who Award and participates in youth and chorus at her church. Crissy's main ambition is to become an elementary school teacher.

The Ways and Means Committee members are presently selling pencils, Husky pins, and magnetic mirrors for the new lockers.

Becky Baker Weds Robert Kirk In November Candlelight Ceremony

Becky Baker, daughter of Dennis and Barbara Baker of Terra Alta, became the bride of Robert Kirk, son of Janet and Pete Kirk also of Terra Alta, in a candlelight ceremony November 1 in the Hillcrest Chapel, Terra Alta, with George Kirk officiating.

Beverly Kerns, organist and aunt of the groom, accompanied Brian Beckman and Hope Knotts, who sang "Endless Love", and Rich Harmon and Mary Davis, who sang "Friends and Lovers". Candelabra and unity candles were placed on the altar, and pink and white bows were placed on alternating pews with candles at the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and misty nylon tulle. The lace bodice was enhanced with a scooped neckline sprinkled with iridescent paillettes and seed pearls and was fashioned with long sleeves, and full nylon tulle skirt set off by the pointed overskirt of lace.

The eight-foot veil, which was made by Sandy Vogel, fell from a crowned-shaped headpiece trimmed with sequins, seed pearls, and lace, fell into layers of nylon tulle with sequins, seed pearls and lace on the train. Her bouquet was of cascade burgundy, pink, and ivory roses.

Angela DeLauder, of Terra Alta, was the maid of honor. She wore a pink floor-length gown with lace trimming, and carried a pink candlelit lantern with pink and burgundy flowers surrounding it.

Kalee Taylor and Lois Anderson, both of Terra Alta, were bridesmaids, and also wore floor-length gowns which were pink with lace trimming. The bridesmaids also carried lighted candlesticks with pink and burgundy roses.

Jana Kerns, niece of the groom, was the flower girl and wore an ivory floor-length gown trimmed with pink ribbon. She carried a basket of pink, burgundy, and ivory roses.

The ring bearer was Chad Baker, brother of the bride. He wore an ivory tuxedo with pink trimmings and carried an ivory satin pillow with pink and burgundy roses.

John Burns, of Crellin, was the best man, and ushers were Tim Kirk, brother of the groom, and Denny Baker, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a two-piece suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink and burgundy roses. The groom's mother chose a blue and white dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink and burgundy roses.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at Alpine Lake Resort & Conference Center. The three-tiered cake was baked and decorated by Ruby Ringer of Terra Alta. The white cake was decorated with pink and burgundy flowers and was supported by crystal pillars and held a crystal heart-shaped top, also with pink and burgundy flowers surrounding it.

Blanche Kirk and Joan Webster, both of Terra Alta, cut the cake; Kaye Baker, of Crellin, presided at the punch bowl; Ellen Mayne, of Terra Alta, presided at the coffee stand; and Mrs. Jeanne Cramer was in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of East Preston Senior High School and is employed by Garrett National Bank in Oakland. The groom is a 1982 graduate of East Preston Senior High School and is employed by J & J Ford Sales in Terra Alta.

The couple took a wedding trip to Florida, where they joined Rob and Lori Markwood of Terra Alta, and Allen and Karen Lambert of Florida, for a

Twenty-Four Die In Auto Mishaps

Twenty-four traffic fatalities were reported throughout the State of Maryland during the week ending December 21. Among these fatalities, 14 were drivers (one was a motorcyclist), three were passengers, and seven were pedestrians.

Preliminary investigation of these accidents disclosed that alcohol was a contributing factor in eight deaths, speed in 12 and driver error in 18.

The 1986 Christmas Holiday will begin 6:00 p.m. Tuesday, December 23, and ends midnight, Thursday, December 25, 1986.

Traffic fatalities in Maryland through December 21 total 762, compared to 717 during the same period last year.

4-H CLUB NEWS

COUNTRY KIDS 4-H CLUB
 by Reporters Barbara and Paul Browning

The Country Kids 4-H Club went caroling in Deer Park on December 16 and held a short business meeting afterward in the Deer Park Community Building.

Members were informed of a county roller skating trip to LaVale on January 29, and told they would receive more details at a later date.

They were also reminded that steers should be tattooed in December and that elections will be held at the next meeting.

Brenda Caldwell played some Christmas songs on the flute and Barbara Browning had a ceramics display.

The next meeting will be on January 20 at 7 p.m. in the Deer Park Community Building, with special guest Alice Heyner, Extension agent, speaking on program planning. New members are always welcome to join the club.

On Dean's List

Regina Dawn Canan, a local student at Asbury College, has been named to the Dean's List for the fall quarter. She is the daughter of Milton and Dawn Canan, Accident, and a graduate of Northern High School.

Asbury College, named after Bishop Francis Asbury, first Methodist Bishop and Circuit Rider in America, was founded in 1890 as a Christian liberal arts school in Wilmore, Ky.

Low-Interest Loans Available Through DECD

The Community Development Administration (CDA) announced this week that low-interest loans are still available to establish group homes and emergency and temporary housing facilities.

The funds are available through CDA's Group Home Acquisition Program, which provides qualified nonprofit organizations with low-interest loans to purchase and modify housing to establish group homes and emergency and temporary housing facilities. A division of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, CDA is Maryland's housing finance agency.

The loans may be used to finance the purchase of buildings, minor modifications and improvements, and closing costs. The maximum loan may not exceed the appraised value of the property.

To qualify for a loan, nonprofit organizations must demonstrate the capacity to manage the project, provide necessary services, upkeep and maintenance, and repay the loan.

The group homes and temporary and emergency housing facilities should serve the elderly, the handicapped, people with low incomes and people with special housing needs. At least 51% of the residents in the project must meet the income limits of the program on a countywide or area-wide basis, adjusted for family size. Priority will be given to projects which serve the greatest numbers of lowest income persons and households.

Interest rates can range from 7.5 percent to zero percent, and are based on the income of the residents and the projected income available to repay the loan. Repayment of the principal and interest can be deferred, at CDA's discretion.

Group homes offer common living, dining and sanitary facilities, shared or independent sleeping facilities, supportive services and supervisory live-in personnel. Group homes may include emergency and temporary shelters.

The Group Home Acquisition Program is one of 14 programs created by the 1986 General Assembly as part of the Governor's $38 million housing initiatives.

For information about the program, or to obtain an application packet, persons may contact CDA's Rehabilitation and Special Programs office at 1-800-492-7127.

Don and Neva Frantz and their children, Donnie, Melvin and Melissa of Randolph, Ill., are spending the holidays in Egdon with their parents, the Raymond Frantz and the Melvin Frantz family.

Also visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Frantz at Egdon is another son, his wife and daughter, James, Diana and Erin of Charleston, S.C.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles and Curt Teets at Egdon were their daughter and grandchildren, 4 Clinton, Md. Mrs. Robert Maxey, Karen Maxey, Paula and Sanford Ziskler. Joining them for Sunday dinner were other family members and guests, Marvin and Ellen Harsh and Lynette, Jeff and Cindy Harsh, Mrs. Thoma Maxey and Mrs. Griffin.

An early Christmas dinner was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Fike in Egdon. Those family members attending were Mrs. Josephine Ashby, Steve and Sherry Ashby, Lori and Brian, Ed and Sherri Bentley and Christopher, Shelia and a friend, Lisa, and Randy and Marcia Ashby, all of the Oakland area. Elise Harsh, David and Rita Harsh, Grant and Marcia of Anby, and Kayne and Georgia Fike of Red House.

Also and Mary Teets and their grandsons, Justin of Staunton, Va., were weekend guests in Aurora of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Teets and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Myers.

To Heave Golden Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harsh will observe their 50th wedding anniversary on January 1, at their home near Egdon. Mrs. Harsh is the former Grace Evans, a daughter of the late Roscoe and Walter Evans. Mr. Harsh is the son of the late Nelson and Carrie Harsh. They and their immediate families shared dinner together on December 13 and on January 1, a covered dish dinner at the Maple Spring Church will give their friends and other relatives an opportunity. Those who wish may join in the dinner which will be served about 12:15 p.m. The Harshes reside at Rt. 1, Egdon.

Deaths Noted
Maie (Bertha) Arns, 96, died Saturday, December 20 at the Goodwill Memorial Home in Chesapeake where she had been a resident for several years. A former resident of Egdon, she was a daughter of Lloyd and Anna Winters Heckert and was looking forward to her 101st birthday on February 13. Her husband, Elmer Arns, and two sons, Paul and Lawrence, preceded her in death. Services were held from the St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House on Monday, December 22 with the pastor, Rev. Daniel Naemensen, and Rev. J. Rogers Fike officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery. One local surviving grandchild is Mrs. Barbara Houser.

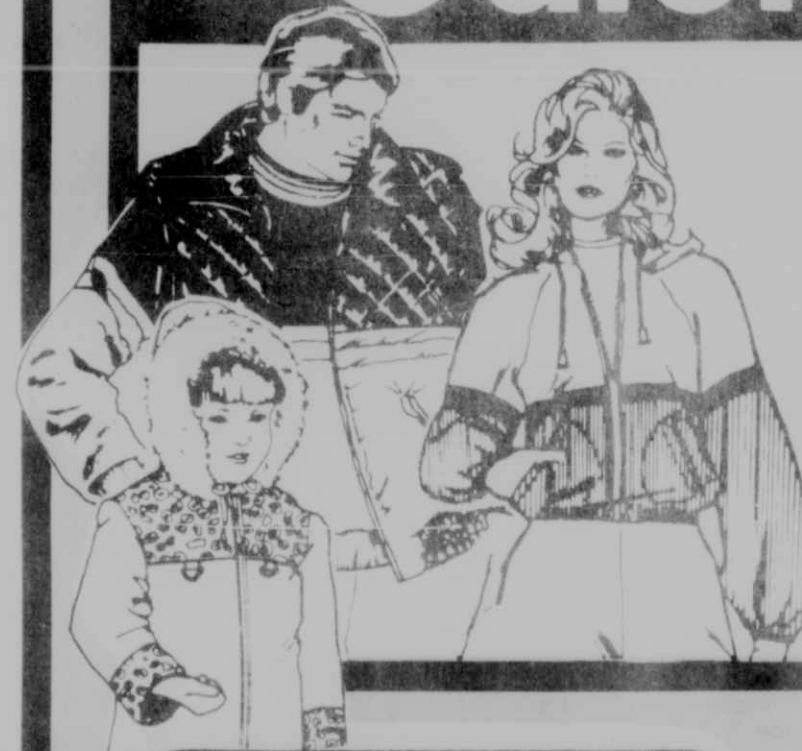

Charles Elmer Slaubaugh, 94, of Egdon died Friday, December 19 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland. He was born near Egdon June 23, 1892, a son of the late El and Mary Rembold Slaubaugh. His wife, May, preceded him in death in October 1986.

He is survived by one son, Darrell Slaubaugh, Egdon, one sister, Hattie Lynch, Keyser, seven grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Services were held at Hinkle Funeral Home Chapel on Monday, December 22, by the Rev. Annabelle Childers and interment followed in the Greeny Cemetery at Greedy Church.

Huskies Fall To 1-4 With Loss To Allegany

The Northern Huskies saw their season record fall to 1-4 Saturday night in Cumberland when they were thumped by Allegany, 67-41.

It was the fourth straight loss by Coach Harv Speicher's squad after opening the campaign with a win. Allegany improved to 2-2, with their other victory coming at the expense of Southern High School in the Campers' season opener.

Allegany jumped out to a 20-10 lead by the end of the first quarter and were never threatened in the contest. They stretched their advantage to 35-19 by halftime and led 51-30 after three quarters of action.

Pat McGregor and Nate Baker led the winners with 16 points each, while Bobby Martin and Mike Robeson paced Northern with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Husky Grapplers Drop Close One To Hyndman, Pa.

After opening the season with a win, the Northern High wrestlers were edged last Thursday evening at home by Hyndman, 36-30.

Mark Rodeheaver and R.J. Wilt earned pins for the Huskies, while Wayne Tabor gained a technical fall over his opponent and Mike Warnick and Tom Savage were awarded victories via forfeits.

Ed Miller and Ken Mofkey recorded pins for Hyndman, now 1-1 on the season. The Huskies were slated to participate in the University High Tournament in Morgantown on Saturday, however results of that event were unavailable.

Ram Wrestlers Flattened In Tri-Angular Meet

Although a few members of the Southern High wrestling team are enjoying rather successful seasons thus far, the team as a whole has yet to record a win. In a triangular meet last Thursday the Rams were whitewashed by Valley, 69-0, and then flattened by East Preston, 54-17, on the Black Knights' mats.

All but one of the Rams who participated in the Valley match were pinned. Southern's Todd Beahm was not pinned, but was edged in points, 10-8, by Shawn Llewellyn in the 126-pound class.

In the loss to East Preston the Rams received pin victories from Art Fedde in the 112-pound class, Todd Beahm, and Shawn Eyley in the 145-pound division.

Valley then proceeded to whip East Preston, 60-9.

The Rams will not return to action until after the holiday break.

Rams Crushed By Black Knights, Then Rebound Against Indians

The Southern High boys' varsity basketball team was crushed Friday evening at Lonaconing by the Valley Black Knights, 71-43, but rebounded Monday evening to record a 69-53 victory over host Mt. Savage.

The Rams are now 3-3 on the season and will host their annual Snowball Classic next Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 29-30.

Southern fell behind early in the Valley contest and was down 19-8, 35-19, and 53-27 at the quarters, as the Black Knights improved their record to 3-1.

John Smith paced the Knights with 14 points, while Frank Garlitz and Chris Winner each

J.R. Bosley led the Rams with 13 points, while Jim Liller was close behind with 12.

In the preliminary contest the Southern Jayvees were nipped by their Valley counterparts, 50-49, when Keith Whittington netted a free throw, his only point of the game, with just three seconds remaining.

Richard Evick led the junior Rams and all scorers, finishing with 27 points.

A 19-point performance by Jim Liller highlighted the Rams' win over Mt. Savage on Monday.

Coach Oren Yoder's squad was behind throughout much of the contest, as the Indians held a 12-11 lead at the end of the first quarter and were on top 31-28 at halftime. However, the Rams out-scored the Indians in the third stanza 20-14 and went into the final period leading 48-45. Southern continued to pour it on in the fourth quarter, netting 21 more points, while the Ram defense held Savage to just eight markers.

Mt. Savage had opened the season with four straight wins, but have now dropped two straight. Their 6-3 center, Todd Mallory, who was averaging nearly 20 points per game, missed the last two games with a hairline fracture of a finger.

Bosley and Max Hill also reached double figures for the Rams, finishing with 14 and 12 points, respectively, while Mt. Savage's John Lohnas led all scorers with 25 points. Mickey Burkett finished with 14 for the Indians.

IN MEMORY OF

Our Dear Mother With Love

Edna Alice (Blamble) Lewis

March 4, 1895 - December 30, 1985

This month comes with sad regrets. The day of the month we will never forget. When you, Mother, were called to your heavenly rest.

Your life here was full of work, and labor great. With a large family and lots of hardships you were blessed.

Memory is a gift of God that death cannot destroy. And my mind goes back to other yesterdays. And the happy days that used to be.

Your gentle touch, and a whisper everything will be all right. To hear you laugh, to see you smile, And to see the little twinkle in your eye.

To talk with you for a while. The lessons you taught were many. And my visits with you were many.

You suffered much, your pleasures few. You never deserved what you went through. You took the test, you did an excellent job. Mother. We loved you dearly. God loved you best.

We needed another Angel in his beautiful garden. To worship at his throne, so he took you home. To be with Him, where pain and suffering are no more.

A year has passed and how sad without you. The time seems so long but, as long as memory lasts. You will always live within our heart.

For you, Mother, this is the beginning, and not the end.

Sadly missed by Alma, Your other Children And our Families

Our wish for all of you from all of us at the BIG TEE BURGER

May peace, good health and happiness be yours during this Christmas Season and throughout the New Year!

Have a Safe and Happy Holiday

WHAT TO WEAR IN WINTER

Natural fibers like wool and down have been considered the warmest materials available for quite a while. Synthetics could not compete in frigid weather. Recently, however, man-made fibers have been developed that rival the natural fabrics for warmth and actually offer some distinct advantages.

One such fabric, woven from polyester or nylon fiber, is pile. It is produced so that it retains insulating dead air for warmth in cold-weather clothing. Natural fibers like wool and down are effective because of this same dead air principle. But, when natural materials are wet, they have their drawbacks. Down loses its warmth altogether. Wet wool is still warm, but its fibers readily absorb moisture, increasing its weight considerably. Plus, wet wool dries very slowly.

Pile is as warm as wool—even when wet. Unlike wool, however, moisture collects only in the air spaces between fibers rather than in the fibers themselves. A wet garment made of pile can be shaken vigorously or squeezed to remove most of the moisture, and put back on. The remaining moisture quickly evaporates after exposure to body heat.

Pile garments are, therefore, ideal for use in a cold wet climate. And since pile does not absorb water, its light weight can always be counted on.

just like a wool sweater since it traps dead air, is porous and is ideal for layering.

Layering several thin garments made of warm materials heightens the dead air principle. It also means you can adjust clothes to suit the activity, peeling off layers when overheated, adding them when chilled. In the case of the pile jacket, add extra warmth with a windbreaking shell over it.

Even with this new fabric on the market, natural fibers like wool and down continue to be winter favorites. The wool sweater is ever fashionable, and backpackers are not about to abandon down, because of it being an excellent insulator that can also be compressed into a neat ball for packing.

FOOD NOTES

Do you sometimes wonder what to do with your leftover Christmas turkey? Here is a good idea!

TURKEY POPOVER PIE
cup diced cooked turkey
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup flour
¾ cup milk
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, cooked, lightly drained
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
¼ cup chopped pecans
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1 medium tomato, chopped
Preheat oven to 375° F.
Sprinkle Parmesan cheese into a buttered 10-inch quiche dish or pie plate. Combine eggs, flour and milk. Beat until smooth. Pour into quiche dish.
Combine turkey, spinach, cream cheese, pecans, salt and nutmeg. Carefully spoon over egg mixture leaving 1-inch border around edge. Sprinkle Cheddar cheese and tomato over spinach mixture. Bake in oven 50 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven and let stand 10 minutes. Cut into wedges and serve. Yield: 6 servings.

Merry Christmas!!!

Two Motorists

Stopped For DWI

Two motorists were apprehended this week by the Maryland State Police and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Randall A. Sheltre, 18, Oakland, was stopped for speeding on Saturday at 12:45 a.m. on U.S. Route 135, near Oakland. Upon apprehension, Tfc. R.M. Hershberger also charged Sheltre with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Jeffrey R. Watson, 26, Cumberland, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol on Monday at 7:35 p.m. on Alternate U.S. Route 40 on the Savage Mountain.

Efforts are being stepped up during the holiday season by the Maryland State Police to stop drivers from drinking.

PUBLIC NOTICES

Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, MD 21550

Sealed proposals for treatment plant construction will be received by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, at the Mayor's Office, 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Copies may be obtained at the above mentioned addresses upon payment of one hundred dollars, ($100) which is non-refundable to non bidders. Checks shall be made payable to: Mayor and Town Council of Oakland.

Bidders shall examine the contract drawings and specifications carefully and shall make personal examination of the location and nature of the proposed work. In case doubt shall arise as to the meaning or intent of anything in the contract drawings or specifications, inquiry shall be made of the Owner in writing before the proposal is submitted. No verbal answers to inquiries will be given. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

NON-DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT
Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order Number 11246. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications.

All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bid bond in the amount of five percent (5%) of the amount of the proposal but not less than $1,000 made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check or bid bond of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be forfeited to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland as liquidated damages in the event the contract and bonds are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution. The form of bid bond is bound in the contract specifications.

All proposals must be submitted on the prepared forms. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address, corporate seal affixed, and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for contract 85-2 treatment plant."

Proposals made in pencil and/or any other than the prepared forms will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the proposal, additions or limiting provisions will render the proposal informal and may cause its rejection.

Bidders shall also complete the following forms which are bound in the contract specifications:

1. Minority Business Enterprises (MBE) Participation Documentation Form, Part I or Part II as applicable.

2. Attachment D. Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a period of ninety (90) days after the date of opening of bids.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to furnish individual performance and payment bonds to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, each in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of his proposal, similar to the form of bond hereto attached. The bonding company shall be licensed to do business in Maryland. The bonds will be subject to the approval of the Owner.

NOTICE

Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, MD 21550

Sealed proposals for collection system construction will be received by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, at the Mayor's Office, 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Copies may be obtained at the above mentioned addresses upon payment of one hundred dollars, ($100) which is non-refundable to non bidders. Checks shall be made payable to: Mayor and Town Council of Oakland.

Bidders shall examine the contract drawings and specifications carefully and shall make personal examination of the location and nature of the proposed work. In case doubt shall arise as to the meaning or intent of anything in the contract drawings or specifications, inquiry shall be made of the Owner in writing before the proposal is submitted. No verbal answers to inquiries will be given. The submission of a proposal shall indicate that the bidder thoroughly understands the contract drawings and the terms of the specifications.

To better insure fair competition and to permit a determination of the lowest bidder, unresponsive bids or bids obviously unbalanced, may be rejected by the Owner.

NON-DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT
Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order Number 11246. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications.

All work on this project shall be performed in accordance with the requirements of the Davis-Bacon Act and Copeland Anti-Kickback Act.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or satisfactory bid bond in the amount of five percent (5%) of the amount of the proposal but not less than $1,000 made payable to the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., and unless so accompanied will not be considered. The check or bid bond of the bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be forfeited to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland as liquidated damages in the event the contract and bonds are not executed within ten (10) days after receiving the contract for execution. The form of bid bond is bound in the contract specifications.

All proposals must be submitted on the prepared forms. Proposals must be signed by the bidder with his name and address, corporate seal affixed, and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for contract 85-1 collection system."

Proposals made in pencil and/or any other than the prepared forms will not be considered. Changes in the phraseology of the proposal, additions or limiting provisions will render the proposal informal and may cause its rejection.

Bidders shall also complete the following forms which are bound in the contract specifications:

1. Minority Business Enterprises (MBE) Participation Documentation Form, Part I or Part II as applicable.

2. Attachment D. Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities.

Proposals once submitted may not be withdrawn for a

We're Hear To Help

REASONABLE EXPECTATIONS

A consumer should have reasonable expectations of what a hearing aid can actually do for him. For instance, a hearing aid can make soft sound louder and bring speech to a more comfortable listening level. Due to this increase in loudness, the hearing-impaired person's understanding of speech most likely will be improved. While a hearing aid might not enable a person to hear every word of a distant speaker, he will be able to pick up more sounds. A hearing aid will also help a person to hear high-pitched sounds. This imparts a more "live" feeling to the surrounding world. It also aids in the ability to understand speech. Lastly, a hearing aid will help a person to feel more at ease in social situations by making it easier to understand what is being said.

Not having the ability to hear places one in an "outside" position in many social situations. A visit to ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES will allow you once again to return to the inner circle of hearing, communication and social involvement. Come in today and let us help you obtain the hearing instrument that will truly make "the world of difference". Best wishes for the holiday season and the coming new year. We thank you for the opportunity to have served you this past year and look forward to serving you in the year ahead.

Although hearing aids cannot restore normal hearing, they make the most of what hearing remains.

WHAT TO WEAR IN WINTER

Natural fibers like wool and down have been considered the warmest materials available for quite a while. Synthetics could not compete in frigid weather. Recently, however, man-made fibers have been developed that rival the natural fabrics for warmth and actually offer some distinct advantages.

One such fabric, woven from polyester or nylon fiber, is pile. It is produced so that it retains insulating dead air for warmth in cold-weather clothing. Natural fibers like wool and down are effective because of this same dead air principle. But, when natural materials are wet, they have their drawbacks. Down loses its warmth altogether. Wet wool is still warm, but its fibers readily absorb moisture, increasing its weight considerably. Plus, wet wool dries very slowly.

Pile is as warm as wool—even when wet. Unlike wool, however, moisture collects only in the air spaces between fibers rather than in the fibers themselves. A wet garment made of pile can be shaken vigorously or squeezed to remove most of the moisture, and put back on. The remaining moisture quickly evaporates after exposure to body heat.

Pile garments are, therefore, ideal for use in a cold wet climate. And since pile does not absorb water, its light weight can always be counted on.

just like a wool sweater since it traps dead air, is porous and is ideal for layering.

Layering several thin garments made of warm materials heightens the dead air principle. It also means you can adjust clothes to suit the activity, peeling off layers when overheated, adding them when chilled. In the case of the pile jacket, add extra warmth with a windbreaking shell over it.

Even with this new fabric on the market, natural fibers like wool and down continue to be winter favorites. The wool sweater is ever fashionable, and backpackers are not about to abandon down, because of it being an excellent insulator that can also be compressed into a neat ball for packing.

FOOD NOTES

Do you sometimes wonder what to do with your leftover Christmas turkey? Here is a good idea!

TURKEY POPOVER PIE

cup diced cooked turkey
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup flour
¾ cup milk
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, cooked, lightly drained
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
¼ cup chopped pecans
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1 medium tomato, chopped
Preheat oven to 375° F. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese into a buttered 10-inch quiche dish or pie plate. Combine eggs, flour and milk. Beat until smooth. Pour into quiche dish. Combine turkey, spinach, cream cheese, pecans, salt and nutmeg. Carefully spoon over egg mixture leaving 1-inch border around edge. Sprinkle Cheddar cheese and tomato over spinach mixture. Bake in oven 50 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven and let stand 10 minutes. Cut into wedges and serve. Yield: 6 servings.

Merry Christmas!!!

Two Motorists
Stopped For DWI

Two motorists were apprehended this week by the Maryland State Police and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Randall A. Sheltra, 18, Oakland, was stopped for speeding on Saturday at 12:45 a.m. on U.S. Route 135, near Oakland. Upon apprehension, Tfc. R.M. Hershberger also charged Sheltra with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Jeffrey R. Watson, 26, Cumberland, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol on Monday at 7:35 p.m. on Alternate U.S. Route 40 on the Savage Mountain.

Efforts are being stepped up during the holiday season by the Maryland State Police to stop drivers from drinking.

Datsun 200SX vehicle on November 21 in Oakland. Toston was the defending attorney.

Edward A. Sypolt, 29, Kingwood, W.Va., was found guilty on four charges brought against him by Larry E. Gnegy, deputy sheriff.

Sypolt was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, intoxication in a public place, failure to obey a police officer, and resisting arrest following an incident on November 23 at Sereno's Tavern on Rt. 39.

According to Gnegy, the Sheriff's Department was responding to a fight at Sereno's when Gnegy discovered that Sypolt was carrying a concealed weapon. Gnegy then received assistance from Deputies Pratt and Nolan. While being advised of his rights, Sypolt attempted to flee, ignoring orders to stop. He was finally restrained after he struggled to resist arrest.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered in the case.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Sypolt.

Dennis L. Stanton, 33, Friendsville, was found guilty of battery and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The charge stemmed from a November 9 incident at the Third Base Lounge, Friendsville, where he reportedly assaulted Marvin J. Ditmore.

Complainant in the case was Tfc. R.J. Resh.

Stanton was defended by James F. Braskey.

During proceedings in traffic court last week, John Kurilla, 50, Oakland, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated and sentenced to two years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. The sentence was then reduced to six months. Kurilla was fined $500 and placed on 36 months supervised probation.

The case was appealed by attorney for the defense, Thomas R. Janes, and will be transferred to Garrett County Circuit Court.

The charge resulted from Kurilla's arrest on September 6 by Cpl. Richard Graham, Maryland State Police.

Judge Miller Bowen handed down the sentence.

Randall L. Skeweris, 19, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated, fined $500 and placed on one year supervised probation. The fine was then reduced to $200.

Skeweris was arrested on October 23 at Pysell Crosscut Road.

John R. Toston, public defender, represented Skeweris.

Roy E. Hershman, 42, was found guilty of DWI, fined $300 ($300 of which was suspended) and placed on 12 months supervised probation following his arrest on November 11 on Weber Road, Oakland.

Toston defended Hershman. Steven J. Boring, 28, was found guilty of DWI and received the same sentencing after his arrest on August 31 at Big Run Road and New Germany Road.

Stewart has since been released on his own recognizance. Deputy W.C. Thomas was the arresting officer.

Daina Van Meter was charged with assault by Louisa M. Berkebridge, Terra Alta, W.Va., after an incident on December 15 at Joe's Place, Oakland.

The arresting officer was Chief Deputy, Harland Tichnell. Albert C. Paugh, Deer Park, charged Floyd C. Collins, 34, also of Deer Park, with assault after an incident at the VFW on Rt. 135 on December 15. Deputy Dave Crossland served the criminal summons on Collins.

Holiday Hangover

To avoid the holiday "hangover" the belt deluge," at parties, indulge in conversation instead of the food. Position yourself away from the food and drink areas. When you want to nibble, choose the fresh vegetables sans dip and one or two other appetizers. However, if you do find yourself eating too much during the season don't let the guilty feeling tell you to abandon your diet for the holidays. Get some exercise and cut down on (but don't omit) the next few meals.

Election Results

Declared Official

So you cast your vote and watched the election returns, then figured the electoral process was over, right? Not quite. Many Marylanders know about the Electoral College votes required in presidential elections, but few realize that congressional and state office elections must be certified by the Board of State Canvassers.

"The Board of Canvassers was created in 1896," said State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein who served as president of the Board at its December 9, 1986 meeting. "The Board must certify the results of Maryland's Congressional elections to the officials of the United States Senate and House of Representatives before our delegation can be seated."

Under the law, the Board of Canvassers consists of the Secretary of State, Comptroller of the Treasury, Attorney General, State Treasurer, the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and the State Administrator of Election Laws.

At its December 9th meeting, the Board certified the election of William Donald Schaefer and Melvin A. Steinberg as Governor and Lt. Governor, with 907,801 votes; Louis L. Goldstein as State Comptroller, with 854,325 votes; and J. Joseph Curran, Jr. as Attorney General, with 786,179 votes.

Election board statistics show that, including the 1986 elections, Comptroller Goldstein has received more than six million votes for the office of State Comptroller since the 1968 primary election when he first ran for that office.

For Maryland's representatives to the 100th Congress, the Board of Canvassers certified returns and declared elected U.S. Senator Barbara A. Mikulski, 675,229, 1st District, Roy Dyson, 66,137, 2nd District, Helen D. Norton, 96,248, 3rd District, Benjamin L. Cardin, 196,161, 4th District.

Thomas McMillan, 65,075; 5th District, Steny H. Hoyer, 82,098; 6th District, Beverly B. Byron, 102,973; 7th District, Kweisi Mfume, 79,226; 8th District, Constance A. Morella, 92,917.

The Board also certified the official election of 188 members of the General Assembly (subject to subsequent court decisions), and the various judges from the Circuit Courts, Court of Special Appeals and Court of Appeals, whose names appeared on the ballot.

Holiday Spending Trends Reflected In Sales Tax

"Tis the season to be jolly, and this December Marylanders are making cash registers jingle all over the state. Retail sales tax revenue for sales made in December, 1986, is expected to total some $140 million, when it is tallied in January, 1987, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "That's more than three times as much money as it costs the state to build the original Chesapeake Bay Bridge," the comptroller added.

This is the 40th year of Maryland's sales tax, which was first imposed in July, 1947. Holiday spending generated $2.9 million in revenue that first year. Holiday sales tax revenue exceeded the $100 million mark for the first time in January, 1984, reflecting spending during December, 1983.

According to the comptroller, holiday spending patterns have changed through the years. Through the 1950's, when families were settling into new homes in record numbers and could afford to trade in the family car every two years, home furnishings and auto accessories were hot holiday items. In Fiscal Year 1955, for example, holiday sales of auto accessories were a brisk 30% higher than the next best months of that year. No doubt December's auto accessories included snow tires and chains in those days before all weather radial tires. The seasonal surge continued through the mid-1960's, but by 1969 the trend was over. Now auto accessories account for a higher percentage of retail sales throughout the year, but they are no longer being given as Christmas gifts.

"In the '60's and '70's holiday spending shifted from furnishings to appliances, and mom could expect to find a blender or microwave oven under the tree. For the last few years hi-tech has been in, with TV sets, VCR's and home entertainment centers dominating holiday spending for the home. The rate of spending on radios, television sets and musical equipment has more than doubled in the last twenty years," Goldstein said.

Luxury items such as jewelry, silver, leather goods and furs have always sold well over the holidays. The percentage of sales tax revenue from the sales of jewelry and silver has nearly doubled in the last 20 years.

"While we're not afraid to spend our Christmas money on expensive gifts, we still like to shop for bargains, and the discount stores are only too happy to oblige us," he noted. In January, 1986, sales tax revenue from discount stores' December, 1985 sales totaled more than $7 million. By way of contrast, discount stores collected $600,000 in sales tax in

the holidays. Their sales pick up in November and December's sales are almost always double those of an average month.

Merry Christmas!

County Students Score High On Citizenship Test

Two assemblies in the county, sponsored by First United National Bank and Trust, were held recently at Northern High School and Southern High School to recognize students who earned successful scores on the Maryland Functional Citizenship Test.

In addition to the classes being recognized as a whole for an above average success rate, the 25 perfect score students were honored individually. First United presented them with a hardcover thesaurus, bearing a certificate of achievement.

Students in Maryland high schools are required to pass the following four functional tests prior to graduation: reading, writing, math and citizenship. The citizenship test is divided into three categories: consti-

Potomac River Film To Be Aired On PBS

The Maryland Humanities Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities, has announced the airing on National Public Television of the film "Potomac: American Reflections," toward which the Council provided funding.

Maryland viewers can see the film at 9:00 p.m. on Monday, December 29, on Maryland Public Television. At 8:00 p.m. "Potomac" can be viewed on WETA-TV and most other PBS stations. The film will be closed-captioned for the hearing impaired.

The film is a voyage from the Potomac's headwaters in Garrett County to its delta, and a study of the river's cultural impact on the lives of those who have lived or now live on its banks. The film is co-produced by Robert Cole and Russ Nichols, is directed by Robert Cole, and has also received support from the state humanities councils of the District of Columbia, Virginia, and West Virginia.

"Potomac" received the Gold Award from the Houston International Film Festival and three Emmy Awards from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for Best Independent Production, Editing, and Music.

Sales Tax Revenue Up In November

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported that retail sales tax revenue for November, 1986 totaled $107,732,722, up 11.6% over the same month a year ago. "This continued strong growth in both the consumer and construction sectors of Maryland's sales tax revenue is one important reason we recently increased the estimate for sales tax revenue for the current fiscal year by $23.5 million," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that, for the first four months of fiscal year 1987, sales tax revenue amounts to $427,524,593, a 10.6% increase over the $386,460,041 received during the same period of the previous fiscal year.

"Maryland's sales tax revenue continues to outperform retail sales figures reported for the nation as a whole," the comptroller stated.

The taxable food and beverage, apparel and general merchandise categories increased by 10.3%, 13.1% and 7.4%, respectively, over the same four months last year. Construction-related categories such as building and contractors, furniture and hardware, machinery and equipment increased 14.7%, 9.4% and 11.5%, respectively.

SELL HOME TO CHILDREN AND STAY

There is nothing in the law that says you have to move into a new residence after selling your home, even if you take the $125,000 over age 55 exclusion. (Private IRS Letter Ruling 8502027). This allows you to create a plan that can bring tax and financial planning benefits to everyone in the family.

You can sell the home to your children. The children don't need to put up cash and they need not qualify for a mortgage. The sale can be either an installment plan or a private annuity. In either case you'll be receiving regular payments for a period of years or for your life. Thus you've turned your home equity into cash without moving. You've also removed the home from your estate.

The children could charge you fair market rent. The rent payments would be returned to you as mortgage payments. By charging you rent, the children are able to depreciate the home and take other rental deductions.

tutional government, principles, rights and responsibilities; and politics and political behavior.

Constitutional government includes the study of the federal system of national, state and local government. Qualifications and duties of government officials are studied, as well as the lawmaking process. Finally, the three legislative and judicial, as well as the checks and balances systems are learned.

Principles, rights and responsibilities include rights of citizenship through the Bill of Rights. The students study the benefits of a system of written laws and the responsibilities and duties as American citizens.

Politics and political behavior concentrates on the two-party system, elections and the process by which candidates are elected.

Job-Related Injury, Illness Rates Announced

There was one job-related injury or illness for every 13 workers in Maryland's private sector workplaces in 1985, according to data released Friday by Dominic N. Fornaro, Maryland's Commissioner of Labor and Industry.

The latest survey, based on reports submitted during 1985 by Maryland employers, show an overall incidence rate of 7.9 injuries and illnesses per 100 full-time workers, a slight increase from the 1984 figure of 7.8. Maryland's 7.9 rate is the same as the national rate for 1985.

Approximately 52,000 lost workday cases resulted in 767,000 lost or restricted workdays, up from the 50,000 lost workday cases representing 750,000 lost or restricted workdays in 1984.

The construction industry remained the leader in injuries and illnesses with a 16.1 rate. A continuing improvement in the economy was reflected by a 4.7% increase in work exposure hours.

Reported occupational injury and illness data are based on records that employers must maintain under the Maryland Occupational Safety and Health Act. Records are processed by the Division of Labor and Industry in cooperation with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor. The Occupational Injuries and Illnesses Survey is a Federal/State cooperative statistical program which covers employers in private sector industries which had at least one employee during 1985. Excluded are the self-employed farmers with fewer than 11 employees and private households.

Additional information on recordable occupational injuries and illnesses is available by contacting Ms. Letha Ticer, Division of Labor and Industry, 501 St. Paul Place, Baltimore, Md. (toll free) 1-800-492-6226, Extension 4202.

Some Tax Reform Provisions Are Of Interest To Farmers

A report of provisions of the Tax Reform Act which are of special interest to farmers has been prepared by economist George A. Stevens of the University of Maryland. Some selected provisions of Stevens' report follows.

Investment Tax Credit
ITC is repealed for property acquired after December 31, 1985. Generally, carryover rules in effect before 1986 continue to apply for property placed in service before 1986. Some ITC may be allowed for transition property and qualified progress expenditures. Also there are some special provisions for steel companies and farmers.

In general, the transition rules apply to property acquired under a written contract that was binding as of December 31, 1985. One special provision for farmers is to allow an elective 15-year carryback of 50 percent (not to exceed $750) of unused ITC in existence for the first tax year after December 31, 1986. The provision for most of the above are complicated and some are unclear, says Stevens. Generally, any ITC claimed as a result of the transition rules will be reduced by 35 percent.

Capital Gains Exclusion
For tax years beginning after 1986, all capital gains income will be treated as ordinary income. The 60 percent exclusion from taxable income of a net long-term capital gain is repealed as of December 31, 1986. This change will impact on most livestock and dairy farmers.

It also means that future investments in real estate, especially farms, will be based more on the potential for profit than on the potential for capital gains. The new code sets a maximum rate of 28 percent on capital gains and provides for a special computation formula.

Individual Retirement Plans (IRA)

Although the deduction for contributions to IRA's will be curtailed after 1986, the restrictions may not have much effect on farmers. For taxpayers who do not participate in an employer-maintained retirement plan, the restrictions do not apply. Those who do participate in an employer plan can make deductible contributions provided income does not exceed certain amounts. For a full deduction the limit is $25,000 adjusted gross income for an individual and $40,000 adjusted gross income for married couples filing a joint return. No deduction will be allowed for individuals with adjusted gross above $35,000 and for married couples filing jointly with adjusted gross above $50,000.

Income Averaging
Income averaging has been repealed after 1986.

Cost Recovery (Depreciation)
The Accelerated Cost Recovery System, in effect since 1981, will be continued with some major modifications. The modified system will apply to most depreciable property acquired after December 31, 1986. The major changes are as follows:

1. Recovery period for most farm buildings will be increased from 19 years to 31.5 years and only straight line can be used on these assets.

2. A new class of property will be added with a recovery period of seven years. This class will include most farm machinery, equipment and single purpose buildings.

3. Cars and light trucks will be moved from three-year to five-year property.

4. The depreciation method for three-year, five-year and seven-year property will be 200 percent declining balance with a change to straight line when it will maximize the deduction. Most farm buildings, except single purpose, will require straight line with a 31.5 year recovery period.

5. An optional method of straight line will be allowed for all property with a recovery period the same as class life.

6. For luxury cars and listed property used 50 percent or less for business, there are some new restrictions.

Expensing

For property placed in service after December 31, 1986, the maximum expensing of eligible property will increase from $5,000 to $10,000 provided the cost of qualified property placed in service during the year does not exceed $200,000. Additional rules must be met for property to be eligible.

Prepaid Expenses

For tax years beginning after March 1, 1986, cash-basis farmers will be limited in their current deductions for prepaid expenses. Generally, if prepaid expenses exceed 50 percent of total deductible farming expenses, excluding prepaid supplies, such prepaid expenses may be deducted only in the year the supplies are used or consumed.

Preproductive Expenses

After December 31, 1986, all farmers, unless they meet certain exceptions, may no longer deduct the costs of producing long-term crops and livestock when paid. If the preproductive period of a crop or animal is more than two years, farmers may have to capitalize preproductive expenses. There is an exception for cash-basis farmers but the cost seems high, such as a requirement to use straight line on all assets. If this provision is what it seems to be (current opinions differ, according to Stevens) it will cause a record-keeping nightmare.

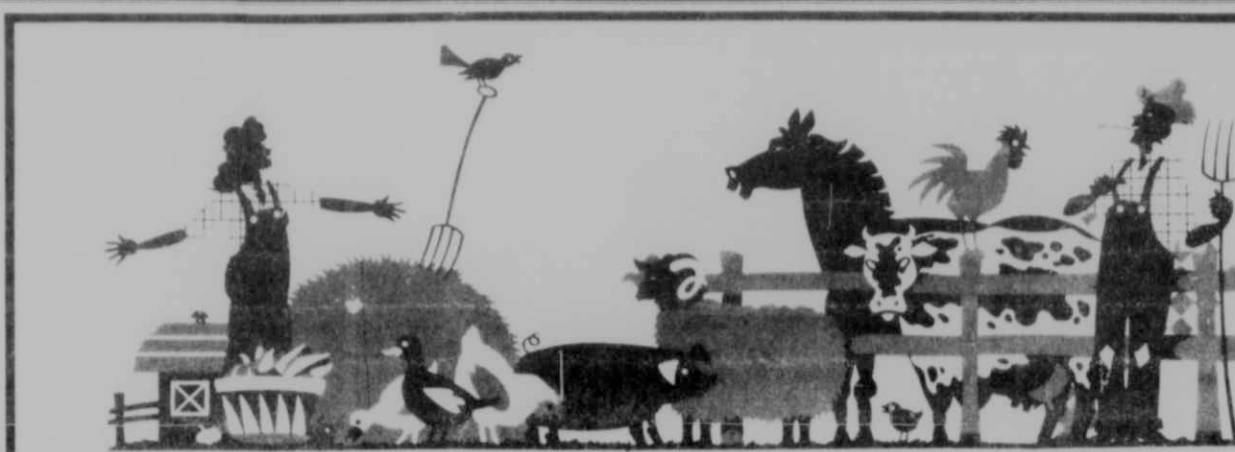

Egg Production Up Slightly

Laying flocks in the 20 major egg production states produced 484 billion eggs during October 1986, one percent greater than the 479 billion produced a year ago. Production included 4.28 billion table or commercial type eggs and 561 million hatching eggs. The number of layers producing table and hatching eggs during October averaged 231 million, about the same as a year ago.

Egg production per 100 layers for the total laying flock was 2,090 eggs, compared with 2,074 eggs for 1985. During the three-month period, June through August 1986, the 20 monthly states produced 83.3 percent of the U.S. egg production. All layers on November 1 for the 20 states totaled about 233 million, virtually the same as a year earlier. The 233 million layers consisted of 203 million for table or commercial type eggs and 30.1 million for hatching eggs. Rate of lay on November 1, 1986, for all layers averaged 67.6 eggs per 100 layers, compared with 66.6 a year earlier and 67.1 on October 1, 1986.

Egg-type chicks hatched during October 1986 totaled 32.5 million, a decrease of three percent from October 1985. Eggs in incubators totaled 25.3 million on November 1, 1986, down 19 percent from a year ago. Domestic placements of egg-type pullet chicks for hatchery supply flocks by leading primary breeders totaled 270 thousand during October 1986, an increase of 13 percent from October 1985.

Farm Programs Seen As New Year's Greatest Challenge By AFBF Leader Offer Advance '87 Payments

The American Farm Bureau Federation Resolutions Committee was directed by President Dean Kleckner to pull together recommendations from the 49 state Farm Bureaus and Puerto Rico to help answer today's agricultural problems when the committee met this month.

National farm policy, income taxes, agricultural credit and water quality were key issues among several hundred considered by the committee in preparation for the organization's 68th annual meeting, January 11-15 in Anaheim, Calif.

The 52-member committee, including each state's Farm Bureau president and the chairmen of the AFBF Women's and Young Farmer and Rancher committees, recommended continued support for the basic elements of the Food Security Act of 1985 ('85 Farm Bill) with some modifications, but firmly rejected mandatory production and marketing controls.

Also recommended was support for expansion and improvement of the conservation reserve and for easing conditions for compliance with the sod-buster and swampbuster provisions of the 1985 Food Security Act.

At the meeting, President Kleckner reminded the committee they would face a "new Congress and new political realities, along with an old budget deficit, old spending habits...and a new tax law."

"I think the greatest challenge will again be in the farm program area," Kleckner said. He expects the new Congress to debate farm program proposals that range from reducing the per farm payment limit to a complete change, such as mandatory production and marketing controls.

"I personally think that to abandon the '85 law at this stage would be a big mistake," Kleckner said. "It turns a year old only two days before Christmas and has not yet had a chance to show what it can do."

He pointed to three positive things in the current market-oriented act, "virtually all of them tied to expanding markets."

1. Making U.S. farm products competitive again in the world marketplace;
2. Steady increase in the volume of U.S. exports since June, when new price levels set by the '85 act became effective;
3. Changing the attitude of other countries toward U.S. agriculture, thus getting them to consider trade reform and encouraging a cutback in crop acreage.

Kleckner told the Farm Grantsville Livestock Marketing Grantsville, Maryland Date of Sale Dec. 20

Bureau leaders that "marketing loans are an option" for a change in the farm program because of their success in expanding sales for rice and cotton. But, he warned that "for every 10-cent per bushel change in price, we can consider a new budget cost of $1 billion." "Somewhere along the line," Kleckner added, "we will have to decide how we reconcile our call for federal spending cuts to reduce the deficit and current large expenditures for farm program benefits."

Kleckner also challenged the farm leaders to give suggestions on what Farm Bureau should be doing to complete its unfinished tax agenda on such things as health insurance, capital gains and pre-production development expenses. Other suggested discussion areas included budget deficit, taxes and farm credit.

"I ask that you search deep to craft policies that are truthful and sound year-to-year and decade-to-decade," Kleckner asked the group.

In addition to deficiency payments, Davis said feed grain farmers who sign up will be eligible for land diversion payments at a rate of $2.00 per bushel for corn; $1.90 for sorghum; $1.60 for barley and 80 cents per bushel for oats.

"Feed grain producers also may request 50 percent of their land diversion payments," Davis said.

Deficiency payments are made to farm program participants when the average market price falls below the established target price for a crop. Davis said target prices per bushel for 1987 are $3.03 for corn, $2.88 for sorghum, $2.60 for barley, $1.60 for oats, and $4.38 for wheat.

He said the projected deficiency payment rates per bushel are $2.10 for wheat, $1.21 for corn, $1.14 for sorghum, $1.11 for barley, and 55 cents for oats. "The advance deficiency pay-

"One-half of the advance deficiency and diversion payment will be issued in cash and the remainder will be paid in general commodity certificates," said Davis.

A farmer who accepts an advance payment, but who later does not comply with program provisions, must refund the amount of the advance payment with interest plus liquidated damages, according to ASCS official Davis.

The 1987 commodity programs call for a 27.5 percent reduction in wheat acres; 20 percent for feed grains, with an optional 15 percent paid diversion.

Applications for the 1987 programs may be filed at the Garrett County ASCS Office.

Exquisite Eggshell Splendor

"Better half an egg than an empty shell," relates an old English proverb. However, even the empty shells can be used beautifully. Take some items like fake pearls, sequins, pretty stones, miniature ornaments, the tiniest ferns and flowers; add them to the fragile eggshells, then let your imagination come up with some heirloom-quality Christmas ornaments for this special season!

New Soil Test Fee Effective Jan. 1, 1987

The major changes in the "regular" soil test package include the introduction of an expanded Basic Farm Package to include calcium and organic matter for a fee of $5 for the package. The Basic Lawn and Garden Package will remain unchanged from the current "regular" soil test and will continue to cost $4 per sample. Another major change in the fee structure is the charge for copper, manganese, zinc and sulfur. These tests have been combined into two packages. There will be a choice between copper, manganese, zinc and sulfate sulfur at $7 per sample. A choice of either of these packages provides a significant savings over the old rates.

Baby Lamb Survival

Cause of death studies have provided insight into management weaknesses responsible for death in lambs from birth to 30 days of age. Information from approximately 800 necropsies showed that starvation, scours (Colibacillosis) and pneumonia accounted for almost 75 percent of all baby lamb deaths. Most starvation losses occurred during the first 72 hours after birth. Assuming that all lambs suckle soon after birth may reduce the starvation losses significantly.

High death loss from scours and pneumonia resulted from: (a) lack of regular observation of the new-born lambs, (b) lack of timely and appropriate treatment of the sick lambs, (c) environmental stress (such as adverse weather) when ewes with lambs were turned outside before the lambs were three days of age.

Management practices such as daily, close observation of all new-born lambs until they reach at least two weeks of age and early treatment of scours and pneumonia while the lamb is still relatively vigorous, should lessen death loss significantly. Early turnout of lambs under three days of age is not advised as this will lower the resistance of the lamb and losses from scours and pneumonia can be expected to increase. An increased incidence of mis-mothering and starvation may also result. Young, chilled lambs (under three days of age) quickly lose body temperature, stop nursing and soon die.

Early and effective treatment of sick lambs coupled with a vaccination program specific for the individual health situation will help reduce lamb and subsequent economic loss.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst

DIRECTOR

MENTION THE UNMENTIONABLE

There has been a recent trend, particularly among psychologists, in discussing and writing about death. Rather than being seen as a morbid development, the admission of death is actually considered rather healthy, AND practical.

On the personal level, one can remove death from the list of unmentionable topics by talking openly and frankly about funeral plans and making a will. Including your family and loved ones in such a discussion will ultimately do more to prevent pain and anguish than any discomfort saved by leaving them in the dark.

Naturally, if you are married you should consult with your spouse. You might be startled to find out that he or she often thought about the subject but was afraid to mention it to you for fear of being thought insensitive.

With Dignity

The Maryland Area Agricultural Outlook Report is published annually by specialists at the University of Maryland and the Cooperative Extension Service. This article features one of the subjects covered in that report.

AGRICULTURE TRADE OUTLOOK

by Earl H. Brown

The value of agricultural exports is expected to be $26.5 billion in 1986, down 15 percent from 1985. This is about 40 percent below the peak reached in 1981, but considerably above the 1970 level of $7 billion. The main reasons for the decrease in 1986 were lower prices and delayed purchases by major importers in anticipation of these lower prices. The lower prices were a result of implementing lower loan rates authorized in the 1985 Farm Bill. Additional downward pressure was caused by intense foreign competition, financial constraints in many developing countries, and reduced purchases by the USSR.

Imports of agricultural products continued an upward trend started in 1982. They should exceed $20 billion in 1986, up $700 million from last year. The increase was mainly the result of higher coffee prices as total import tonnage did not change substantially. Imports actually exceeded exports during three months in 1986 for the first time in recent years. This negative balance, however, was caused by the delayed purchases of major importers. For all of 1986, agricultural exports are expected to exceed imports by $6 billion. The agricultural trade balance is down nearly 50 percent from last year and 75 percent from 1980. The agricultural trade balance should increase marginally in 1987 as exports are expected to increase more than imports.

Export tonnage for commodities affected by the 1985 Farm Bill was down sharply in the early months of 1986 until the lower loan rates went into effect (June 1 for wheat and September 1 for corn). Wheat exports increased after June 1 and corn exports are expected to increase this fall. Despite this increase, export tonnage for all of 1986 is expected to be down for the sixth consecutive year, to 108 million metric tons (mmt). The U.S. exported 126 mmt in 1985 and 164 mmt in 1980. The largest decreases in 1986 occurred in corn (32 percent) and wheat (12 percent). The main reasons were: reduced purchases by the USSR, competition in corn from Thailand, China and Argentina and in feed wheat from several suppliers in the Asian market. Soybean exports are expected to increase about four mmt but the dollar value will not change appreciably because of lower prices.

Agricultural exports to all major destinations will be down in 1986. The main reasons are: increased production in nearly every country, increased competition from other exporters, and relatively weak balance of payments positions in some oil exporting countries. Agricultural exports to the USSR are expected to be down more than $1 billion or 52 percent. The Soviets even failed to respond to a U.S. offer to subsidize purchases under the export promotion program. And, agricultural exports in Japan did not increase despite a large rise in the value of the yen relative to the dollar. The reason is that import purchases are made by the Japanese government and the savings from lower import prices were retained by the government and not passed on to Japanese consumers. As a result, demand for U.S. commodities did not increase.

Forecasting agricultural exports for 1987 at this time is subject to a wide margin of error. USDA expects agricultural export tonnage to increase substantially in 1987 for these reasons: lower prices as a result of lower loan rates, a weaker U.S. dollar and increased use of the export enhancement program. This forecast may be too optimistic. There is evidence that other major wheat exporting countries, Canada, Australia, Argentina, and the European Community, will match the lower U.S. prices to protect their market shares. The lower prices might encourage importers to increase the quantity imported but some evidence shows export demand for wheat, at current and lower prices, may not be as responsive to lower prices as previously thought. The outcome could be that wheat exporting countries will simply share relatively the same size total market, but at lower prices.

Milk Production Declines In Nov.

United States milk production, surveyed in 21 selected states, totaled 9.45 billion pounds, three percent less than in November 1985. If the producers in the 29 states not surveyed December 1 followed the same production pattern as the 21 states, the U.S. production would be 11.1 billion pounds for November.

Production per cow in the 21 states averaged 1,058 pounds during November, 41 pounds less than October 1986 but 10 pounds more than November 1985.

Milk cows in the 21 selected states during November averaged 8.93 million head, four percent less than November last year and 26 thousand head less than October 1986.

In Maryland milk cow numbers increased from a year ago while milk per cow and total production fell.

In the long run, U.S. agricultural exports should increase for these reasons: increased world population; rising income; and reduced production in some countries. The lower loan rates of the 1985 Farm Bill have forced world prices below some producers' production costs. In time marginal land and producers will be forced out of production. Production will fall in the United States too, but not as much as in some other countries. My guess is this will take at least three years and probably longer.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Airman Kimberly L. Lowry, niece of Harriet S. and Mason D. McClung, Route 1, Oakland, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the community college of the Air Force.

Sgt. Thomas N. Dignan, son of William H. and Roberta L. Dignan, Gorman, W. Va., has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Sill, Okla.

The Achievement Medal is awarded to soldiers for meritorious service, acts of courage, or other accomplishments. Dignan is a missile crew member with the 18th Field Artillery.

Army Private Karen L. Nelson, daughter of Otis V. and Alta N. Nelson, Mountain Lake Park, has completed training as an Army military police specialist under the one station unit training (OSUT) program at Fort McClellan, Ala.

OSUT is a 13-week period which combines basic training with advanced individual training.

Students were trained in civil and military law, traffic control, map reading and self-defense.

Oakland Recruiter Receives Award

Sergeant First Class Charles E. Griffith Jr., recruiter for Company C 121st Engineer Battalion (Combat) Maryland Army National Guard located in Oakland, has been awarded the Senior Recruiters Badge. This badge is given to recruiters who meet or exceed their assigned mission for the previous year.

The badge was presented to him by Major General Warren D. Hodges, the adjutant general for Maryland, at the annual recruiters award banquet held recently.

At that banquet, Griffith was asked how a recent article in the Baltimore Sun has affected local recruiting. His answer was, "It really has not affected it that much." In fact, Griffith invited the public to come and visit the local unit. Company C meets once a month and to make arrangements to visit the local unit or for more information about the National Guard, persons may call Sergeant Griffith at (304) 334-3200.

Cliff Keller Is Winner Of VICA Project Raffle

The winner of the Southern High School VICA Storage Building raffle was announced on December 10. The winning ticket was held by Cliff Keller of Terra Alta, W. Va., and had been purchased for him by Lisa Sweitzer. The raffle took place during the activity period at SHS, with Advisor Ron Kuhn drawing the winning ticket.

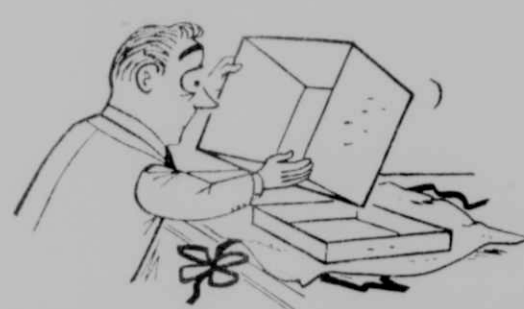

The storage building was built by the carpentry classes and featured double doors, a window, electrical outlets, a light, and was complete with insulation and dry wall. The VICA members hope that Mr. Keller enjoys his storage building.

Railroad, Mining Head To Retire

Robert B. Wooters, director of marketing, Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad, will retire on December 31, following more than 20 years of service with the B&E and affiliated companies.

Well-known in railroading and coal mining circles, Wooters joined the Bessemer in 1966 as manager of marketing-coal & ore, being named director of marketing in 1969. Previously he had served for two years as an instructor in the Civil Engineering Department of West Virginia University, and for 11 years with the Western Maryland Railway, during which latter period he advanced from the position of assistant engineer to become assistant vice president/sales. He left the Western Maryland in 1963 to become president of Alpine and North Branch Coal Companies. In 1965 he was elected president of Bird Coal Company, the position he held immediately prior to joining the Bessemer.

Wooters holds an AB degree from New York University, as well as BS and MS degrees in civil engineering from West Virginia University. He served in both World War II and the Korean conflict, attaining the rank of captain.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News
Christmas Eve services will be held at each church of the Bittering Parish this year: Zion, 7 p.m.; St. John's, 8:30 p.m.; and Emmanuel, 10 p.m. There will be a Communion service and a candle lighting service in each church.

Following worship services on Sunday, 20 members of Emmanuel's church went caroling for the church shut-ins. They visited Lawrence Buckel, Etta Buckel, and Leonora Buckel. The LCW had sung carols for Emma Giotfelty on Friday evening.

The Sunday School and choir will present the Christmas program, "God Gave, We Give" at Emmanuel this Sunday, December 28, as the worship service.

Elected to the church councils last Sunday were: Zion, Floyd Baker, Glenna Burrow and Michael Broadwater; and Emmanuel, Bob Brenneman, William Hady, and Margaret Hershberger.

A Christmas program was held at the Glade Church on Sunday evening. Afterward, a snack was held in the basement, with a fellowship hour. The church is planning a New Year's Eve service at the fire hall in Bittering.

The Cherry Glade Mennonite Church had a carry-in lunch at their church on Sunday, with special music and a program.

Christmas Eve lecturers are: Zion, Clara Durst; St. John's, Opal Fazenbaker; Emmanuel, Rita Knox.

Attend Church, Lunch
Thirty boys from the New

Germany camp attended church on Sunday at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church. They were guests at the carry-in dinner served by the church, and they were furnished cookies to take back to camp with them.

Have Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beitzel had a Christmas dinner for their family on Sunday. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Yaste, their son, Richard, and his wife, from the state of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Mayard Beitzel and son, Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Cleland Beitzel and family, Hilda Beitzel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yoder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Yoder and family, Virginia Guthrie, and Twila Maust.

Dr. Donald Giotfelty and sons, Mark and Duane, were Sunday dinner guests of Martha Giotfelty. Kathy Giotfelty was unable to attend because she was helping with Christmas rehearsals at her church in Mt. Lebanon.

KEYSTONE HOMES WANTS YOU NOW

If you aren't the average home buyer, and want that extra quality in a home with prices you can afford, you must see us now about a new Keystone Home for spring delivery.

We are booking up fast for March, April, and May, so don't delay, see us today so you can begin planning your home to fit your own exact needs. If for some reason you find you can't build this year after you place your order, you can cancel with just a phone call.

24'x48' Rancher

Has Maryland State Seal of Approval

Completely finished from the plate up on your foundation. We set all of our homes with a crane so there is no stress on your foundation.

All of our homes come with the energy package which is standard. Insulation is R19 walls, R19 floor, R22 ceiling, Andersen Thermopane vinyl-clad wood windows with storms and screens, a very big energy-saver, and they never need painting. Exterior doors are metal insulated with storm doors; total electric heat with thermostats in each room.

You have your choice of interior drywall, paneling or both. Drywall has two coats of the paint of your choice; beautiful, textured 1/2" drywall ceiling over a 3/8" plywood sub ceiling.

Nice selection of top grade carpet throughout home except for kitchen and baths. There we offer a no-wax linoleum by Armstrong. This is put over a super strong 1 1/8" thick floor. Floor joists are 2x10, 16" on center.

Kitchen and bath have your choice of vinyl wall coverings, beautiful kitchen cabinets with stainless steel sinks, 30" GE electric range, exhaust fans in kitchen and bath, vanity-in-bath, with a one-piece fiberglass tub and shower; 52 gallon hot water heater, aluminum wood grain siding, shutters, gutter and down spouts, 5/12 roof pitch on 25' and 28' wide models.

This home can be custom designed to fit your own needs at no charge. A home is a big investment today so shop around and compare. But before you buy, be sure and see a Keystone Home... we think it will speak for itself.

Orbach in spinoff; Streisand in stand-off

By Cindy Adams

Jerry Orbach is getting his own show on CBS. The one-hour series, "McGraw-Private Eye," is set for a firm 12 episodes after a movie pilot is shown. It's a spinoff of the character Jerry's portrayed on "Murder She Wrote." Says Jerry, "My character, Peter Fischer, comes on tough, but when he hits a guy he breaks his hand."

The hard-core New Yorker

She's a believer. Also an actress. She'll play the lead. John Ritter's writing a film about his brother Tom, a cerebral palsy victim with a low degree and a Los Angeles cable-TV talk show.

Barbra Streisand's ongoing lawsuit against biographer Shaun Considine is just that. Ongoing. Its one-year statute of limitations ran out on Oct. 31. Considine was astute. Streisand was pragmatic. She had the period extended at least until she finishes filming "Nuts."

The hardcover had healthy sales. The book is now out in paperback. No, after all the Sturm und Drang, would Considine do another book?

Yes, he says, but preferably on someone dead.

Meanwhile, in downtown L.A., Monte Markham, Robert Loggia, John Cusack and Jerry Stiller got caught in Mexico's drug war. The "Hot Pursuit" actors were filming in the mountains when they were forced to take cover. Seemingly federal helicopters were spraying them with chemical plant-killer. Seemingly some enterprising marijuana grower was cultivating an eight-acre crop right where they were shooting. Seemingly samples were definitely not allowed.

Ruby Dee's "My One Good Nerve," a collection of poems, short stories and says husband Ossie Davis, "stuff we've performed together," is getting published. People & Proper Ties is producing a TV special, celebrating 40 years of sports with 40 sports like Billie Jean King and Muhammad Ali.

Kristin Leigh Harris and Peie reign as the Queen and Grand Marshal of the 98th Annual Tournament of Roses Parade, airing Thursday, Jan. 1, on NBC. (Check local listings.)

Fan hopes to see improvement in attire

By Kimberly Redmond

I'd like some details about Michael Weiss, who portrays Dr. Mike Horton on "Days of Our Lives." I think he's a good actor, but why do they let him look so sleazy on the show? A doctor would never come to work dressed as Mike Horton does. — B.C., Scranton, PA.

"DUEL" is Weiss's first recurring role on television. When the actor isn't honing his craft, he enjoys participating in all kinds of sports such as tennis, swimming and golf. To name a few. I agree that Mike definitely needs, at the least, proper hospital girth and a shave. Essentially, the writers treat Mike as a hip sort of guy who doesn't conform to the high standards we've grown accustomed to seeing in an otherwise neat and modern hospital.

My friend says that John Gibson, who recently died in a plane crash, used to be on "The Young and the Restless." I don't remember seeing him on the show. Can you tell me what part he played? — S.M., New Haven, CT.

I've answered this question before, but several people wrote asking about Gibson. The late actor played Jerry Cash, a male stripper who became involved with Nikki Newman (played by Melody Thomas Scott) when she was a stripper at the same nightclub. At the time of his death, Gibson was engaged to Vanna White of "Wheel-of-Fortune."

'Class' 's Robin Givens gets an A for effort

By Dennis Flaim

Robin Givens is whiz-kid material — on screen and off. On ABC's smash sitcom "Head of the Class," she is superstudent Darlene Merriman. In real life, Givens was a college freshman, soap-opera actress and Ford model by age 15. After much deliberation, Givens, now 22, gave up her pre-med studies to pursue her real love, acting. Influential in that decision was Bill Cosby, who was so impressed with Givens' acting ability that he offered to pay for her education if her acting didn't pan out within two years.

Robin Givens

You've guested on "The Cosby Show." Would Bill Cosby sign you on? I think had I gotten up for the part of Denise I would've gotten it. There's a definite chemistry between the two of us, and the show is very similar to my life. Can I see myself as a regular? Yes. Are there times now when I wish I was on "The Cosby Show"? Yes.

What about "Head of the Class?"

"Head of the Class" is hard to do because it is an ensemble cast, and there are times when you really do get frustrated. I have so much more to give, and I'm just not allowed to give that. And, being a black person, sometimes I think it's hard for whites to write for you. Darlene is supposedly the snobby, wealthy one. They need to show that more. If it were Cosby, he'd know how to do it.

How do you characterize Darlene?

Darlene is a "Cosby" character who's not on "Cosby." If they let her be as bad as she could be, it would be hysterical. She's a cross between Blair on "The Facts of Life" and Alex Keaton on "Family Ties." She's this arrogant, obnoxious girl who thinks she's the best thing since sliced bread and can do no wrong. And nine times out of ten she's right, which makes her kind of deadly.

Does "Head of the Class" trying to send any particular message?

It's about kids who seem to have the world in the palm of their hands. One might go off to be the president, another might be a top lawyer, but they can't deal with life.

How do you deal with dating?

It's ridiculous to have to temper who you are. OK, I won't say that because it'll be too smart. I'll try not to beat him at pool. When you're pretty smart, and you're on a hit show, it makes it sort of hard. But guys don't mind going to ABC premiere parties.

Cavett talks — but no longer on own show

By Ian Harmer

HOLLYWOOD — Dick Cavett's latest attempt to regain his laurels as a witty provocative talk-show host has just faded from the nation's TV screens. But the actor, author, narrator, pianist, is admirably good humored in defeat. He says he's still stunned by an ABC programming about-face in which the network abandoned the week-hours talker to let affiliates pick their own fare for nonprime time. But he's comforted by the fact that "The Dick Cavett Show" wasn't the only neck to be cut.

Dick Cavett

Said Cavett, "I thought I had experienced everything. The TV business could throw at me, but this was something new."

Everyone knows the anxiety of the ratings game, especially at renewal time, but to have the plug pulled because the network is, in effect, going out of business is something no one could anticipate.

Cavett's co-victim of the ABC firing squad was columnist Jimmy Breslin, and he commented, "I don't know how Breslin got the word, but mine came like a good news-bad news joke. We love the job you're doing, but we're closing the factory — good-bye."

Added Cavett, "This isn't going to drive me to despair. I have a PBS series on Japan running, and a regular radio show, and there are always new things to do."

"I anticipate having time to do more game shows, and I refuse to apologize for the fact that The $25,000 Pyramid is something I enjoy."

"Pyramid" is a real challenge. Tony Randall and I became so good that the producers arranged a contest between us. Modesty forbids me from saying who won.

Modesty is not one of Cavett's best-known traits, but that's something else he doesn't have to apologize for. Joan Rivers' failure to dent Johnny Carson's ratings is evidence that smirking sycophancy can be a post-prime-time killer.

Said Cavett, "Once in a while you'll hear someone saying that talk shows have had their day, but there'll always be an audience for unheeded, unscripted conversation in which anything can happen."

There's a special excitement in the unexpected, as I have just discovered.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Toni D'Amato

We know that the Muppets are creations of Jim Henson, but my friend says that he also plays Kermit the Frog. Is this true? — A.S., Warren, PA.

Bette Davis

In a manner of speaking, Henson is indeed the human behind that famous puppet, he acts as both the manipulator and the voice.

Please settle an argument, I say Bette Davis played the original Mrs. Cabot on the series "Hotel." My sister says she didn't. — G.M.T., Linden, MI.

Bette Davis was signed to play the part of Laura Trent, owner of the fabulous St. Gregory Hotel. She appeared in the premiere, but illness prevented her from continuing her role in the series.

It was written into the script that she went on an extended trip and her sister-in-law, Victoria Cabot (played by Anne Baxter), took over the operation of the hotel. "Hotel" would have been the first regular series for this silver-screen great. Remember "Jezebel" (1938) and "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane" (1962)?

Davis, who made appearances in the early days of television on "The Dupont Show" with June Allyson and on "General Electric Theater," was best known for her film roles. She is a consummate actress and has received eight Academy Award nominations and two Oscars for her work.

At age 78, she is still considered one of Hollywood's greats and something of a legend.

Who starred in "B.J. and the Bear"? I believe it was Greg Evigan, but my sister-in-law says it was David Hasselhoff. Also, what years did it run? — E.W., Blindriver, ONT, Canada.

Greg Evigan played B.J. (Billie Joe) McCay, a young trucker who traveled around the country with his pet chimp, Bear. This series aired on NBC from February 1979 to August 1981.

Hasselhoff, who is the handsome hero on "Knight Rider," was not a regular on "B.J. and the Bear."

Tracy Scoggins and Mark Linn-Baker ring in the new and ring out the old in "New Year's Rockin' Eve '87." It airs Wednesday, Dec. 31, on ABC. (Check local listings.)

BEHIND THE SCENES

'Gung Ho' producer gung-ho over show

By Frank Lovece

As head writer and supervising producer of "M*A*S*H" for the series' last four years, John Rappaport took on the Korean War comedy-vision Rappaport acknowledges that criticism.

"I thought that with the movie you could take either side of the coin and say they were offending it, which to my mind means there must have been a proper balance. For the TV series, we won't get too involved with labor-management confrontations. Mostly the show is about the relationship between Hunt and Kaz and Kaz and his family."

Rappaport got into television the old-fashioned way, through radio. After serving as advertising and promotion director for Los Angeles's KLAS, he began writing and performing on a comedy radio show. His background also includes writing for the first Lily Tomlin TV special, for which he received one of seven Emmy nominations, and stints as story editor, consultant on "All in the Family" and "The Odd Couple." Like many TV professionals, he's also written countless unsold pilots.

For these reasons, Rappaport knows by now what's fresh and what's "sitcomy." He's aware that "Gung Ho" could fall into the latter trap.

"Some premises that are sitcoms take on new meaning when applied to Japanese people in America. We have Kaz's wife take a job outside the house. This might seem like an old-fashioned comedy premise, but with the clash-of-cultures element it's made fresh."

"Gung Ho" is based on Howard's 1985 movie about a failing U.S. auto plant taken over by Japanese managers. Scott Bakula assumes Michael Keaton's role as Hunt, the company's American boss.

"Well, when you put it that way..." Rappaport laughs. "The first six episodes of any series probably take more time than the next 20," says the veteran whose TV career stretches back to "Howan and Martin's Laugh-In."

"You don't even know what the cast can give you until you've seen the first two episodes."

INVISIBLE CROSSES

December 28, 1986
Background Scripture: Mark 8:27-38
Devotional Reading: John 12:20-26

Most people like and feel comfortable with approximately 50% of the Gospel. The Christmas part—at least they think they understand it—is wonderful, of course. And they are also happy to acknowledge Jesus as the Christ.

But the other 50% of the gospel introduces some ideas that they find most unattractive. This really shouldn't surprise us all that much because Jesus's own disciples had pretty much the same problem. At Caesarea Philippi they must have been elated when, in answer to Jesus's probing, "But who do you say that I am?" Peter, their unofficial spokesman, declared "You are the Christ" (Mark 8:29). If only Mark had tacked on a nice ending and let it go at that!

Mark, however, did not finish there because Jesus did not finish there. Jesus went on to "teach them that the Son of man must suffer many things," (8:31) including that he would be killed and rise again. And the same disciple, Peter, who had just made his ringing confession, "You are the Christ," now turned "and began to rebuke him." Peter—and probably the rest of the disciples—loved the part about their Master being the Christ, but he did not love the second part, the part about suffering.

IF ANY MAN...

Simon Peter was not the last person to be turned off by the suffering servant role which Jesus

"You Can Afford College Week" Is Proclaimed

"You Can Afford College Week" has been proclaimed by the Governor of Maryland for January 18-24, according to Cissy VanSickle, financial aid director for Garrett Community College. Persons who are interested in attending a college, university, or technical school, but cannot pay the entire cost, may be eligible for federal, state, or local financial aid. Grants, loans and work-study programs are awarded on the basis of demonstrated financial need and/or merit, college cost and availability of funds. They may be used for part-time or full-time study, Ms. VanSickle said.

The State Scholarship Board offers numerous scholarships for Maryland residents, she noted. Two of the major state scholarship programs are the General State and Senatorial Scholarship. Federal financial aid includes the Pell Grant, which offers up to $2100 per year towards educational expenses at over 7,000 post-high-school institutions throughout the United States. Three federal campus-based programs include the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG), providing up to $4,000 annually, College Work-Study

THIS SHAKER TABLE was constructed as a class project by novice woodworker Guy Hinebaugh. The wood came from 80-year-old red oak planks found in Mr. Hinebaugh's attic. "I found the class enjoyable and instructive and feel that having no background in woodworking was no handicap," Hinebaugh said. "All you need is patience." Woodworking, ERT 249, will be offered by Garrett Community College in the Spring of 1987 with classes beginning January 12, 1987. The class may be taken for credit or by audit. Enrollment is limited.

(CWS) allowing part of the educational expenses to be earned through work, and the Perkins Student Loan (formerly the NDSL), paid back at 5% interest starting six months after leaving school. In Maryland, all five programs may be applied for by completing the Financial Aid Form (FAF) and an institutional aid application if required. Applicants should apply prior to March 1, 1987, for the 1987-1988 school year.

Two other loan programs are available to Maryland residents. The Guaranteed Student Loan Program initially charges 8% interest which starts accumulating when repayment begins six months after leaving school. The Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS), allows parents of undergraduate students, independent and graduate students to borrow at 12% with repayment starting immediately.

During "You Can Afford College Week," Garrett Community College will provide personnel to assist parents in filling out forms on Monday, January 19, Tuesday, January 20, and Thursday, January 22, from 7-9 in Room LC 156. Parents may call the Financial Aid Office for more information.

Pre-Employment Skills Training Now Available

The New Horizons Program, providing services for Single Parents, Homemakers, and Displaced Homemakers, in cooperation with the Continuing Education Department of Garrett Community College, will sponsor a Pre-Employment Skills Training class beginning Monday, January 5, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. All sessions will be held on Mondays for seven weeks.

Material to be covered includes self-awareness tests, career counseling, goal setting strategies, interviewing techniques, resume writing, learning about available career resources, financial aid, and more.

Tuition assistance is available to qualifying participants of the New Horizons Program to take Pre-Employment Skills Training. New Horizons participants are required to take this class before taking other vocational training through the program.

Interested persons may register for the class through the Continuing Education Department of GCC or contact the New Horizons Program to determine eligibility for the program and its services as well as tuition availability. Persons may contact the program at 334-9184 weekdays between 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or visit the New Horizons Office at the Oakland Center of GCC in Room 607.

NOTICE

The office of Dr. David Sheets will be closed December 22 through January 4. Regular office hours will resume January 5.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR SPEAKS TO LIONS — Thomas J. Jettis Jr., left, Lions International Governor for District 22-W, recently paid an official visit to the Grantsville Lions Club. Shown welcoming the governor were Dr. Ronald Gillum, center, president of the Grantsville Lions Club and Gerald E. Beachy, chairman for Region 1, Zone 1, and also a member of the Grantsville Club. While here, the governor spoke to the group about the need for the establishment in Garrett County of the Lions International Quest Program, a drug and alcohol awareness program handled through the school system. The program is designed to help teens deal with peer pressure through educating teachers and counselors who, in turn, teach students to resist the drug and alcohol temptation.

SUNNYSIDE - UNDERWOOD

The Bible study group met on the past two Thursdays in the home of Bessie Canan.

Opening prayers were by Mildred Peterson and Jane

Kope. Closing prayers were by Elaine Beckman and Bessie Canan. Table grace was by Sybil Merrill.

The lesson was in the book of Joshua, taught by Jane Kope. Following refreshments, several Christmas carols were sung with Mrs. Kope at the organ.

There will not be any meetings for the next two weeks because of the holidays.

Those attending were Elaine Beckman, and Amanda, Wilma Waybright, Jane Kope, Sybil Merrill, Mildred Peterson and the hostess, Bessie Canan.

Myrtle Pulk is a patient in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The Underwood Ladies Aid met on Wednesday for a covered dish dinner and business to be discussed for the new year. The meeting opened with several songs and scripture reading (the Christmas story), by Hazel Uppole. Prayer was by Mildred Peterson. Gifts were exchanged. Table grace was by Bessie Canan.

Those attending were Affie Sisler, Julia Shaffer, Joyce and Carolyn Foster, Ida Carr, Anna Matthews, Mary Thomas, Angie Ludwig, Burlina Uphold, Naomi Ford, Elaine and Amanda Beckman, Mildred Peterson and Bessie Canan.

Sunday dinner guests of Bessie Canan will be Milton and Dawn Canan and family of Accident and the Larry Canan family.

PUBLIC NOTICES

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Clayton O. Baker who passed away June 24, 1986.

A million times I needed you, a million times I've cried. If my love could have saved you, you never would have died.

You always shared my laughter, you always shared by tears and pain.

You were always there to help me, to share my problems and my gains.

They say time heals all sorrows, it helps you to forget, but so far has only proven how much I miss you yet.

They say the Golden Gates were standing open, God said you needed rest.

His garden must be beautiful, for he only picks the best.

Sadly missed by all. Wife, children and grandchildren.

Northern October Students of the Month Selected

The Northern High School Students of the Month for October were named recently by the school faculty. They include, left to right, Cellina McElroy, grade 10; David Jones, Valerie Dunithan, and Jim Ford, tied for grade 12; Linda Oester, grade 11; and Carla Graham, grade nine.

Miss Graham is the daughter of Howard and Nancy Graham and resides in the McHenry area. She is a member of the Northern High School Marching Band, Concert Band, and Junior Varsity Cheerleading Squad. She is also an Honor Roll Student and treasurer of her church youth group. She plans to attend West Virginia University and go into the medical field.

Miss McElroy is the daughter of Ms. Nancy Savage, and resides in the Friendsville area. She is the Northern Huskies football manager, and enjoys lifting weights. She also enjoys swimming and dancing. Cellina's dream is to travel around the world as a clown.

Miss Oester is the daughter of Robert and Aquilla Oester, Grantsville. Linda is treasurer for the S.A.D.D. Club, and she is an Algebra tutor. She has been a Student of the Month in her freshman and sophomore years, Student of the Year, and is a Distinguished Honor Roll student. Linda is also the Trinity Lutheran Sunday School Secretary, and a parttime organist. Her interests include music, reading, sewing, and cooking. Her goal is to attend college and receive a degree in business.

Miss Dunithan is the daughter of Melvin and Vera Dunithan, and lives in the Friendsville area. She is vice president of the Health Club and a teacher's aide. She has been on the Distinguished and regular Honor Roll. She is also the vice president of her church youth group, and she enjoys aerobic exercising. Her ambition is to become an Accountant.

Tim Ford is the son of David and Lois Ford, and lives in Accident. He is the president of the Electronics Club, a member of the First Church of the Nazarene, and the treasurer of his youth group. He is interested in photography and electronics and plans to attend college and study to become an electrical engineering technologist.

David Jones is the son of William and Nancy Jones of the Grantsville area. He plays varsity football for Northern High School and enjoys playing baseball.

Post Offices To Be Closed For Holidays

All post offices, stations and branches will be closed on Thursday, December 25, and January 1, 1987, in observance of the holidays, Baltimore Division General Manager/Postmaster, James A. McDougald announced this week.

There will be no window service or delivery service other than Express Mail and Special Delivery.

One collection will be made on Thursday, December 25, and January 1, from boxes located in front of main offices and where needed at stations, branches, Self-Service Postal Centers, business areas and some residential areas.

Local customers may purchase stamps, postal cards, envelopes and insurance up to $20.00 for packages from Self-Service Postal Centers which are open 24 hours daily at the Oakland and Mt. Lake Park post offices.

HOME OFFICE OMAHA, NEBRASKA
"The FAMILY Fraternity"

We can give you lots of reasons to purchase your log home from us, without even mentioning the LOWEST and BEST price around; but we love to tell you three smart reasons to ensure you of a quality warm home.

1. We give you our high quality LOGS which are from the best two sources: cedar and white pine. They are available in many sizes and shapes.
2. In our package, we supply ANDERSEN windows, which are energy efficient and not available with most other log home packages.
3. Our special FLOOR & ROOFING SYSTEM adds more warmth to your home. We have the roof and floor system that everyone needs to help keep your home warm on those cold, blustery winter nights. Our roof system consists of a special insulated panel, which can give your roof an R-Factor of 44! It can also give your floor an R-Factor of 30!

With our logs, Andersen windows, and our insulated roofing and floor system, we can give a better quality package and still save money. Come see us or call us today for more information on this exciting package.

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS
To All Our Friends & Patrons!
